Shearing School Convenes At Dairy Pavilion

A two-day shearing school held daytime classes at the dairy judged pin this year. This is the first time that the shearing school has been held in the dairy pavilion. The object of the course is to teach the proper methods of handling sheep and shears in order that the greatest amount of high-quality wool may be taken from each animal with a minimum of abusive treatment of the sheep.

Ed Warner, Supervising Rep., Hebran Farm, and Jack Wilson, California Wool Institute, conducted the classes which were open to Polytechnic and high school students of this area.

Warner demonstrated shearing techniques and marshaled the students, but it was left to Mr. Wilson to follow his motions, first with his own sheep, then with a student's. Wilson, a student at Polytechnic, was given sheep to attempt the actual shearing. Mechanical shearing was also used for the demonstrations.

Collins and George McNally, All instructor, students in the care and handling of the sheep. Warner said that the students had taken in the instruction and handling of the sheep.

Today's professional shearer gets a fairly good feed for shearing.

Winter Quarter's Largest Assembly Heaps Penn Speak

Inauguration of the winter quarter at Cal Poly was marked by a call for universality in education, in which President Abraham Lincoln was cited as a leader in this field.

Dr. C. R. M. Dole, former rector of the University of Wisconsin, spoke on the subject of "The University in the American System of Education." He stated that the university was the only institution in the country where men could obtain a liberal education and be trained for professional work.

Square Dance...The Occidental glee club was singing and dancing at the Square dance held last night as Little Theater rehearsal was postponed for a night. Give me a chance to look in the folk dance class that math instructor Have God conduct every Thursday at the recitation center. They really do need a good sized crowd down at that place. Lots of females too, of course they range in age from four to sixty-don’t mater how much, you change partners too often. Got to learning a square with a pal from Santa Maria. She in- form me that they have a square dance in the Cass Center and there and don’t have enough partners.

Plains...Understand that 90 odd percent of the people that try to drive out of the Square dance are paid by Policing. Now it’s nice of us to support that good service, but as long as we keep going on the highway, this is “one time” parking. Parking space on the highway, this is “one time”

Fines...I don’t think that there should be any fines. It is good for students that they have dances every Wednesday at the recreation center.

UC San Diego Clusters In invade Local Stronghold Saturday Night

Much improved and seeking to reverse a previous pounding from the Bruin, the Cal Poly Coyotes will go into action again this Saturday night against the UCLA ringers. The matches, starting at 8 p.m., will be held in the high school gymnasium.

Coach Charles Pavlovic's punch-hung Coyotes lost a 7-1 decision to the Trojans in the first meet of the season, but since that time have bounced back with a win over Stanislaus State College and a 5-1 decision with Stanford to 6-0. Coach Mike Tullis' Coyotes have scored 9 points against Aggies in 4 and 0-2 against Stanford.

O. H. Senior Leaves For Mount San Antonio

Anthony Amato, ornamental horticulture senior, left Sunday for Mount San Antonio College to replace Bill Drake, horticulturist instructor who was injured in a crash on the Ridge Route last month. Amato was graduated from Cal Poly in 1941, suffered a broken knee cap in a crash on the Ridge Route last week. He was an ace to an ag teachers convention in Fresno. Doctors said he would be hospitalized for two months.

During that period Amato will replace Drake at the college, which is located at Pomona. His wife and two children accompanied him when they moved out of their Vetville home early this week.

The foregoing summarises the preliminary plans of the science and humanities division at Poly Royal.

Arnold Amato, ornamental horticulture, was presented an honorary student body membership at last Friday's student assembly. As such he becomes the first "co-ed" to grace the Poly campus since 1936.

Making the presentation was the student assembly chairman, Thomas Mayer, who, although flustered at such an auspicious event, gave few, if any appropriate remarks. Mayer was named to his present position by the student body which exceeds any.
