Welcome To 17th Poly Royal

Bob Bowman Victorious In Presidential Race

Ag man Bob Bowman, winding up the most spectacular presidential campaign in Poly's history, romped home to victory in Wednesday's balloting to become the first Poly student to assume the office of college president.

Dr. Leroy Anderson had planned to attend the college's 17th annual Poly Royal, but his whirlwind campaign, among the coaches at Cal Poly as

Dairy Manufacture

Class Features

Products Display

The dairy manufacturing display, to be housed in a booth featuring a cheese identification contest and a revolutionary soft ice dispenser, according to Harry C. Melton, chairman of the Dairy club's Poly Royal committee.

The booth will show a large scale drawing of the flow of milk through a creamery. The drawing will also depict the processing of milk and milk products with many representative samples of the finished products. Robert E. Dooley, dairy manufacturing major, is in charge of the booth.

The Cheese Identification contest will be open to everyone except members of the Dairy club, Poly Royal committee. The contest consists of 10 kinds of cheeses which must be identified by sight. The prizes will be chosen at random from the group of winners.

Governor Signs Bill Granting Masters Degrees

California State Polytechnic college will be eligible to grant the masters degree in education beginning with the fall semester. The bill provides that the state board of education pass on a state college's request that the masters degree be granted to students meeting standards for the degree. The standards will be set up by the state board and Cal Poly will be asked to comply if the bill is approved.

Julian A. McPhee, college president, said today that the college is interested in awarding the masters degree.

The bill, vetoed last year by Governor Warren, allows Cal Poly to grant the degree.

Campus Will Host Prep Judge Teams

Cal Poly will host more than 300 high school vocational agriculture students and their instructors May 7 for the annual state championship judging contests of the Future Farmers of America. The FFA members and their teachers will arrive May 6, and the judging contests will take place May 7. Prizes plans are to house about half of the group at Camp San Luis Obispo and the rest on campus.

The judging will be conducted in the judgment of general livestock, dairy cattle, poultry, milk, greenhouse agriculture, soils, and crops. The winners in the first four contests above will represent California in national finals at Watertown, S.D., and Kansas City, Mo. this fall. Judging teams will come from San Diego, and Roosevelt, El Centro and San Diego county schools.

Dorm Holds Open House

Dormitory will hold open house during Poly Royal on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 6 to 9 p.m. Residents will bring their guests to inspect the dormitory during this hour, according to Frank Svenning, superintendent.

Initiate New Men

Discuss Carnival

Gammas Pi Delta, honorary agriculture fraternity, will hold its first formal meeting since the spring initiation, Tuesday evening at 7:45.
Plans are completed by Chairman Fred Morgan for the participation in the Poly Royal cardinal, in which group was scheduled to participate.

Twenty-four men were welcomed as new members by the fraternity. These men were selected for membership not only on their own high school standing, but in extra-curricular activities within their own departments and clubs amongst members.

The initiation was held last week, beginning with a breakfast at Berman on Thursday, and ending with a banquet on Friday night. Among those selected were 75 members and guests, with fifteen members of the Gamma Pi Delta alumni.

The initiates still in school include: Dr. David A. Wilson, Mr.
Paul Winil, Yard Shephard,
Carl Red, and Jack Ladek.

Present for the evening was Tom Boley.

Horticulturists
Return After Four Day Trip

Students of ornamental hortiiculture headed by Willmor B.
Bowen, returned late Saturday afternoon, after a four day visit to Los Angeles and vicinity.

The trip included visits to the experiments station at Moorpark, Santa Maria office, Monrovia nursery, Merrick nursery,
and the Mission grounds.

Upon their return.
Mr. Bowen will display a phytometer, air humidity indicator, and thermograph. These are in a different altitude, and equipments. Exhibits by the various classes will be ready for public inspection.

Welcome To Poly Royal

The 17th annual “Country Fair on a College Campus” is here. It’s the time for planning and preparing. Students of California Polytechnic are ready and eager to welcome friends, foes, and families to Poly Royal. This year, as in the preceding sixteen years, Cal Poly opens its doors to all. We pride ourselves on being a neighborly institution where every visitor feels at home on the campus, to visit, to participate in and, primarily, to enjoy the “big show.”

During these two days visitors will be entertained through the cooperation of every student. The guests will be taken on a tour of the campus where scenic and historic points of interest will be drawn to the visitor’s attention. There will be judging and livestock judging shows, showing the prime stock on the campus. Individual departments have prepared exhibits to show the friends of the school the work carried on by the departments throughout the school year. The industrial, agricultural, and humanities divisions will be on everyone’s inspection.

A barbecue will be held in Poly Grove where expert chefs will prepare the choicest meats with that true western flavor. This will be an annual affair during Poly Royal.

Calf roping, bareback riding, and bull dogging will set up the dust at the Poly Royal rodeo. Here students will ride the rugged animals to the thrill of the throngs of spectators.

Climaxing the two-day festivities will be the Coronation Ball, where Queen Dona Grace Burbage of Humbolt State will be crowned by last year’s queen, Pat Walker of Ball, where Queen Dona Grace Burbage of Humbolt State will be crowned by last year’s queen. The guests scheduled to take place are: Brahma bull riding, calf roping, ribbon riding, judging flag, a night entry, and a grand pie contest.

This year contestants have been selected to produce a final and effective show for your appreciation. The contestants have been selected from their past ability in the rodeo arena. The Cal Poly team will also be competing against other schools. The judges chosen for the evening will be Mike Vernon and Bob Clum. These boys were chosen from last year’s show and will once again keep the crowds off their feet. The judging of the afternoon contest are two students of Cal Poly.

Yes, this is truly a rodeo to see. Here is your chance to see your fellow students in action who have taken honors in a number of western states past few years. They will not be put on a good show for all spectators at Poly Royal. The show, one of the best, will be a show very visited by the Cal Poly cowboys.

Clege hosted best to Tom Andre, Bob Homan, Bob Jones, and Leon Showalter. Here the boys will get to show their skills. This year the rodeo will be held on the night of February 11. It will be another memorable event, but be there. Before the rodeo, the cowboys will prepare the choicest meats with the true western flavor. This will be another annual event during Poly Royal.

“Hey Mac, what day y’go?!” Oh! Hi Joe, you write rough composition, but it looked like you’re the best in the world. What day y’go? What day y’go? What day you y’go? Was supposed to straddle him. The second day Rodeo Band was the other rodeos visited by Poly Royal. Here on this day, Buss Pyle and Mike Vernon, two former students of Cal Poly, rode bareback horses to the whistle, but was unable to visit the pay-window.

Hydraulics Lab Demonstration
Open To Visitors
In its latest demonstrations, Cal Poly’s new hydraulics laboratory is open to visitors today by Ralph M. Meeker and John B. Collins.
A new feature, located in a sheet-metal building next to the A-1 Hangar, is the addition to Collister and Cullation. Robert F. Collins, John F. Hall, and Robert B. Canning will be on hand to explain the new equipment and exhibits.
M. A. Cullation and Collister, mechanical engineers, have designed and built the hydraulics lab as their thesis project. Using money from the Army and Navy, they estimate that the project will cost between $12,000.
The tank was built from sections of radio antennas and various other scrap materials. A hydraulic pump and motor, installed. Scales and a weighing system, both designed and built by students, complete the tank.

VISUAL AIDS TRAINING BECOMES INTEGRAL PART OF EDUCATION
By: Marlin Rammer
Visual aids are daily assuming an ever more important role in modern education.
They are not the same assigned to any classes, but part of every student’s education utilizing moving pictures, slides, film strips, recordings, diagrams, charts, and maps. They came into their own during the last war when training programs were popularized.

Last Year’s Poly Royal Highlights

Campus acquaints will always remember Pat Walker’s dropping in to strike a pose alongside the local pool, upper left. Miss Susan Peters, Hollywood star, was a surprise visitor at the ‘48 Poly Royal, left center. The rodeo team, above, is shown preparing for last year’s show. The rodeo featured Brahma bulls for the first time in Poly Royal history. Below we see one of these bulls pursuing the favorite Brahma pastime—demounting cowboys.

Engineers Participate Too...

The engineers by no means dominate the Poly Royal. Below we present scenes from last year’s engineering exhibits. One feature of the current celebration will be the hydraulics lab, which is to be demonstrated before Poly Royal guests today and tomorrow.

Visitors to the 17th annual Poly Royal will be entertained by a bit of old fashioned Americana—the Saturday afternoon band concert. The 50 piece Cal Poly band, under the student direction of Eddie Jay, is shown above. They will provide plenty of opportunity for foot tapping when they play on the football field from 12 to one p.m. Saturday. Poly’s band has ample opportunity to exhibit its skills when football season is in session. Their between-halves playing is a highlight of the autumn time.
To the left are the Misses Katie DuPont, above, and Pat Walker, below; Miss Dona Grace Burbage of Humboldt appears above. EL MUSTANG runs these repeat cuts in order to point up the quality of femininity imported annually to San Luis Obispo to govern over our Poly Royal each year.

Miss DuPont, however, is no longer a Miss nor a DuPont. She was married recently and undoubtedly sprained many an auricle among the campus hearts. Katie was crowned queen in '47. Pat was queen last year and will return to turn over her crown to Dona.

Tonight and tomorrow night will provide the most interesting contrast of the Cal Poly school year. The Friday night barn dance is strictly a rural affair, the participants sport western attire and the evening is symbolic by good natured, if boisterous, revelry.

But for Saturday night's Coronation Ball—all is dignity. Composites break out in ties, shoes, and matching coats and pants. The ladies wear their most bewitching spring formals. Conversation is almost subdued. Plan to attend both affairs. A good time assured for all—and note the contrast.

Soldiers Luck Out To Jostle Colt Win Streak

In a short one hour and 45 minute battle, the Cal Poly Colts dropped a 3-1 decision to Camp Cooke's khaki's at the Mustang field. This loss in the Camp Cooke nine ended a winning streak of nine consecutive victories without a defeat for Coach Bob Sev­camp Cooke nlno ended a winning streak of nine consecutive victories that the Colt's had defeated Westmont college 10-2 on the previous afternoon. It was the first time in several years the Mustangs will have a longer winning streak than the khaki's.

Saturday afternoon it was the Cal Poly'sversus the khaki's. Gene Story that held the soldiers to six hits, while his team committed five errors allowing three unearned runs to score. Although the locals outlasted the Camp Cooke team, the khaki's were tough in the clutch.

Friday afternoon's battle was highlighted by the brilliant pitching of Jake Jacquettes. Jake allowed only 1 hit, while striking out 8, and also slapped a 6 hit homer with the bases empty in the third inning. Jacquettes allowed but eight hits in gaining his third straight victory of the season. He struck out ten.

Outfielder Ray Ramenesis led the Cal Poly attack with three singles for five ills in bat.

Green's Whites Knock Heads In Annual Fray

The 11th annual Poly Royal Intra-squad game will swing intrasquad action on the local gridiron at 1 p.m. this morning when captain Jack Frost leads his Kelly-green chargers against captain J. D. Phillips's white knights from the plains beyond the Cram­dall gym. Both teams have experienced strong rosters of winners in the game with five minutes to go, but began going to the better team. Coach Chuck Pavelko expresses his ideas as to the strength of each team. Both teams have been equally divided as far as strength of depth are con­cerned and both should have a battle on their hands before the final whistle blows.

A highlight of action among fullbacks J. D. Phillips and Bud Lauf of the Greens.

A 10th inning extra-inning feature saga was not to be quite a ball carrier and Jim Hardy a long jump to the bag. An out to be a lot of action at the quarter back position next fall.

As for last year's Froom team, Chuck cited Tom H判处on, a good defensive end; Jack Frost, a strong back; Joe Ritter, a powerful halfbacker; a good defensive center; Frank Gourley, a strong back position a tremendous lift in the punting and passing department next fall.

Parvatis that quarterbacks Hardy, Brown, and Ryan will try both for the Greens and the White team. We feel that this will be a fight between two men, or in a more even basis.

Gee time in several more days there will have two brothers playing against each other. Jack and Chuck will start at left tackle for the Greens and the Whites. Coach Pavelko will hold down the same position for the White team. Chuck Todd will hold down the back position next fall.

With the league championships at hand, Poly Pacific held two weeks ago. Coach Dick Anderson's men started the last time up before the NCAA finals when they went over the San Francisco. The Rogers men remained intact last Saturday morning. The Mustangs was entered in the Rogers Division of the league. The Mustangs turned in the best showing of the afternoon as they took the honors in the 81 and 100 freestyle events. This is the first time that Poly has taken the double events this morning.

Cal Poly's hopes for a SCBA baseball championship were given a lift this past weekend as Fresno State wrapped up the Mustangs in two out of three games. The Bulldogs edged out Cal Poly 11-10 on Friday night and slugged into a tie in the third game, but the Mustangs came back to win 14-8 on Saturday.

Big John Williams, the Mustangs' big right-hander, is caught by the camera as he prepares to deliver another one of his fast pitches. Big John will see plenty of action when the Mustangs travel to San Jose next weekend. This will be Coach Bob Mott's third conference series of the season.

There comes a time near the end of every April when the Poly athletic department must be on the alert for the

Poly Royal Relays Today; Pull Vault Dual Tops

SAN LUIS OBISPO, April 28—One of the outstanding vaulting contests on the coast is expected this Saturday when Bill Maxwell of Hartnell Junior college and Walt Jensen of Modesto Junior college get together at the first annual Poly Royal relays to be held at California State Polytechnic College this Saturday. The relays are part of the college's two day open house to be held Friday and Saturday. Close to 100 persons are expected for the festivities.

Fourteen junior colleges are entered in the relays. Maxwell and Jensen are slated as the leading vaulters in this year's meet. Maxwell is the nation's leading vaulter and has cleared 15 feet three inches this year, while Jensen has cleared 14 feet one inch, both in the same weight class.

The special mile planned to be another close contest with Bob Wehry of Riverside and Dave Willett of Antelope Valley battling for honors. Both men have registered a six feet three inch vaulter. Willett is the nation's leading vaulter in this weight class.

The highjump promises to be an interesting event with four men entered who have cleared well over six feet. Floyd Blackwell of San Antonio has the best previous start at six feet four and one half inches. Richard Rhinehart and Richard Surrett, both of Los Angeles City college, and Bob Hoover of Riverside, all have entries of six feet three inches or better.

Four outstanding junior college performers who will take part are Ken Hutton of Santa Ana who has registered a javelin throw of 108 feet in the shot put; and Jamea Wilson of LACC, both with javelin throws close to 250 men are entered to participate. Myron Clever of Riverside with 10.9 century; Myron Clever of Riverside; Floyd Blackwell of Mt. Sac, head coach at Cal Poly, and Santa Maria.

The Muftang cloutara have kept the home team out of action for five runa and a 5-4 win. Gorman, who laus in right field, showed a good bat, and either Jim Luker or Don Spothalafar and Dick Reed. Gorman will handle the base running chores and Bob Coghlan will take over the catching duties and Bob Coghlan will take over the catching chores. Batting in the leadoff position will be hard-hitting Jim Frearren who covers in right field.

In the hurling department, the man from Playa del Rey have two fine Fresh graduates in Anthony Pat Marrion and right hander Bob Brodhead. Back from last season are veterans Ron O'Brien, Spotty Spooner and Dick Reed. The Mustang cloutara have kept their record pace with first marker Bob Bennett and third baseman, who have won the class three games and the hitting mauns of 338, 338 and 403.

Frosty Climax Dual Season With Easy Southern Win

A strong Cal Poly frosty track teams completely outclassed a strong fighting Foosman frosty squad, Saturday afternoon, to win with a 9-3 score.

There were no track or field records broken, but Bill Calden became the first Cal Poly man to take three first places in a single meet. Calden took the 100 and 200-yard dashes and the 220-yard. His broad jump was a new event for him.

Art Exhibit Deals With Utilitarian Design, Fine Arts

The second annual Poly Royal art exhibition will follow the theme "Art In Everyday Living," and will feature reproductions used in the art class and other academic schools. They represent faculty members and their student assistants, faculty members and artists who have loaned works for the exhibits, which is designed to point up the concepts of art as practiced in the Poly art classes.

The show will not be a conventional art exhibit, according to James S. Smith, art and English instructor, who's in direct charge of the display. Paintings and sculpture will share space with charts and everyday household items in an attempt to graphically link the concepts of utility and good design.

Present-day materials and processes used in the manufacture of well-designed modern furnishings will be stressed in the show as will the trends of design today. Expressionism, impressionism, and abstraction will also be represented in the show's presentation of paintings and other art works, Smith said.

"Our art course is not a conventional course in Fine Arts," Smith explained. "It's built on the idea that good design is good design wherever you find it, whether in painting, a chair, a building, or an all but.

"You haven't enough brains to come out here and have that power that I've got to every one you as you, you can't resist me, any fool can tell you, "How come?" it isn't resisted."}

Frosh Climax

ran away with both hurdle events, and the 80 and 380-yard dashes were easy victories for Joe Wann Wright, who seemed to be running in the opposite direction. The distances with effortless ease spread.

Poly won all of the field events except the pole vault and the shot put. Lloyd Benson took a pair of wins, the javelin and the discus, and Allan Brigham won the high jump.

This marks the end of the frosh dual meet season, but Coach Jansen is expecting to see some of the frosh in the upcoming East Meets West Relays.

Photo Studio Set For Coronation Ball

Students who wish to have their pictures taken with their escorts at the Coronation Ball tomorrow night may take advantage of a photography service offered by two students in photography, John Askle and Walt Miller. These two students will have a photographic studio in a room adjoining the dance floor in the field house.
