Dave Straither Heads 1950 Poly Royal

Dave Straither, All student and present sophomore classroom president, was elected to the post of Poly Royal supervisor for the 1949-1950 "Country fair on a College Campus" annual celebration. He and fifty-one were elected at the final meeting of the '49 Poly Royal board. Straither was named chairman of next year's Poly Royal board.

President Improves

President Julian McPhets is at his home after an emergency operation at the SLO Hospital on May 7. Although he is not yet able to return to his office, President Straither's condition has improved greatly, and he is expected to return to his office sometime next week.

Behind the Chutes
By Eddie Allen

This will probably be the last gathering of idle draft age stud ents from El Mustang. The closing of the spring issue also closes the local circuits that result from the man's methods that have been so evident in the past.

Happiness, sadness, losses, and gains have been the order of the day for the past few months.

Most of the boys plan on visiting Colorado, to avoid the heat of the summer months. The majority will remain in the city, with some going off to areas of the state that are cooler. The majority will remain in the areas that they have been known to frequent.

As an expression of appreciation for the service rendered, we have a collection of objects that were submitted for interest. The objects include:

- A 25-cent piece
- A 5-cent piece
- A 1-cent piece

The collection is open to all who wish to participate.

The final issue of the year will be published in the fall, and we will be looking forward to the next year's publication.

Most sincerely,

Eddie Allen

Educators End Spring Session on Poly Campus

This week the members of the representation council of the California Association of Secondary School Administrators closed their annual spring session on the campus of California Polytechnic College last week and returned to the various cities and communities in all parts of the state.

The high school administrators dealt with their organization's problems and business during the two-day meeting. They made long-range plans for their schools as well as for the secondary education in the state.

The council members also set up a number of committees to work on matters among them one to use with the California Association of University Presidents in improving conditions in high schools of the state.

Attending the meeting were high school and junior college administrators and superintendents. The members of the 28 districts of the association of school administrators.

The association's president, a lunchroom boss G.O. McDonald, who talk about the discussion the history, program, char- acteristics, and future plans objectives for the college for the coming school year.

The council members were introduced to the administration of Poly's primary school, the Polytechnic high school. Also attending the meeting were Carl Bousa, Vernon Marshak, George DeBell, and Herbert B. Humphreys.

The council held its first meeting of the year on May 20. Dean Van Dyke, president of the association of Poly's principal Till, attended the meeting. The council members are representatives of the state department of education.

Biologists Issue Fair Warning To Bird Bandits

The Cal Poly Natural History club has declared war on a certain group of Syrians who are stealing chickens and other birds from the campus. The club has been notifying the students of the plight of the birds and they have been setting traps. The students have also been notifying the authorities of the problem.

The club has been unsuccessful in finding any solution to the problem. The students have been warned that if they do not stop, the club will take legal action.

The club has been working with the local authorities to find a solution to the problem.

Campus Health Services Lauded in State Survey

Cal Poly offers its students the best medical and surgical service of any California state college, according to a recent survey conducted for the California Department of Education by a team of experts from Cal Poly, the survey stated.

In a registration time each quarter, three dollars is collected from each student or $12 per academic year from the student. These dollars provide the student with surgical and medical care. For this three dollars the student receives all major and minor surgery, the services of a provost, and regular medical services. The money collected is donated to the college for the benefit of the student.

The Cal Poly health center is supervised by the College of Poly Foundation, a non-profit organization, the same body that is responsible for funding, housing, and student services.

Mottmen—Tigers in Battle For Upper Division Ranks

PARWES: Cal Poly hosts the College of Pacific nine this week in an effort to secure the Upper Division title. The Tigers were two-thirds of the way toward this goal last week when they dropped two out of three to the W. S. Cal Poly Mustangs for a league title which was the Mustangs' second in two seasons. Last week's Tiger loss came in the form of a sharp, 8-1 defeat.

Top man on the Tiger totem pole is first baseman Ray Brocker, hitting .350 and right-hander Jim McWilliams has been tops in their pitching form, but both the mound and the infield are4 equally strong, according to Herb Marshall, taking over with a hand-picked top-rating team of Americans.

The Crime Doctors—Western—U. S. Army

Winners in neither of the Intra-Division games could change the picture. In the Pacific League, the Mustangs have two games to reach the coast and make the playoffs and the Tigers have two games to go to the semi-finals and reach the playoffs. Both the Mustangs and the Tigers have won five and dropped a couple.

After the winner in each series is determined, those two teams will continue to determine the remainder of the six Poly-Pacific series, which will end on June 1.

For this local woman's Junior League this time they will do it by winning nothing. The Mustangs, who won't be considered serious contenders for their first well-rounded track team in the fall, the Mustangs may one of the many probable show proceedings. It will be the third time cellar dwelling Mustangs will reach the state gathering of coaching talent to even the game seven and gold points. With such big names as Lyman "Pappy" Wadsworth, in charge of the football team, Everett Davis, in charge of the basketball team, and George "Boots" Walker, track and field coach, it is not hard to see why the Mustangs will be at the top of any local bookmakers—only for the Mustangs. The coach, according to Joe Griffin, club president, is to inherit the names of members in the team. New members will be selected as needed. Following the luncheon, members and their guests will journey to the county park where the new will undergo an all-night indoctrination. The "Green Thumb" Now Half Hour Program

The "Green Thumb" radio program, conducted by Horticulture radio program, has been abbreviated to a half hour show, KPCC station manager G. Parker announced. Formally heard only 15 minutes weekly, the program is now scheduled for 7 a.m., every Tuesday over KPCC. Current agricultural and garden topics and special guest speakers are features of the student-run program, McEvoy said.

Producer Craig Wilson speaks to poultrymen

Craig Wilson, Antiope valley poultryman, was a visitor at the campus poultry plant on Tuesday, May 17, speaking before the poultry club that evening. Wilson discussed his poultry enterprises which produce broilers and eggs. He added to the Pryor production plan, he maintains a hatchery, a breeding flock, a feed mill and a processing plant. Wilson attended the Davis branch of the University of California.
