How To Be A Successful Editor

By Lee Lisle

This is one of those articles headed "How to be a..." that you might read in a glossy magazine. It's a popular article, and it's well written. It appears to be a guide to successful editing.

First, you need a pair of scissors and a pair of shears. Cut from the corner drug store after checking all over the place, until you find a pair that looks like the ones you want. You can keep your hand on your knee while doing this.

You also need a pair of glasses. These are to be worn at all times, even while doing other things. This is because you can't see what's going on without them.

Next, you need a good supply of paper. This should be of good quality, and should be used for all your writing. You can't be successful unless you have good paper.

Finally, you need a sharp pencil. This is to be used for all your marking. If you don't have a sharp pencil, you can't be successful.

And now, the main point of this article: to be successful, you must have a good attitude. You must be willing to work hard, and you must be able to accept criticism. You must be able to take your losses, and you must be able to make your gains.

Remember, to be successful, you must have a good attitude. And now, you can go on with your day.
Intramural Games

Relax Students

At this time, there is a tennis tournament underway, directed by Bob Motl. The contests are open competition for both singles and doubles. Awaits will be given to the winners as the fall quarter continues; volleyball, basketball, football, baseball, and others. Matt stated that these intramural contests are open to all students, regardless of their participation in the sports. "These games," Matt continued, "are a great aid in relaxing the strains of studies both for the students and the spectators."

A Newspaper Guy

I see a man pushing his way through the crowd. I stop and ask him, "What's the difference between a good girl and a naughty girl?"

"I don't know what you mean by "naughty girl.""

Notice the difference between a good girl and a naughty girl.

Dairy Classes

Seagull Bound

Small dormitory, the prior home of many a Poly student, will see its last tenants this week. The building is to be the origin of the dairy department and offices. The dairy department offices the dairy instructors and the dairy students. Today, the dairy department is on the campus, making the instruction easier. This move will be the relief of many dairy students. The dormitory is located near the dormitory, one with a majority of sixty students, who will move into the old dormitory, or some of the old. The dormitory is being converted by the administration of the dormitory. The dormitory is being renovated by the administration of the dormitory.
