Inflatable Theatre Co. to perform Jan. 30

Inflation is a laughing matter ... or will it be for both children and adults at 7 pm Friday, Jan. 30, when the Fred Garbo Inflatable Theatre Co. takes the stage in the reperforming Arts Center's Cohan Center.

Gigantic, brightly colored, inflatable costumes and props come to life in the fast-paced, energetic show featuring acrobats and jugglers Fred Garbo and Brazilian ballerina Daizima Santos.

Rolling, gliding, tumbling, juggling, miming, bouncing, quaking and dancing to music, the duo is known to deliver a show that is "visual, sensual and full of life."

Garbo, a performer for 23 years, was the announcer inside Barkley the Dog on public television's "Sesame Street." On Broadway, he was the chief juggler in the musical "Barnum."

Santos, whose training included studies at the Royal Academy of Dance of London, has danced and choreographed in the Americas and Europe.

Tickets for the performance in Harman Hall cost $8 and $10.

Daielma Santos and Fred Garbo
Pianist William Spiller to perform Jan. 10

Music professor and pianist William Spiller will give a benefit recital featuring music by Haydn, Beethoven and Debussy on Saturday, Jan. 10. Proceeds from the concert, to begin at 4 pm in the Cal Poly Theatre, will benefit the Music Department Scholarship Fund.

Spiller has chosen to play Haydn's Variations in F Minor, Beethoven's Sonata in D Major, Op. 28, "The Pastoral"; Rondo in A Minor, Op. 59, by Dmitri Kabalevsky; "Children's Corner" by Debussy; and Scherzo and March by Liszt.

Tickets to the benefit recital are $6 for students and senior citizens and $10 for the public. The recital is sponsored by the College of Liberal Arts and Music Department.

Library to offer classes in electronic resources

During winter quarter, the Kennedy Library is offering a range of classes designed to acquaint faculty and students with available electronic resources. For a full schedule of times and dates visit the library's Web site at www.lib.calpoly.edu (click on Internet Workshops) or contact the Reference Department at ext. 5459.

-Getting Started/Getting On
Learn the tools, materials, and people to contact to get an AIX and Open Mail account. Become familiar with UNIX. See how to send and receive e-mail, reply to messages, store them as files, and read and delete files. See demonstrations of "gophering," "telnetting," file transfer protocol, and Netscape on the Web. See how to look up the library's resources using these tools.

-Engineering
Product specifications, industry standards, patents, journal articles, technical papers, plus millions of books are accessible. Learn Internet shortcuts to these resources and be able to search on-line or through the library's document delivery services.

-Business/Agribusiness
On-line sources of business information such as abstracts, full-text, and statistical services are covered. Update searching skills so researchers can profit from on-line or through the library's document delivery services.

-Music
Explore such agriculture resources as journals, books, and articles. Also be covered, as well as learning to evaluate and cite Web sites. Investigate interesting Web sites.

-Beyond the Basics
Learn about the different search engines and subject directories and advanced bookmark management. Participants will be taught how to evaluate and cite Web sites. They will also be given the opportunity to experience newsgroups and will learn to install helper applications and customize Netscape. Familiarity with a Web browser is required.

Applicants sought for "forgivable" loans

The 1998-99 Forgivable Loan Doctoral Incentive Program is seeking applicants. The program is designed to increase the diversity of the people qualified to fill faculty positions at the CSU campuses.

-Application deadline will be on time with priority given to applicants with backgrounds that are underrepresented in the rider through the purchase of discount passes.

However, until the end of June 1998, you can ride the city bus free simply by showing your Cal Poly ID.

Auditions will be held Thursday and Friday, Jan. 8-9, for the Theater and Dance Department's winter production, the Vaclav Havel comedy "The Increased Difficulty of Concentration." The Czech playwright and president's absurdist study of the human psyche and "random order" will be staged Feb. 26-28 and March 5-7 in the Cal Poly Theatre. The cast includes four men, four women, and a narrator (and computer voice). The play is based on selected scenes from the play, which is available in the Reserve Room of the Germain Library.

Auditions will begin both days at 7 pm in Room 212 of the Davidson Music Building.

Thank the Administration division wants the campus to be clear: Riding a city bus will be free for Cal Poly students, employees and emeriti and will be free through June 30. For this purpose, on SLO transit bases, simply show your Cal Poly identification card. No additional fare or bus pass is required.

For more information, contact the Theatre and Dance Department at ext. 6-1465.

Yes, Virginia, there is still a free city bus ride

The Finance and Administration division wants the campus to be clear: Riding a city bus will be free for Cal Poly students, employees and emeriti and will be free through June 30. For this purpose, on SLO transit bases, simply show your Cal Poly identification card. No additional fare or bus pass is required.

The Administration and Finance division offers this additional information: For the number of parking citations ($125,000) and an additional donation from Cal Poly Foundation ($44,000) have made the "free" possible this year. The total funding from Cal Poly to the city toward the city bus program for the 1997-98 fiscal year is $169,000. Since the 1985-86 fiscal year, Cal Poly has contributed in excess of $1.8 million to the city to help operate the bus program. Nonstudents, however, will pay fares from Cal Poly riders or from student fees.

For the 1998-99 fiscal year, the negotiated cost to Cal Poly will be $176,000, up 3.3 percent for inflation. The parking citation revenue fund will be able to fund only $125,000 of this $176,000 obligation; therefore, the $49,600 difference will need to come from assessments riders who pay through the purchase of discount passes.

The program is designed to increase the diversity of the people qualified to fill faculty positions at the CSU campuses. Applications will be on time with priority given to applicants with backgrounds that are underrepresented in the rider through the purchase of discount passes.

CAL POLY REPORT, JANUARY 7, 1998

CLIP & SAVE / EMERGENCY PHONE NUMBERS

Is Cal Poly ready for El Nino?
Administration and Finance has taken numerous steps to prepare for potential problems, and the university wants to pass along important information about what to do if those problems materialize.
University employees have cleaned out brush-covered creeks to help drain roads. In addition, the division has checked drainage systems, acquired new generators and emergency pumps, and obtained inventories of key supplies and equipment. The university is conducting drills with key emergency response personnel to test readiness.
Here are some answers to questions you might have:

How will I know if the road home is open or if I can get to the campus to go to work?
1. For state highway conditions, call 1-800-427-7623.
2. For county highway conditions, call 781-5252.
3. For road conditions in your city, call your local Police Department's business number, listed on the face of your telephone book.

What is the maximum water depth I can safely drive through?
Six inches. However, if the water is moving, don't go through it.

We'll have more questions and answers about preparing for El Nino in the next issue.
