Holiday mixer set for Thursday

The Cal Poly Staff Scholarship Committee will present a holiday mixer 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. Thursday (Dec. 9) in the Biological Sciences Museum (Fisher Science 285). A silent auction will be held for such items as tickets to a Performing Arts Center event, a jeep tour of High Mountain Road with breakfast at the Pozo Saloon, a canoe tour of Morro Bay, and much more. Auction proceeds will support the scholarship fund for university staff members and their dependents.

The campus community is invited to attend and enjoy light refreshments and holiday cheer. For more information or to contribute items for the auction, contact Pat Harri at ext. 6-2582.

College of Ag to honor four at reception today

Four College of Agriculture employees will be honored at a special reception from 2 to 3:30 p.m. today in Ag Sciences 210 for Diana Frey in Animal Sciences, Audan "Ole" Petersen in Food Science and Nutrition, Jo Ann Wheatley in Crop Science, and Rich Villa at the Feedmill.

table remains true, create a future gift for the UCTE while generating current tax benefits for the donor. "As retired educators, Allyn and Lee endorse the University Center for Teacher Education approach to field-based teacher preparation and support the UCTE's many partnerships with schools," Roper said.

The UCTE has rephased the way teachers are educated at Cal Poly, giving student teachers much more actual classroom experience as possible. The center works to improve teacher education by also improving local schools. It actively collaborates with local schools in order to foster "simultaneous renewal."

For more information about the gift of the UCTE, call Carol Redin at ext. 6-9934. For information about planned gifts, contact Mike McCull, director of planned giving, ext. 6-7106.

Food donations will earn free bus rides

In keeping with the holiday spirit, next week (Dec. 13-17) has been designated by the San Luis Obispo Regional Transit Authority as a time of sharing. The CCAT (Central Coast Area Transit) system that operates regional buses is offering free rides to anyone who donates a non-perishable food item when boarding the bus.

Students and employees can take a CCAT bus to campus from the North and South counties, Los Osos and Morro Bay. San Luis Obispo city buses are also giving free rides to anyone who donates a canned good. Cal Poly students and employees who already ride the city bus for free are encouraged to make a food donation.

All food received during the week will be donated to the Food Bank Coalition for distribution to San Luis Obispo County residents in need during the holiday season.

Retirement reception set

The Kennedy Library will host a reception from 10 a.m. to noon Dec. 16 in honor of Billie Turner, who is retiring after 20 years of service. Turner began working in Human Resources and Employment Equity (then called Personnel) in 1979 and transferred to the library in 1980. The reception will be in Room 105 in the library.

CPR deadline changing

This is the last Cal Poly Report of the 1990s. The first winter quarter issue will be out Jan. 11. All class campus will be closed for the New Year's holiday two days before the week before the deadline to submit articles for the issue will be 4 p.m. Monday, Dec. 27.

Beginning with the Jan. 12 edition, we will begin a new 7-day deadline. We'll need your article by 10 a.m. the Wednesday before you'd like it to appear. Items can be e-mailed to polygons@polymail, faxed to ext. 6-6533, or mailed to Public Affairs in Heron Hall.

For more information, call Public Affairs at ext. 6-1511.

Academic Records sponsoring food, toy drive

Academic Records is sponsoring a toy and food drive for those in need this holiday season. Faculty and staff members who would like to participate should supply an unwrapped toy or nonperishable food item when turning in grade rosters, which are due by 4 p.m. Tuesday (Dec. 14). Bins for toys and food will be outside the Records window from Friday (Dec. 10) through Dec. 17.

Foundation Board to meet Friday

The Foundation Board of Directors will hold a meeting at 8:30 a.m. Friday (Dec. 10) in the Foundation Administration Building's Conference Room (Room 124). This is a public meeting. For more information or to obtain a copy of the meeting agenda, contact Executive Director Al Amalar at ext. 6-1131. A copy of the agenda packet is available for review at the Kennedy Library Reserve Desk and the Academic Senate Office, Math and Science 143.

$15 CCAT bus pass buys $36 worth of rides

Beginning Jan. 1, students and employees will pay $15 for $36 worth of rides on CCAT (Central Coast Area Transit) buses. The discount passes, formerly sold for $29, are available to Cal Poly students and employees because of a subsidy paid by the university and the San Luis Obispo Regional Transit Authority.

Cal Poly's portion of the subsidy comes from the state, and the discount passes would run out before the end of the year.

The price increase is needed to cover increased demand for bus passes due in part to San Luis Obispo city buses are also giving free rides to anyone who donates a canned good. Cal Poly students and employees who already ride the city bus for free are encouraged to make a food donation.

All food received during the week will be donated to the Food Bank Coalition for distribution to San Luis Obispo County residents in need during the holiday season.

Forestry student receives $3,000 national award

Natalie Guzman, a forestry and natural resources senior, is this year's recipient of the Hispanic Association of College and Universities (HACU) annual scholastic assistance award of $3,000.

Guzman is the second recipient of the national award, given annually to a student pursuing a degree in a natural resources discipline or related field.

The award was established in 1998 by the U.S. Department of the Interior's Bureau of Land Management, which provided the funds to enable HACU to set up awards for students attending HACU-member institutions.

Guzman was chosen for her academic standing and her involvement in the university's Equity Leadership Program, the Bureau of Land Management, and Cal Poly's natural resources management program.

Class schedule revamped

Winter quarter Class Schedules being mailed to all enrolled students this week will reflect our campus leave a new look. Validation stickers have been eliminated.

This new winter quarter, students are being asked to retain the Class Schedule as enrollment verification. In the past, students placed a validation sticker on their ID card.

The San Luis Obispo Transit Authority, CCAT, the Recreation Center and other campus offices are rearranged and arrangements have been made to accommodate them.

The new process was a cooperative effort by Academic Records and Information Technology Services.

Library hours to change during break, holiday

The Kennedy Library will be open during the Winter quarter break — with a few exceptions — 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday during quarter break (Dec. 11-29). The exceptions:

• The library will be closed 11 a.m.-2 p.m. Dec. 15 and all day Dec. 23-24 and 30-31.
• The library will be open only 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Dec. 27-29.

If in doubt, call ext. 6-2029 for hours of operation.

For a limited time, students and employees will receive a $15 CCAT bus pass for $36 worth of rides.

Beginning Jan. 1 students and employees will pay $15 for $36 worth of rides on CCAT (Central Coast Area Transit) buses.

The discount, formerly offered for $12, is available to Cal Poly students and employees because of a subsidy paid by the university and the San Luis Obispo Regional Transit Authority.

Cal Poly's portion of the subsidy comes from the CCAT bus pass revenue. The price increase is needed to cover increased demand for bus passes due in part to the Census Grade project.

Without the increase, officials said the subsidy budgeted for the 1999-2000 fiscal year would run short, and the supply of discount passes would run out before the end of the year.

The passes are sold at the state Cashier (Adm. 131-E) and at Public Safety Services. Campus I.D. must be shown to buy the pass and to board the bus.

Paly, but also the local community colleges and K-12 schools.

"Unocal is very excited about working with Cal Poly to develop this educational opportunity," said Unocal's Central Coast Group General Manager Mark Smith. "We are hopeful this facility will supply the community with a resource for students at all age levels."

During the meeting, Unocal and Cal Poly administrators met with local government and educational officials to initiate discussion of potential educa tional and research ventures and the cur rent vision for the wharf as a marine studies facility. County Supervisor Peg Pedroni, county schools Superintendent Julian Crocker, and Harbor Commission ers John Koepf and Carolyn Moffatt par ticipated in the meeting. Ann Foxworthy, president of Hancock College, and Marie Rosenwasser, president of Cuesta, also took part in the discussion.

"There is much work to be done and there are many people and groups with whom to work," said College of Sciences Dean Phil Bailey. "But the wharf project is very exciting and would be exceedingly valuable to the education of area students."

"I really appreciate the work of the people at Unocal in bringing the wharf to Cal Poly," Bailey said. "It is impor tant to note the contributions [biological sciences professor] Tomתּ Sherrard has made to this effort. He, his colleagues at Cal Poly, and various people in the community have worked tirelessly to initiate the development process for this in credible facility."

A marine sciences center, which would be situated at the end of the wharf, would allow students and researchers to gain previ ously unattainable hands-on experience. "One of the things that has limited Cal Poly's marine studies program has been its inability to get students out there," said Mark Oline of the Biological Sciences Department faculty.

A terrestrial botanist need only step outside the lab to do his or her work. Someone studying marine biology needs to get out there and be part of that envi ronment. Just being out on the end of the wharf is wonderful. I know it would inspire the community to Cal Poly's two ceremonies Sat urday, January 3

New conference regarding the status of the proposed marine sciences center will be held at a future date.
