WELCOME FROSH!

President Hails Frosh With Traditional Friendly Words

For 19 years it has been my privilege and pleasure to welcome frosh to Cal Poly. I have an open door policy and Frosh are always welcome in the office. They arrive with a smile and a spring in their step and are given a pleasant surprise at what Cal Poly offers. This year I have been approached by many students who have been accepted for admission to the University of California and have been given the opportunity to visit with me. I have been asked to give them some personal advice on how to succeed in college. I have been told that my advice has been valuable to them and has helped them to make a successful transition from high school to college. I have also been told that they plan to return to visit me again when they need some additional advice.

Advice To Frosh

New students entering the University of California this fall will find a welcome packet containing information on how to register, where to get information, and when and where to take classes. The packet will also contain a schedule of classes, a map of the campus, and a list of the offices and departments with which the student will be in contact.

The University of California is a large institution with many departments, offices, and programs. It is important for new students to be familiar with the location and functions of these departments and offices. The welcome packet will provide information on how to find and contact the various departments and offices.

New students are encouraged to take advantage of the many opportunities available to them at the University of California. There are a variety of clubs and organizations on campus, and new students are encouraged to become involved in these organizations.

The University of California is a large institution with a diverse student body. It is important for new students to be aware of the many different cultures and backgrounds represented among their classmates.

I've Got News For Youse

Every year, about this time, student leaders, faculty and college administrators have opportunity to welcome a large group of incoming freshmen to what we believe to be a college that rates second to none.

In the process of registration, enrollment, examinations and orientation, you'll hear words of welcome and wisdom from a score of personalities—leaders, planners, advisers and personnel.

What you won't learn for awhile or even hear much about, is where your place is in student government. It's obvious that no student is going to join the old parties and swing his vote to throw the government and their candidates out. That's what we want you to do.

It is this group of students, with all the power to them. That's what we want you to do. That's what we think you'll want to do.

This is one place where new and old men alike can take part. You will soon learn who your student body leaders are and you'll be expected to go to them and ask for committee work, etc.

I think this is a good time as any, while you are just beginning your stay at Cal Poly, to interest each and every one of you in our student system. We have our own constitution, by-laws and codes, but we have a general lack of students, to house visiting officers and student leaders from other campuses; just as we know thousands of other phases of student activities are comparitively young at this young college.

The second—our choice of officers in some cases is due to the fact that our system is not the average Massachusetts system. It is not necessary to question, present facts and demand honesty and forthrightness from all concerned.

The third—there has developed over the years a misunderstanding between student government and administration, and between students and administration employed by the state of California, in which most of us are stockholders and voters, this author puts his time and effort at the disposal of all who care to ask questions and air gripes.

It is our purpose to confirm or elevate but, instead, to question, present facts and demand honesty and forthrightness from all concerned.

That is the word of mouth about what they thought of our system. More power to them. That's what we want you to do.

EL MUSTANG

I'll Just Say It

Sincerely for the fresh, but some oldsters may pick up a few ideas from this column. "Boot Hawg" was originated in June this year and has set its goal post the following event:

As the belief that a new year is a time to dream an aim to do and to ask questions and gripes that same desire to root out the facts and get results or wither and die in silence.

Student government at Cal Poly leaves much to be desired by students coming here from other colleges and high schools. This ineffective government is due solely to the men going out or the men in government now; it however, due to three major things:

The first—youthfulness is explainable and natural in that student government and student activities are comparatively young at this young college.

The second—our choice of officials in some cases is due to the fact that our system is not the average Massachusetts system. It is not necessary to question, present facts and demand honesty and forthrightness from all concerned.

The third—there has developed over the years a misunderstanding between student government and administration, and between students and administration employed by the state of California, in which most of us are stockholders and voters, this author puts his time and effort at the disposal of all who care to ask questions and air gripes.

It is our purpose to confirm or elevate but, instead, to question, present facts and demand honesty and forthrightness from all concerned.
