Student Opinion Reflected On Proposed Voting Change

In his recent address President Klamerow urged the passing of an amendment to the Constitution which would lower the American voting age from 21 to 18 years.

"Most people believe that the voting age should be lowered to 18," said President Klamerow. "This amendment would allow more people to participate in the political process.

However, some people have expressed concern about lowering the voting age to 18. They argue that 18-year-olds are not mature enough to make informed decisions about government and take part in it.

"I don't think a 17-year-old is mature enough to understand the complexities of politics," said one person.

"But I do think a 18-year-old is mature enough to understand the importance of voting," said another.

In the end, the proposed amendment was passed by a slim majority. However, some continue to argue about the merits of lowering the voting age.

"I think it's the right thing to do," said President Klamerow. "It will give more people a voice in the political process and help to ensure a more democratic society."
Desirable Employee Traits Outlined

By Tod Harken

"Do unto others..." may have been said a good many years ago, but application of these principles pays off today, just as it did long ago.

And it's the secret of a good business office staff according to Owen Revella, supervising clerk, who holds sway over as many as eighteen employees at one time in the general office at California Polytechnic College.

"You can hire people working in fear of you," Revella said, "you can hire people working for the money. They will make mistakes and fakes working under the general office to serve all of Cal Poly.

San Luis County

San Luis County is high on the list of qualifications that Revella looks for when interviewing prospective employees. Territorial interpretation equally as a real desire to work. "When an applicant looks bored, high-hat, or even too eager, then she has two strikes against her," Revella claims.

Prudentness and a well-motivated voice constitute desirable attributes for the hopeful. He said that "a young or too loud voice makes an unbearable atmosphere, that can be controlled by a conscientious girl," he emphasized.

"Commuting on the general need of clerical help in the business world, Revella said, "Most girls are looking for a job today are really not condition in their basic skills, they would have but studying typing and shorthand every year they are in school, and learn it well, they could write their own ticket upon graduation."

Planning Necessary

Revella has found that if one applicant knows what he wants to eat, and has outlined it roughly in his mind, he will have to trouble detailing letters. "This plan applies to routine flow of work," he stressed. He said that planning on the part of the executive is of tremendous importance in maintaining a live and effective organization.

In concluding the theme of the meeting, "We need you," Revella gave short sermons of salvation to all employees present.

The quickest way to get yourself noticed around this office is to talk down to students. We're all one family here, and we all want alike.

Knokey Addresses Campus AC Club

"Design and Application of Low Temperature Systems" will be the theme of an address to the AC Club tonight by Charles H. Knokey, Poly alum of '47.

Knokey, head of the engineering development department of Brayden-Hansen Controls was an instructor in the Air Conditioning Department for three years.

Preceding the talk, there will be a dinner meeting at Harry's Place in Pismo Beach.

Irked by the ringing of carillon bells at the University of Colorado, student C. M. Groenewold charged, "The noisy bells disturb me while I work, disturb my work schedule and have caused me great mental and emotional damage." One day, he said, upon hearing the bells he tore up a report which had taken him several hours to compile.

In 1941 the Poly Royal Board of Directors decided to invite coeds from other state colleges to reign over the all male student body.

In 1943 Cal Poly was changed from a junior college to a two-year and three-year technical college.

WHO GETS THE LION'S SHARE?

In 1953 the Union Oil Company of California did a $326,103,000 business. That's big money. Who gets the lion's share of it?

The employee?

In wages and other benefits, 9,263 Union Oil employees earned $3,664,000. The average per employee: $6,998.

The tax collector?

He did all right, too. Federal and other taxes took $21,821,000. (This does not include $55,339,000 additional in fuel taxes which we collected for the government.)

The stockholders?

No, the stockholders did not get the lion's share. They were paid $11,690,000 for the use of their money, plus a dividend of one share of common stock for each ten shares of common held. This was divided among more than 40,000 people.

Well, who did get the lion's share?

After we replenished working capital by $20,088,000 (over and above the $55,584,000 paid employees, the $21,821,000 that went to the tax collector and the $11,690,000 to stockholders), the lion's share — or $215,940,000 — was divided among more than ten thousand companies and individuals we do business with.

Some went for services. Some for materials. Some for wages.

But all of the lion's share of Union Oil's 1953 gross income was reinvested in the American economy.

Maybe it helped make your job a better one.

Trackmen Prepping For League Finals

Splitting a couple of meets last week, the much-improved Mustangs of Coach Jim Jvneen are readying for the CCAA meet scheduled to be held on the San Diego State track May 1. Judging from pest performances, the Bulldogs from Fresno State have a good chance of breaking up the Mustangs, the real competition with the locals for the top spot according to Coach Jvneen.

Last Tuesday afternoon the Mustangs were soundly beaten by the Fresno crew on the victory eight-lap, 9-45. The showing was a big improvement over the 8-40 dual meet with the Bulldogs, however—the latter being a Fresno runaway, 150-101. Notching a pair of wins for the Mustangs was half Pete Curfle, but he had to settle for a tie in the 300 yard dash with a high of 41.1, in 15.3 seconds, and the love was ruled.

The "tireless Turk," Halil Karim, won his javelin specialty with a fine 51-8" toss. Fresno's Herbie Turner took the shot put, 194-8", with Don Miller of Lion's and Alex Brevo in the middle at 175-10. Also, in the 200 yard dash, Poly romped to an impressive 26-52 win over Fresno's winner on the inside.

Hughes Issues Call To Spring Gridders

Coach Hugh Hughes has issued a call early this week for all interested football players to turn out for spring drills. The real thing is scheduled to start May 8.

Hughes, "no anyone who weighs 130 lbs or over should feel free to come out!" By way of a critical hint, Hughes indicated that those men who didn't show up for spring practice might just find their spot on the green and gold line when the real thing kicks off under way in September.

Manager's Take

In addition to ballplayers, Hughes issued a call for managers, and anyone interested in coaching football must contact the Poly sports office. The Poly stadium, room 3. When practice starts May 8, the drill hours will be from 4:45 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. An intra-squad game in the high light of the spring drill is set for May 29.

Hughes: "I am going to have hard work out of these boys if they want to keep the Poly name in the championship bracket of the league." Poly squads are expected to have the same aggressive approach this year as last season when the Mustangs finished 3rd in the intramural event.

The Poly entrants are competing in the independent college division with Santa Barbara and Redlands universities the early favorites.

Playing in the final round of his matches, Pepperdine Poly netters played their last match at the two-set tie score of 9-7.

Other men who helped turn the tide for the Mustangs at Ojai was Poly's Bill Barry, who won both his games against the local runners. In the doubles, Barry teamed up with Dave Kron by winning both matches.

Volleyball Diadem Goes to IRC Squad

The intercollegiate volleyball championship trophy went to the International Relations Club on Wednesday, April 14. As they returned to Poly they faced the IRC team for the Poly view squad by a 15-0 count. Leading an inspired IRC team was Tami Gherman, outstanding competitor from Iran. Outstanding Players:

Code Needs Overhauling

One of the most turbulent and bittersweet-involving student body elections in the history of Cal Mustang has just ended.

The long before the final tally of votes had been made, charges and counter-charges were flying thick and fast. Alleged in­fringements included such phrases as illegal campaigning as adver­tising in El Mustang prior to the official beginning of the cam­paign, posting placards in unauthorized areas and failing to remove campaign literature prior to deadline for close of the campaign.

The election committee, under Asb's limp Bay Ray, met in special session yesterday morning. As a result, Lyon has re­leased the following statement:—The election committee is empowered to make and enforce campaign regulations and, after investigation, the committee recommends that the Student Asb, through power vested in it by the election code, disqualify for breach of campaign regulations, presidential candidates, George A. Martin and vice presidential candidates Dick Johnson and Bruce Ramsey.

We feel that the action is a defensible one and could have been resolved in candidacies and their managers had been con­formant with all portions of the election code as outlined in the Asb constitution.

Regardles of the outcome, we believe that NOW is the time to reorganize the election code to provide for any future contingency that may arise. A firm code, proper liaison bet­ween election officials and candidates and rigid policing by the election committee will go far toward preventing a re­petition of the current situation, we are convinced.

No Reaction From 18's

(By Edward Kennedy in the Monterey Peninsula Herald)

A few days ago we invited your people to express your opin­ions on what might have been President Eisenhower's proposal to reduce the voting age to 18. In our column we put out that allowing 18-year-olds to vote most directly affected, we expected a large number of responses to this measure among them.

We have received thus far over 100 and the result is the suggested that came from a group with 7 to 13 and single digit that had only to 18 voting age, but who de­cided to vote anyway, be reduced to 18.

The fear of revisionism on the part of the young people themselves have some re­spect in a sense voting age. At the talk about "if they're old enough to work, they're old enough to vote" seems to come from other folks. We haven't had a person between the ages of 18 and 21 yet who felt that he was being de­prived of any right by not being allowed to vote.

Some people may deplore this sort of interest and say that it bodes ill for the intelligent par­ticipation of these people in political action in the future. We're not so sure of that.—

Keep in mind that the young people have other interests which perhaps seem more important to them.

One is deciding on an occu­pation to follow through life and making provision and training for it. In the age of specialization, a single line of study seems to be the order of the day than ever. And there's a com­plication in that young men must cut on an interruption during their military service.

Another interest is in all the activities, no matter how indi­vidual, associated with the selec­tion of a life mate and the pre­paration of the race. A student may be as educational as a violin book.

Perhaps it is in just as well that young people are becoming them­selves with such matters between the ages of 18 and 21 rather than being told politics.
