Musicmen To Travel 650 Miles; Give 22 Programs

Cal Poly's touring "ambassadors of good will" are ready for another annual spring music tour that will take them through the San Joaquin valley, led by director Harold它是. The entire music department at Cal Poly's head, Forty-two of Cal Poly's glee club and the 15-man College Orchestra will be brought into the cast this spring by Glenn club president Larry Glendon of Dos Palos hopes that students in the San Joaquin and Salinas valleys will be prepared to enjoy the 22 musical programs that will be played during the spring tour. This year the tour will be conducted in the fall and spring, rather than the spring only, as in the past.

Cafeteria To Be Remodeled For Coed Housing Units

Cafeteria number one College avenue is going to have a complete face lift this summer, according to girl's girls,Glenda Miller, Poly's dietitian, the most important change will be the addition of the table and chairs, says Glenda. "Poly's girls have always been a bit particular about their restaurant," she said.

Juanita Cranks Crook During Power Failure

There is one woman who will be particularly happy if we have more power shortage, as it happened earlier this week. She is Juanita Cranks, Poly's cashier. Every time there is a power shortage, Juanita has to climb up the ramp on the register by hand which is a rather difficult job.

In addition to her troubles, cashier usually doubles their chances during a power shortage and the last thing Juanita would like for the bookkeepers causing Juanita to jump all the more.

Wineroth Takes Job At San Jose State College

Poly will lose a staunch member of its long-time family May 15 when the resignation of "Uncle" Harry Wineroth becomes effective. Wineroth, graduate manager of Cal Poly since 1901, will become the president of San Jose State College. School officials made immediate plans to assure a replacement for Wineroth. According to the announcement of the dean of students, two men will be selected to create a co-ordinator of personnel. One will be book store manager, the other will be graduate manager.

"We have been notified of his decision and we are looking for a replacement," stated Wineroth.

"It was a tremendous decision to make," explained Wineroth. "After all, I have made many friends here at Poly and regret leaving them."

Wineroth gave his principal reason for accepting the new position as "My parents and my parents live in the San Jose locality. We've always liked that area of the state."

Many alumni will remember him as president of the student body from 1903 to 1909.

One of the main planks that year was to construct a home for the Poly students in San Jose. Now, he is looking Poly. Another plank was the organizing of the first Poly student newspaper. Both planks have been realized.

Of El Mustang, Wineroth remarked: Two hours after we received the first copy of the paper, it was on the street. We didn't have a chance to look at the copy in the office."

Many will also remember Wineroth's other planks. He lobbied for three years in both houses of the state legislature, organizing the Poly athletic department at Colleges (continued on page ten)

Currents In Our Government

By Bob Flood, El Mustang Editor
C. T. Short and Jim Barlow, two members of the commission that has been proposing three-branch government, this week came out in open opposition to the plan.

Short officially announced his resignation from the committee at the Student Senate meeting Tuesday night and affirmed his position as chairman of a new committee known as the Student Government Improvement group, which he said "will press the negative side of the three branch government."

Both Short and Barlow opposed the plan last year and were given credit by the opposition for having helped defeat it at the last session. The distribution of "Four No" ballots. They were later asked to join the committee, with the hope that the two men would work a mutually acceptable student group.

Short told El Mustang this week: "We want to work with the student body, to try to get some compromise to the extent of keeping a few things we didn't particularly like. We don't favor a green and orange constitution. We're not against personalities, but against a form of government that we believe is not in the best interest of Poly.

Short announced other members of the new group, in addition to himself and Barlow. Larry Lecere, Jim Little, Marianne Hull, Charles Richarda. Paul Stohrs, and Emil Tappert, among other supporters who did not particularly favor the plan.

In response to a request by Short that they be recognized by the Student Senate as the official body representing the Poly student body, the Senate agreed. They were recognized by the Senate in use of the Poly student body, the Senate agreed. They were recognized by the Senate in use of the name Poly student body.

Fifty-seven students will graduate from Cal Poly at the end of the quarter, with about 50 of them participating in formal commencement ceremonies in the Engineering auditorium Tuesday, March 15. Ralston to receive baccalaureate degrees in the engineering division.

Street Lights Will Verify Poly As A Piece of Intelligence
Cal Poly campus is really going to be lighted up this spring! Twenty lights placed at strategic points around campus last fall. Three are being installed in the Engineering auditorium today. The professors will study the properties of the light before the campus takes over the old.

Agricultural Clubs Unite Into One Central Council

By Bob Norton
Fourteen clubs in the agriculture division have banded together to form the Agriculture Club Council in order to strengthen communication within the division. The creation of this central body of representatives is a result of the natural development and coordination among the members clubs in exchanging information, making plans, and communicating information.

The council is composed of BAC during the first of February after the quarter. Each club will elect the president of their group. The president will be the chairman of the council, with Denn of Agriculture as executive advisor. Also, a budget is being considered for the council, with Warren Smith as faculty advisor. The council plans to meet ten times a year.

Spring Tour Planned
By OH Department

Twenty seniors and juniors of the OH Department plan to make their annual spring tour to San Francisco. March 11-14, says Edward Brown, OH department head.

Among the scheduled stops the first day are the San Francisco Ferry Building and the Fisherman’s Wharf for an inspection of their historical work with boats and primitive tools. The group will then proceed to the Ohlone Park, San Mateo, one of the most modern forest camps in the country. At night they will attend a dinner prepared by OH students and wives in Palo Alto.

On the following days they will tour Mr. Bird nursery, grower of roses; range with range officers in the Garin Carmel Valley, site of the first major railway of Japan; Whipple’s nursery market of the famous Golden State pine forest. By the third day the students who have been on tour from Los Angeles are to return. The group will re- turn to campus late Saturday night. Compensating the students will be Brown and Tony Amen, OH department.

Owen Hand Wins Ping Pong Meet

Owen Hand, junior P.E. major from Alameda, won in the final game to claim the ping pong title. There were too many entrances for the ping pong hall in the Hillcrest lounge. In second place was Bill Barkley, senior P.E. major, Victor Newberry taking the runner-up titles. Twenty-six students competed for the entire week with their antennas in hand. The tournament was held under the auspices of the College Union house committee.

Millard Fillmore, the 13th president of the United States, gave his annual F. M. Morse, investor of the recording telegraph, his earliest and most potent support. In gratitude, Morse named the two Morse code characters after Fillmore’s children, Dorothy (Dot) and Dashiel (Dash).

Liberal Arts To Get Name Change

Previously designated as the Liberal Arts Division, this division is to change the name of Division of Arts and Sciences, announced President McPhee this week.

It is felt that this name change is a more accurate description of the character of the instruction offered by the division. The new name is to be used in the upcoming quarter.

Math Dept. Offers Laboratory Credit

In an endeavor to provide proper recognition for student assistance in the mathematics laboratory, the department has set up the following program to commence in the spring quarter.

Mathematics students interested in helping assistants will sign up with the Mathematics department each quarter during sign-up time. An assistant must credit for Math 118 or its equivalent, grade of B or higher in his most recent mathematics course or have made grade of B- or higher in at least 1.5 grade points average in the mathematics courses.

Tale Told By An Irishman

By Ron Greenhut

"Sure, and 'tis a fine day for the wearin' of the green!"

And so speaks every "Son of the Soil" on St. Patrick's day, be it rain or shine.

"Aye lad," as any old Irishman will tell you, when March 17 arrives, you will with a glint in his eye, "the wearin' of the green has quite the history, it has."

"The wearin' of the green started a way back long afore the time of your father's grandfather, truly. 'Twas before his grandfather's grandfather's time. Aye, lad, 'twas a long time ago that the sons of Ireland first wore the shamrock," as any old Irishman will tell you as he puffs his long-stemmed pipe.

"'Twas near 600 years after the birth of Christ when the blessed St. Patrick was showin' a convert the principal of the Holy Trinity. The good St. Patrick plucked a shamrock to demonstrate the idea of the Holy Trinity. "Aye, and since that time every Irishman from Dublin to Denver has been wearin' a shamrock for the glory of St. Patrick," as any old Irishman will tell you over a bountiful glass of Irish whiskey.

"The problem is lad, that the Emerald Isle, bless the name, is running out of shamrocks, what with every man-wrack wearin' one. Tis got so bad, it has, that people have got to wearin' anything that's green," as any old Irishman will tell you.

So now you know why, when March 17 arrives, you will wearin' this green, be it green socks, green tie or shamrock, for this Irishman has told you.

Intramural Season Ends; Champions Playoff Next Week

Intramural basketball season is about to close this week, so league champions make ready to defend their titles in championship playoffs, Mar. 13 and 14.

A competition continued this week a three-way (tie-marked Monday) of if the tie had not been broken to date a playoff between Turquoise, Crop club and Don Hoy Tractors. Truck club dome will also be schedulers. Three of Hammers.

At present all three clubs share honors as the number one club. Only other deadlock is Friday's competition where Rules and Home have both won once more than the others. The other clubs have not lost a game to date. Both clubs remain undiv­ ed another playoff will be necessary.

Representing Tuesday's league will be the Jammers. As they move into the championship round with no game scored ahead of the champions from Wednesday's league. They too boast a tidy six win, no loss record.

Good Games In Store

From all indications a lot of good intramural basketball is to be stored for the local fans next Monday and Wednesday. Contra­ gym. Games are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

The championship trophy along with individual team awards will be presented after the final contest Wednesday evening.

Friday's playoff will be a battle for the title between the Jammers and Turquoise. The teams were unable to attend the earlier playoff and both clubs remain unbeaten.

If the playoff today is won by the Jammers, Turquoise will move into a playoff with the Jammers for the first place in the Cram club's playoffs. No fourth club in the Jammers' league has played a game in the playoffs and cheer their choices.

Dune Buggy Gets Flung By Flyers

If you drive down Pismo Beach on a Sunday afternoon and see a small pink '61 Chevy sedan streaking over the sand dunes, chances are you're watching a dune buggy driven by four enterprising youngsters.

Less than a year ago, Bill Huber and the other owners were watching these machines, and they were victors in the races on the dunes at Pismo, but they saw what the young bugs could do, they wanted to get in some of the fun. They recruited the aid of Peter Holzburger, who at this time was attending Pasadena City college. Then the four of them bought the '61 Chevy for $300 and stripped the car of all accessories, except the dunes.

Students Speak More English

If a foreign student improves his English, he will gain a better understanding of the American way of life.

This is the opinion of Al Parsee, native of Iran, who is at Poly this year.

They say that government subsidy is not present. Hue would tend to stabilize the price of the commodity, and it would be easier to get started.

Parsi recommends that foreign students from any country speaking English at all times, even during holidays, that would improve their English and make whole college life more enjoyable.

Deadline is March 15.

200 Easter Lilies
Kobe and Ernest Kajihara have the lilies. In accordance with a long-range schedule the bulbs were planted early last December and the flowers are due to appear on April 25. This year the lilies are planned to be sold for five weeks.

Two weeks before they hit the market the flower buds should characteristically bend, the final indicator that planning has paid off.

EL MUSTANG

By Litch L

I think in all fairness that I could say, "Where the world has the quarter wars with Mustangs, I don't think the quarter was the most important thing left to us." The tour crew is busy wrapping up the repertoire. The tourists, who all hope, are in good shape, and there is no news about a break.

The Mustangs just weren't up to it in the Aztec brand of competition. "Taking nothing away from San Diego, who was at full strength, but they played a beautiful ball game," said the one manager. "There was no margin of victory, and we were..."

Several of the Mustang ringers will go into the tourney with very good hopes of success. Among them is Rudy Brooks, who has been fighting in the 160th pound class and has lost only one match. His only defeat came from the hands of San Jose State. Also Vic..."

The graduate manager's job was combined with the track star manager's and went very well. "Although I'm leaving Poly's courtyard," Winchell said, "I'm still very much interested in Poly and will be in touch in alumni affairs."

Along with this he extends a standing invitation for alumni to the Bay area to... drop in anytime and talk over old times.

Winchell

Winchell has been with the Poly athletic department since he defeated Mel Ratkovlch for the title in 1960. About 100,000 about the Poly athletic manager, Winchell, is expected to be at the San Diego State game on March 20.
