More campus tours to be offered during spring break

To accommodate the hundreds of visitors expected on campus during spring break, the university will offer an expanded tour and visitor service schedule.

During the weeks of April 14-18 and April 21-24, Poly Reps will lead campus tours at 10:10 a.m. and 2:10 p.m. every weekday. For those two weeks only, the tours, which last approximately 90 minutes, will leave from Chumash Auditorium.

In addition, Admissions information sessions, tours of the residence halls and other services will be provided.

Details are available in the April 2 Cal Poly Report online at http://calpolynews.calpoly.edu/cpreport/reportindex.html; on the Campus Tour Web site, http://www.ess.calpoly.edu/admiss/visit/main.htm; from the Campus Tour Hotline, ext. 6-5734; or from Cindee Bennett-Thompson in Admissions at cbennett@calpoly.edu.

Library posts resolution on freedom of information

For the information of the campus community, the Kennedy Library has posted on its Web site a resolution of the California Library Association condemning legislation that erodes privacy and supporting efforts of librarians nationwide to maintain open access to information.

For details, see story in the April 2 Cal Poly Report online at http://calpolynews.calpoly.edu/cpreport/reportindex.html.

The library’s Web site includes the full state association resolution plus links to a variety of related sites. The resolution is posted at http://www.lib.calpoly.edu/info/depts/circulation.html#patriot.

Robinson receives award

Accounting Professor Jack Robison was selected to receive the 2003 Faculty Advisor Award. The award was developed by the Advising Council at the request of Provost Zingg to recognize outstanding achievement by a faculty member in the area of student advising.

Robison will be recognized at Fall Conference and receive a $500 honorarium. His name will be displayed on a perpetual plaque in the library.

Cal Poly authors to be feted

The university community is invited to help honor faculty and staff members who have published a book in 2002 at the fifth annual Cal Poly Authors Celebration on April 9.

The reception and award ceremony, intended to showcase scholarship at Cal Poly, will be 5-7 p.m. in the library’s rear lobby. The event is sponsored by the Kennedy Library, El Corral Bookstore and the Provost’s Office.

For more information, go to the Cal Poly Authors 2003 Web site at www.lib.calpoly.edu/authors or call Carol Pendergest at ext. 6-5786 or Rebecca Nadel at 6-6246.

CalPERS seminar set on long-term care program

A representative from the CalPERS Long-Term Care program will present one-hour informational sessions on April 10 about the newly expanded options for long-term care. Sessions will be at 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. in the Veranda Cafe. Application kits will be available. For a reservation, call Human Resources at ext. 6-2236.

The application period runs April 1 through June 30. California public employees (including non-CalPERS members), retirees, spouses, parents, parents-in-law and siblings (18 and over) will have an opportunity to apply for coverage.

Application kits may also be obtained by calling (800) 266-1850 or from the CalPERS Web site at www.calpers.ca.gov/longtermcare.

Publication on emergencies was distributed on campus

The Campus Emergency Management Plan has been distributed to all campus departments. Any office that did not receive a copy may request one from Administration and Finance at ext. 6-2171.

ITS Media Resource Center in Ed Bldg. opens earlier

Students and faculty and staff members who need to pick up, return or reserve audiovisual equipment before 8 a.m. can get what they need half an hour earlier at the Information Technology Services Media Resource Center in Room 9 in the Education Building.

The 7:30 a.m. service began April 1. The Media Resource Center in Room 125 in the Erhart Agriculture Building will continue to open at 8 a.m.

For more information go online to http://www.mds.calpoly.edu/.

Subscriptions on sale for organic produce

Faculty and staff members can satisfy their need for the freshest organic produce by subscribing to Cal Poly's Community Supported Agriculture program, which sells student-grown fruits and vegetables.

Beginning May 19 - and continuing for 22 weeks - subscribers may pick up a box of produce designed to feed two to five people. A wide variety of crops is grown by students at the Cal Poly Organic Farm, including many heirloom varieties not found in grocery stores.

In the spring, members can expect such items as lettuce, kale, broccoli, arugula, beets and radishes. The summer and fall crops include several varieties of tomatoes, cucumbers, eggplant, peppers, melons, corn, potatoes, onions and garlic.

The cost for the 22-week membership is $400. For more information or a membership form, call Sarah Ritter, Community Supported Agriculture manager, at ext. 6-6139.

Harrington to lead faculty writing workshop

Mary Kay Harrington, coordinator of the Writing Skills Program, will lead a weekly faculty writing workshop to help or motivate faculty members to complete a research article, book chapter or other scholarly written material.

Participants are asked to commit to the once-a-week meetings to ensure success. The meetings will be from 4:10 to 5 p.m. Wednesdays from April 9 through June 4 in Room 510 in the Kennedy Library.
