Poly Swimmer Named To Pan-American Team

Eugene Lena, Cal's busy swimmer, has qualified for competition in the Pan-American games which start in Chicago late this month.

At the recent trials held in Michigan, Lena smashed the 440 yard freestyle American record with a 4:18.5 times. He set the record in the preliminaries. The previous mark was 4:18.9 set in 1960 by John Marshall of the New Haven Swim Club. However, in the finals, Lena, a Santa Maria resident, took a second place behind George Hayton of Palo Alto who broke the second-second record by less than a second.

Lena, who holds seven Mustang swim records and four California state records, also placed for Pan-American competition where he took a third in the 100 yard event. Winner was George Hayton, Palo Alto, and third was in the 100 yard event. Winner was George Hayton, Palo Alto, and third was with Alan Lomar of Indianapolis.

The Cal Poly swimmer has never been selected to the All-American swim team, and this year, awarded the Von Horn trophy at Cal Poly which goes to the men's winner of the 100 yard backstroke.

Lena, a 6 foot 1 inch, 170 pounder in victory at Cal Poly majoring in architectural engineering, is a member of the Mustang swimming team.

Payton Jordan Trains Runners Under Unique Track Program

By Bob Posse (Villonova)

"Our feet have been in shoe leather too long," says Stanford Track Coach Payton Jordan, one of the featured instructors in the last week of the Men's P.E. workshop. Jordan proceeded to explain his unique, body-sculpting technique based on barefoot running on grassy slopes.

This approach, he claims, makes the foot muscles more rigid and gives the ground better and greater trackmen added speed.

"Trotting in unshod track shoes, coaches here, Jordan, who claims that "running with one individual, pet bounces the i.e.m."

In addition, it keeps him from having to run, he will discontinue if a student wishes to do so.

Madden Out Eight Weeks: Hurt In Egg Scrimmage

John Madden, 600 pound tackle for last year's Super Bowl champions, St. Louis Cardinals, suffered a broken ankle in last week's practice. Madden was graduated from Cal Poly in June in physical education.

Marty Carlson, a Whittier College graduate, has joined the Placement Officer Eugene A. Rito at the Placement Office of the Whittier College Placement. Mrs. Carlson has been a teacher in the Whittier area for a number of years.

Former Workshop Chairman Returns:
Relates History
By Mike Hibbard
(Mission ELO)

Bill Lopez, one of the founders of the workshop, is on campus for the 18th workshop. In addition to his association with the workshop, Lopez, is the former commissioner of athletics for the Los Angeles City Schools, is on the Southern California committee for the Olympic Games, and is chairman of the Advisory Council of the Los Angeles Examiner and Scholarly Sports Association.

In an interview, Lopez says that the workshop was founded in 1950 by Hal Yvonn, coach at Van Nuys High School. It was held in May and was conceptualized as a football workshop. However, World War Il cutshorted the activities.

After the war the workshop was resumed at Cal Poly. In 1947, just one month before the workshop was scheduled to open, Yvonn died. Lopez then became chairman of the workshop and continued in that capacity until 1950.

The post-war workshop is run on a much more extensive basis than before Classes in all phases of physical education are offered here since 1945, women have attended.

The coaches and teachers annually renew friendships at Poly. A

Twenty-five young journalists are receiving intensive training in journalism and public relations at Cal Poly for two weeks as a part of the 18th annual Coaches Workshop. The students, representing the entire California area, are here as guests of the Southern California Association of the Los Angeles Examiner and have at their instruction some of the most able journalists and publicists in the state.

Their first assignment was to write copy and headlines for the June of the Mustang, which was produced by them as part of their training.

They are also receiving instruction in such varied fields as sports writing, photography, interviewing, and the finer points of feature story, capacity, and handling writing.

Los Angeles Examiner president, the late F. D. Worth, and sports editor and founder of the workshop, Ross W. Worth, EBA national director and a pioneer in TV sports-coaching and Dave Kirby, assistant golf sports director of the Examiner.

The balance of the faculty includes John Harris, journalism instructor at Cal Poly; Robert Young, director of Public Information at Cal Poly's Kellogg-Vandenberg campus in Pomona; Bill Samloth, journalism instructor at El Centro Junior College and president of the Southern California Junior College Journalism Teachers Association; Manny Fina, sports columnist for the Pasadena Independent and Bear News; and William Thomas, sports publicist director for the University of San Diego.

The budding journalists hail from all over Southern and Central California with Mike Hibbard from San Luis Obispo. Two of the young men in attendance, Rob Ellis and Hal Hodgson, are graduates of the program.

Other students include Hill Brans (San Bernardino), Red Denver (Upland), Milton Houghton (Redlands), and Edgur Nash (Murrieta). Alex Veron (Ventura), and Bill Hare (Huntington Beach). Other students are receiving instruction in such varied fields as sports writing, photography, interviewing, and the finer points of feature story, capacity, and handling writing.

State Physical Fitness Program Serves As Model For Nation

By Tom Weaver Jr. (Ventura)

"Today's average American is not keeping as physically fit as our forefathers due to our mobile life styles and the numerous labor saving devices of today," says Conrad, Chief, Bureau of Health Education, Physical Education, Recreation, and Leisure, state department of education.

"It is the purpose of California's physical fitness programs to serve as models for other states," says Conrad. "Physical fitness is necessary and important to life through exercise and recreation."

[Additional text discussing the Bureau of Health Education, physical education, recreation, and leisure, and the necessity of a dynamic program for the state's physical education, and recreation programs.]
Consultant Outlines Co-ed Physical Education Plan

(Chula Vista)

By HAL HODGSON

A new and controversial concept in physical education is being formulated at the State schools of the State of California.

These institutions' instructional and recreation departments have been working on the concept for the past year.

The concept, called co-education, is an attempt to integrate boys and girls into the same physical education classes and activities.

The idea is to provide a more comprehensive education for both sexes by allowing them to participate in the same classes and activities.

The concept is being tested at several schools, including Cal Poly Pomona, San Diego State College, and the University of California, Los Angeles.

The goal is to create a more balanced and inclusive educational environment for all students.

Singing Poet Featured at Jazz Festival

Jan Hendricks, singing poet of the celebrated Lambert-Hendricks-Rose vocal trio, has been announced by the second annual Monterey Jazz Festival to write special verses to introduce all major artists appearing at the five concert dates, Oct. 3-8.

Wide variety of arrangements are in the works, but Hendricks won oversight recognition for his lyrics to the best known recorded arrangements of the Count Basie big band—ranging from appropriate words to fit the improved arrangements.

Hendricks plans to follow this by a tour from Monterey by creating his own band.

The band will be under the direction of the Woody Herman band, including Blue Smoke, Ben Webster, Oscar Peterson and Illinois Jacquet, plus enabling Lambert-Hendricks-Rose to furnish as singing nuclei.

"Come With A Curl on Top" by Eddie Johnson

Because of the rapid growth of the number of high schools in Southern California, the California Interscholastic Federation will move its head office from Berkeley, to Los Angeles, announces Board of Control Chairman William W. Smith (Bill) Russell.

The new office will be in use from Sept. 1, while the office in Berkeley will be retained for CIF Protection Fund members in Northern California.

"The change," explains Commissioner Russell, "is to furnish better service, easier communication and will do away with the times when Los Angeles City or Northern CIF functions.

In the number of high schools has been proportionately doubled throughout the state, but that there are also a greater number of schools in Southern California.

The associate commissioner, Delmar B. Marshall, will be in charge of the Berkeley office, while Russell will handle the main office in Los Angeles.

The present office, at 753 W. Manchester Ave., is still open.

The biggest problem in the CIF has been the placement of new schools in leagues that match their enrollment amounts.

For example, Santa Ysabel High School is classified in the Class A.A.A. division.

The problems of the new office will be in use from Sept. 1, while the office in Berkeley will be retained for CIF Protection Fund members in Northern California.

The reason for this is that there are no schools of the Class A and Class A.A.A. leagues in this district.

There are schools in the San Pedro and Long Beach districts, and these schools will be placed in their respective leagues.

The CIF office serves many additional functions with high schools.

The state CIF office serves many additional functions with high schools.

The state CIF office serves many additional functions with high schools.

Among the duties of the office are determining the eligibility of students to play sports and within different CIF territory.

The office also furnishes an interpretation of both CIF and school rules.
