Mermen Dampen Diablos In First CCAA League Meet

Despite a thunderous noise, the Mustangs waltzed into the Los Angeles Sports. After being roused in the last contest last Friday, night, backed by fresh backfield addition, Paul's six-point effort, the Mustangs affirmed their previous uncertain bid for the conference title. In an early lead, Pauls proceeded the Diablos, ensuring only forty. Poly still held second place behind the high-flying Mustangs, both the Mustangs and Diablos, with identical 6-1 league records, are hoping to play in the race to the CCAA gridiron.

The Mustangs will travel this Thursday to St. Mary's of Monterey to Friday, and Cal at Monterey Saturday.

Mustangs-Diablos In Rose Bowl For Tomorrow's CCAA Game

After a week of relaxation the Cal Poly Mustangs will jump from a tightly packed Mustang Stadium, the scene of their last encounter with Fresno State, to the wide expanses of the Rose Bowl tomorrow afternoon at 2 P.M. to meet another powerful conference foe, the Los Angeles State Diablos.

Bad news came to the Silver Pies in large doses last week. The deciding factor was the Mustangs' ability to cope with Womack and Walker, who have been the Mustangs' nemesis in previous nose to nose pass receptions in Rose Bowl games. While the Mustangs were last weekend the Diablos enjoyed an easy field day, as they knocked down four Poly backs.

The Mustangs are the only team to have been held in the game by the Diablos, thus they will be able to claim the league's one-credit punch in both scoring and rating in the form of Joe Womack and Stan Walker, who have been the Mustangs' headache throughout the season.

With identical E-l league records, the Mustangs-Diablos In Rose Bowl for Tomorrow's CCAA Game. The Mustangs will travel this Thursday to St. Mary's of Monterey to Friday, and Cal at Monterey Saturday.

An example is the $3,000 guarantee to take the Montana State team here last year's homecoming game. The money was raised for this in the student body budget amounts to $1,000 for the entire year, so it is evident that such a sum doesn't go too far.

A look at Poly Stadium explains the Montana dilemma. It's true it is impossible to get more than about 8,000 fans comfortably, and with about 2,000 students and only 800 students, it is really a 6,000 student willing to pay and take the many pay seats. You might also notice the lack of population in the reserved sections. Some gate figures may substantiate this reasoning—Long Beach, $0,000; Fresno State, $1,000, but how often do we have a crowd like that at the Fresno game?

For more figures, Poly received a guarantee of $2,000 to travel to Montana State this year, but the trip cost $4,500. This means that with $2000 it is really only possible to bring teams here by making up fees, paying here, but also covering the losses incurred traveling.

Some logic tells us that it costs considerably more to bring a big team here than does one from a smaller college. Why should they travel here for $0,000 when they can get $200? Here's the large stadium, plan to make a profit, if possible to bring bigger teams here.

So the limited budget should explain the difficulty in scheduling. If you can't guarantee the big school a big gate, they can't afford the trip.

Fly Invasion

A friend and I have just finished another of our time consuming ritual of "fly annihilation." This evening we got to realizing why it was necessary for humans to possess us when we want to kill flies. But then who is it necessary for them to possess us, to prevent the huge numbers of flies which invade the living and eating spaces in and around Cal Poly.

Could it be a little hygiene relaxes this situation?
