Polv English Department Plans Curriculum Changes

Training students to become teachers of high school English will no longer be an objective of Cal Poly English Department at either campus, it was announced Monday by college officials. A decision of the English Department faculty will enable the English Department to focus its entire effort on the teaching of English to undergraduate majors of all departments of the College.

No new student will be enrolled in the English major at either campus after the class of the current academic year.

Diet Kitchen Solves Problems

For Health Center Patients

Broken jaws, ulcers and allergies no longer pose serious eating problems to ailing Poly students, thanks to the new Diet Kitchen, in the Health Center, according to Dr. Earl Lovett, the Poly's new Health Center head.

Dr. Lovett said that these patients need special diets to suit their particular problems. "For example," he explained, "students with ulcers, diarrhea, allergies or nausea need special attention in regard to the care of the mouth or the case of broken or wired jaws. Furthermore, many patients require liquid or whipping foods and specific high-protein diets are also required by some." Basically, however, the meals prepared in the diet kitchen are the same as those in the cafeteria with additions of vitamins and minerals, or changes only as prescribed by the doctors. The only exception to this is the restraint of jellies, milk, or hot drink given to the patients at night. As all students are required to be on the 25-cent cafeteria meal via the Foundation Food Service, which gives the directions to Linda Bertram, California Superintendente.

Mrs. Bernice Carrington and Mrs. Dorothy Simpson, residents of San Luis Obispo, are the cooks in the diet kitchen. Mrs. Carrington was formerly employed in the kitchen of San Luis Obispo General Hospital, and both women have worked in the cafeteria at the school cafeteria.

According to Dr. Lovett, students with meal tickets are fed without additional charge, and all other students are charged 55 cents for the cafeteria meal of 25 cents, plus 30 cents for the diet kitchen meals. Low-cost meals are also available to patients at night. All meals are served at the cafeteria.

Another thing—the Esterbrook Classic always uses ink. If you get used to it, it makes clearly discernible marks on the paper.

Esterbrook fountain pens write with the amazing new miracle discovery—INK!

Don't bother to have your handwriting analyzed. It probably looks just like your room-mate's... No character at all. Wait until you come to your senses and buy the smart-looking Esterbrook Classic fountain pen— with the point that's custom-fitted for you.

The Esterbrook Classic starts writing instantly—the minute it touches the paper. Feels so 'right' in the hand... and looks good, too! Choice of six colors.

Hardeners In North Journey

Heading North on what promises to be the longest journey of the 1980 wrestling season, Coach Station Harden's Cal Poly Mustang wrestling, who finished with the University of Oregon last night, met Portland State tonight and defending Pacific Coast Intercollegiate champion Oregon Bute tomorrow night in Corvallis.

Harden, who was somewhat apprehensive over the 1980 season prospects has changed his tune as of late. He charges currently sport with a 6-3 record in dual meets, including wins over highly placed San Juan State, Stanford University, and Los Angeles State College.

CCAA ROUNDDUP

The Mt's in the five so far as the 1980 CCAA Conference basketball season is concerned. With but two weekends left in league play, both Fresno State and Santa Barbara have lost but one conference game each. This weekend, Santa Barbara came up with a pair of close wins over Los Angeles State (84-81) and Cal Poly (86-84), the latter in an overtime affair, to come into a commanding position for the 1980 championship honors. It could be that Fresno's advancement of one more win in the win column could become the deciding factor. The Gauchos must play the 1948 Howie Rocco Memorial via the novice-boxing tournament route, will probably go to the horsetrapped timber, and appear to be in fair condition. Fresno, sandwiched with the always tough Los Angeles Dabie tomorrow night, Santa Barbara and Fresno will conclude one week from tonight in Robertson Gymnasium on the Fresno State campus in the CCAA finals on Saturday night. Both of these games will be played at a 7:00 p.m. start.

Boxers Seek Revenge Against Horsets in Sacramento Tomorrow

After a disastrous 6-1-1 shut-out loss to the hands of defending NCAA champions San Jose State. Rolls last weekend, Tom Leve's Cal Poly Mustang boxing squad will spend Sacramento State tomorrow night in a non-league match on the south court. The fact that the Gauchos spoiled the debut of the new Men's Physical Education Gymnasium here some three weeks ago still remains in the Mustang mind.

Though firmly entrenched in the CCAA league cellar with a 1-6 record, the Mustangs plan to pull the Aces down with them, since San Diego is 8-0 in the loop wide-line column.

Roundup night the Gaucho men meet the Pneumonics Mariners Crusaders in a non-league clash, on the southern court.

Intramural Highlights

Twenty-four basketball teams started league play last week in the Cal Poly Intramural Basketball League in the race to the campus basketball championship. Though many lopsided scores appear keen in early season play, Colonial House and Crops seem to be the cream of the crop, while Dual Dorm and the Outcasts show class in the Monday (7) session.

Though many lopsided scores appear keen in early season play, Colonial House and Crops seem to be the cream of the crop, while Dual Dorm and the Outcasts show class in the Monday (7) session. Tuesday (7) finds El Dorado the cream of the crop, while the 8 P.M. league sees one of the tightest of the field, with Sonoma Outcasts showing promise.

Wednesday (7) should have a tie-up between CARPERS and身价, while the Late league could go to any of the six teams entered.

Thursday (7) finds the Industrial Engineers a virtual shoo-in, while the late league could figure the same way.

Friday will see the Intramural Basketball Championship.

Records Fall in Inter-Squad Swim

With an inter-squad meet providing the stage, Coach Dick Anderson's swim team either shattered or equaled five records last week.

Fresh squawman Russell Poe established the 220 yard freestyle mark, and broke the Poly pool record with a 1:14 effort, shaving 5 of a second off the old mark.

In the 100 yard backstroke, Frank Brooks broke the state mark, and also set up a new pool record of 58.7 seconds. Equalling the 900 yard freestyle relay, Bill, Bob, Adams, and Childe produced to produce another 1:30.1 mark.

Thursday to Anderson, Jack Adam has been making assaults on Gene Link's 500 and 400 yard freestyle marks, coming within 1.3 and 1.5 seconds respectively.
