Poly Royal Button Contest Underway

The Annual Poly Royal button contest is now under way, according to Pat Hayes, Poly Royal campaign button chairman. The winning entry submitted to the Agricultural Education Department for Feb. 21 will receive a $15 award.

Each design should depict the theme, "Expanding Colleges—Expanding Knowledge as well as include the student's name and school. The design should be indicative of the three divisions, Agriculture, Engineering and Arts and Science. The proposed design should be submitted in a five-inch diameter circle.

Books at High Noon To Review Roosevelt

Cardinal Key Begins Tapping Ceremony

Cardinal Key national honor society will begin its annual tapping ceremony today. New members are elected by a vote of the seniors, and the ceremony marks their meeting of one of the clubs to which they belong.

Some of the activities that Cardinal Key has participated in this year have been tabling for the financial services, establishing and decorating the "pink room" lounge for women students, taking care of the students during the faculty memorial function, and attending the English laboratory to help foreign students learn the English language.

Music Department Plans Performance

Music Department will make its annual debut Thursday in the Air Conditioning Auditorium during College Night.

The concert, featuring Collegian Dance Band, Women's Glee Club, and Majors and Minors barbershop group, is an annual affair.

The ever-popular Collegian Dance Band will change their style slightly from the familiar dance medium to a more sophisticated swing for the occasion," says manager Rich Andersen.

Majors and Minors will harmonize barbershop numbers including "Shiny Main Baby" and "What A Good Fellow I've Been."

This is expected to be the largest performance of this season, reports Gary Taylor, banquet chairman.

Polytick' in'

By TOM BRAGG
ABM President

It may come as a surprise to know that our southern campus is presently the focal point of an all-out attack from golf, aquatic, tennis, and weightlifting enthusiasts. Lack of funds has necessitated such a situation for some time, and it may even be advisable. It's something that we should indulge in now or never, in retaliation to the forthcoming election.

The proposed student fee increase is growing and the Student Affairs Council has organized a group of sponsors to attend meetings and present the problem. Most campus organizations are for it. Perhaps but if you haven't been and you are interested in being someone outside your organization, meeting time and data in the ARB office. Student government is most interested in having an informed student and will do as much as they can to meet this end.

"There's an item I thought I'd bring up that involves some of you in writing your columns. This is a participation in school activities. Trying to give the clubs some status and recognition, the Poly Royal Board has proposed that all student organizations (clubs, forms) be invited to participate. They want the queen's contest and the theme contest. I'm not sure of how many organizations that there are in student government, but we had only 18 women entered in the queen's contest and only eight themes entered in the theme contest. Perhaps there are many other much more useful ways to help the student body don't know, but I think that perhaps a better way to do this would be interested in some manner of contest is to represent the student body as a whole, especially the Poly Royal which is the largest "strike" of the campus to the public of the year. What do you think?" —Please, General Superintendent, 1961 Poly Class.

The above letter is an indication of the great demand that some of the clubs have arisen concerning the importance of the queen's contest that was established in the fall last year. It is the opinion of the Poly Royal that the contest is a good one and that any student body should hold such a contest. The Poly Royal has recently held two contests for the queen and the theme contest. I'm not sure of how many organizations that there are in student government, but we had only 18 women entered in the queen's contest and only eight themes entered in the theme contest. Perhaps there are many other much more useful ways to help the student body don't know, but it seems to me that perhaps a better way to do this would be interested in some manner of contest is to represent the student body as a whole, especially the Poly Royal which is the largest "strike" of the campus to the public of the year. What do you think?" —Please, General Superintendent, 1961 Poly Class.

You are cordially invited to attend a private interview with A Representative of Lockheed Missiles and Space Division. Objective: to pursue mutual interest by examining the almost limitless field of excellence that is the responsibility of the student. The entire program calls for the cooperation between these two groups and with this a more effective program is guaranteed.

English for Foreign Students reports that he has application forms for the many good English classes. The course begins March 1. Books can be obtained in Room 268, Kobe Building.
