The Gavel's Beat
By A.B.S. President Ed Davis

The issue on student Affairs Council agenda has been football seating. This team has bounced back and forth as much as any issue I have seen on the council and BAC representatives are still in the agreement. But this disagreement is not limiting the many other opportunities that are open to us.

Because this Item is a policy matter and since there is a wide variety of feelings, I believe it should go to the student to decide in the coming spring election. It is my belief that you should be allowed to make the final decision and this decision can be made only by you on this item in the election, come April.

Fluctuating Finances

Last night was the final regular executive meeting of the Student Finance Committee. Now the big picture is up on the screen for the consideration of the council. They must revise budgets by April 15. They have an influence between requested money and money available for allocation. This is the time when special interests and prejudices will probably be shown. There are two main groups which budgets must pass before becoming a matter of policy. The other is the "we like to have it" group. The council has been presented with this year. It will possibly be a large hit among the student body. The council has been presented with this year. It will possibly be a large hit among the student body.

Mountain-Climbing English Teacher Is New Faculty Member

Johnson Walker, the new English teacher at Poly, Montclair High School, is a mountain climber by trade. "I had just graduated from the University of Denver," Johnson relates, "when I received a telephone call from a newspaper in Denver asking if I was interested in teaching English here." Johnson agreed and now teaches English at Poly.

Johnson published the paper from $500 to $600 and found himself the owner of a four-column shopper's guide with a circulation of 600 copies a week. "After eighteen months of hard work," continues Johnson, "we had an eight-column paper out. We printed five each day, and a half page of pictures, plenty of notices, and a circulation of 40,000 per week."

Then World War II

Johnson's career in journalism was interrupted by World War II. He enlisted, and one of his assignments included his first English teaching experience—instructing Puerto Rican Civilian Conservation Corps members.

After the war, Johnson was advertising manager of the Starling Farm Journal, taught English at the Colorado School of Mines, returned to the University of Denver for his master's degree, and taught English for three years at Central Missouri State College.

Climb Mountains

"Mountain climbing is my hobby," says Johnson. "One of my first dates with the girl who became my wife was a mountainside exploration from which I was lucky to return alive. We had driven to a remote mountain area in Utah. We went on a hike, and my wife fell. My leg was broken, and my wife was bruised and injured."

Johnson continues Johnson, "I had to hike back toward civilization along an abandoned railroad track. I knew that some of the tracks were built against cliffs with a 300-foot drop. We were surrounded in a heavy snowfall after that." Where

"While ascending one of the treacherous, I slipped and fell. Hurting through what seemed an eternity, I retrieved my coat and was sure this was the end. Then I thumped against a projecting portion of the cliff and rolled to where my frantic clawing grasped the support of the cliff. How I escaped unharmed remains a mystery."

Johnson says he was attracted to Poly because of the unique student-faculty relationship. "In addition to his full teaching schedule," he is working on a nearly-completed doctorate in higher education.

The '57 Chevy can give less on taking curves and holding the road to just about any car going. Few cars at any price are so beautifully balanced and so smooth, sure and solid in action.

A car has to have a special kind of build and balance to keep curves under control. And nobody outdoes Chevrolet in that department! It "corners" with all the solid assurance of an honest-to-goodness sports car. Chevy doesn't throw its weight around on turns because it carries its pounds in the right places.

And if the road should turn upward, Chevy can take care of that nicely, too—with up to 344 bhp.*

Come on in and take a turn at the wheel of a new Chevrolet.
