HUNGARIAN WATER POLO MEN IN CRANDALL POOL TOMORROW

Freedom Tour Swimmers Perform Here Tomorrow

Hungary’s Olympic champion water polo team faces Coach Dick Sloan’s Cal Poly’s afternoon on a one-week Freedom Tour exhibition. The team, which took honors recently at Melbourne, was accompanied by 17 division I and II intercollegiate and invitational matches who will perform following the water polo match.

The match begins at 3 p.m. Proceeds from the affair go toward construction of a new pool at Cal Poly which will be on sale at the door for $1.00. The team will be completing a transeasonal tour, their second since the 1958 Olympic Games. They have appeared in more than 30 games, won 17, lost three and tied in ten. They were selected by the United States Olympic Committee for the appearance at the Olympic Games. A final decision will be made by the A.A.U. on the status of the Hungarian National Team.

Hunyadi’s 60 water victory record remains in the Olympic record. The Hungarian began his tour in January in Pennsylvania. Subsequent action has taken them to New York City and the Midwest. The West Coast leg of the tour ends at the Freedom Tour.

Cafeteria to Switch to One Meal Ticket Plan in Spring

A new Spring Quarter cafeteria plan has been announced by Foundation Manager Gene Brendlin. Essentially, the plan provides three to five more meals per week at the same Winter Quarter rate.

The system, to be a new long-term experiment, will begin with the present two meals per day. Instead of being able to buy either 15 or 18 meals per week, the system will sell 18 meals per week. On campus residents will be offered breakfast, lunch, and dinner Monday through Friday, lunch and dinner Saturday, and noon on Sunday.

Transferring of meal tickets will still be prohibited and students will be able to lose their meal tickets. Foundation officials emphasized.

Mononucleosis Menace Proves Threat to Fun-Loving Students

By Pat Keeble

Beware of “Student's Disease”!

Mononucleosis, glandular fever or “kissing disease,” is for years been plaguing college students in the United States, according to Dr. Carl Lovett, Cal Poly physician, even though, no little can be done to treat the disease.

There is no known cure for the disease, and no one has been able to determine what causes it, although we think it's probably caused by a virus, and that it is contagious. One theory developed during the war, after a study of the habits of sailors on long voyages, is that it's transmitted by "kissing." Symptoms of the disease start similar to those of a cold. Dr. Lovett notes, besides general aches and pains, and lassitude, turnout to chill and fever and slightly enlarged lymph nodes of the neck. It may last three or four days or two or three weeks, or may be chronic, recurring periodically for several months. Enlargement of the spleen and liver may occur. "We had one case last year that did get serious enough that we had to remove the spleen," said Dr. Lovett.

Blood Test Diagnosis

"Diagnosis is made by testing the blood for mononuclear white cells, which are seen to five percent of mononuclear white cells in a normal person," said Dr. Lovett. A person with mononucleosis may have as many as 40 percent of his blood cells in this group.

"There is no special treatment other than supportive care," be admitted to the hospital for a night or two. Curiously enough, they gradually start sending him back to class as soon as they feel better. Antibiotics are used, because mononucleosis is an infectious disease and the patient is isolated in the hospital until the antibodies are built up in his body, and there is no, "effect on the disease itself."

Although "mononucleosis" as it is called, is by far the most common disease of the general population, it is most common on college campuses. An epidemic may occur at any time, although they generally occur in groups, usually following vacations. "We had an epidemic about two weeks after Thanksgiving and another one almost a month later after the Spring Break. Students think they have a lot of their symptoms in the final week or two before the exam. We also have a lot of cases in the closing of the Winter Quarter may cause us to run short of classes," said Dr. Lovett.

Caused From Fatigue

"We are convinced that the long hours spent studying and staying home more are the "kissers," he added.

"The theory that mononucleosis is caused by "kissing" hasn't been proven either. The fact that it is mostly confined to college students and people who are noted for both their health and their health might account for it," Dr. Lovett said.

"It's a disease which is contagious, but has no serious effect on the patient. It isn't a serious ailment, so there is no vital need to avoid it." Dr. Lovett said. "We don't have much trouble with it on weekends," he added.

"The Mono menace has been a problem for several years. Enlargement of the spleen and liver may occur. "We had one case last year that did get serious enough that we had to remove the spleen," said Dr. Lovett. "It is quite common on college campuses. An epidemic may occur any time, although they generally occur in groups, usually following vacations. "We had a small epidemic about two weeks after Thanksgiving and another one almost a month later after the Spring Break. Students think they have a lot of their symptoms in the final week or two before the exam. We also have a lot of cases in the closing of the Winter Quarter," said Dr. Lovett.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Billie

Don't be fooled by his size and appearance. This little guy prides himself on his efficiency and punctuality.

Jobs are available in several areas of the Poly. He'll be available during the Spring Quarter, and you'll see him a lot more than you've seen him in the past. He's also doing some things differently this year, and you'll have a chance to win some prizes by answering his questions correctly.

Small College Grid Has Future in TV

Small college athletic programs have long been overshadowed by the collegiate giants of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's television committee, according to television representative for the National Collegiate Athletic Association's television committee, wearing his school's colors and his television representative hat, portrayed the small college view of television, "The small college believes television can be used as a powerful tool to promote its institutions, its athletes, and its programs, but we also believe that television should not be used to the detriment of our institutions and our athletes."

Hughes, at Cal Poly since 1960, praised the committee for its efforts to protect the small colleges and their sports programs, saying, "The committee had a very difficult job and they did a fantastic job."

Hughes also emphasized the importance of the small college athlete, saying, "The small college athlete is the backbone of the small college, and we believe that television should not be used in a way that would harm that athlete."

Mustang Splashes Seek First Wins

For the Mustangs, who have never won a game in the television arena, it was a moment of pride for them, as they knew that their determination and hard work paid off.

Coach Anderson was thrilled with the outcome, saying, "The players worked hard and they deserve this win."

The Customers Always Write...

To see that my stay at your college was an enjoyable one, the sods of El Mustang, four men were suspended from the Student Affairs Department because of missing too many meetings. More likely, in the future, these four will find that the effect of missing too many meetings will make it impossible for them to stay in school.

The moral is not very easy to state, but it is quite easy to understand. It would seem peculiar that Cal Poly has to quit a few people regularly.

The moral is also quite easy to state. The students who do not attend meetings, who neglect their assignments, who neglect to read the papers, who neglect to attend class, who neglect to keep up on their work, who neglect to supply their letters, who neglect to fill in the blanks, who neglect to fill in the blanks on their own, are not very likely to find the college a very enjoyable one.
