Tool Engineers See Bay Area Industry

Fourteen mechanical engineers returned recently from a three-month trip to the industrial centers in the San Francisco Bay area.

Observing the variety of operations in the area by the tour were Harold A. Cantwell, William O. Donn, Larry Parnell, Edward E. Johns, John Green, George H. Copeland, George V. Scobie, Robert S. Evaritch, Francis C. G. Lockett, Harold J. Kepner, Jack J. Stephenson, Charles W. Taylor, Eugene C. West, and John P. Willett.

Futurists of the Design Department of General Electric Company, San Jose, where mechanical engineers are trained, are shown at the present work that is being manufactured. The group witnessed the manufacturing of ceramic and chemical machinery and a variety of sophisticated equipment.

``The Customers Always Write...''

Lack of Originality?

Dear Editors:

Roger upholstery's clever poster on the June 6 Leadership Conference displayed opposite the student body office is getting a lot of chuckles.

Heard from a prominent visitor on campus a few months ago that the comment he sensed a lack of originality among our student posters.

Roger Packard's clever poster here and bulletin boards that lined the Student's Union atrium.

Posters such as this one would create otherwise.

With two weeks to spring practice, the Mustangs of Coach Roy Hughes are rounding into shape for the annual "Spring Bowl" game May 28. Sixty gridders answered the call of the Silver Fox with hopes high for an invitation to return in September.

The Mustang backfield is spearheaded by former Mustang Bob Omohundro, halfback; Jim Catlett, fullback; Fred Ford and Tallahassee Dick Mancini and Walt人居环境. Several new prospects are shaping up and may give the veterans a run for their money.

The forward wall of the Mustang "eleven" will be bolstered by returning lettermen at each position. Craig Brown and Lew Gentry are back at the ends position. Bruce Butterfield and John Allen head the list of returning tacklers as does Willie Hudson and Bob Moore, guards, and center Bob Williams.
