Record Budget Passed by Council; Twenty Groups to Receive Funds

Officers Meet on Southern Campus; Film, Dance Here

By Polly Gadehurt

In-Ex-Comm Campus Council meetings start tomorrow for a two-day session on the Pomona campus. This is the second meeting of the year for the two councils who come together to talk over ways and means of working toward the same goal for the benefit of students of both campuses.

"Battle Cry" is the great production being shown tonight in the same place at the same time (the Engineering Auditorium at 7 and 9 p.m., in case you've forgotten.)

There's another College Union record dance tonight in the Temporary Campus Union. The ticket of R. B. Horan, mechanical engineering major, was drawn from the barrel making him the new owner of the "Green Machine," a Model A Ford given by Roy Chase as the prize in their donation drive.

Math Major Builds Lie Detector Unit

A lie detector component, which measures abnormal responses by mathematical and statistical analysis, is in a complete stage, says its designer and builder, W. E. Black- field, senior math major from Phe- nix, Arizona.

The detector responds by electron current, alteration in the color of a needle, or by a light which may be turned on or off in response to the lie. One theory is that the person being tested is not being truthful, and is therefore in an emotional state.

The COEDS KNOW THEIR COWS! At the seventh annual all-campus dairy judging contest yesterday Wednesday afternoon, the coeds, who are, of course, competing for the first time, took second place in the second place group of three. The coeds' entry placed second, with the farm groups in first place.

The contest was sponsored by Los Lomitos - dairy husbandry majors' club.

Dances Need 'Policing'?

Dear Editor:

Since when does the Rally Committee regulate and police all on-campus dances?

Last Friday night one member of my group came into the dormitory, sponsored by the Worcester College. Many of these parties are not sponsored by individuals who are interrupting the harmony of the dormitories. Many of the residents feel very tense since he failed to heed the advice of the Rally Committee to quit bothering the freshmen. To the members of the participants he claimed he was a security officer, but always showed very little evidence.

The music was very unseemly to have this person ask them to wrap up the dance early. After all, they were getting paid to do a job and didn't want to solicit payment.

The largest bust pulled by this group was trying to direct the traffic away from the dormitories following the dance, which resulted in heart trouble and some running about obstructing the passage of those seeking to leave.

Don't get me wrong—I don't want to scare people away from our fine dances. In fact, I join many others in trying to see them func- tion correctly, but don't choose to give these valuable books to the Architectural Department so that a number of students would greatly benefit. On behld

Lesson of Life

Dear Editor:

Recently, Fliem—Hodny—came into possession of a most valuable collection of books dealing with architecture. This collection could easily have been converted into a great deal of cash, but instead he chose to give these valuable books to the Architectural Department so that a number of students would greatly benefit. Hands-Off System

Dear Editor:

I understand that Student Affairs Council, in the report of the one-and-one-half hour, has analyzed, thought out and approved, our group's allotment of over $100,000 to the $5 budgetary groups on campus.

This average cut less than seven minutes, and is a fine consideration for a group. In past years it budgets

Poly Cowboys Rank Second; Seek Title at Klamath Falls

Ranking second, for the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association Regional Championship, the Mustang rodeo team was selected for the NIRA finals in Klamath Falls. Operations were slated for tomorrow and Sunday. Captained by Bill Streud, the team includes Larry Roberts, Greg Ward, Larry Panning, Blyle Freeman, and Freeland Thorson.

Rodeo club president, Scott Redington claims the locals have a good chance of winning and says, "we hope to retain our title of the best rodeo college on the West Coast."

Events at the NIRA finals will include saddle bronce riding, Barrel racing, bull riding, bareback riding, steer wrestling, team roping, and home riding.

Teams in competition include four representing Arizona State, Washington State, University of Idaho, Central Washington State, Fresno State, Oregon State, Washington State, Pierce College, and Central Washington State. Also a host of individual NIRA cowboys will compete.

Coach Robert Miller is accompanying the Poly team. Last weekend the locals collected 250 points in that second place in the Fresno State College rodeo. Arizona State assumed the top spot. The Poly team, same as this week, was selected for their strength in riding events in an effort to remain high in the standings for the regional finals.

Freeland Ward was runner-up for all-around cowboy honors. He won the calf roping event and took third in the bull riding and bareback riding, went to cowboys from the other four competing colleges.

Rain Causes Indoor Practice

Rain didn't dampen the spirits of the first Cal Poly Women's Athletic Association annual playday Saturday as it was held in the gym with approximately 600 girls from surrounding high schools participating.

Registration and the welcome from the director started the activities. Then all the girls played volleyball, and after that enjoyed the games.

Three helping with the various activities were Chris Bays, registrar; Shelly Barlow, secretary; Ann Marie Smith, paymaster. Larry Taylor, Dean Jump, Delta Sigma Theta; Barbara Day, Delta Phi Epsilon; Nancy Parsons, Sigma Sigma; Betty Jo Coiner, Sigma Gamma; Linda Kaufman and Miss Lesley Yeager are the WAA secretaries.

The football game against Linfield College will be played here September 21 instead of in Oregon as stated in Tuesday's issue of El Mustang. That will bring the number of home games instead of four as originally reported.

In making out the value of the information, Joan Newsom, activity advisor, said, "With the data recorded on the student's activity transcript we have an easier job of providing answers to requests from prospective employers and the military service. Also it is a handy guide for student activities and advisors." Miss Newsom reviewed the progress chart Friday for returning this information.
