Journalism workshop scheduled at Cal Poly

Twenty-nine top high school journalism students will be at Cal Poly for the 41st California Scholastic Press Association Workshop from Sunday, July 26, through noon on Friday, Aug. 7.

The workshop is co-sponsored by the Journalism Department and College of Liberal Arts.

It provides a selected group of high school juniors, seniors, and recent graduates with practical instruction in a variety of media fields, including print journalism, radio and television journalism, public relations, advertising, and photography.

Workshop faculty are media and communications professionals who volunteer their services. Many are graduates of the CSPA/Cal Poly workshop.

During the intensive workshop, students are required to produce a television news segment, shoot and develop still photographs, and complete a variety of writing assignments in deadline situations.

Business Affairs forming ‘TQM teams’

Twenty-five Business Affairs staff members have completed training in Total Quality Management (or “TQM”) and are forming “TQM teams” in Facility Services, Public Safety Services, Fiscal Services and Support Services.

The teams will study procedures, interview people who use the division’s services, and gather other data to improve the quality of the service the division provides.

TQM — which seems to have come out of nowhere to command widespread interest and reach buzzword status in record time — is a management philosophy that aims to involve everyone in an organization in a continuous process of improvement.

For more information about what Business Affairs is doing with TQM, contact Vicki Stover at ext. 2258.

Hotline Bowl-a-thon meeting scheduled

Everyone interested in participating in Hotline’s 1992 Bowl-a-thon is invited to an informational meeting at noon on Monday, July 27, in the Staff Dining Room.

The Bowl-a-thon, to be held Oct. 22-25, is the county charity’s main fund-raiser. Last year more than 1,300 bowlers participated, representing more than 100 companies and organizations.

Hotline’s trained professional volunteers provide centralized telephone advice and assistance 24 hours a day. The organization has served San Luis Obispo County since 1970.

If you’re interested but can’t attend, please call Elaine Ramos Doyle at ext. 2204.

Call for photos

The county is looking for black-and-white photographs for its 1993 emergency information calendar.

Fourteen photographs representing different facets of SLO County will be selected from the entries received, and 80,000 copies of the calendar will be distributed throughout the county. The winning photographers will receive $100 each. On the calendar, each photograph will be accompanied by a statement by the photographer and a photo credit.

Photographers must be residents of the Central Coast, and any entry that doesn’t follow the instructions exactly will be disqualified.

Summer Institute ’92 to run Aug. 4-Sept. 5

Student Academic Services, with support from the Math Department and Extended Education, will hold Summer Institute 1992 for 54 incoming freshmen and 20 transfer students. The participants are primarily educational equity students, underrepresented by income, ethnicity, or disability.

The Summer Institute is modeled after the academic quarter. Students take regular summer school classes for credit, live in the residence halls, and participate in workshops.

For more information, call Jeanine Balcombe, ext. 2301.
New operating hours for Purchasing

Because of budget reductions, the Purchasing Office has found it necessary to reduce its hours of operation.

Effective Monday, August 3, hours for Purchasing, Adm. 128, will be 9 am to noon and 1-4 pm.

The new hours will be in effect at least through Fall Quarter. Questions should be directed to Ray Macias at ext. 2224.

Now a good time to duplicate

Summer is a good time to take more-complicated projects to Duplicating. The budget situation has not affected the availability of services.

In addition, some new services have been added and old services improved:

- Photocopies are 2.5 cents per page for one side, 3.5 for two, and there is no longer a 20-copy minimum. With some restrictions, Duplicating might be able to reproduce even one copy of a large document economically.
- Turn-around is faster. Except during peak periods at the start of quarters, most requests will be completed in a day.
- Binding alternatives include stapling, tape binding, spiral binding and padding.
- A large variety of paper is on hand. An endless variety can be ordered.
- Many types and colors of ink are available. With some restrictions, documents can be reproduced in up to three colors.

Costs at Duplicating Services are far less than at commercial vendors. Although typesetting and graphic design are not available, staff members can help select a design, screen half-tones, and shoot stats. They can also do some layout work and help select vendors who provide compatible services.

Summer hours are 7:30 to 5 Monday through Thursday and 7:30 to 4:30 Friday. High-speed copiers are available for while-you-wait service from 8 to 11:30 am and 1 to 4 pm daily.

SIS PLUS training to be offered Aug. 19

Faculty and staff members who would like access to SIS PLUS (Student Information System) can take the required training on Wednesday, Aug. 19.

Two sessions will be offered — 9 to 10:30 am and 1:30 to 3 pm. Both classes will be in Computer Science 113.

Individuals must attend a training session to receive a SIS account number.

To sign up, call Jane Paris at ext. 2723.
