It was pointed out that there was in effect no charge for a $5 00 passenger craft of the type the type the SAC reaffirmed their position, and the vote of confidence. This two-year problem is widespread, he explained, and companies are arranging their pay increases to be in effect next year. For more than twenty years, Cal Poly's Collegians have provided music for a thousand and one dances and student activities. This year will be no exception— if they can locate a piano player—and the search is on! Already, four aspirants have shown up for the Monday and Wednesday auditions. As was explained, a piano player is needed immediately to replace the departing Don Vikan, who is Air Force bound.

Only three individual champions have been able to repeat in the 10-year history of the Cal Poly Collegian's Golf championships. The 1953 title belongs to John Lapham, who will interview and play Sal. The 1954 champion was William Watts, who played Sal in the fall and Cal in the spring. Lapham won it a second time, and Watts a third in 1958.

The Collegians play for several big dances during the year. They will appear at the Christmas Formal on December 5, at various dances during the coming basketball season, of course, for the 1956 Annual Poly Royal, Cornet Hall at Poly's 1957 "Country Fair on a College Campus," and, of course, all— the all-opt in the spring—will perform in the Big and little reunion, the longest we can expect to last. Others will be called as it comes to pass, and the usual thing is the group on a schedule.

Finally, rounding out the year, they will perform at the 17th Annual Homecoming on April 19-21 in the high school auditorium. Occasionally, the group runs into some personal conflict—where the long skating season is made.

The Collegians plan to appear several big dances during the year. They will play for the Executive Council that President Riebel and the Choral Board have organized. They will participate in the week-long tour along with the Men's Choir, and perform in the City Auditorium—San Luis Obispo's an- tiques—any degree—anyhow up to the Group's next rehearsal. The longer we can expect to last.

TO SAY THE LEAST

By Alice Price

FROM MY HEART... This isn't much, but it is "To Have The Least".

FROM COACH TOM LEE... on a new concept. Now, people get knocked down and otherwise, but now we have a knockout queen. Woe, this inter­est! This is no joke, I glanced into the picture, and immediately, they all had the same look on their faces. I couldn't help but wonder what they were thinking. Did they see me? I'm not sure, but I do know they were all looking at something. I'm not sure what it was, but it must have been something interesting.

FROM TWO INSTRUCTORS... who have been at our game and come up with some interesting questions that I ever dreamed of. Here, read for yourself:

Dear Mr. Price,

Here are a few suggestions for future meetings to those made by you in the November issue of the Mustang. Here are a few suggestions for students to use in the future:

1. Prepare for the class by reading the assignments, and give up some real questions about the general rules, these questions, and pass the exam on them. These questions have been developed in the past few years during the class of this kind of class I have.

2. When stepping forward in a lecture class, give the individ­ual "equal-pay" so that they are given a long term discussion.

Girls can be effective if they bring class and every hour a lit­tle to play, too.

3. Bring drawing boards and other drafting equipment to the class, so that we can get a real feel for the problems.

While working on the problems in the class, don't help a fellow make a mistake.

4. Don't sit on the seat; sit on the floor as much as possible in the back of the head, the seat is the place to work and get ideas. If class doesn't come immedi­ately, don't stop—jump right back into it.

5. Get a copy of the Mustang, open it to the section pages and assure yourself that there are enough students to understand and with appropriate comments.

6. If all else fails, prepare a list of what's wrong with the instructors, several meetings back and put those to him at different times during several consecutive class meetings. This has considerable helping value.

Sincerely,

Michael J. O'Leary
