The final examination period for the Fall Quarter will extend from Monday, December 9, through Friday, December 13. Examinations will be held in the room in which you regularly meet your class. The following steps are necessary to determine when a final examination is to be held.

Step 1. Examination Day Schedule

The day(s) a lecture meets during the quarter determines the day on which the final examination will be held.

Fall Quarter 1967-68

Dec 9 through Dec 13, 1967

The Poly Royal Board

Okayas Theme For Big April Event

"Education In Action" is the theme for the 26th annual Poly Royal, and they have chosen Jim Troxel, general supervisor of the affair. The Poly Royal Board will be ngâning a special show on Saturday, December 9.

The Poly Royal General Board will have a meeting tonight from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the college dining hall. According to the board, there will be no changes made. The theme chosen was a product of the board.

Tony Amato, OH instructor, was again appointed a faculty advisor to the board.

Troxel says many chairmen are working for the "Fall Fair At A College," and anyone who wishes to apply for the role of a position of contact Troxel or Director of Special Events, Dick Wilson.

Academic Vacation Starts Wednesday

Students will enjoy one more academic holiday before facing Fall Quarter finals. The annual Christmas vacation begins at noon Thursday, December 7. Students returning to the college for Christmas vacation will be welcomed on Wednesday, December 13.

Dorms To Compete For Yule Contest Trophy Awards

Dorm members are "urging" several campus groups to enter the competition in dormitory decorating in any of the ways that will contribute to the Yule contest trophy.

Competition among the dorms is reaching a keen edge as the Dec. 9 judging deadline approaches.

Dorms Will Meet Tuesday

A panel on "Teacher Responsibility," will highlight the California Student Teachers Association meeting to be held tonight at 7:00 in Administration Room 101.

Veterans' Attendance Cards

Veterans are asked to sign monthly IBM attendance cards on Monday, Dec. 9, according to Thomas A. Lammers, Registrar.

Recruitment Swimming

Recreational Swimming will be held in the Poly pool this week-end's holidays. The pool will be open from Wednesday noon, Dec. 6, until Sunday, Dec. 10.

Challenges Of Space Told Here By Vanguard Expert

Space and the atom are the two most exciting promises of modern science, according to Jack Knecht, vice president of the Mobil Engineering and Construction Company, which is the administrative assistant to the project engineer for the Vanguard Satellite Program in an address to the Society of Automotive Engineers and the Mechanical Engineering Society.

Hockett said "The satellite program has been initiated as a private venture and as a private scientific effort to obtain additional data about the planet Earth. He said that the opinions that some feel this is "the leading edge of space flight" which he thought was still several years away, are not without merit.

"There can be no doubt that a future day will see larger satellites doing even more efficient service..."

"The latest that can be said for the TV Satellite Program is that it is one of the most interesting and spectacular scientific projects conceived by man. It brings together many of the biggest scientific problems that all mankind has faced over the years;" he continued.

"America will place a satellite in the sky next month and the full-scale 40-inch model in January. Several months from now, the satellite will be launched in the normal way and will function as planned.

"The formation of the first stage will be felt, but it does not come down to the problem of the satellite being able to maintain itself in the sky..."

Mother Peterson Tells Of El Corral Wit and Fun

by Jeanette Brady and Joyce Jeffers

Cal Poly has its own answer to both Abigail Van Buren and Ann Landers. She gives out with the witty remarks and sound advice at any time of the day—during her working hours, that is.

She’s Lydia Peterson, head cashier in El Corral Fountain (the person who always sits behind the cash register with her hand laid out). Lydia, as everyone at Poly knows her, has been sitting there with her hand laid out for the past five years.

Lydia says that between 2000 and 3000 “younger customers” go through each day. Even though this is laborious and boring, she keeps in touch with most of these by name (first name, anyway). Everyone who goes through must have a cup of coffee in his (or her) hand because El Corral sells 1400 cups of coffee per day—and that’s a heap of coffee grounds.

Many interesting, unusual, and unique things have happened to Lydia in her years behind the cash register. As witnessed by the time one of the late customers dropped her wooden nickel. "He gave it to me for fun," she says, "and I found he wasn’t able to buy his coffee. Lydia accepted the collateral and the young man returned later with a nickel (a real one)."

Lydia is sort of a mother away from home to many of the students. "One of the fellows who graduated last year called me Mom!" all four years he was here," she reminisces.

SPORTSPLINGS BY YOUNG

STILL BREATHING HARD following last Friday night’s unexpected tussle with San Francisco State’s Gators, Poly’s Big Green took on formidable UC, Santa Barbara College Gauchos Thursday in a Turkey Day Treat.

The Santa Barbara outfit is enjoying one of its best seasons in years. The Gauchos, unseeded in college play, have been set back once — by the San Diego Matadors. However it is the Big Green who is on the wrong end of the Thanksgiving Day gun with the Gauchos. Channel City followers of this local sport have the game as a toss-up. Kickoff is scheduled for 11 AM.

CLAUDE TURNER and TOM KLOSTERMAN combined forces to put together one of the greatest storybook finishes to a Cal Poly football game last Friday in San Francisco, where the Big Green came from-behind to take a 17-7 win over the SF Gators.

SAN JOSE STATE surprised all comers in the State College Water Polo Tournament held on campus this past weekend. Coach Dick Anderson’s State Mustangs placed third behind Long Beach State, The Mustangs boasted the Forty-Niners, premiers favorites. 9-1 Poly, 11-1 and San Francisco State, 9-1 Los Angeles State did not show-up for the affair.

The average Cal Poly student takes part in about two activities during the year. Some have the ability and opportunity to take part in three or four activities.

Part-time employers and summer employment is available to all students, grades, and former students. Cal Poly Listings are maintained by both on and off-campus job openings.

Cal Poly’s student health fee ‘each quarter covers examinations, treatment, most medicines, room (but not board) at the Health Center.

Engineer Gets FFA Ag Award
Charles H. Thomas, freshman in mechanical engineering major from Dayton, Ohio, in the Pacific Region winner of the Future Farmers of America Foundation award for FFA recognition in Soil and Water Management.

Thomas's FFA award was one of four awards given to FFA members in the state. Each of the four winners previously had won State FFA awards in various categories and were recognized for their contributions to agriculture.

Instructor and technicians from the Soil Conservation Service, who developed the award, have been working closely with the FFA to encourage and recognize students' achievements in agriculture.

I'M ALL FOR IT! I'm all for a six-day school week, eleven-and-a-half months, and life insurance. I think it's a great idea, and would personally volunteer to represent you (the present system) in the legislature. I hope the law is passed making the proposal possible. And I hope that the law takes effect no sooner nor later than June 80, 1969. (Now was it '69 or '00 that I graduate.

For anyone who is really enthusiastic about my proposal, I'll be writing in the El Mustang paper all this week—enclosed in a shiny new suit,—of armor, crash helmet, and other stuff—to talk things over.

Last year the seventh place motion picture film binning the most "outstanding photo" received a $500.00 award. This year's contest is open to any foreign national studying here, and the prize for the "most outstanding photo" is $2,000.00. A part of the People-to-People Program, the contest is open to any foreign national studying here under any recognized international exchange program.

He points out that one important change in the awarding of cash prizes rather than merchandise awards. He says this year's emphasis is aimed at sending the thought that the competition is not always in the ''finishing touches" of the photo, but also in finding the "real" personality behind the photograph.

Entry blanks may be obtained in the office of Dean Chandler, Room 181, Administration Building. All winners must be received by the Photographic Committee before Dec. 31.
