Los Gatos officer new chief of police

A Los Gatos administrative sergeant with more than 21 years experience in law enforcement is the new chief of university police.

L. Thomas Mitchell was appointed to the position by Frank Lebens, vice president for administration and finance. Mitchell succeeds Steve Schroeder, who served as interim police chief since 1992.

"Tom's experience in developing and implementing innovative methods of community policing will be an asset to the campus," Lebens said. "Cal Poly and the community will also benefit from his experience with traditional methods in managing patrol, investigations, crime prevention and community outreach programs."

As the university's chief law enforcement officer, Mitchell will plan, organize, lead and direct all operations of the campus police, including general law enforcement, crime prevention and investigation, emergency communications and response, inventory loss and prevention control, and traffic control.

Mitchell, who also served as chief of police for the West Valley District Police Department in Saratoga, has extensive management and administrative experience, as well as a solid background in supervision and command. A member of the Los Gatos Police Department for 20 years, Mitchell was in charge of that department's Traffic Bureau, Reserve Police Unit, SWAT Team and Crowd Control Team.

While chief of police at West Valley District Police Department from 1981 to 1983, Mitchell was in charge of that department's Traffic Bureau, Reserve Police Unit, SWAT Team and Crowd Control Team.

Gift processing reminder

Departments are reminded that all 1993-94 gifts to the university must be processed by the University Relations and Development Division by June 30. Please forward all gifts to University Development Services, Heron Hall, Room 116, for processing before the 1993-94 accounts are closed.

Cash gifts must be accompanied by a Gift Information Form; in-kind gifts (property, equipment, supplies, services) require a completed Gift In-Kind Form.

For more information, forms, or to have your gift forms picked up, call Denise Mendonca, ext. 5858.

Another V.P. finalist to be interviewed

An additional finalist for the position of vice president for university advancement will be interviewed in June.

James Glass, vice president of Ketchum Inc., will be on campus June 28 and will be meeting with any interested faculty and staff members at a reception from 4:30 to 5:30 pm in the Alumni House.

A reception is scheduled on June 27 for William Boldt, assistant dean, College of Agriculture at Cornell University, and on June 30 for Jayne Irvin, assistant vice chancellor for development at the University of Missouri.

All receptions will be from 4:30 to 5:30 pm in the Alumni House.

New names for UDS, University Relations

The University Relations and Development Division will change its name to the University Advancement Division, effective July 1, and the current University Development Services (UDS) office will be known as the Advancement Records and Systems office.

The division is responsible for the university's fund-raising activities as well as alumni relations and communications. UDS provides the colleges and departments with lists and labels of alumni and donors.

The new names are more in line with names and titles being used by the chancellor's office, other CSU campuses, and by the fund-raising profession.

A nationwide search for a vice president for university advancement is underway, and a person should be named to the position in July.

Halisky appointed

Linda Halisky, a member of the English Department since 1984, has been chosen department chair, effective June 20. The appointment is for four years.
Allen, Clover in Monterey Bay group

Chuck Allen, executive director of university relations and development, and Bob Clover, director of academic computing services, are serving on the CSU Monterey Bay Work Group.

The group, with representatives from all 20 CSU campuses, is charged with implementing a vision statement for the new campus, scheduled to open in fall 1995.

The group will also discuss planning tasks for specific topics, such as finding the key requirement that will create a truly innovative and distinctive university.

Students win honors in research contest

Three Cal Poly students earned top honors and received cash awards for their entries in an annual research competition sponsored by the CSU Foundation.

The Student Research Competition is designed to foster excellence in undergraduate and graduate research and creative activity. Students from the 20 CSU campuses compete in the contest’s ten categories at either the undergraduate or graduate level.

Anthony Wong, a graduate student in business administration, won first place in the graduate-level business, economics and public administration category for his research on “Static and Flow Measures of Financial Liquidity: An Empirical Analysis.”

Chris Ransom, a senior biological sciences student, earned second prize in the undergraduate biological and agricultural sciences category. His research was on “Inwardly-Rectifying K+ Channels (Kir) of Rat Spinal Cord Astrocytes.”

Tom VanDiepen, a graduate engineering student, won second place in the graduate engineering and computer science category for his project, “Characterization of Low Alloy Steel and Its Susceptibility to Microbiologically Influenced Corrosion.”

Each campus holds a competition to select the students who go on to compete statewide. First-place winners of this year’s contest each received $500, provided by PG&E, and runners-up received $200. The students’ written reports and oral presentations were judged by leaders from business, industry and academic institutions outside the CSU.

Associate V.P. Admin. & Finance

CLOSING DATE: July 15, 1994

THE POSITION

The Associate Vice President for Administration and Finance reports directly to and assists the Vice President for Administration and Finance in the leadership and management of the Administration and Finance Division. The Associate Vice President has responsibility for coordinating and facilitating the reengineering and quality improvement efforts within the division. In support of these efforts, the Associate Vice President oversees benchmarking efforts and the identification of the "best practices" in operational areas applicable to the Administration and Finance Division, promotes strategic "state of practice" technologies appropriate to divisional operations, and recommends appropriate software and hardware platforms; and, in consultation with departmental directors, recommends operational changes to improve service and lower costs. The Associate Vice President also supervises the divisional LAN administrator and coordinates user and systems development and implementation teams across the division. The system analysts and programmers in the functional departments within the division report to the Associate Vice President for Administration and Finance for cross-functional process coordination. The Associate Vice President also provides complex, analytical staff support (including internal audits) to the Vice President and serves as the divisional liaison with student government and other student groups and/or activities. The Associate Vice President assumes the delegation of authority in the absence of the Vice President.

ADMINISTRATION AND FINANCE DIVISION

Administration and Finance is composed of seven departments — Budget Planning and Administration, Facilities Planning, Facility Services, Fiscal Services, Human Resources, Public Safety, and Support Services. The annual budget for Administration and Finance is approximately $15 million, supporting 300 FTE staff.

QUALIFICATIONS

Success in this position requires that the candidate have at least eight years of administrative experience in a university setting, the majority of which must be associated with service oriented business processes, strategic planning experience and thinking, and systems development and analysis. A master's degree or evidence of substantial progress towards a master's degree in a related field is required. The candidate must possess strong communication and interpersonal skills; a record of effective working relationships with faculty, staff, and students in a diverse setting; a commitment to affirmative action and professional ethics; and a working understanding of quality improvement and business process redesign.

COMPENSATION

Salary is commensurate with the background and experience of the individual selected. Cal Poly offers excellent fringe benefits. All rights associated with appointment are governed by the Management Personnel Plan adopted by the CSU Board of Trustees.

SELECTION PROCESS

Interested applicants must submit a Cal Poly Management Application, a current resume, a letter providing some detail of the applicant's qualifications and interest in the position, and the names, addresses and telephone numbers of at least three professional references. Applicants are encouraged to include a description of the projects they have managed or helped manage and the anticipated results of those projects. Applications are due by July 15, 1994.
