Enrollment Hits High

By DIANA YOR

Recently increasing enrollment at Cal Poly, according to student officials, has brought fall quarter's enrollment up to 6,300. This is an increase of almost 1,000 students over the 1961-62 fall quarter of 5,399.

At 8 a.m. registration day, Cal students were notified, a total of 6,012 students were listed as having registered for fall quarter's total.

Due to the growing influx of students entering the college, in addition to the increasing number of women students, there are rising dormitory problems for Cal Poly. According to John Holley, college registrar, this year there are only enough dormitory beds for about 5,800 students.

"As for new residence halls in the future," Mrs. Vokoun reported. "There are non-scheduled dormitory units, yet, which will provide housing for 2,000 students."

The "College Placement Annual" assembly will feature Dick Gregory, Vince Guaraldi's Trio and another off-campus approved unit, the Campus Motel.

Placement Annual Free To Seniors

Many students and junior college friends are attending throughout the year by the College Union Committee, according to Mike Brown.

Proposed by Law Littie, a junior architectural engineering student, the Cardboard Jungle, in the Little Theater at 8:00 p.m. October 7, will be a student produced and directed film slide show which will include a brief history of various types of structures from ancient times to the present day.

On October 7 is the deadline for turning in add-drop cards. This is an 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. day for the first add drop period. Students and alumni of Canada and the United States will be attending the college during the second add drop period.
