

State Board Of Education President Outlines Education's 'Arduous Task'

By ALISON CAMBRO

"It's a job," said President of the California State Board of Education at the recent board meeting of the California State Board of Education. "It's not just a matter of being able to walk into a room and say, 'I'm the president. I have the power. I can do anything I want.'"

"It's a job," she continued, "and it's a job that requires a lot of hard work and dedication. It's not a job for the faint of heart. It's a job that requires a lot of hard work and dedication."}

...the school board members face."

The problem of education, President of the California State Board of Education, said, "is not to yield to the blandishments of the ignorant, but to stand firm and hold on to the truths that we know to be true."

"But never has history achieved such a goal," she said, "as it has in the case of the California State Board of Education."

Radio and Replication Councils both elected under the leadership of Robert W. Nelson. These councils, made up of creative writing faculty members, design and supervise the production of various literary and literary activities for each of the College's six major classes. The council's purpose is to encourage and support the creative endeavors of students in the College.

Secretariat
Student Affairs Council (SAC) has been reorganized to reflect the interests and needs of students. The SAC now includes representatives from each of the College's divisions, including the College of Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, and Education. The SAC is chaired by the Dean of Students and is responsible for overseeing the activities of student organizations and clubs.

Where Are Those Who Want To Do?

"I want more students at Cal Poly trying to prove me wrong," said Poorman. "I want to see more students trying to figure out what they want to do. I want to see more students working together to get things done." Poorman is a member of the Los Angeles Police Department and is the founder of the California State University at Los Angeles Foundation.

The Expended Result of Taking Science

By MAUREEN LUND

I WAS A TEEN-AGE SLIDE RULE

EUREKA, CALIF.

When I was 17 years old, I was a science student at the University of California at Berkeley. I was interested in chemistry and physics, and I spent much of my time in the science library, reading and studying. I was also a part of the science club, which met weekly to discuss the latest scientific discoveries.

One day, a friend of mine came to me with a problem. She was having trouble with a calculus problem, and she didn't know how to solve it. I offered to help her, and we spent the next few hours working on the problem together. It was a challenging problem, and we spent a lot of time thinking about it. Finally, we were able to solve it, and we were both very proud of ourselves.

I have always enjoyed helping others with their science problems, and I have continued to do so throughout my life. I have taught many students in my thirty years as a science teacher, and I have found that the most rewarding part of my job is helping students understand and appreciate the beauty of science.
