Interview dates for dean of liberal arts

The interview dates for the second candidate for the position of dean, School of Liberal Arts, will be today (Feb. 22) and Feb. 23. Dr. Sybil Weir, associate dean, School of Humanities and the Arts, San Jose State University, will be available for an informal reception with faculty, staff and students of the School of Liberal Arts. The reception will be held today (Feb. 22) from 3:15-4:30 pm in Faculty/Staff Dining Room B.

The first candidate, Dr. Luis Costa, head of the Department of Modern and Classical Languages, Texas A&M University, was on campus Feb. 20-21.

Nominations sought for Academic Senate

The Academic Senate Office is accepting nominations to the Academic Senate for the 1990-1992 term. The election for senators will be held during Spring Quarter. Nominations must include a signed statement of intent to serve. Each school and Professional Consultative Services (PCS) will need to elect senators to fill vacant positions for the 1990-1992 term.

In addition to the election of senators, the following schools have vacancies on the Academic Senate Research Committee: SBUS, SLA, SPSE, SSM, and PCS. The following schools also have vacancies on the Academic Senate University Professional Leave Committee (UPLC): SAED, SBUS, SLA, and PCS. The Research Committee and the UPLC are elected committees.

There is also one vacancy to the statewide Academic Senate for the 1990-1993 term. For further information on this position, please contact the Academic Senate Office, ext. 1258.

Nomination forms for these positions are available from the Academic Senate Office. All nominations are due in the Academic Senate Office (FOB 25H) no later than Friday, March 30, at 5 pm.

Healthy living topic of March 8 seminar

"Take Charge! Strategies for Healthy Living" is the theme for a faculty and staff health seminar on Thursday, March 8.

A select panel of health professionals will speak in the Theatre on strategies to enhance personal health through self-care living. The program is set to begin at 11 am.

In addition, a variety of tests to measure health status will be available from Friday, Feb. 23, through Wednesday, March 7. For additional information on the tests or seminar call Katelyn Johnson, 544-9292.

Winter '90 official enrollment — 17,314

Winter Quarter 1990 official enrollment is 17,314 students, a decrease of 343 compared with the Fall Quarter 1989 enrollment of 17,657 students.

Historically, Fall Quarter enrollment is the university's highest with declines occurring in Winter and Spring Quarters.

For Winter Quarter 1990, the full-time equivalent student count is 15,567, a drop of 91 compared with last fall's FTE of 15,658.

Updated guide to tax-sheltered annuity

Tax-Sheltered Annuity and Deferred Compensation programs provide a means for eligible employees to invest tax-deferred income in a variety of annuity plans and mutual funds as well as a savings account through payroll deduction. The invested funds and earnings are not taxed until they are paid to the employee, usually after retirement.

An updated "Guide to the Tax-Sheltered Annuity Program" is being distributed to employees through campus mail. The program is available to all full-time employees, part-time Unit 3 employees (faculty), and part-time employees in Units 2, 5, 7 & 9 (CSEA) with at least two years of continuous service.

The Deferred Compensation Program, administered by the State Department of Personnel Administration, is available to all full-time and part-time employees. Literature regarding this program and other tax-sheltered annuity programs is available from the Personnel Office. This includes a list of authorized TSA companies, a summary of deferred compensation investment options, and a comparison of the deferred compensation and TSA programs.

As a reminder, unsolicited employee contact by a TSA company representative, either in person or by phone, is prohibited. Door-to-door solicitation is specifically prohibited. Only at the employee's request may a TSA representative contact the employee on campus, and then only during non-working hours such as rest or lunch breaks. Prohibited solicitation activities should be reported to the Personnel Office, ext. 2236.
Design trade show to be held Feb. 26

New products and techniques for landscaping, architecture, planning, interiors, and other design fields will be in the spotlight on Monday, Feb. 26, when Architecture and Environmental Design students hold Trade Show '90. The free show will take place in Chumash Auditorium. More than 30 companies will display their products and answer questions. The show will be of special interest to students and professionals in design-related fields. The show is sponsored jointly by the student chapter of the American Society of Landscape Architects and the School of Architecture and Environmental Design. For more information, telephone the Landscape Architecture Department, ext. 1319.

Cal Poly schedules first Career Week

Cal Poly’s first Career Week is in session through Tuesday, Feb. 27. Activities include workshops, panels, a banquet, and a job fair. The week’s highlight will be the 11th annual Career Symposium today (Feb. 22). Employers representing nearly 100 companies will be in Chumash Auditorium from 10 to 3 pm to speak with students about career options, cooperative education, and summer employment. The Career Symposium is sponsored by Career Planning and Counseling Services, Cooperative Education and Placement Center, Relations With Schools, and Student Academic Services. Also scheduled for today are an alumni panel from 10 am to noon and a Resume/Job Search program from 1 to 2 pm. Both will be held in UU 219. On Friday, Feb. 23, a Careers in Biomedical Engineering seminar will be held in UU 220 10 to 11:30 am. The Society of Women Engineers’ Evening with Industry banquet, marking the end of Engineering Week, is planned for 7 pm at the Embassy Suites Hotel. The Career Week activities conclude on Feb. 27, with the Expo '90 pre-career job fair from 10 am to 4 pm in Chumash Auditorium.

Arts and Humanities talk to be March 1

Antonia Hernandez, president and general counsel for the Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund, will discuss “Undocumented Workers in the U.S. and the Present Status of Amnesty for Some: A Taxed Class Without Representation” on Thursday, March 1. She will speak at 11 am in UU 220 as part of the Arts and Humanities Lecture Series. The program series, in its 19th year, is sponsored by the School of Liberal Arts. The theme this year is “Silenced Voices: From the Margins of America.” A member of the State Bar of California since 1974, she joined MALDEF in 1981 as associate counsel in the Washington, D.C., office, and then became employment program director. In 1984 she was appointed executive vice president and deputy general counsel, and a year later she became president and general counsel.

For the first time in history, says Hernandez, it is against the law to hire persons not authorized to work in the United States. An employer can break the law, be fined, and go to jail for “flagrant” violations.

One of the main drawbacks of the immigration legislation, says Hernandez, is that it gives people in the United States a false sense of security and control over the border.

Architect Cesar Pelli to give Feb. 27 talk

Internationally respected architect Cesar Pelli, former dean of Yale University’s School of Architecture, will speak Tuesday, Feb. 27, about the present and future of architectural practice. Pelli’s free presentation, “Contemporary Practice Issues, Responsibilities and Opportunities for the Next Century,” will begin at 11:15 am in the Theatre.

“We tend to judge architecture as if it were painting, an isolated object that belongs to the set of the artist,” says Pelli in assessing the state of his profession. “But I believe the city is more important than the building, and the building more important than the architect.”

Pelli’s current and recent projects include Norwest Center Tower, recently completed in Minneapolis; a 59-story office tower astride Carnegie Hall in New York City; and the Canary Wharf complex now under construction in London, a project that includes a 57-story tower, retail center, and railway station.

Pelli was named dean of architecture at Yale in 1977. He resigned the position in 1984 to return to full-time practice. His firm, Cesar Pelli and Associates of New Haven, Conn., has a staff of 80. He has earned honors that include election as a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects and a member of the American Academy and Institute of Arts and Letters and the National Academy of Design.

Pelli’s lecture is sponsored by School of Architecture and Environmental Design as part of its 1989-90 Distinguished Visiting Lecturer Series, “Preparing for the 21st Century.”

Faculty/Staff Payday is Feb. 28
Suspense drama scheduled at Theatre

The Theatre and Dance Department will present "The Visit," a play by Friedrich Duerrenmatt. The performances will begin Thursday, March 1, at 8 pm in the Theatre. Additional performances will be at 8 pm on Friday and Saturday, March 2 and 3.

The play centers around Claire Zachanassian, the wealthiest woman in the world, who sweeps into the tiny bankrupt European village of her birth and offers the community a billion marks if they will kill the man who seduced her years ago.

As the suspense builds, the townspeople attempt to decide whether they should accept or reject Claire’s malevolent benevolence.

Erma Stauffer, a professional actress from Lancaster, Pa., who is playing Claire, says the play will prove to be a rewarding experience for theatergoers.

"What makes a play interesting to watch is evolution in the characters," she said, "and there is character evolution in this play, from the smallest to the largest roles."

Directing "The Visit" will be Theater and Dance Department faculty member Al Schnupp. Fellow department members working on the production include scenic designer Russ Whaley and technical director Howard Gee.

Tickets are $6 for adults and $5 for senior citizens and students with Cal Poly ID. Reservations can be made by calling the Theater Ticket Office, ext. 1421, between 10 am and 4 pm Monday through Friday.
