Mechanical Monsters May Help Pay For CU Building

A project architect for the Campus Union Building on the Cal Poly campus has been selected by the American Institute of Architects (AIA) to design the new student union.

The project architect will be responsible for the design of the new union, which is expected to be completed by January 1965. The architect will work closely with the student body and the administration to ensure that the new building meets the needs of the student body.

Joint SAC Discussions Rose Float

The Joint Student Activities Council (SAC) will hold a float competition next fall. The competition will be held on the campus of Cal Poly and will be open to all students. The float must be related to the theme of the competition, which is "The Future of Education." The deadline for entries is October 1, 1964.

Finance Committee Discusses Athletics

The Finance Committee will discuss the financial aspects of the athletics program at Cal Poly. The committee will examine the budget for athletics and determine if the program is financially viable. The committee will meet on the first Monday of each month at 4:00 PM in the administration building.

Johnson Takes Early Lead; Record Vote Expected

President Lyndon B. Johnson took an early lead over Senator Barry M. Goldwater this morning. The results, which were released by the California State College Student Association (CSCSA), indicate that Johnson is leading by a significant margin.

San Luis Obispo, California

An unusual number of committed voters turned out to vote in the presidential election. Several factors contributed to this high turnout, including the popularity of the candidates and the accessibility of the polling places.

Johnson's lead is expected to hold through the vote count, which is expected to be completed by early morning. The election results will be announced on Monday morning.

Genetics Experiment

Sexes chickens at birth

By GARY REAKEL

The biological differences between males and females are currently the subject of a project currently being carried on in the Poultry Laboratory. The project, under the direction of Dr. George A. Paulikas, is concerned with the genetic control of sex determination in chickens.

The study involves the use of two breeds of chickens, the White Leghorn and the Rhode Island Red. The offspring of crosses between these two breeds are being used to determine the genetic basis for sex determination.

The results of this study are expected to contribute to our understanding of the genetic control of sex determination in chickens. The project is supported by a grant from the National Institutes of Health, and is being conducted in collaboration with Dr. George A. Paulikas, Department of Genetics, University of California, Davis.

We will continue to report on the progress of this project in future issues of El Mustang.

The El Mustang staff would like to express our appreciation to Dr. George A. Paulikas for his guidance and support of this project.

We look forward to continuing to report on the progress of this important study in the future.

Mustang Basketball Squad Preparing For Opener

Quick 70-cm, the Mustang basketball squad turned out a terrific effort in practice as players showed up for practice and took the floor under the direction of Head Coach, Curt Pacheco. The team has only three returning players, but Curt showed that the team has a lot of new talent and that the Mustangs can only be considered a team in transition. The Mustangs are looking forward to the start of the season with renewed confidence.

Injuries have been a problem for the Mustangs, and only a few players from last year are expected to return. However, the team has high hopes for its future and expects to improve throughout the season.

There is no fine print.
