1. Did you like to participate in a debate in your paper that Tom and I wrote on the subject? I would like to participate in a debate, and I feel that such a debate, if held at the right time and place for such an event, would be agreed on by many students. It would be very interesting to many students.

2. Should the present political condition make us feel that any such debate is necessary? Evenings by Appointment

Basketballers to host Fullerton

The Mustang women's basketball team will host the Fullerton College (Calif.) Titans tonight at 8 p.m. in the at the Mustang gym.

The game has been billed as "Family Night," with activities planned for the entire family. Coaches Chestnut and Don Nasi are hoping to attract as many spectators as possible.

Related to the upcoming game is the Mustangs' upcoming trip to Fullerton on Saturday, when they will face the Titans at 8 p.m. in the Fullerton College gym. This game will mark the beginning of the Mustangs' search for their fourth CCAA championship.

John Millar, who has been a key player for the Mustangs, is expected to return from injury and will be an important asset to the team. The Mustangs are looking to improve their record and further their quest for the championship.

Cal Poly, which lost most of their starters due to injury, will be looking for a strong performance from their remaining players. The Mustangs, on the other hand, are in a much better position and are ready to give their best effort.

Overall, the game promises to be a thrilling battle between two talented teams, and fans are encouraged to support their favorite team and enjoy the game.
