Poly Royal is Pisa affair

Poly Royal has become an internationally known event to the students from Cal Poly who are currently in Florence Italy participating in the international program. The banner was made of 18 sheets of the students' loggings in Florence caused distress among the Italian police who thought the banner was a political slogan and demanded that the students remove it.

Poly Royal is the political slogan and demanded that the students remove it.

The banner, made of 18 sheets of the students' loggings in Florence caused distress among the Italian police who thought the banner was a political slogan and demanded that the students remove it. After the students convinced the police that the banner did not have the ambitions to advertise their college's annual open house the police returned the sheets.

Twelve state college co-eds also in the program were instrumental in saving large black letters of printed newspaper to the sheets. The students felt that the tower was an appropriate place from which to fly their banner because it is such a well-known architectural monument, and they are all architecture majors. The tower is only 50 feet from where they are studying in Florence and they felt it would be a novel way of participating in the preparations for Poly Royal when over 800 miles from home.

Inclusively, the students sent teams into the tower past the guards on Sunday morning, March 11, and smuggled a rope to the first level on the side of the tower opposite the guards. The 40-foot wide rolled banner was hauled up hand-over-hand by rope and then carried up the seven spiral levels to the top. As the banner unfurled, tourists speculated whether the word "Royal" had anything to do with politics and whether "Royal" was part of a royalist plot.

The company, or lifting tower, has frequently been the target of students groups. Almost as soon as the 180-foot banner was unraveled, police arrived and began hugging at the bottom, while students at all levels hung onto the banner, thinking the wind pressure was increasing.

Associate professor from this campus, Carleton Winslow, Jr. who happened to be visiting the students on the weekend of the event was interviewed by the Chief of the Carabinieres. He succeeded in having the sheets returned to the students, who were released with a warning.

Budget cuts discussed by President

President Robert E. Kennedy appeared before a sub-committee of the Senate Finance Committee yesterday to discuss the financial crisis facing California state colleges.

At the request of State Senator Donald Greene, chairman of the sub-committee, Kennedy went to Sacramento to discuss the impact of the proposed budget would have on the state college system in general and the primary repercussions that would be felt at this college.

Under Gov. Reagan's proposed budget the state colleges would be cut next year from the $433,000,000 requested by the trustees to $331,000,000.

Kennedy will discuss the impact on Cal Poly under five points:
1. The need for a faculty academic increase.
2. The impact on education of cutting down faculty positions.
3. The need of equipment and programs.
5. The hardship facing foreign students if the proposed tuition increase takes place.

Nixon gives aid to Viet veterans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration announced a $1 million experimental program Monday to try to help some of the 300,000 unemployed Vietnam veterans in America find jobs by making fuller use of the GI Bill and other benefits available to them.

President Nixon ordered officials to make the ghettoes and slums the first target of the program which involves mainly the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) and the Veteran's Administration (VA).

Nixon said many veterans who could profit from veterans programs are not making full use of them. He said the pilot program would be set up to acquaint them with the educational and job training benefits available and encourage them to participate.

"We owe these men a debt of gratitude for their service," Nixon said "but we also owe them something more. We owe them an extra measure of help in making the difficult transition back to civilian life."

Nixon met for an hour with administration, urban and veterans officials to discuss the program which involves mainly the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) and the Veteran's Administration (VA).

OEO will provide a grant of $1,015,735. The project will be cosponsored by the National Urban Coalition. It will be administered for OEO by the National League of Cities and the U.S. Conference of Mayors. Thelma Moss Education and Training Action Committee will oversee the project.

OEO Director Frank Carlucci told reporters that the program would be able to reach 300,000 former GI's. He said if the program works it will be continued.

Students play 'rabbit'

Over one hundred and fifty local children turned out to recover some 650 Easter eggs that were placed in Cuesta Park Saturday as part of the annual hunt sponsored by the San Luis Obispo People's Breakfast Program.

The eggs were cooked and colored in the campus cafeteria on Friday and then transported to Cuesta Park early Saturday morning. These students then went in the task of hiding the eggs. Two hours after all the eggs were placed, the kids were turned loose. Although a majority of the eggs were recovered, onlookers said there was no way the students could pick up those that went undiscovered.
Ping-pongers talk it over

PEKING UPI—A group of American table tennis players traveling in the People's Republic of China visited a university Monday and for the first time broached the subject of politics with their Chinese hosts. The Americans appeared to be most interested in the fate of Liu Shao-chi, former president of the republic, and in the future of the national legislative assembly. Liu was dismissed in 1966 during the Cultural Revolution. The discussion arose while the 11 Americans, seven of them players on the U.S. table tennis team, sat around a table chatting with students and professors during a five-hour visit to Beijing Technical University in Peking.

One American inquired about the fate of Liu and another asked when the National Assembly will open. "He is thought to be dead, but he is alive," said Chih Chwen, PT, a member of the university's Revolutionary Committee, in response to the inquiry about Liu.

The Americans appeared to be especially interested in the fate of Liu and another asked about his estimated time of return to office. "We are hearing rumors that he might return in the near future," the Chinese replied. The Americans also inquired about the future of the National Assembly, which had been dissolved in 1966. "There are rumors that it might be reconstituted," the Chinese said. "But I am not sure when." The Americans then asked about the possibility of a future visit to the People's Republic of China, and the Chinese replied that they would like to visit the United States in the near future. The Americans agreed and said they would like to visit China as well.

NOT SNAP'S
Academic Senate has faculty evaluation plan

What the Students for New Action Politics (SNAP) have in mind for faculty evaluations and what the Student Affairs Committee of the Academic Senate proposes are two entirely different proposals.

The proposal initiated by SNAP would have a uniform system of evaluation of all instructors while the Academic Senate proposal would allow the students in each department to set up a system of evaluation which they feel would be the most meaningful to their department.

In referring to the SNAP proposal Col. William Boyce, chairman of the Student Affairs Committee of the Academic Senate, said, "that measure is completely separate from the proposal we are going to make to the Academic Senate."

The committee has been working jointly with the Student Affairs Council (SAC) on a proposal for faculty evaluation for most of this year. The proposal will be presented to the entire Academic Senate as an action item at its meeting this afternoon. It involves setting up a special student committee in each department to evaluate the instructors in that department.

The special committees would be formed upon the request of the students in the department who would then try to develop the criteria which would most effec-

The proposal calls for a copy of the completed evaluation to be placed in the instructor's official personnel file. There it could be considered, along with various other indicators, in matters involving faculty retention, promotion and tenure.

Boyce said he saw nothing wrong with this, but felt that the evaluations could be more effective if they were placed in the instructor's official personnel file. There it could be considered, along with various other indicators, in matters involving faculty retention, promotion and tenure.

Musical collage

Music ranging from traditional folk songs to contemporary sound stylings will provide the program for the 1971 Home Concert to be held Friday, April 10, in the Men's Gym.

The program, which begins at 8 p.m., will feature three ensembles with 175 members, including the Men's Glee Club, the Women's Glee Club, and the Collegians stage and dance band.

An annual highlight of the campus music season, the concert will also feature three smaller vocal ensembles composed of members of the two glee clubs. They are the Woman's Fustet, the Collegiate Quartet, and the Majors and Minors.

All of the groups on the program for the April 18 concert are under the direction of Harold P. Davidson and Graydon Williams, both members of the college faculty.

Davidson, head of the Music Department, is the director of all five vocal ensembles and Williams, who joined the Music Department faculty last fall, directs the Collegians.

Tickets for the concert are priced at $1.50 for students and children and $1.25 for all others.

They are being sold in advance at the College Union, Brown's Music Store and Premier Music Company in San Luis Obispo, and by members of the performing groups.

Tickets for the event will also be on sale prior to curtain time at the Men's Gym box offices.

Film to show

Facism, war, music and prevalent attitudes in America are some of the topics that will be covered in a series of films being presented on campus by Students for New Action Politics (SNAP).

The first film, "In the Year of the Pig," will be presented this Wednesday, April 14, at 7:30 in the multi-purpose room of the College Union.

Battery-driven bicycle; answer to blistered feet

Fifty years from now Dennis Conley and Wallen Bennett will probably be mighty glad that they had done what they just have done.

Conley and Bennett have invented a mode of transportation for the senior citizen. Their approach to the needs of the older people combines a three-wheeled bicycle and a battery-driven electric motor to offer any of three different modes of power.

It can be operated entirely by motor, by pedaling alone, or by a combination of pedaling and using the motor.

Conley, who completed his studies in the electrical engineering department at this school, resides in Bakersfield, while his cohort, a fellow electrical engineering student, is married and lives on a ranch near Templeton.

Their goal was to come up with something that the older folks can use for running errands and doing other miscellaneous things in the immediate areas of their homes. The bicycle is capable of traveling at a rate of up to 15 miles per hour for as long as three hours, depending on the mode of power which the rider wishes to use.

Bennett and Conley believe that the electrically-powered bicycle can be manufactured and marketed at a cost of about $250 to $275.

Besides coming up with a system that was relatively inexpensive and efficient, the two also met their need for a vehicle that was also light weight, easily operated, and physically stimulating for older people who cannot drive cars or who don't have another means of transportation.

Angie Gerdito's baseballers proved they deserve their national ranking when they swept a three game series from perennial national powerhouse Mustangs third nationally.

The Mustang baseball team has been named third in the nation among college division schools by the Collegiate Baseball magazine.

Heading the rankings is Florida Southern while Central Michigan holds down the second spot. These rankings do not reflect the series with Chapman as the sweep will undoubtedly help the Mustangs' ranking.

Chapman College. The Mustangs entered the game ranked third in the nation among small college teams. In the opening game on Friday, the Mustangs took advantage of scoring opportunities and built up a 4-0 lead and then slammed the door closed on the visiting Panthers.

Southpaw Larry Sylva was in trouble only once during the afternoon event. In the ninth inning Sylva loaded the bases on a pair of walks and a single. Freshman Lee Ohm was called upon by Gerdito and the 6-3 southpaw turned in a sparkling performance to earn his fifth save of the year.

Sylva had given up only three hits over the first eight innings and only once permitted a Chapman runner to advance as far as second base. The Mustangs got two runs in the second on a walk and a pair of singles. The Mustang basemen added another run in the fourth inning on a single and a pair of Panther errors. Gerdito's men added a final run in the seventh to blank their visitors from the south, 6-0.

A pair of one-run games dominated the Saturday twinbill as the Mustangs took both, 1-0 and 1-4.

In the opener, Bill Hall was in a pitching duel until the ninth when Chapman gave the Mustangs the victory. The 3-1 win was the second of the series for the Mustangs.

But the finest pitching job was yet to come as Kent Agler twirled a one-hitter in the night-cap to assure the Mustangs of a sweep of the series. Agler had no choice as the Mustangs could not put an offense together. In fact, the Mustangs got only two hits themselves and their one run was unearned.

The three wins ran the Mustang record to 13-7 for the year with a chance to reach the 20-win plateau this weekend in a series with Cal State Fullerton.
