ROT Cads Plunging Into Summer Training Up North

BY VIRN HIGHLEY

A group of 14 juniors and one senior — all advanced ROTC cadets at Cal Poly — have gone into the first six weeks of summer camp training at Ft. Lewis, Wash. The group reported at the north station, Headquarters, by boat or train, on June 14 and will finish in early August.

The only officer member of the group is expected to be commissioned as the United States Army Reserve upon completion of camp. He is Donald H. Zarr, agricultural engineering major from Amador County, who completed his first year in the ROTC in May.

According to a report from Ft. Lewis, camp training will essentially be individual and unit type with cadets receiving practical experience in field work, leadership training, performance of tactical, technical and administrative duties in the field.

Northwest, military bearing and soldiery behavior will be emphasized according to the report.

Poly Fourth Last Year

Last year, Cal Poly ended ranked fourth out of 38 colleges and won 1st honors among 900-1000 units standing from Southern California. One of the highest awards won by the group was the coveted "Warrior" of the Pacific trophy in rifle competition.

Of the 13 students who were named as "warriors," four were awarded the rank of "junior warrior." The group included: Karl W. Fisher, agriculture major; Cyril Charles Fosdick, Jr., agriculture major; Milt L. Bement, Jr., agriculture major; and Robert Johnstone, Jr., agriculture major.

Dairy Herd High

Ranking in Nation

"Poly's Holstein-Friesian herd once more has an exceptionally clean average production record ranking high in the nation. A total of 228 animals average 129 pounds of milk high in the nation. All, as reported by the Dairy Herd Improvement Association, second highest in the country.

The 1956 Polypoll Polyd herd averaged 17,185 pounds of milk and 45.5 pounds of fat per cow, ranking number one in the United States. The herd, owned by Raymond B. Dieringer, 200,000 acres of land, owned by the estate of the late John T. Dieringer, is situated in the north central part of the state.

The herd is fed by students and its manner of feeding and care is such that the students are well fulfilled by it. The herd is a dairymart to the student body, and the milk is sold at a premium price to the students and to the community. The students are well served and are satisfied with the results of their efforts. The herd is owned by the estate of the late John T. Dieringer and it is a dairymart to the student body.

Travelled 56,000
Miles Each Year

"Fifty-thousand miles a year in a moving office, and I enjoy it," noted El Mustang's new bookkeeper man.

Before coming to Poly this winter, Hill worked for 14 months as a road Closing crew in North California. His job was to set 30-ton steel scaffold towers in various western states and

Hill had no office and bringing paper and equipment involved an extra 10 miles of travel a day. "It was a lot of work," he admits, "but it was also a lot of fun."

It takes trained men and expensive equipment to fight a forest fire which common sense can prevent. When you're in the woods, be careful with cigarettes, matches and campfires.
