Grid Squad Potentially One of Best in History, As SF Gator Tilt Looms

By Harold Young

Poly's Mustangs kick the lid off the 1956 football season against San Francisco state's Golden Gators Saturday night in the Poly stadium, where it has been said by "those in the know" that fans will see one of the most capable Poly 11's in the school's history perform in six home engagements this year.

The bay city boys will be the first of 10 opponents to test the potential powerhouse of Poly's head man, Roy "Silver Fox" Hughes. Ability of the Mustangs to maneuver against the Gators should indicate what it's come in approaching grid war.

The Mustangs' 1955 season with a 3-5-0 over the "Gators, but Hughes warns the newcomers look much stronger this year and can be expected to improve their 3-5-0 record of last fall. Coach Joe Taylor.

Verdicts "The Gators are expecting eighteen returnees from last year, and will field 10 of last season's starters in the opening lineup. The newcomer to the state lineup will be sophomore Montez Perez, 200 pound quarterback who will engineer the T-back. Much of the team's strength is in the backfield, where both fullback Bob Rothero; while the line is anchored by Floyd Peters, 210 pound tackle.

Poly's Line Headman

The Suddenly seasoned athlete in the line to be seven pounds per man while the 'Gators have the backfield edge.

Several JC transfers have bolstered the overall depth of the team which for its size and weight is probably the strongest in the backfield. The team's "look" for the season is "solid" with Joe Taylor.

Hughes reveals. The green and gold headman says providing a near average of 200-pounds in the line and 175 in the backfield. Senior tackle, Yerducci's 'Gators are expecting eighteen returnees from last year, Bob Rodrigo; while the line is anchored by Floyd Peters, 210 pound tackle.

Lasting Friendships

During the coming four years you will discover and become a part of lasting friendships and "some grown traditions"—enjoy them—use them—and they will benefit you and your college.

Unfortunately the size of the present student body will present much from becoming personally acquainted with each student. However, every student to know that his or her personal welfare is my greatest concern.

May your days at Cal Poly be profitable, enjoyable and enjoyable, and again my sincere welcome to you new and old students and a special welcome to you women students.

Philosophy's Origin
What's 'Learn-by-doing'?
By Bob Norton

"Inside down" and "learn-by-doing" are familiar terms to the Poly students in reference to the Poly experience. How did these ideas originate?

Many years ago a young lawyer, Myron Angell, was walking the streets of San Francisco. Tantalizingly, he met the young Poly students who were a part of the student government. Wept, he asked, "How do you do things around here?"

"Well, there's a certain way we do things around here," they replied. "We do things "learn-by-doing.""

And there it was, the origin of "learn-by-doing," a way of doing things wherein a student is given as many opportunities to learn as possible. Everything a student is involved in is considered an opportunity to learn something. This idea has been adopted by the Poly government, and is a philosophy that is being carried out by the students.

However, this idea is not new. It is an idea that has been with us for many years. It is an idea that has been carried out by the Poly government, and is a philosophy that is being carried out by the students.

A. S. B. Head Urges Fresh Participation in Government

"Most student government your prerogative," said President Joseph B. Smith, "is to get the students involved in government. We need more students to get involved in the government and to participate in the activities of the government."

Looking for help this school year, Mr. Smith urged the students to participate in the government. He said that the government is important, and that the students should be involved in the government.

Basketballers Out Oct. 15; Tough Slate
By Hob McCutcheon
A 21 game basketball schedule is facing Coach Bob Jorgensen and the Mustangs rugers. The highlight of the season is a seven-day road trip to the middle west, where the Mustangs will play four games. The teams are: Rockhurst College in Kansas City, Mo.; Creighton University in Omaha, Neb.; Drake University in Des Moines, lowa; and finishing with powerful Bradley University of Peoria, 11. The Mustangs will also participate in two tournaments. The Raider tournament and Cal Poly's own Tournament will be played in a thriller from Santa Barbara, last year.

Prospects for the Season
Prospects are slim and vague. Having only five returning lettermen from their 1955 slate, the season should be a real challenge, as we have a long ways to go before we will be a contender. Jorgensen and the Mustangs have decided to play the Poly payment plan, which will allow them to go around the country, and play as many games as they wish.

The first practice for the Mustangs will be Oct. 15, with approximately 50 to 55 hopeful reporting. There will be no set to appear, with known and tried junior college players to join the roster of these boys who do not make the Varsity squad and who are underclassmen.

Coach Jorgensen has picked Los Angeles State as the team to beat in the CCAA, Rumors have it that the Anteaters will have more height and in general a very tough and in good condition University of Southern California team.

Health Center Spruced Up; New Building In Future

A new health center that will be one of the most modern college hospital facilities on the west coast is no longer a dream to Poly officials. Recently, in Sacramento, state architects completed plans for such a hospital at Cal Poly, based on an expansion program which involves modernizing and adding to the existing health center because of the expansion program under way in preparation for the women students coming to Poly in the fall. That girls are coming is important of course, but of utmost importance is the fact that funds have appropriated for the expansion and new facilities needed to meet the current and future needs of the ever increasing student population.

Dr. E. D. Lovett

Dr. E. D. Lovett is more than happy to point out the numerous changes and improvements being made in the health center. Under present construction is a new wing which will take up one-half of a dormitory directly across from the health center. The new wing consists of a four-bed ward, a recreation room, a dressing room, a scrub room, a waiting room, a dressing room, a kitchen, where the operating cases can be prepared, and a recovery room for bedridden or other hospital needs.

New Students Need Physicals; Doctor Outlines Program

It is a required part of registration to have a physical examination for admittance to the college. There are no exceptions, says Dr. Earl Lovett, college physician. The records of each student's examinations are carefully reviewed to study any physical problem that may interfere with the student's academic program, or later life.

Where such problem exists, the student will be called back for further evaluation, and steps will be taken to correct any physical problem, says Dr. Lovett.

He feels that the nature of the campus necessitates the detection of tuberculosis. The campus is a big farm, where everyone is more or less to be exposed to minor accidents, any one of which might cause tetanus. We also have found that giving influenza vaccine has been worthwhile in reducing the chicken pox on campus in the past several years, says Lovett.

In addition, each student will have an audiogram.

CHAPTER 1

Southern Fried Chicken

When I was a boy in the country I really loved fried chicken.

It was cut into small pieces, such as the breasts, thighs, and drumsticks, that was easily eaten with the fingers. It was cooked done through and through, and I never heard of such things as having to eat it with a knife and fork.

After I grew up I came away to the city to live, and began eating in restaurants. I started finding out things about fried chicken that I never knew before. I learned how awful it tasted when it was raw in the middle and burned on the outside. I learned all about how it could be cut into big halves and quarters, and I was saddened when I never saw my favorite pieces anymore.

Then I commenced courting and began getting many ideas. I heard about a person named Emily Post, who was supposed to know all about what country boys should do when they come to the city to live. Somewhat, I got the idea that fried chicken was supposed to be eaten with a knife and fork.

That was as much as I could stand. I gave up completely .... I bade farewell to my favorite food and never again ordered it in a restaurant.

CHAPTER 2

Now once again I am enjoying chicken. Here at the Baywood Lodge Restaurant we are cutting it up just like they did at Aunt Nance's when I was a boy .... small pieces breast, thighs, and drumsticks. We are cooking it to a golden brown, done through and through, and it is really good.

Frankly, I don't know for sure what certain books may say on the subject of eating chicken with the fingers, but I don't care in the least anymore. I have gone back to eating it just like I did in Hawkinsville, before I left home and came away to the city to live.

Therefore, when we serve it to you here at the Baywood Lodge Restaurant, we want you to remember that fried chicken was never, never meant to be eaten with a knife and fork.

We want you to know it is our sincere wish, that every patron of the Baywood Lodge Restaurant be served the same quality food, and shown the same consideration and hospitality as if you were a guest in our own home.
Bookstore Changes Ease Problems at Rush Periods

"Getting in and out of the bookstore during the rush period of a new quarter should no longer be a trial to the students," said El Mustang editor-in-chief, Mr. Hill.

With our new arrangement of the store, we can serve three times as many students as before," he said.

The store has been arranged with all book sections at the same lengthwise with the length of the store. The new arrangement will allow for easier customer flow and display more merchandise. This system permits long and wide aisles, with more walking space for all. There are not a few of the many improvements made in the bookstore this summer to aid the plight of the student.

Another congestion reliever, will be the new book rack now being installed in the Poly Printing department. The book rack will contain the entire library, course number, section of book in the bookstore, and the all-important price.

Hill believes that preparation of the list will relieve the bookstore and clerks from answering 10,000 questions, and save time for the students when they come to buy books.

Good news to all students, will be the extension of the bookstore's policy to maintain a 20 per cent discount from retail price on as many articles as possible that are sold to students.

Hill also wishes to inform all, that the bookstore is in operation for the benefit of the student body, and that he and his staff are open to all constructive suggestions from anyone wishing to offer them.
ROTC Enrollment May Be Largest In Its History

One of the largest enrollments in the four-year history of ROTC at Cal Poly is expected, as fall registration is completed Monday, according to ROTC department staff.

Headed by Col. P. A. Loiselle, professor of military science and tactics, the department has received national recognition for its growth in recent years. The Poly unit of ROTC at present includes four companies for a total of over 2,000 students. The Poly unit is the largest in the nation.

Security Officer Asks Student Cooperation

In his annual report to Col. Loiselle, the ROTC officer, Bob Krag, emphasizes the necessity of student cooperation. He states that the Poly unit of ROTC is a small force, and that it is the responsibility of each student to cooperate fully with the department.
