Mistrial found for Seale

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—A mistrial was declared Monday in the murder conspiracy trial of Black Panthers Bobby G. Seale and Mrs. Ericka Huggins after the jury reported it was deadlocked on all nine charges. The state said it would move for a new trial.

Superior Court Judge Harold M. Muirvey announced the mistrial at 2:14 p.m. (EDT) moments after the jury of seven whites and five blacks had said it could not reach a verdict.

The panel, which received the case last Wednesday, was dismissed after being cautioned by the judge not to talk to anyone about anything that went on in your deliberations.

The jury reported in its sixth day of deliberations it was "deadlocked on all nine charges." In a note to the judge, the jurors said "we feel it is vain to continue deliberating."

Judge Muirvey, after asking District Attorney Robert Gauthier whether if the deadlock concerned both cases, denying the mistrial "for the reason that the jury has failed to agree unanimously on any of the charges."

The jurors, some looking tired, then filed out of the courtroom. Seale and Mrs. Huggins appeared unperturbed as Muirvey announced the decision.

No Evid.: A defense source said both were unhappy with the judge's ruling but "were taking it well."

Defense attorneys indicated they would make bail applications on Tuesday afternoon for both defendants and would also press for the dismissal of four of the charges.

State's attorney Arnold J. Markle, asked as he was leaving the courtroom if he would try the case again, replied: "Yes, I'll try them."

The trial, the longest and most expensive in the state's history, opened Nov. 17 with jury selection. Testimony began March 18 and ended May 14.

The jury indicated for deadlock in the day in which the state rested its case and would have to decide whether it was unable to reach a verdict. The panel resumed deliberations at the urging of the judge.

Black caucus accuses Nixon pro status quo

WASHINGTON (UPI) The House black caucus said today President Nixon had demonstrated, in responding to their demands that his administration was "intent on justifying the status quo."

Ten members of the group gave their views at a news conference of a 15-page reply Nixon gave last week to their list of 60 demands aimed at bettering the life of Negroes and other minorities.

The caucus members said the Nixon reply showed the administration was not willing to commit the money and political power needed to achieve the goals.

"Time and again, throughout the 15 odd pages, the administration has shot off the possibility of new and we believe promising initiatives," the caucus said in a statement. "Too often it proposes no genuine alternatives at all."

"The predominant thrust of the administration's reply places one central fact in harsh perspective. National decision makers do not define the critical problems facing blacks, the poor, our youth and our nation in ways which may result in their solution, and are not prepared to commit the necessary power and resources to achieve their own stated goals."

"The answer, the caucus said, "constitutes less a response than a reply, couched predominantly in the form of bureaucratic reports intention justifying the status quo."

Rep. Charles C. Diggs, Detroit, Mich., said Sunday Nixon's reply was "very disappointing."

ASI budget vote tonight

Editor:

Pete and I were elected two weeks ago in the largest voter turnout in Cal Poly history. In our campaign we focused on the urgent problems facing us as students at Cal Poly and the programs our experience has led us to believe could best bring immediate relief of those problems. The election, as we see it, is a mandate by the students for these programs. In order to resolve the housing crisis we need a comprehensive student-run housing office to coordinate the cleaning deposit check-out service, instituting of the model lease, tuition remission rights, etc. To be able to enjoy your rights as a student and citizen, you must know them and the availability of a lawyer to advise and inform you is necessary to achieve this. President Kennedy has lawyers to advise him—are your rights any less important? How many students will be deprived of an education because there are no childcare facilities available? The present Cal Poly nursery is full and has closed applications for two years. These programs are part of the mandate for changes voted by the students two weeks ago.

None of these programs are going to happen, UNLESS something is done to change the budget for next year. Last year the ASI budget entailed the distribution of $800,000. This year it is even bigger. The funds come from the compulsory ASI fees you and I pay at registration. Which programs are enlarged and which are unable to continue or begin is determined by how much money is apportioned. What groups put money and how much money these groups get is decided by the Finance Committee and SAC prior to the spring elections. The budget for next year has already been planned—BEFORE the new ASI and SAC representatives take office or can vote.

The budget will be presented to the SAC tonight for a vote. It is essentially the same as last year's and the year before. UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION—come to the meeting and speak up—the changes you voted for this month won't happen. MAKE IT HAPPEN. Tues. Night: 7:15 p.m.

Political stand clarified

Editor,

I would like to clarify my stand regarding "affirmative action" for I believe I have been grossly misinterpreted by Mr. Alavi. To begin with, I was in no way trying to be "mischievous" when I made the remark, "I do not believe that (foreign students) have the right to get involved with America's politics." I used the word, "politics" to mean the internal affairs pertaining to the government of the United States. Mr. Alavi might recall signing an oath to this effect as a prerequisite to being given a student visa to enter this country. I signed such oath too, and hence the above remark. I am very conscious of this fact and intend to abide by it.

I fail to see what is "irresponsible" in believing that along with my studies I should first involve myself with what is happening immediately around me and try to function within Cal Poly and the framework of the Cal Poly student body. What is "irresponsible" in stating, "We will neither instigate nor tolerate violence," and believing that involvement in social and cultural activities is more important than national and international involvement and its control by anyone, regardless of political persuasion.

I am very conscious of the fact that there are American citizens as well as foreign students who wish to function within the framework of American society but who oppose the newly organized Veterans (or Peace in Vietnam) organization which was recently formed. Several veterans have asked us if we gave the Veterans for Peace the addresses and names of the members of our organization. We have not. Chi Gamma Iota is a non-political club interested in the social and fraternal well being of students. It is by no means involved in politics. We do not support nor oppose the newly organized Veterans for Peace.

Veternnrs rejection of claims

Editor,

I am writing this letter in response to a few inquiries that our club has received in the last few days. Chi Gamma Iota, campus veteran's club is not in any way connected with the Veteran for Peace in Vietnam organization which was recently formed. Several veterans have asked us if we gave the Veterans for Peace the addresses and names of the members of our organization. We have not. Chi Gamma Iota is a non-political club interested in the social and fraternal well being of students. It is by no means involved in politics. We do not support nor oppose the newly organized Veterans for Peace.

The firsts' shine through at fifth spring band concert

The fifth annual Spring Band Concert was truly an evening of "Firsts." It was the first time the Berean Symphony Band performed in the new College Union and it was the first time the band had played a symphony in its entire form. The concert was truly an evening of "Firsts." The concert came two days after the Senior Band had performed "American Overture for Band," which also featured the first number that had been well received during last quarter's Winter Band Concert. The second selection of the program was Vincent Persichetti's "Symphony for Band," the first entire symphony to be performed by the Symphonic Band. French horn guest soloist Jane Swanson, wife of the college's Chamber Orchestra conductor, Clifton Swanson, followed with Fardoor Reed's "Poem," a peaceful, calm number. Following Mrs. Swanson's performance, the faucet produced warm Woodwind Quintet played a "Festival" number entitled "Pastoral."

"La Fiesta Mexicana," a Mexican March, was the first American music to be played. Two specialty groups, The Danceband and The Philarmonic Band, provided both humor and contemporary sounds for the audience's listening pleasure. Drum soloist Russ Green was featured during the swing numbers. The concert which preceded John Philip Sousa's well known "Stars and Stripes Forever." The concert came as a close with the playing of the college's alma mater.

Jesus is back again

Editor’s Note: This is second in a three-part series dealing with the phenomenon of the renewers of Christianity as the younger generation.

By a New Testament

His hair is long and curly. His garments— not quite Cal Poly leather— he talks in “broad” and “right-on.” He carries a little black book and 宣示（mammon） at his side. His eyes are crystal clear. His name is Lonnie Frisbee.

And he is a minister.

A love minister. Lonnie a minister with hair long and

Ministering in Calvary Chapel, a now legendary church in Costa Mesa, Frisbee is typical of the movement that hasn’t been seen since the first century when the apostles of the church of Jesus Christ preached boldly and without hesitancy or shame the power in a life that says, “Jesus is the Light!”

Like almost everything else, it happened real big first in California. The Hula-Loop.
The skateboard. The Jesus-Freaks.
A New Testament says that the

not be shrugged off as a fad.

“Jesus is loved!”

“Amien, brother—better than any mouthpiece you’ve ever heard.
God love you. Maybe just the next rung on the ladder of Jesus Freaks, you know, the grain, and smooth. But maybe not.

Jesus told his close friends that he was “the way, the truth and the life.” Not an additive like in “bread of life.”

“I am the resurrection and the life.”
And the life.

At Calvary Chapel, a few years back a church with a congregation of 150, over 4,000 souls were “saved” last year.
Ministering to the “Strip” in Hollywood, Kesta Jane called “People” that reached national prominence with “I Love You.”

When the boys in the band got hot

“Bureaucratic bumbling” could cost state millions

Assemblyman William Keimann (R-Paso Robles) charged “bureaucratic bumbling” could cost California as much as $6.1 million in federal funds for child care centers.

Ketchum said the loss could be avoided if state officials would heed the recommendations of the Assembly Committees on Efciency and Cost Control. The committees recently completed an investigation into the children’s center program.

This program, initiated in 1965, allows local school districts to maintain child care facilities, practically for working mothers.
The program has been successful among many women, who otherwise could not accept employment, to become wage-earners instead of recipients of welfare.

“In 1960, the federal government began funding in the portion of these programs,” Ketchum said. “In 1966, I carried legislation which allowed California to obtain maximum federal assistance. Apparently, this legislation was not pushed out by those who had this responsibility.”

Ketchum said the committtees have no report on or no coordination between the State Departments of Education, Finance and Social Welfare, and lilite direction given to the local school districts to assist them in complying with federal guidelines.

Ketchum stated that this lack of coordination and direction, coupled with the usual federal tape, almost cost California over four million in federal funds.

Milan to Abate passes subdue varsity in clash

Two passes from Oakland Raider quarterback candidate Don Milan to ex-Mustang quarterback Gary Abate proved to be the only margin that the alumni needed as they downed the Mustang varsity football team 18-7.

The Milan to Abate pass combination seemed a bit odd to alumni needed as they downed the Mustang varsity football team 18-7.

The Milan to Abate pass combination seemed a bit odd to alumni as Abate as a Senior was the number one quarterback for the Mustangs during the 1988 campaign, setting passing records in the process, and then during the 1989 football season Milan took over the number one quarterbacking reins and put new marks on the record books.

But last Saturday Milan played quarterback while his primary target was halfback Abate. Touchdown passes of 15 and 31 yards gave the alumni all the momentum they needed to take the victory in the annual spring contest.

Swim and track meets

Students will get their chance to prove themselves in track and swimming as intramural meets for the two have been scheduled, according to coach Dick Haston, intramural director.

The track meet is scheduled for tomorrow on the new track and will begin at 6 p.m. Sign up will be at the track at each event. Anyone who is not competing on an intercollegiate team is allowed to participate.

The swim meet is scheduled for June 3 at 7 p.m., at the men's pool by the Men's Gym. The sign up

B ATH TUB RACE

Strange sight flies downhill

Get on your mark. Get set. Go. Two super-modified bathtub cars cut through the varisty from moving the ball.

The two teams battled through the first half of the game, with the varsity in charge most of the time. Twice in the first quarter and once again in the second, the varsity, guided by senior quarterback Steve Breamahan, drove inside the alumni 10-yard line, only to lose the ball on two fumbles and a deflected fourth down pass. The only real alumni threat was quarterback while his primary target was halfback Abate. Touchdown passes of 15 and 31 yards gave the alumni all the momentum they needed to take the victory in the annual spring contest.

Early in the fourth quarter, Milan connected with Abate again to send the alumni ahead 15-7, and Varina's extra point attempt was again unsuccessful. Just four minutes later, after the alumni recovered another varsity fumble, Abate scrambled across the goal line for the third touchdown of the afternoon. This one came by way of a six yard run. The extra point attempt failed again.

On the ensuing series of plays, the varsity drove 18 yards to the alumni 10 yard line, and Varina's extra point attempt was again unsuccessful.

The alumni fell short of adding another three points to their total when they drove to the varsity 30 yard line and attempted a conversion. The kick by Valos went to the right of the goalposts.

The final gun sounded as the varsity was down to the alumni five yard line as tailback Tom Klemens was stopped trying the right side of the line. The alumni were victors by a 18-7 score.

Almost only tied for second place, Phil Kappa Phi turned in another three points to their total when they drove to the varsity 30 yard line and attempted a conversion. The kick by Valos went to the right of the goalposts.

THEME: the reason that it is possible to have the fastest time but still not be the winner is that each tub races against another twice, once on the inside lane and once on the outside lane. The difference in lanes is such that if one tub beats another in one lane, it may not be able to duplicate the feat in the next lane when it is in a different lane. The weight of the tub and body, the accuracy of the driver and many other things enter the picture.

These over-sized soap box cars come in many different sizes and shapes. But all of them have one thing in common, the bathtub, a car chassis, complete with wheels, tires, a steering system and hydraulic brakes. One of the tubs was constructed like a dragster rail, one or two of them are sitting in Volkswagen frames, and the others are on ordinary American-made frames.

If you missed the races this year, there is always next year to see them. Do see them, the whole thing is a lot of fun.
