French customs make record heroin seizure

The majority of dorm residents favored the questionnaire program. The purpose of the questionnaire was to determine if and how much diversity there was among resident students in their opinions about dorm life here.

Of the 1933 students who live in the dorm, 1033 responded to the questionnaire, which was initiated on Jan. 31. Questions ranged from 64-hour visitation rights to room checks and the lack of male head residents. Another issue on the survey was the "blank, sign-out" motion.

New naming is undecided

The two words are "and" and "who" concerning this campus naming review. According to Lachlan MacDuff, FAC, editor of the Daily Trojan, Bill III was signed by Governor Reagan and will go into effect on Saturday. This bill changes the name of the present state system from California State Colleges to California State University and College System.

The Coordinating Council will not change because of this bill. The bill affects the entire system as a whole, not just CSU, FAC said.

The Coordinating Council for Higher Education is studying criteria for naming state colleges, as well as universities. Once criteria are approved, the school may become renamed as a university. A report by the Coordinating Council is expected next month.

French customs make record heroin seizure

Marshall's, France (UPI)—French customs officials today seized a false shrimp boat believed to have visited U.S. ports and haul anywhere of dangerous drugs. The French could use enough to supply heroin to the whole United States. The two words are "If" and "and" concerning this campus naming review.

Issue out of proportion

Editor: This is the first time I have felt a need to write to the Mustang, but I feel that I must reply to Mr. Haygood's article on March 1. The issue of Mr. Shaw's request for funds has been blown way out of proportion. I fail to see how returning to fund the Mustang, Haygood's article on March 1, is related to our recent wrestling refusal to fund a trip will result in our excellent wrestling team's depression or sudden split into mediocrity. The information would arrive in A.L.O. if Mr. Shaw does not attend the matches. There would be a certain time lag—granted. However, I don't think a substantial fraction of the student body wants the news as soon as it happens, as least not at the expense of $48 of All funds. I would appreciate further response from the silent majority of students who pay the most and get the least out of their fees. I'm tired of small fractions of the student body getting most of the funds because they are the most vocal. Speak out, until such time see no need to reconsider my actions.

'Don't be victimized!'

Editor: How many of you have been victimized by life insurance companies in A.L.O.? I have, and I know of others! If you've been going on for years here—in fact many of the 200 students are former Cal Poly students, some of these were well-known lettermen! Sort of like our faculty landlords, a more personal approach to student rip-offs! The Cal Poly way? What is the administration doing? Nothing! Anyway, I have collected much exciting information about these clowns, from ignoring our policy of restricting the use of the card catalog to outright consumer fraud. We have a lawyer now—put him to work for you—come to the All office with a written statement of your problem. A student here recently won an $18,000 counter suit against one of our local insurance groups—something to shout for! I'll get it together now; all you have to do is send me a summary of your experience with any life insurance company. I'll do the rest. I'll print it here, and watch the fireworks.

McGovern will provide government for people

Editor: Having been on countless marches, vigils, teach-ins and several radio and television programs to protest the war in South East Asia and the draft, I see the draft extended for two more years and the war continuing with bombing escalated in Viet Nam. One trillion dollars of our taxes have been spent since 1964 for nuclear overkill over-extended military commitments and soaring "defense" costs. According to SANE, "The Pentagon employs 330 lobbyists on Capitol Hill and 4,400 public relations men around the world, grants 20,000 firms prime contracts and provides V.P. trips to military installations for community leaders."

The only way we can turn the country around, in my opinion, is to vote the government out and replace it with peace candidates. We should know the voting record of George McGovern vs. other candidates for presidential nomination. He has consistently voted for allocation of funds which would re-order the priorities of the government, providing adequate defense as well as "feeding the hungry and clothing the naked." to use the Anderson-Glassner letter in February 29's Mustang Daily, "Power to the People," will be lost realistic by supporting McGovern for President; no candidate in U.S. history has attracted as much financial support at this stage of a presidential campaign, and most of it is money from five or ten dollar contributions.

U.S. facing gas shortage

Washington (UPI)—George A. Lincoln, director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness (OEP), said Thursday U.S. gas customers face rationing and higher prices as result of the nation's serious gas shortage.

"In effect, we are moving toward a gas rationing system by categories," Lincoln told the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, which Thursday wound up a series of public hearings on national gas policy issues.

"Time is running out on our energy situation," Lincoln said. "There is, in the near horizon, a shortage of gas which will cause curtailments or at least threat of curtailment." He told the committee that gas shortage "will also inhibit access to gas supplies on the part of potential new customers."
Matmen don't have their top lineup at nationals

Kline, 1969-70, and Terry Hall, 1969-70, are the only other Mustangs who have repeated championships.

"Frank Oakes, the only Poly wrestler that did not place in the 1971 nationals, will be trying this year."
