Peace candidate Spock speaks here Sunday

Presidential candidate of the Peace and Freedom Party Dr. Benjamin Spock will appear at Mitchell Park noon Saturday as part of his campaign tour through California.

Spock, noted pediatrician and peace activist, was nominated for president by the People's Party which is affiliated nationally with the California Peace and Freedom Party.

Speaking with Spock Saturday will be Joe Wood, Peace and Freedom candidate for the 30th assembly district.

The San Luis Obispo City Council Wednesday night approved the continuation of the Craft Center in the College Union.

The council acted on a request by the Craft Center director Leslie Griffin to continue operation of the store.

Craft Center is a boutique-like structure that was recently constructed and houses the works of students and staff members.

For each 50 people supplied, the council, however, insisted that the gathering last no more than two hours.

Spock first became active in the peace movement in the early 1960s. He was chosen chairman of the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy in 1963, and in 1968 he and four others were convicted of conspiring to counsel evasion of the draft. The conviction was later overturned by an appeals court.

Fame came to Spock as a pediatrician when he wrote "The Common Sense Book of Baby and Child Care," the second best selling book of all time.

In the past four years, Spock has spoken on 300 campuses, mostly recently on the "Need for Radical Action."

Jackets off but letters stay in SAC decision

A new policy was decided at Wednesday night's Student Affairs Council (SAC) meeting concerning the distribution of letterman's jackets as awards.

The new policy of the SAC is that no ASF funds be appropriated or spent for any jackets as an award. Also part of the policy is that any money for awards be appropriated from ASF contingencies to the Board of Athletic Control (BAC) for letterman's jackets as awards.

It was decided at the Finance Committee meeting Monday that the recommendation is to allocate the funds to the jacket because it was rescinded and a policy decision was asked to be handed down from SAC.

Bruce said that the motion was made to keep ASF funds from being used, not the concept of funds used for jackets.

The agriculture and natural resources council was for the idea of giving up jackets as awards but starting next year, while science and math council, engineering and technology council, and architecture were all for putting the policy of no jackets off but letters stay in.

Dave Wenz, chairman of BAC, gave an affirmative answer when the motion was passed.

CRAFTS STORE

Hobbies turn into profit

by LINDA HARTER

Something new has been added to the Craft Center in the College Union.

Inside the center is a small boutique-like structure that was recently constructed and houses the works of students and staff members.

But the articles are not on display—they're for sale. The profit that is derived from the sale of the articles is split with the College Union and the owner of the merchandise. The profit that is derived from the sale of the articles is split with the College Union and the owner of the merchandise. The CU keeps 30 per cent and the artist gets the remaining 70 per cent.

The store had its grand opening during Poly Royal and is now open Monday through Friday from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. It is operated by students Debbie Newman and Chris Cooper.

According to Craft Center Director Leslie Griffin, the idea behind the Craft Store is to get people interested in crafts and help them turn their hobby into profit.

The idea for the store originated from the Craft Center committee who turned the idea over to the College Union Board of Governors.

According to Miss Griffin, all kinds of articles, including clothing, photography, painting and macrame will be accepted. All of the items must be handmade. We don't handle anything factory made," she said.

A maximum of five items is allowed to be put on sale by any one student at one time. The articles will be kept in the store for one month before they will have to be removed to make way for other things. Miss Griffin said the owner of the goods is responsible for restocking the store if the item is sold.

Any student or staff member who wants to participate in the store must present an ID card before he will be allowed to use the new facility. Crafts will be accepted during regular store hours.

SAC approves day care funds

by CATHERINE PHOENIX

The controversial issue of the Children's Day Care Center was finally given an affirmative endorsement from Student Affairs Council (SAC) Wednesday so that Finance Committee would have a definite figure to work with in determining a budget for the center.

Cecilia Dundon, representing the day care center, gave a short talk on why SAC should give their endorsement.

Mrs. Dundon said that the day care center is much in keeping with the needs of Cal Poly. Universities of the 19 state colleges and universities have a day care center subsidized by their ASA to some extent.

Mrs. Dundon also said that the people that have spoken out against the day care center "don't reason out what they think about the center, they just use grade level feelings."

Kathy Bessley, representative from the communication arts and humanities, asked that a decision be postponed one week until a budget survey currently being taken is tabulated and the results are known, but was defeated.

Dave Leger, business and social science representative, moved that SAC direct Finance Committee to continue regular budget procedures concerning implementation of the day care center.

This was amended by Ken Bruce, architecture and environmental design representative, to that $6,000 be allocated from the day care center as a subsidy be used as a rough figure for Finance Committee when determining the day care center's budget.

The motion carried with 12 members for the motion and eight against, with two abstentions.

Tom Gurn, representative from engineering and technology, presented a resolution to SAC adopting the action taken by the eleven members of Finance Committee, regarding a letter to Mustang Daily supporting Robin Regiatt and Denny Johnson, as being unprofessional, misleading and unrepresentative of the authority delegated to Finance Committee.

Corl said the reason for the resolution was that "it looks as though Finance Committee as a whole backed the candidates when the committee is supposed to be non-partisan."

The resolution passed with 13 members for the motion and eight against, with two abstentions.

There was no discussion on the form congress resolutions for dorm reform, and support by SAC passed in a unanimous motion.

Evans seeks lobbyists for training convention

Prospective student lobbyists for the California State Legislature are being sought by ASI Pres. Pete Evans to company him in a lobbyist training convention in Sacramento Monday and Tuesday.

The program is being set up by lobbyist of the California universities, state colleges and city colleges to train student leaders in lobbying for these institutions. It will consist of workshops on student issues, orientation on legislative processes and speakers including Senator Pat Tom Bob Mills and Lt. Governor Ed Reinecke.

Convention organizers hope to establish student-legislators contact and affect currently introduced legislation and the state budget. Lobbying and individual contact with state legislators is planned for Tuesday.

"We've killed two tuition bills already, so now we're looking for some more seriously interested students to get involved."

Food, lodging, and transportation costs are estimated at around $15. For more information see Pete Evans, ASI 2011.

asked if he felt it would hurt the incentive of the athletes to take away the jackets.

"The jackets are a selling point to bring athletes here," said Wena.

When Wena asked if funds could be found elsewhere to pay for the jackets he said "Black P could possibly find the money next year, but as for this year there just is no money."

Steve Leger, business and social science representative, said that he felt the athletes would agree with him when he said that "if something has to be cut from athletics, awards should be the first to go."

It was then the turn of the lettermen's Jackets but the motion was declared out of order by Chairman Marianne Doshi because of the policy decision just made.

Dave Pollock, architecture and environmental design representative, moved that $200 be taken from contingency to but 16 letters for the lettermen's jackets.

"This would fulfill SAC's obligations," said Pollock. This motion passed.

It was then the turn of the Lettermen's Jackets but the motion was declared out of order by Chairman Marianne Doshi.

Speaker against Viet air war slated for Monday

David Harris, who has backed up his anti-war beliefs with time in prison will visit this campus Monday to discuss the Air War Initiative. The discussion will get underway at 5 p.m.

Harris served two years of a three year sentence for refusing induction into the armed services before being let out on parole in 1971.

Harris, a former Stanford student body president, has since been involved in anti-war activities. He headed attempts to stop the aircraft carrier Constellation from sailing to Vietnam from San Diego. His current effort is an attempt to organize a California state referendum against the air war in Southeast Asia.

In the past Harris has worked with the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee as a field worker in Mississippi, and the National Farm Worker's Union as a supporter and organizer.

Harris has written two books, "Colossi" was released in 1969 and "Coming Out" shortly after his release in 1971.

Lobbyist fees given approval

(UPT)-An Assembly committee has narrowly approved a bill allowing state college student body fees to be used to support lobbying in the state Capitol. The Ways and Means Committee sent the measure by Assemblyman Kenneth L. Maddy, R-Fresno, to the floor Wednesday on an 11-6 vote, the minimum required for approval.

The measure was opposed by the state college trustees. A spokesman for the 19-campus system argued that it could lead to a "chop-in" of each of the campuses having a representative in Sacramento. Another college bill by Maddy was defeated by the conparator with the added proviso that in the limited increases in nontuition fees to no more than 10 per cent, the fee would already have been initially paid when he first registered.

Day center approved...

In a two-part motion a figure of $13,000 for contingency and $5,000 for the Office of Reserve Fund was finally reached.

Bill 784 was defeated because critics are now and have been coded groups and can turn in a budget to the Finance Committee for money at any time.

Other action taken, was a motion by Leger for SAC to direct the attention of the Board of Athletic Control (BAC) to their current financial obligations to the ASI. It was the general agreement of BAC that the intention was good but an amendment should be added to include the College Program Board (CPB). The final decision was to have both BAC and CPB present a financial status report to BAC next week.

Last day nearing to file for financial aid loans

The time has come for all good students to come to the aid of themselves. June 1 is the deadline date for all financial aid loan applications to be presented to the college Financial Aid Counselor in the Administration 113.

"This is a need program," explained Mary Eyler, one of the financial aid counselors, "consistent with a loan program in strictly based primarily on the personal and student income." The National Defense Loan of the most common loan given to students, she said. This requires a confidential statement from the parents, and may pay up to $1,000 per year depending on need.

Other various loan programs include Federally Guaranteed Loan Program, United States Army, United States Air Force Loan Program, Educational Opportunity Grant Program, and the College One Year educational loans. For students who need temporary assistance up to 580, the College Short-Term Loan is available. The loan program at this college has been in existence since 1968.

Financial Aid is available to most students from low or modest income families. To obtain more information contact the Financial Aid Counseling Center, Administration 113.

Fencing meet to be held in Men's Gym Saturday

This Saturday the Men's Gym was scheduled to host the Mustang fencing team sponsors a meet. Beginning at 1 p.m. to more than 70 contestans from schools belonging to the Northern California Intercollegiate Fencing Association will compete in the meet. Unlike most fencing tournaments, this meet's participants are fencers who have never fenced in collegiate competition before and will use only the foil as their weapon.

The scoring method is also unusual because no electrical devices are used to determine points made. Instead two judges for each competitor raise hands when their fencer has touched his opponent accurately. The director that stops action and

Mustangs at UCR for baseball league finale

The Mustang baseball team travels to UC Riverside this weekend to close out the league season with three games. The locals, who have an outside chance of finishing second in the California Collegiate Athletic Association, will send Mike Krabow (3-4) on Friday against the Highlanders, Dennis Root (3-1) and Doug Alderman (3-4) will pitch in the doubleheader on Saturday.

The Mustangs, whose record now stands at 17-17, have been encouraged by the play of Greg Clark and Jim Fisher, both newcomers to the lineup. Clark took over when Dave Bow injured his foot and Fisher took over when Larry Bilesin injured his hand.

Coach Angie Garrido was very pleased with their play against San Fernando. He said, "The difference in our winning two of three games from Valley State was due to the play of Clark. He gave us some outstanding defensive play and he swung the bat real well." Coach Garrido was pleased with the defensive work of Fisher in the past series.

Coach Garrido was also encouraged by the pitching of Krabow and Root. Krabow, who now holds the school record for most strikeouts in a season with 81, needs only one win to tie the club's record for most victories. Garrido said, "Krabow continues to improve and if he continues to mature, he's going to be a very nice college pitcher."

Root, who also needs one win to tie the record, picked up three wins last week and has shown considerable improvement in his latest outings. Garrido said, "Root has settled down now and is pitching like he did a year ago at Fullerton JC. He now has established confidence in his ability to win at this level of competition."

Dave Oliver continues to lead the team in hitting with a .383 mark and leads in hits with 37. His 38 hits in league action have enabled him to tie a mark for most hits in CCAA play by a Mustang.
