NEW LIBERAL STUDIES AID FUTURE TEACHERS

A new bachelor's degree program designed to help prospective elementary school teachers to meet requirements of California's new teacher credentialing law has been announced by California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo.

To become effective in September, the Bachelor of Arts Degree in liberal studies will emphasize multiple subjects for elementary teacher preparation as outlined in the Ryan Act, according to Carl C. Cummins, dean of the School of Human Development and Education at Cal Poly.

Dean Cummins, within whose school the new degree program will be administered, said four of the university's schools will participate in the program. They are the Schools of Communicative Arts and Humanities, Science and Mathematics, Business and Social Sciences, and Human Development and Education.

Dr. Allen Miller, who has been appointed coordinator of the new program, explained that the interdisciplinary curriculum has a two-fold objective.

In addition to offering a liberal studies program for students wishing to teach in the elementary school, Liberal Studies is expected to provide an opportunity for interested students to develop an inter-disciplinary course of study.

Applications from entering students or transfers within the university will not be processed until April 12, Miller said. Those accepted in the program will be able to commence course work in the Summer Quarter which begins June 18. Miller said enrollments for the first year are expected to come largely from within the institution from among underclassmen in teaching oriented programs under the Fisher Bill, which will be superseded by the Ryan Act effective in September, 1974.

Commenting on the teacher education emphasis of the new degree major, Dr. Cummins characterized it as one designed to meet the needs of students for the multiple subjects teaching credential and yet flexible enough to allow students to coordinate their studies with their professional goals.

As designed by a committee composed of representatives of Cal Poly's Art, Education, English, History, Mathematics, and Physics Departments, it includes 126 quarter units of study in the four academic areas listed in the multiple studies teaching credential requirement: mathematics and the physical sciences, English and speech, social sciences, and the humanities and fine arts, in addition to the 126 units. The curriculum includes 36 units of professional education coursework, 9 units of elective courses, and 15 units of lower division general education study.

Dr. Miller, a member of Cal Poly's mathematics faculty for the past 12 years and chairman of the committee which designed the new program, will continue to carry a teaching assignment in that area.

READERS DIGEST FOUNDATION GRANT RENEWED

Student journalists at Cal Poly will again be able to expand both the range and depth of their reporting experience via a research-travel grant from Reader's Digest Foundation. The national publication has presented the Journalism Department a $500 grant to be used for travel to collect in-depth story material and to defray research costs for other important news events.

John Healey (Head of Journalism) says that past grants have allowed journalism students to cover national election events, legislative sessions, disorders at other campuses, university trustee meetings and in-depth interview with prominent personalities. This is the sixth year that the Reader's Digest Foundation has granted the department travel-research funds.

SNETSIGNER WILL DISCUSS "CREATION OF ISRAEL"

"The United States and the Creation of Israel" will be the subject when John Snetsigner (History) speaks on Thursday (Feb. 8) morning. The talk by Dr. Snetsinger is being presented as part of the "Arts and Humanities '72-73" series of the university's School of Communicative Arts and Humanities. It will take place at 11 a.m., in Room 220 of the Julian A. McPhee University Union. The public is invited to attend.

Dr. Snetsinger's talk will be an account of the successful Zionist campaign in behalf of influencing the direction of President Harry S. Truman's policy toward the emerging state of Israel. Formerly a member of the California State University, San Jose, faculty, Dr. Snetsinger came to Cal Poly in 1970 after earning his doctor's degree at Stanford University. He also is a graduate of University of California at Berkeley.

PSI MOVIE WILL BE AVAILABLE

PSI—An Alternative, a brief movie on Personalized System of Instruction (the Keller system) will be available for free showings to faculty on Feb. 13 and 14 until 3 p.m. This movie was shown at the November conference on PSI at California State University, Long Beach. Faculty who attended the conference will find the film helpful in explaining PSI to their colleagues. A call to Grace Ewert, 546-2212, Audio Visual Services, will reserve the film.

A graduate of Iowa State University, where he earned three degrees including his doctorate in 1953, he taught at the high school and college level in Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, and Wisconsin before assuming his duties at Cal Poly in 1960.

Dr. Miller has been coordinator of the mathematics teaching portion of the mathematics Department's degree program for the past five years. He is a past president of the Central California Mathematics Council and a frequent speaker at state and regional meetings of affiliates of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

Washington's Birthday, Monday Feb. 19, will be an academic holiday for students and faculty of the university. Only emergency and essential services will be provided.
BUSINESS STUDENTS OFFER TAX ASSISTANCE FOR LOW INCOME TAXPAYERS

Low-income taxpayers throughout San Luis Obispo County are eligible for free help with filing their 1972 federal income tax returns from a team of nine students from Cal Poly's Business Administration Department. Members of the group are available in locations throughout the county, according to Harold Miller (Business Administration), who is coordinator for the program. Their service will continue through mid-April.

Students participating are Gary L. Byllesby, Peter Gerdesen, Jack Heilbron, Larry Hill, Harry J. Lee, John Orsini, Bill Ramalho, Richard Seger, and Jimmie Thomas. They are part of Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) a program begun two years ago by the Internal Revenue Service and the Cal Poly Business Administration Department in an effort to help low-income groups with their income tax problems.

In addition to the regular office hours in five San Luis Obispo County communities, VITA service for invalids is available without charge, subject to availability of team members to make the trip. A list of the locations, times, and dates when students involved in the voluntary tax assistance program will be available can be obtained by contacting Dr. Miller, BAandE, 546-2048.

PUBLIC INVITED TO PROGRAMS ON NATURAL RESOURCES

The public is being invited to share two speakers who are appearing before natural resources management majors at Cal Poly this week as part of a Natural Resources Week program. G. W. McCammon, chief, environmental services branch, California Department of Fish and Game, and James P. Tryner of the state Department of Parks and Recreation, will participate in two evening programs open to the public.

McCammon will speak on resource management problems as they relate to fish and game at 7 p.m. on Wednesday (Feb. 7) and Tryner will speak on "Care and Feeding of Wildlife Resources" at 7 p.m. on Thursday (Feb. 8). Both programs will be in the right wing of Chumash Auditorium of the Julian A. McPhee University Union.

Marvin J. Whalls (head, Natural Resources Management) which is sponsoring the week-long program, says the Natural Resources Week program is designed to better acquaint students with career opportunities in public health, the forest service, parks and recreation, and fish and game agencies. Representatives of four public agencies will be working with Natural Resources Management Department classes throughout the week.

DUMPSTER SERVICE BEING USED FOR CAMPUS REFUSE

A university contract with San Luis Garbage Company of San Luis Obispo for all removal and disposal of trash and garbage from the campus has resulted in placement of dumpster-type bins in most areas of the campus and a request that use of the university dump be discontinued. Donald M. Vert (Procurement and Support Services Officer) said the new bins are available in all areas except the campus residences, Hillcrest, and the Soil Science Glass House and should be used for all trash and garbage. Cans are being furnished for those areas not served by dumpsters.

Typewritten copy intended for the next issue of Cal Poly Report must be received prior to 12 noon Friday, Feb. 9, in the Office of Information Services, Administration-210.
HIGHLIGHTS OF TRUSTEES ACTION

Highlights of the actions taken by the Board of Trustees of The California State University and Colleges during its meeting held in Los Angeles on Jan. 24 included the following:

--Reaffirmed its Sept. 27, 1972, request for funds equivalent to a 7.5 per cent salary increase for academic employees, and requested a sum equivalent to 4.7 per cent (adjusted downward from the 5 per cent estimate of September, 1972) of salary to improve fringe benefits for all employees in the academic, academic-administrative and executive salary groups.

--Accepted from the California State College Foundation the grant deed to a residence in western Los Angeles; designated the property as the California State University House.

--Approved sale of $5 million revenue bonds to finance construction of health centers at Sonoma, San Diego, Sacramento and San Luis Obispo and a debt service subsidy grant agreement with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for financing the health centers.

(Bids for construction of the Health Center Addition at Cal Poly will be called on March 1, according to E. Douglas Gerard (Executive Dean). Assuming receipt of a successful bid at that time, he estimated that work on the $1 million project should begin about mid-April.)

SPORTS PSYCHOLOGY WILL BE SPEAKERS FORUM TOPIC

The psychological aspects of sports will be discussed by Bruce C. Ogilvie on Wednesday, Feb. 7, at Cal Poly. Sponsored by the Speaker's Forum Committee of the Associated Students, Inc., Dr. Ogilvie will discuss 'The Emotional Cost of A--Greatness, B--Leadership, and C--Success."

Author of a book and 40 articles in the area of sport and personality, Dr. Ogilvie is also the recipient of the 1967 California Distinguished Teaching Award, and a consultant to 21 professional sports teams. He is also co-director of the Institute for Study of Athletic Motivation.

Dr. Ogilvie will speak in Chumash Auditorium of the Julian A. McPhee University Union on campus starting at 7 p.m. The lecture is open to the public. Admission will be 50 cents for students and $1 for all others.

RESERVATIONS FOR TAHOE SNOW TRIP STILL BEING TAKEN

Reservations for a fun and snow excursion to the Lake Tahoe area are still being taken by the Cal Poly University Club. Mrs. Doris Barrowman (Duplicating), who is making arrangements for the trip, said it will be made by bus over the Washington's Birthday weekend. Cost for the trip which will leave San Luis Obispo on Feb. 16 and return on Feb. 19, will be $51, including three nights of lodging at the Hyatt Lodge and round trip bus transportation. Those interested in learning more about the tour are invited to contact Mrs. Barrowman, Adm-129, 546-2195.
"MUSTANG DAILY" NAMED WINNER IN C N P A CONTEST

Mustang Daily, the newspaper published by journalism students at Cal Poly, has been called many things during its lifetime, but now a new name -- award winner -- has been added to the list. Kathleen Beasley, editor of the 6,000 circulation campus newspaper, received word recently that it has been given one of two top awards in the California Newspaper Publishers Association's 1972 Better Newspaper Contest.

The association announced that its 76 judges, all of whom have extensive newspaper backgrounds, has chosen three consecutive Mustang Daily editions from the week of Nov. 13 as the winning material. Figures for the 1972 Better Newspaper Contest show that 1,270 newspapers were entered in 34 categories. Each category was broken down to specific circulation sizes, Mustang Daily's being the "less than 15,000" classification.

Miss Beasley, who is a senior from Hayward, will be on hand to accept the Better Newspapers Contest award at the CNPA Convention Awards Luncheon on Friday (Feb. 9) in San Francisco. Winning entries will be displayed later this year in the CNPA Awards Book, which is published annually by Crown Zellerbach Paper Company.

The California Newspaper Publishers Association is composed of most of California's major newspapers, both professional and student.

REVISION IN "CREDIT BY EXAMINATION" PROCEDURE APPROVED

A revision in the procedure for processing student petitions for credit by examination has been approved by President Robert E. Kennedy. Under the revised procedure, authority for final approval of student petitions is delegated to the appropriate department head. Campus Administrative Manual, Sec. 617.7, the section covering credit by examination matters, will be changed to reflect the new procedure.

In a related announcement, interim procedures for handling petitions for credit by examination have been announced by F. Jerald Holley (Director, Admissions and Records). Until a new petition form can be developed and printed, the portion of the former form that required approval of the appropriate dean has been blocked out. Duplicate copies of the forms for post audit purposes will be forwarded to the school dean.

The new procedure is a result of a recommendation from the Academic Council to President Kennedy.

PLANS FOR "ANIMAL FARM" ANNOUNCED BY CAMPUS GROUP

For San Luis Obispo area youngsters who have never heard a pig squeal, a lamb bleat, or a calf bawl, the Collegiate FFA Chapter at Cal Poly will set up an animal farm at Madonna Plaza Shopping Center in San Luis Obispo, on Saturday (Feb. 10). The exhibit will be in operation from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

James Tissue and Ron Arington, student co-chairmen of the activity for the sponsoring Future Farmers of America group, state the objective of the animal farm exhibit is to give youngsters a chance to become acquainted with farm animals. It is expected to include baby pigs, lambs, calves, puppies, a burro, chicks, and rabbits.
SECURITY DEPARTMENT ASSISTANCE WINS PRAISE OF LOCAL OFFICIAL

Assistance rendered by the Cal Poly Security Department during the Jan. 18 rain storm and the ensuing flood conditions in the San Luis Obispo area has won the praise of Lee M. Schlobohm, fire chief of the City of San Luis Obispo. Schlobohm used a letter to George W. Cockreil (Chief Security Officer) and President Robert E. Kennedy to express his appreciation for cooperation of the university.

"I want to go on record as letting you and the University administration know that your cooperation and assistance to the San Luis Obispo Fire Department during our recent simultaneous flood and fire situation was greatly appreciated," Schlobohm said. "It is nice to know that our mutual aid agreement for fire protection is more than just a piece of paper, and that when the need for your assistance arises, we can count on your Department's prompt response."

One fire engine and crew under the direction of Cockreil was on standby duty and made one fire call while assisting the San Luis Obispo Fire Department throughout the afternoon of Jan. 18.

ASI COMMITTEE ASKS COMMUNITY HELP FOR FLOOD VICTIMS

The Community Services Committee at Cal Poly is suggesting that residents of San Luis Obispo begin their Spring cleaning in Winter. The Associated Students, Inc., committee, which fosters service projects within the community, believes that residents who clean house now might find a lot of useful things they can share with the victims of the recent flooding.

Students and faculty of Cal Poly also are invited to join in the drive for clothing, appliances, and household goods which might be shared with local householders who lost their own belongings in the Jan. 18 flooding. Depositories for receiving such items will be maintained at the Julian A. McPhee University Union on the campus through Friday (Feb. 9).

Robin Baggett, ASI president, says any householder wishing to donate items but lacking the means of bringing them to Cal Poly should call Roundhouse, the student service office of the ASI, 546-2014, to ask for pickup.

TICKETS FOR UNIVERSITY, WOMEN'S CLUB DINNER PARTY BEING SOLD NOW

Tickets for the annual joint dinner party of the Cal Poly University Club and the Cal Poly Women's Club, which will be held on Saturday, Feb. 24, at the Golden Tee Motor Hotel in Morro Bay, are now on sale throughout the campus, according to Mrs. Mary Darnielle of the Women's Club.

Priced at $5 per person, they are being sold by J. Philip Bromley (Agricultural Management), George Davies (Admissions Officer), Mrs. Rita Henry (Housing Office), James McGrath (Head, Engineering Technology), Owen L. Servatius (Head, Business Administration), and Harry Strauss (Director, University Library).

With Polynesian decor, the party will feature dinner and dancing with a no-host social hour at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7:30.
BLACK HERITAGE OBSERVANCE SCHEDULED FEB. 11-18

The eight days from Sunday, Feb. 11, through Sunday, Feb. 18, will be observed as Black Heritage Week at Cal Poly. Held in conjunction with the national observance of Black History Week, which is held each year sometime during February and March, the observance is being sponsored by the Black Students Union.

James Nauls of San Bernardino, student chairman of the Black Heritage Planning Committee, says, "the programming is designed to give the students and community a better understanding of black students as people, and to provide them a chance to experience black culture on a first hand basis."

Scheduled events include the Miss Black Heritage Pageant on Sunday, Feb. 11, in the Cal Poly Theatre; Black Art Exhibit, Monday, Feb. 12, through Saturday, Feb. 17, in Room 221 of the Julian A. McPhee University Union; concert featuring WAR, popular vocal group Friday, Feb. 16, in the Men’s Gymnasium; and a Banquet/Fashion Show, Sunday, Feb. 18, in Chumash Auditorium of the University Union.

The public is invited to attend all of the events.

DEADLINES FOR PURCHASE REQUISITIONS LISTED BY PURCHASING OFFICE

Deadlines for receipt of Purchase Requisitions for supplies and/or equipment to be charged against current 1972-73 state appropriations have been listed by Donald M. Vert (Procurement and Support Services Officer).

Vert said March 15 will be the last date on which requisitions for equipment items requiring further justification can be received; April 13 will be the final day for receipt of requisitions for items which must be processed through the State Office of Procurement on estimate forms; and June 1 will be the deadline date for requests for all items which can be purchased for $1,000 or less on a local order.

Further information or clarification on the requisition deadlines can be gotten by telephoning the University Purchasing Office, Adm-117, 546-2231.

BOWLING PRO SHOP ADDED TO UNIVERSITY UNION OPERATIONS

A new bowling pro shop has been opened in the Games Area of the Julian A. McPhee University Union as a complement to the overall services of the union facility, according to Gino Legari (Games Area Manager). Offered through the new service are the sale of balls, bags, and shoes, and the plugging and redrilling of bowling balls.

Legari said all major brands of bowling supplies and equipment are either in stock or can be offered and delivered quickly. A display of available supplies is available in the Games Area and catalogs are available at the Games Area desk. All merchandise is discounted 10 percent off list price for Cal Poly students, faculty, and staff.

Additional information about the new service can be obtained from Legari in the Games Area or by telephoning 546-4760.

Typewritten copy intended for the next issue of Cal Poly Report must be received prior to 12 noon Friday, Feb. 9, in the Office of Information Services, Administration-210.

"ENERGY CRISIS" WILL BE TOPIC FOR VISITING CHEMIST

G. D. Christoffersen of Chevron Research Company will discuss the Energy Crisis at a meeting in Room 207 of the Julian A. McPhee University Union at Cal Poly at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 14. The meeting, sponsored by the Chemistry Department and the campus student chapter of the American Chemical Society, will be open to the public. Admission will be free.

Dr. Christoffersen is senior research associate and group leader in elemental analysis and microscopy for Chevron Research. A graduate of University of Washington, he is primarily interested in the study of the structure of petroleum catalysts using powder X-ray diffraction techniques. He has been with Chevron Research since 1958.

The public lecture will be part of a two-day visit to Cal Poly by Dr. Christoffersen. During that time he will meet with students and faculty to share his chemical knowledge.

TOURS OF DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE FACILITIES OFFERED

Tours of the California Department of Justice's Division of Law Enforcement located in Sacramento are available to interested student and faculty groups according to an announcement by Evelle J. Younger, attorney general of California.

Reservations for the tours, which take about 90 minutes are being accepted for normal stat workdays between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. The maximum size group that can be accommodated for the conducted visits is about 75 persons.

Further information on scheduling and a pre-registration packet and planning data for organizing a tour of the Department of Justice facility can be requested by writing to Tour Coordinator, Program Planning Office, P.O. Box 13307, Sacramento, 95813.

Thursday, Feb. 22, will be the end of the seventh week of instruction for the Winter Quarter. Except for university-recognized emergencies, no withdrawals from courses will be permitted after that date.
WHO • • • WHAT • • • WHEN • • • WHERE ? ? ?

Don M. Morris (Associate Dean, Continuing Education) was a speaker before two professional organizations on Jan. 26. After addressing a morning meeting of some 200 classified staff members of the Las Virgenes Unified School District in Calabasas, he spoke during the Officer Installation Banquet of the San Luis Obispo County Building Contractors' association that evening at the Madonna Inn in San Luis Obispo.

Andrew D. Jones (Head, Transportation Engineering) presented a technical paper co-authored with William Grecco of University of Tennessee during the annual meeting of the Highway Research Board of the National Academy of Sciences on Jan. 22 in Washington, D.C., title of the paper, which will also be published in a forthcoming Highway Research Record, was "A Simplified Procedure for Major Thoroughfare Planning in Small Urban Areas." Over 3,000 professionals in transportation and planning attended the meeting.

Marvin J. Whalls (Head, Natural Resources Management) took part in a lake management workshop in Anaheim on Jan. 25-26. Dr. Whalls was a banquet speaker and also spoke before a full assembly of the workshop, which was sponsored by the California Recreational Fisheries Council, a group that represents private industry in fish production, lake management, lake concessions, and private aquatic consultation.

Victor A. Buccola (Men's Physical Education) was a participant in two professional programs held recently in Arizona. Dr. Buccola attended a symposium on "Exercise and the Heart" on Jan. 18 at Arizona State University and then attended the Southwest District Convention of the American Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation in Phoenix on Jan. 18-19.

David H. Chipping (Physics) is the author of a paper titled "Paleoenvironmental Significance of Chert in Franciscan Formation of California: A Reply to a Discussion Concerning the Significance of Chert in California," which appears in the current issue of The Bulletin of the Geological Society of America. Dr. Chipping uses the article to describe the similarities between the deformation of the sea floor in Timor, an island in the South Pacific, and the processes that took place 100 million years ago in the San Luis Obispo area.

Donald L. McCaleb (Information Services Office) was re-elected president of the Natoma Council of Camp Fire Girls, Inc. during an annual meeting held Jan. 30 in San Luis Obispo. The only person to have been elected to that office for the third time, McCaleb also received the Luther H. Gulick Award, the highest honor that can be awarded by a local Camp Fire Girls organization. Others elected during the annual meeting include James Neal (Controller, Cal Poly Foundation), treasurer, and Leo Rogers (Engineering Technology) and Enrico Bongio (Welding and Metallurgical Engineering), both directors.

Teymoor Gedayloo (Physics) attended a conference on electron spin resonance and nuclear magnetic resonance in biology and medicine in New York City recently. The five-day-long gathering of interdisciplinary scientists from many foreign countries was sponsored by the New York Academy of Sciences. Gedayloo is currently doing research in radiation biophysics at University of Kansas while on leave from his duties at Cal Poly.

Laurence Talbott and Raymond Wysock (both Industrial Technology) were initiated as members of Phi Delta Kappa honorary fraternity for men in education during a meeting of that organization's local chapter on Jan. 20 at the Madonna Inn in San Luis Obispo. They join several members of the Cal Poly administrative staff and faculty as members of the society.

VISTA GRANDE RESTAURANT RE-OPENING EXPECTED ON MONDAY

Monday (Feb. 12) is the day of the expected re-opening of the Vista Grande Restaurant, according to John Lee (Foundation Food Services Director), who said repair and cleanup necessitated by the Jan. 18 storm should be completed by that time. Lee said the grand opening for the new restaurant is still being planned and will be announced by soon as the date has been established.

VARSITY BASKETBALL, BASEBALL TEAMS SLANE HOME EVENTS

The league leading California State College, Bakersfield, team will provide the opposition when Cal Poly's varsity basketballers return to Men's Gymnasium for a California Collegiate Athletic Association encounter this Friday (Feb. 9) evening at 8 p.m. Also on tap for campus sports fans this week will be the opening game of the 1973 season for Cal Poly's varsity baseball team. The Mustang nine will meet St. Mary's College in a single game at 2:30 p.m. on Friday and a twinbill starting at 12 noon on Saturday (Feb. 10) on Poly Field. A complete listing of home sports events for the coming week appears on pages 11 and 12 of this issue of Cal Poly Report.

Kenneth R. Kimball (Industrial Technology) was installed as president of the San Luis Obispo Toastmasters Club during a meeting held on Jan. 22. Other members of the Cal Poly faculty who will serve during 1973 with Kimball are Tom Chou (Electronic and Electrical Engineering), administrative vice president, and Douglas Genereaux (Agricultural Management), treasurer.

Walter D. Wilson (Physics) is co-author of a report prepared recently by Science Applications, Inc., of La Jolla for the Department of Defense. Titled The Oasis-72 Program, Volume IV: Environmental Models, the document describes the method used in computer programs which assess the effects of nuclear radiation. Dr. Wilson serves as a consultant to Scientific Applications, Inc.
