DR. KENNEDY ELECTED TO A A S C U BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Cal Poly President Robert E. Kennedy has been elected to a four-year term as a member of the Board of Directors of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities. His first duty in his new capacity will come early next month when he attends a business meeting of the board in Washington, D.C. The sessions will take place Feb. 4-5 at the Fairfax Hotel.

Dr. Kennedy joins the 12-member executive group responsible for management of the association through committees and professional staff employees, and for development of policies for presentation to the association membership. The majority of AASCU members are accredited colleges and universities that are either wholly or partly state-supported and state-controlled. Some 250 institutions across the U.S. are presently active. Each is represented by its president or chief executive.

The president has been active in AASCU affairs since he assumed leadership of the college. He has been a member of the organization's Public Relations Committee for the past year. In addition to having been a member of many state-wide and local advisory committees and boards over the years, Dr. Kennedy is a former district president and national Board of Directors member of the American College Public Relations Association.

He was elected to membership on the AASCU executive board during the annual meeting of the association, which took place last month in Atlanta, Ga.

1970 "ENGINEERING WEEK" SLATED FEB. 22-28

The week of Feb. 22-28 will be Engineering Week at Cal Poly, according to Glenn Takahashi, chairman of the student Engineering and Technology Council. Planned by students of the School of Engineering and Technology during the week are varied events, including a banquet, a special public lecture, a panel discussion on environmental pollution, and engineering and technical displays.

Takahashi, a senior majoring in agricultural engineering, said he hoped the campus observance would spread into local communities. The program for Engineering Week annually coincides with the National Engineering Week program sponsored throughout the nation by the National Society of Professional Engineers.

JANUARY SALARY WARRANTS WILL BE AVAILABLE FRIDAY

Salary warrants for the January pay period for members of the college faculty and staff will be available Friday (Jan. 30). They may be picked up in the Business Affairs Division Office, Adm-114.
NEW EOP AIDE BEGINS CAMPUS DUTIES

A former member of the counseling and guidance staff at California Youth Authority's Paso Robles School for Boys for the past six years has begun new duties as assistant director of Cal Poly's Educational Opportunity Program. W. Carl Wallace, 33, began his new assignment Jan. 19, according to J. Dan Lawson (acting dean of students), who made the announcement.

Dean Lawson said Wallace will work with Richard Martinez (director of the Educational Opportunity Program) in coordinating the college's varied program for minority group students. Cal Poly presently has 38 students registered under the specially funded program. Current plans call for that number to double by next year.

Among Wallace's duties, according to Martinez, are development of a tutoring program for minority students, promotion of EOP among high school and community college students throughout the Central Coast area, and assisting with guidance for EOP participants. He will also work on coordination of minority group student activities and groups and development of summer job opportunities for Cal Poly EOP participants.

Wallace is a native of Richmond. A graduate of Cal Poly, from which he received his Bachelor of Science Degree in social sciences, he also attended Oakland City College, Contra Costa College in El Cerrito, Fresno State College, and California State College at Hayward. He is presently a graduate student and candidate for the Master of Arts in Education Degree with emphasis on guidance and counseling at the college.

The new EOP staff member joined the CYA staff at Paso Robles School for Boys in 1963. In addition to his most recent assignment as classification counselor, he also worked as a senior youth counselor, senior group supervisor, and group supervisor. Wallace is a member of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency and the California Probation, Parole and Correctional Association.

ANIMAL REGULATIONS NOTED

Pets on campus without a leash and not accompanied by owners may be taken to a pound by appropriate animal shelter officers, according to regulations in the College Administrative Manual. Dogs, cats, and other pets are not permitted inside campus buildings, except for animals used for official college instructional purposes. Owners should be aware of these regulations in order to avoid having pets impounded.

SERVICEABLE FURNITURE, HOUSEHOLD ITEMS NEEDED FOR FOREIGN STUDENTS

The need for usable furniture and household items is a continuing one, according to Glenn W. Rich (Foreign Student Advisor). Most critically needed are study tables, desks, chairs, and beds. Those who have such items they are willing to contribute for use in the college's foreign students programs are invited to contact David H. Thomson (Biological Sciences Department), Sci-C-29, 546-2438 or 543-8947, or the Foreign Student Office, Adm-117A, 546-2376.

Typewritten copy intended for the next issue of Cal Poly Report must be received prior to 12 noon Friday, Jan. 30, in the Office of Information Services, Adm-210.
FACULTY HOUSING QUESTIONNAIRE RESULTS

Results of the questionnaire on housing mailed to 236 new faculty have been tabulated and were announced last week by President Robert E. Kennedy. Dr. Kennedy stated that he "was gratified with the interest and response. The extremely high return of 63.5 percent has certainly affirmed the need for housing and the information will be utilized in our efforts to obtain an apartment project for married students, faculty, and staff."

Of the returns from married faculty members, only one respondent would not favor a college-sponsored project, 19 were neutral, and 99 favored the college unit approach. Of the 99 favoring college units, two-thirds indicated they "strongly favored college units."

The married respondents preferred unfurnished (100) to furnished (16) apartments and the size preference was single bedroom (5); two bedroom (32); and three bedroom (80). The maximum rent model figures were $130; $160, and $180, respectively. On the question as to whether faculty units should be intermingled with student housing, 66 favored keeping the units separated and 53 were neutral or favored mixing.

Copies of the questionnaire and the results may be obtained from Larry Voss (Director of Personnel Relations), Adm-111, 546-2236.

CAL POLY ITEMS ON TRUSTEES' AGENDA

Several items of direct interest to Cal Poly are included on the agenda of the Board of Trustees of the California State Colleges scheduled at the Woodlake Inn in Sacramento today and tomorrow (Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 27-28).

The Committee on Campus Planning, Building and Grounds is scheduled to take action on approval of schematic plans for a dining hall conversion at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo. The Committee on Finance will hear a presentation by George L. Merrill, chief of auxiliary and business services, California State Colleges, recommending action for the issuance of $3 million of San Luis Obispo campus student union revenue bonds, series A, under a loan agreement executed in 1967 with the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Other committee actions are scheduled on approved uses of student body organization funds for legal services, counseling services, and transportation services; mandatory student body fees; student publications; and married student housing.

REPORTS ON ALL INJURIES REQUIRED BY S C I F

Reports of injury must be submitted to the State Compensation Insurance Fund for all persons injured while acting in the course of employment with Cal Poly, according to Milton Piuma (Staff Personnel Officer). He said it is essential that an employee report his injury to his supervisor within 24 hours after occurrence of the accident. The supervisor must then complete a Supervisor's Report of Accident and send the report to the Personnel Office, Adm-111. The supervisor must also report to the Personnel Office the return of persons who have been off work because of such an injury.
CHANCELLOR CALLS FOR HIGHER STATURE FOR COLLEGIATE TEACHING

Chancellor of The California State Colleges Glenn S. Dumke last week called for measures to bring the same stature to collegiate teaching that is presently accorded to university research. Dr. Dumke, in testimony prepared for the Legislature's Joint Committee on Higher Education, contended this is an unfulfilled objective of the state's 1959 Master Plan for Higher Education.

"Unless the fundamental issue of developing great teaching institutions is faced and faced squarely, there will be a further impetus toward the addition of the very type of research-oriented institutions for which California has already made adequate provision through the University system within the Master Plan," he said.

The Master Plan emphasizes pre-eminence of the University of California in research and certain professional fields, the community colleges as a means for most students to begin their collegiate experience and the state colleges as institutions concentrated on teaching. "A State College professor with a teaching mission must be convinced, through salaries, fringe benefits, and all other appropriate measures, that his job is just as important as the University professor's, which stresses research," Chancellor Dumke continued.

DEADLINES FOR FEDERAL PROGRAMS LISTED BY RESEARCH, DEVELOPMENT OFFICER

The deadlines for applications for the federal grant programs listed below are drawing near, according to information issued last week by George G. Clucas (Director of Research and Development). Those wishing added information about any of them are invited to contact the Research and Development Office, Adm-307, 546-2630. All deadline dates are 1970.

ALPERT, LEARY TAKING DIFFERENT APPROACHES TO "KNOWING" THEMSELVES

Although Richard Alpert and Timothy Leary started out on the same path of experimentation with various hallucinogenic drugs, recent years have seen them take completely different approaches to "knowing" themselves. Newsweek magazine reported in its April 21, 1969, issue that Dr. Alpert "... has abandoned the drug cult and turned to Far Eastern mysticism to explore his inner consciousness."

Dr. Alpert, known as Baba Ram Dass since his return from a stay at a tiny temple in the Himalayas, is expected to discuss such matters as the emerging spiritual evolution in the West, yoga, the relation of internal to external freedom, and human motivation, during an address before a campus audience Saturday (Jan. 31). His talk, being sponsored by the Fine Arts Committee of the Associated Students, Inc., College Program Board, is scheduled for the Men's Gymnasium, beginning at 8 p.m.

The campus address by Baba Ram Dass is part of the continuing series of lecturers and speakers representing widely varied points of view, who are brought to campus to address audiences by various student committees. Dr. Leary spoke on campus last spring on a similar program.

Dr. Alpert received his doctor's degree in psychology from Stanford University in 1957, after which he taught at Stanford, the University of California in Berkeley, and Harvard University. In March, 1961, he ingested psilocybin, a consciousness-altering chemical. Following this experience he joined with Dr. Leary and others in a research program concerning altered states of consciousness brought about through the use of psychedelics such as LSD.

In 1967 Dr. Alpert started for Iran in search of men who might still retain the keys to the knowledge of enlightenment. After many months of searching he found what he was looking for, following which he settled at a tiny temple in the Himalayas for a winter of study.

Returning to the U. S. as Baba Ram Dass, which means "servant of God," he is committed to helping others find peace and meaning in life, according to the Newsweek report. That same article described Dr. Alpert's current views on drugs and their use: "'Psychedelics first demonstrated to me the possibility that everything could be different,' he says. But, he adds, drugs do not fill spiritual needs. 'I believe young people will discover the real values, but it will happen in stages and we adults must be patient and have compassion.'"

A question and answer period will follow the Jan. 31 talk by Baba Ram Dass. Tickets are 50 cents and may be purchased at the Associated Students Office in the Temporary College Union Building.

FOLK DANCERS PLAN THURSDAY CONCERT FOR THEATER

Students will present a program of folk dances from around the world beginning at 11 a.m., Thursday (Jan. 29) in the campus theater. The dancers, under the direction of Moon Ja Minn, (Physical Education Department), will perform dances from Yugoslavia, Israel, Denmark, the United States, and Greece.

One of the Greek dances programmed for the Thursday morning concert -- called "Make Your Own Bed" -- is similar to the dance done by Zorba in the movie Zorba the Greek. The printed program for the event carries an indication that the audience may be asked to help with performance of "Gustaf's Skoal," a Danish square dance being rehearsed by members of the Folk Dance Club for the performance.

Admission to Thursday morning's dance concert will be free and the public is invited to attend.

MUSTANG GRAPPLERS SLATE HOME ACTION, CAGERS BEGIN ROAD STAND

A pair of home mat contests for Cal Poly's highly regarded wrestling varsity are the lone home events on the calendar of campus sports action this week. The Mustang matmen will host California Collegiate Athletic Association foe San Fernando Valley State College tomorrow (Wednesday, Jan. 28) evening and Biola College, Thursday (Jan. 29) evening. Both dual matches are slated for 8 p.m., in the Men's Gymnasium. The weekend will find Cal Poly's varsity basketball club on the road for games at California State College at Fullerton (Friday, Jan. 30) and University of California at Irvine (Saturday, Jan. 31).

Results of last week's wrestling matches included both the sweetness of victory and the bitterness of defeat for Head Coach Vaughan Hitchcock's charges. They returned to their home mat to chalk up a 23-9 triumph over Chico State College after losing a 27-3 road decision to an Oklahoma State University team that had just trounced the nation's top-ranked Iowa State University team two evenings before. The Mustang matmen will enter this week's action with a 6-2 won-lost record in dual matches this season. Cal Poly teams coached by Hitchcock have now won 75 matches in a row over California college and university teams.

Head basketball Coach Neale Stoner's basketball varsity posted a pair of victories over Fresno teams last week to improve its won-lost mark for the 1969-70 campaign to 10-6. The Mustang cagers bested traditional rival Fresno State College 78-67 in a game played in Men's Gym, then moved to the Raisin City to defeat Fresno Pacific College 75-63 the following evening. Victories in both games on the road this weekend would assure them of equalling the largest number of victories recorded by a Cal Poly cage club since 1962.

Central Coast area sports fans are beginning to take note of Coach Ernie Wheeler's Cal Poly Colts. The freshman cagers chalked up their eighth and ninth victories in succession over Fresno State and Fresno Pacific freshman and junior varsity teams last weekend and now own a 10-2 won-lost mark for the season. This weekend's action will find them meeting the freshman cage clubs of Cal State at Fullerton and UC Irvine in preliminary games to the varsity contests.

THEME FOR BRUNCH SOCIAL ANNOUNCED BY WOMEN'S CLUB

"Love International Style" is the theme for the Brunch Social being planned for Feb. 14 by the Cal Poly Women's Club, according to an announcement received this week. Being planned by the club's Ways and Means Committee, the event will take place in the Staff Dining Room beginning at 11 a.m.

Individual tickets for the Brunch Social are $3 each and may be purchased from Mrs. William Alexander (544-2164), Mrs. C. R. Nelson (543-3585), Mrs. Leo Rogers (543-0499 and Mrs. David Cook (543-0491). Mrs. Cook is taking table reservations from those who wish to make up parties of three of more women (preferably for five or six).

A truly enchanting program has been promised for the affair, which is being planned by Mrs. Glenn Noble, chairman of the club's Ways and Means Committee, and members of the committee.
REPORT INDICATES CAMPUS RECRUITING OFF TO SLOW START

The 1969-70 season for recruitment of college and university students by business and industry representatives is off to a slow start, according to Eugene A. Rittenhouse (Director of Placement and Financial Aids). Early data compiled by the College Placement Council indicates that there is a substantially smaller number of offers, as well as a slowing-up in the rate of increase in dollar value of beginning salary offers.

That information is contained in the first of three salary survey reports that will be issued by the council during the 1969-70 year. Cal Poly is among the 140 colleges and universities across the nation participating in the annual survey, which covers actual job offers made to male students. The College Placement Council, headquartered in Bethlehem, Pa., is the non-profit national service organization for the college placement and recruiting field. It serves some 1,300 colleges and universities and 2,100 employer businesses and industries.

In sharp contrast with the comparable period last year, the over-all volume of offers at the bachelor's degree level has dropped 20 percent -- with most of the decline being experienced in the technical areas. Thus far students majoring in technical disciplines have received 28 percent fewer offers than at the same point last year. This is an even greater drop than the 26 percent decline of two years ago, when college recruiting also got off to a slow start.

Bringing the national figures to bear on local circumstances, Rittenhouse said employer representatives continue to visit Cal Poly in search of professional personnel but student interest in actively pursuing employment seemingly has decreased. "At a time when graduating seniors should be more eager than ever to have employment interviews, there is an increasing number of vacancies on campus recruiters' schedules for interviews," he continued.

SALE OF "LAS VEGAS NIGHT" TICKETS BEGINS

Tickets for the "Las Vegas Night" Party, being planned by Cal Poly Chapter 97 of the California State Employees Association for the evening of Feb. 14, may now be purchased from three CSEA representatives in the Administration Building. They are Bob Timone (Assistant to the Dean of Students), 546-2491; Robert Bostrum (Director of Housing), 546-2391; and Mrs. Francine Hapgood (Business Affairs Division Office), 546-2171. Planned as the chapter's spring social event, the party will include dancing, gaming, and dinner, all for $3 per person. Tickets should be available in other areas throughout the campus within the next few days.

PUBLIC INVITED TO HEAR MATH LECTURER

Faculty, staff, and students, as well as the public, are invited to hear a talk on linear programming to be presented by Leonard Tornheim of Chevron Research Company starting at 4 p.m., Friday, in AgEngr-123. Dr. Tornheim's presentation on campus is made possible by the Mathematical Association of America's visiting lecturers program and is being sponsored by the campus student chapter of Kappa Mu Epsilon national mathematics honor society. Prior to his talk, the campus visitor will be available for student and faculty consultation, from 2 to 4 p.m., in MHE-152. Admission for the 4 p.m. lecture will be free.
CAMPUS DELEGATION WILL ATTEND ORIENTATION PROGRAM INSTITUTE

John Lucin (Assistant Activities Director) will accompany four students to an institute on "College Orientation Programs in the '70's" at the International Airport Hilton Inn, San Francisco, Feb. 19-21. The two-day conference sponsored by the Higher Education Executive Associates will be devoted to means of orienting new college students. Lucin says, "It is expected participation in the institute will provide new ideas for the annual Week of Welcome at Cal Poly."

The student participants will be Thomas Corl, a junior mechanical engineering major from San Mateo; Bryan Waterbury, a junior social sciences major from Westminster; George Bruce Dunn, a senior business administration major from Uplands; and Robert A. Erickson, a junior business administration major from Torrance. All are members of WOW committees. Two "Think Tank" sessions for students and faculty members will be conducted by Lucin and the four students on campus, upon their return, to relate ideas garnered from the conference to campus orientation programs.

INCREASED APPLICATION FEE BEGINS NEXT WEEK

Students planning to enroll in the California State Colleges were reminded today that the application fee will increase to $20 effective next Tuesday (Feb. 3). The reminder was issued by David Kagan, coordinator of admissions services. He noted that the increase from $10 was approved last November by the Board of Trustees due to increased costs of processing applications.

ARAB STUDENTS PLAN COMMUNITY DINNER

Members of the college faculty, student body, and staff, as well as residents of the Central Coast are invited to join the Cal Poly Arab Students Association for "One Thousand and One Arabian Nights" on Feb. 7 at the Veterans Memorial Building in San Luis Obispo. Plans for the evening include shish kabab, native and folk dances, and other entertainment. Dinner begins at 6:30 p.m. and the entertainment at 8 p.m. Tickets for the dinner and show are $3.50 each. Cost of the show only will be $2.00. Tickets may be purchased at the Foreign Students Office, Adm-217A.

PERSONNEL REPORT COPIES AVAILABLE ON CAMPUS

Several copies of the Seventh Annual Report to the Governor and the Legislature on Personnel Matters have been received on campus and are being made available to members of the faculty and staff who wish to peruse them. The report on California State Colleges personnel matters is prepared annually by members of the CSC chancellor's staff in accordance with the Sec. 24201.1 of the Education Code. A copy has been forwarded to the college's Academic and Staff Senates via their chairmen and a third is being placed in the college library. Yet another copy of the report is available in the Personnel Office, Adm-111, for use by members of the faculty and staff who may not have access to any of the others.

Typewritten copy intended for the next issue of Cal Poly Report must be received prior to 12 noon Friday, Jan. 30, in the Office of Information Services, Adm-210.
