EXTENSION OF CAL POLY ACCREDITATION ANNOUNCED BY W A S C COMMISSION

Reaccreditation of Cal Poly instructional programs through June 30, 1975, has been announced by the Accrediting Commission for Senior Colleges and Universities of the Western Association of Schools and Colleges. Word of the commission's action was received by Cal Poly President Robert E. Kennedy from Kay J. Andersen, executive secretary of the WASC group.

The action was based on the recommendation of an accrediting survey team composed of academic and administrative faculty members from other colleges and universities. That group spent several days on the Cal Poly campus last November.

First approved by the Northwest Association of Schools and Colleges, predecessor to WASC, in 1949, Cal Poly programs have been regularly reaccredited since that time. The standard term of accreditation is five years. Covered in the extended accreditation of Cal Poly by the WASC commission are all of the college's instructional and degree programs.

The Western Association of Schools and Colleges is the official regional accrediting agency for both public and private colleges, universities, community colleges, and secondary schools in California, Hawaii, and Guam. Some 190 colleges, universities, and community colleges are presently accredited by WASC.

"MARAT/SADE" WILL OPEN THURSDAY, BOASTS OWN ORCHESTRA

Music accented by song and dance will be on the program when the Speech Department presents its production of Peter Weiss' play, Marat/Sade. The play is slated to open a five-night run Thursday (Feb. 12) evening in the Cal Poly Theater.

The action of the play takes place in the asylum of Charenton and revolves around a play performed by the inmates. The music is provided by a self-conducted orchestra of inmates playing flute, guitar, electric organ, drums, and a tuba.

Stuart A. Sutton (Speech Department) is directing the production with one of the largest casts of any play performed at the college. Forty-six members of the college faculty and student body, headed by J. Murray Smith (Speech Department) who will play the lead role, are in the cast.

Marat/Sade will also have one of the longest runs in the history of Cal Poly plays. After opening on Thursday, additional performances will be given this Friday and Saturday (Feb. 13-14) evenings and Feb. 20-21, all beginning at 8:30 p.m., in the Cal Poly Theater. Tickets priced at $1.50 for adults and $1 for students will be sold at the theater box office prior to curtain time each evening.
"SUCCESS THE HARD WAY" IS AL CAPP STORY

Al Capp, who will address a campus audience beginning at 8 p.m., Feb. 20, in the Men's Gymnasium, is a man who made his success the hard way. For over 30 years, millions of Americans have shared their morning cup of coffee with "Li'l Abner," the cartoon creation of Capp. But that came after several years of disappointment for the now well-known cartoonist and social critic.

Born in New Haven, Conn., Capp grew up amid a hard struggle with poverty. He was thrown out of three art schools for non-payment of tuition, lived in Greenwich Village turning out advertising strips for $2 apiece, and searched the city for jobs.

The Associated Press finally agreed to pay him $50 a week to draw one of its stock cartoons. But Capp wasn't the assistant type kid. He soon fell out with the management and sold his first "Li'l Abner" strip to United Features Syndicate for $50 a week. It was an almost instantaneous success. By 1941, "Li'l Abner" was running in 400 newspapers, and Capp was making $2000 a week.

Tickets for the Feb. 20 program, being sponsored by the College Program Board Speakers Forum Committee of the Associated Students, Inc., are $1 for students and $2 for the general public. They will go on sale this week in the Temporary College Union Building and at Brown's Music Store in downtown San Luis Obispo.

TWO NEW ADMINISTRATIVE BULLETINS ISSUED BY PRESIDENT KENNEDY

Two new administrative bulletins -- one dealing with enrollment quotas and the other with disciplinary action procedures for faculty -- were signed by President Robert E. Kennedy Feb. 1, and are presently being distributed for inclusion in all existing copies of the College Administrative Manual.

Titled "Disciplinary Action Procedures for Academic Personnel," AB 70-1, was developed by the Personnel Policies Committee of the Academic Senate and endorsed by the full Academic Senate of the college. Review of the procedures by the legal staff of the California State Colleges resulted in revisions that brought the final statement into conformance with minimum standards established by Trustees of CSC prior to Dr. Kennedy's final approval.

The president's approval of AB 70-2, titled "Policy and Procedures for Enrollment Quotas," followed review and endorsement of the President's Council and other administrative officers directly concerned with such matters. He authorized its use for the present enrollment cycle on an interim basis and asked for a review by Feb. 1, 1971, prior to its application to later enrollment cycles.

DEADLINE FOR OVERSEAS TRAVEL GRANTS IS MARCH 1

March 1 is the deadline for submission of applications for Special Overseas Travel Grants for faculty of the college. Application forms and other information are available in the International Education office, Adm-133, 546-2147. The travel grant program is described in Administrative Bulletin 69-3.

INCREASED USE OF INSTRUCTIONAL FACILITIES IN STORE FOR CAL POLY

More evening classes and a higher level of classroom utilization are in store for Cal Poly. New schedules are expected to result from a statewide program of increased utilization of facilities.

Douglas Gerard (Executive Dean) said the use of lecture classroom facilities already in excess of the previous standard, will increase even further during the 1970 academic year to meet the new standards. A 30 percent increase in utilization has been proposed by the Chancellor's Office of the California State Colleges and is incorporated in a report to the Coordinating Council for Higher Education. Legislative Analyst Alan Post had recommended an increase of approximately 53 percent in utilization.

Gerard said the college will be forced to schedule more classes in the late afternoon and evening periods and on Saturday mornings, as well as to be sure that large classrooms especially are scheduled for classes that fully utilize available seats. Academic departments are being asked to schedule classes throughout the 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. time period. The additional evening classes will be necessary whenever increased utilization cannot be provided by more efficient scheduling or more frequent scheduling of available classrooms.

Gerard noted that the prospect for additional lecture classroom space at Cal Poly is very slight. From 1967 through 1969, during a recently completed building cycle, a total of 17 lecture classrooms were added to the college's facilities. No additional classrooms are scheduled to be available on the campus until 1972, Gerard said.

He noted that the new utilization standards do not affect the lab utilization, which is already extremely high throughout the college, particularly in sciences, engineering, and architecture.

SENIORS SEEK IDEAS FOR CLASS GIFT TO COLLEGE

Suggestions for the 1970 Senior Class gift to be presented to Cal Poly during Senior Week activities in June are being sought by the Senior Activities Committee. Members of the college faculty and staff who have ideas for what they believe would be an appropriate gift are invited to send them to either Don Blazej, chairman of the student committee, c/o Box 40, Temporary College Union Building, or Bob Timone (Assistant to the Dean of Students), who is advisor to the group, by April 1. The committee hopes to have a sizeable number of alternatives to consider.

VALENTINE FLOWER SALE IN PROGRESS AT O H UNIT

Funds from a Valentine flower sale will help send a Cal Poly flower judging team to Virginia Polytechnic Institute in Blacksburg, Va. The Ornamental Horticulture Club is offering for sale Valentine decorated foliage, blooming hyacinths, daffodils and cinerara and special Valentine arrangements. There will be a special offer of cut daffodils at 75 cents per dozen. Faculty, staff, and students may purchase the Valentine flowers and arrangements at the Ornamental Horticulture Unit on Campus Way near the Horse Unit anytime between 1 and 5 p.m. through Friday of this week and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday.
CAL POLY STUDENTS COMPLETE JOB OPPORTUNITY STUDY

High school students and graduates in the Central Coast area of California are getting a boost in their efforts to locate employment from a group of graduate students at Cal Poly. The college students have located nearly 1,500 positions being filled by persons without college training during a survey of San Luis Obispo County and northern Santa Barbara County. Some of the positions are currently vacant, the students reported.

Results of the study, conducted by members of a class in occupational, educational, and community information offered by Cal Poly's Education Department, were announced this week by Dr. Harry Scales who teaches the course.

The 1,477 positions located by the survey were primarily in clerical and sales, services, processing, and machine trades fields, according to Dr. Scales. Most commonly listed by the employers interviewed by the college students were nursing aid, housekeeper, hospital attendant, and diet assistant positions. Although a total of 43 businesses, industries, and governmental agencies were visited, the largest number of potential jobs were located at County General Hospital, California Division of Highways, Madonna Inn, and Western Greyhound Lines, all in San Luis Obispo, and at Atascadero State Hospital.

Dr. Scales, who has been a member of the Cal Poly faculty since 1958, said the purpose of the study was twofold. It was intended to develop information that will aid high school counselors throughout the Central Coast area in their efforts to help high school students to locate full-time employment.

The study was also designed to provide the Cal Poly students, all future counselors, with experience in the sort of survey and evaluation they will be faced with after their graduation.

"Stick-to-it-iveness" Important to Employers

A recognized authority on problems of high school dropouts, Dr. Scales said the study indicates a preference on the part of employers for high school graduates over students who have not completed their secondary studies. This is because the employers value rather highly the "stick-to-it-iveness" demonstrated by completion of requirements for a diploma. The Cal Poly educator also said the results reveal that there are a number of available jobs in which personal characteristics of the applicant play a significant role in the final decision on his employment. He identified such traits as reliability, honesty, and industry as being important in this regard.

Dr. Scales, who is also a vocational consultant for the Federal Social Security Administration's Bureau of Hearings and Appeals, said results of the college students' survey should help encourage young people to complete their high school studies. "Although there does appear to be a sizeable number of job opportunities for persons who do not complete their study, there is a decided advantage for those who have both occupational skills and a high school diploma," he continued.

Detailed results of the Cal Poly students' study will be available through the counseling staffs of high schools throughout San Luis Obispo and northern Santa Barbara Counties about April 1.

Typewritten copy intended for the next issue of Cal Poly Report must be received prior to 12 noon Friday, Feb. 13, in the Office of Information Services, Adm-210.

SHAKESPEARE EXHIBIT PRESENTLY IN LIBRARY FOYER

One of the world's most significant collections of research materials on William Shakespeare is presently being exhibited on campus. The traveling exhibit from the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington, D.C. will be on display in the foyer of Dexter Library through Feb. 23. It will be available for viewing by the public without charge from 8 a.m. until 10 p.m., Monday through Thursday; 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., Friday and Saturday; and 1 p.m. until 10 p.m., Sunday.

Included in the exhibit are an early London playbill with G. F. Cook as Richard III and Dighton's colored etching of Cook; a collotype copy of Visscher's View of London (1916); and prints, books, and photographs of Shakespearean subjects. Also on view will be a model of London's Globe Theater, which was constructed by a student and presented to the campus Library several years ago.

The Folger Shakespeare Library owns the world's largest collection of research materials on William Shakespeare and is one of the finest collections in the Western Hemisphere for the study of British civilization of the 16th and 17th centuries. The exhibit presently on campus is the only one traveling in California this year.

RESIGNATION ANNOUNCED BY PRESIDENT OF SONOMA STATE COLLEGE

Sonoma State College President Ambrose R. Nichols, Jr., last week (Feb. 2) announced his resignation from those duties and his intention to return in September to teaching as a member of that college's Chemistry Department faculty. Dr. Nichols became president of SSC in 1961 after having been on the faculty of San Diego State College since 1939. Information regarding the specific date of his termination as president of the college and arrangements for selecting a successor was not available at this writing.

ANNUAL P E R S REPORTS AVAILABLE ON CAMPUS

The Personnel Office has received the annual reports of the Public Employees Retirement System. These include the annual report to Governor Ronald Reagan and the legislature relative to the 1969 operation of PERS and the complete 38th Annual Financial Report and Report of Operation of the Board of Administration of PERS. Both reports are available to be reviewed in the Personnel Office, Adm-111.

Typewritten copy intended for the next issue of Cal Poly Report must be received prior to 12 noon, Friday, Feb. 13, in the Office of Information Services, Adm-210.
HEALEY NAMED "OUTSTANDING" BY STATE'S NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS

John R. Healey (head of the Journalism Department) is one of three persons who were honored Saturday (Feb. 7) by the California Newspaper Publishers Association for their outstanding contributions as teachers of journalism. Healey, who joined the Cal Poly faculty in 1947, received a plaque recognizing his selection by CNPA as the outstanding college and university journalism teacher in the state during the statewide publishers group's 82nd annual convention in Los Angeles.

Also honored were Ray Canton of Santa Barbara and Clovis L. Hill of Lemon Grove. Canton, a member of the Santa Barbara City College faculty, was named the outstanding junior college teacher, and Clovis, who teaches at Helix High School, the outstanding high school teacher. All three were guests of CNPA during the convention, which featured addresses by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Governor Ronald Reagan. The sessions took place at the Century Plaza Hotel.

The state's three top journalism teachers were selected under a program established by the newspaper publishers Journalism Education Committee headed by Tom R. Hennion, editor of the Tulare Advance-Register.

Healey, who became head of the Cal Poly department in 1967, was nominated for the honor by Richard E. Blanckeneburg, Jr., editor of the Arroyo Grande Herald-Recorder. Prior to that time he had been advisor to Mustang Daily, the newspaper published by students of the college. Earlier Healey, a graduate of both San Jose State College and University of California at Los Angeles, had been a reporter and editor for the Modesto Bee, Sacramento Union, and San Jose News.

WORKSHOPS, CONFERENCES FEATURED IN NEW "CAL POLY TODAY"

The February issue of Cal Poly Today focuses attention on the major role played by Cal Poly in aiding adult education advancement through workshops and conferences. Presently being mailed, the issue also points up the broadening educational experiences regularly enrolled students obtain through a varied co-curricular program.

J. Dan Lawson (Acting Dean of Students) says, "Cast your eye on the co-curriculum and you'll see college student development at its very best." More than 100 student clubs provide the vehicle for the co-curricular program at Cal Poly. They support the instructional program and specialized interests and hobbies of the students.

Cal Poly Today also points out that "six or seven thousand persons who never become regular students at Cal Poly will utilize college educational facilities this year." "They will attend workshops, conferences and other special activities arranged by the off-campus organizations in cooperation with the college."

Recent programs included the American Society of Engineering Education Graphics Division, the 12th annual workshop of the California Association of Refrigeration Service Engineers Society, the County Development Association's conference on the San Luis Obispo County General Plan, and the American Institute of Floral Designers planning meeting.

ENVIRONMENT WILL BE ENGINEERING WEEK FOCAL POINT

"Engineering -- Environmental Design for the '70s" will be the combining theme of the events being planned by Cal Poly engineering and technology students as part of their 1970 Engineering Week observance. Activities of the annual week-long program, which is scheduled Feb. 22-28, are being arranged by the student Engineering and Technology Council.

Already planned are the annual Engineering Week Banquet, Feb. 23, at the Golden Tee Motor Hotel in nearby Morro Bay; public programs on campus the nights of Feb. 24, 25, and 26; and engineering and technical displays throughout the week in the foyer of Dexter Library, also on campus. Included in the series of three campus programs are two lectures and a panel discussion, all relating to the Engineering Week theme.

The observance will actually begin on Thursday (Feb. 12) when Miss Engineering Week, selected by a committee consisting of members of the Cal Poly faculty and student body, will be introduced to students of the School of Engineering and Technology. Glenn Takahashi, a senior from French Camp who is chairman of the sponsoring student group, said she will reign over the week's activities.

The annual campus observance of Engineering Week coincides with the National Engineering Week program sponsored throughout the U.S. by the National Society of Professional Engineers. Members of the Central Coast Chapter of the California Society of Professional Engineers are expected to join the students in several of the local events.

Takahashi, pointing to involvement of environmental design as the theme for the Cal Poly program and the general interest in matters concerning environment, said he hoped the campus interest would spread into the communities located near the college. An agricultural engineering major at Cal Poly, he said the public is invited to take part in all of the on-campus events, which will be presented without an admission charge.

RESEARCH OR CREATIVE ACTIVITY LEAVE APPLICATIONS DUE NEXT MONTH

Faculty members interested in applying for Fall Quarter, 1970, Research or Creative Activity Leaves should submit completed application forms to their department heads by March 13, according to a reminder issued by the Research and Development Office. A total of three leaves will be available for the fall term.

The policies governing these leaves, the criteria established by the College Research Committee in reviewing the applications, and the forms may be obtained from department heads or from the Research and Development Office, Adm-307, 546-2630.

Cal Poly Today is published five times per year through assistance from the Cal Poly Alumni Association as a means of keeping alumni and friends of the college informed. It is not printed at state expense. Copies are available on request from the Office of Information Services, Adm-210, 546-2576.

Other stories in the February issue describe alumni careers as a Pan American World Airways senior engineer, as superintendent of Yellowstone National Park, and as head gardener for the approaches to the Golden Gate Bridge.
Marcus Gold (Audio Visual Department) was among 32 persons invited to participate in an Educational Information Center Seminar held during late January in San Francisco. Sponsored by the Systems Development Corporation and the U.S. Office of Education, it was one of eight such programs being held during 1969-70 throughout the nation. Persons from Washington, Oregon, Colorado, Nevada, and California took part in the seminar held in San Francisco.

John A. McKinstry (Social Sciences Department) has been notified by the University of Southern California of completion of all requirements for his Doctor of Philosophy Degree. Dr. McKinstry, whose teaching areas are sociology and anthropology, joined the Cal Poly faculty in 1968 after having been assistant to the dean of men at USC and a high school teacher in the Los Angeles area.

Arthur Duarte (Agricultural Management Department) participated in judging of the California Junior Chamber of Commerce Outstanding Young Farmer Contest last month. He was one of five judges that selected Dean A. Cortopassi of Stockton as the state's most outstanding for the honor during final judging in Porterville Jan. 31. The award was presented that evening during a banquet jointly sponsored by the Bank of America and Porterville Jaycees.

Col. William L. Hastie (Head of Military Science Department) received the U.S. Army Meritorious Service Medal during ceremonies held last month at the Presidio of San Francisco. He received the medal for having distinguished himself while serving as director of the Departments of Nonresident Instruction and Advanced Course at the U.S. Army Intelligence School, Fort Holabird, Md., prior to assuming his duties at Cal Poly last fall. Maj. Gen. John F. Franklin, deputy commanding general of the Sixth U.S. Army, presented the medal.

Members of the Printing Industries of Northern California visited the Printing Technology and Management Department Feb. 4-5. Led by Harry Childs, manager of the industry group, and hosted by Roderick W. Carruthers, head of the department, the group met with students to discuss various phases of their business, toured laboratories of the department, and interviewed students as prospective employees.

An illustrated article by Mrs. Joy Berhell (Reference Librarian) appears in the February 1970 issue of Wilson Library Bulletin, one of the leading library professional publications in the nation. Entitled "Library Display: Art Forms in Nature," it features displays developed by Kay Schneider (Reference Librarian) from materials gathered on campus and at the beach. The article is illustrated with several photographs taken by Boyd Wettlaufer (Audio Visual Photographer).

William R. Troutner (Crops Department) helped conduct a demonstration of orchard heating equipment which reduces air pollution last week for representatives of local area news media and the Citrus and Avocado Growers Committee. Held in the college citrus orchard located near Mustang Stadium, the demonstration was intended to show the operation of heaters meeting the requirements of a proposed San Luis Obispo County ordinance aimed at reducing air pollution.

Roger Vnostroza and Gregory Welker, both seniors majoring in printing technology and management, were featured in an illustrated article which appeared in a recent issue of the California Publisher, official magazine of the California Newspaper Publishers Association. They have been selected by that organization's Personnel Recruitment, Education, and Scholarship Committee as recipients of the John B. Long Memorial Printing Scholarships.
DEADLINES FOR FEDERAL PROGRAMS LISTED BY RESEARCH, DEVELOPMENT OFFICE

Deadlines for applications for the grant programs listed below have been announced by the Research and Development Office. Members of the Cal Poly faculty and staff who wish additional information about any of them are invited to contact the Research and Development Office, Adm-307, 546-2630, and refer to the appropriate folder number. All deadlines are 1970.

DATES FOR BUSINESS SEMINAR LISTED BY SPONSORING GROUPS

Plans for the fourth in a series of annual business seminars, during which business and industrial leaders from throughout the nation address Cal Poly students, were announced by the sponsoring organizations last week. Featured during the fourth annual Cal Poly Business-Agricultural-Industrial Seminar, Feb. 19-20, will be panel discussions on a variety of topics concerning management, marketing, and industrial relations.

Expected to join members of the college student body and faculty for the event, according to Michael Luna, a spokesman for the student committee in charge of arrangements, are some 30 business and industrial executives.

Joint sponsors of the seminar are Cal Poly's Society for the Advancement of Management chapter, Agricultural Business Management Club, and Industrial Technology Society. In addition to students of the college's Business Administration, Agricultural Management, and Industrial Technology Departments, whose students are members of the sponsoring student organization, students of the entire Cal Poly student body are being invited to participate in the Feb. 19-20 event.
CARL BECK EXPRESS APPRECIATION FOR CARDS, LETTERS

Carl G. "Gus" Beck, an emeritus member of the college faculty, used a card to express his appreciation for the large number of cards and letters received during January from his many friends on the Cal Poly faculty and staff. Beck, who is recovering from surgery following an illness which occurred while he was visiting a daughter in Blacksburg, Va., and his wife, Muff, addressed their note in care of Cal Poly Report, saying:

"You know there are nice people everywhere -- here in Virginia and especially in San Luis Obispo. We want to thank everyone for the many nice cards with all the kind thoughts and good wishes which have been sent to Gus. He surely looks forward to his favorite sport -- opening and reading his daily mail.

"The operation was on Jan. 20, so now we can say he is recovering nicely and hopes to be released before long -- then we will be homeward bound. What adventures we do have?

Sincerely,

/s/ Gus and Muff Beck"

BASKETBALL REUNION PLANNED FOR SATURDAY

Members of Cal Poly's varsity basketball teams during the 1947-1960 era are scheduled to gather on campus Saturday (Feb. 14) evening for a reunion, according to Edward Jorgensen (Physical Education Department) who directed the Mustangs' cage fortunes during those years. They will take part in a no-host dinner in the Staff Dining Room starting at 5 p.m., and then attend Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, vs. Cal Poly, Pomona, game later in the evening in Men's Gymnasium.

CAL POLY FACULTY MEMBER WILL BE MEMBER OF CUESTA SEMINAR PANEL

Richard J. Krejza (Biological Sciences Department) will be one of five panelists who will discuss San Luis Obispo County environmental problems following an address by Norman K. Sanders of the University of California at Santa Barbara during a public program Feb. 25 at Cuesta College. Other members of the panel will be Ian McMillan, ...
VARSITY SPORTS TWINSBILLS TOP CAMPUS SPORT CALENDAR

A pair of varsity sports doubleheaders featuring Cal Poly's varsity basketball and wrestling teams against a lineup of some of the toughest competition available is at the top of the campus sports calendar for this week. They will take place Friday and Saturday (Feb. 13-14) evenings in Men's Gymnasium with Coach Neale Stoner's Mustang cagers opening the program at 7 p.m. Coach Vaughan Hitchcock's matmen will perform both nights immediately following the basketball action.

Opponents for the Mustang cage varsity will be University of California at Riverside on Friday and Cal Poly, Pomona, on Saturday. They are tied for first place in current California Collegiate Athletic Association standings and are formidable roadblocks to any hopes of a Cal Poly championship in the CCAA this year. The Mustang roundballers split a pair of non-league contests on the road last week and now own a 12-8 won-lost record for the season. They need but one more victory this season to chalk up the most wins recorded by a Cal Poly cage team in any season since 1961-62 when the Mustang varsity won 16.

Cal Poly's matmen hope to use this weekend's matches to rebound from what proved to be a disastrous road trip in the Pacific Northwest last weekend. They host Southern Illinois University in Friday evening's windup and Brigham Young University the following night. The Mustang grapplers are now 12-6 for the 1969-70 season after dropping 4 of 6 matches in a period of five days on the road last week. They are scheduled to meet University of California at Berkeley in a road match this (Tuesday, Feb. 10) evening.

Both of the varsity sports twinbills will be preceded by preliminary basketball games featuring Cal Poly's freshman basketballers. The Colts will host the UC Riverside freshmen, Friday, and the Cal Poly, Pomona, yearlings the following day. Both preliminary contests are scheduled for 4:45 p.m. tipoffs. The Colts are scheduled to host West Hills College of Coalinga in a 7:30 p.m. game this (Feb. 10) evening in Men's Gym.

Other sports action on campus this week will find Head Coach Augie Garrido's 1970 Mustang baseball varsity opening its home season. The Cal Poly nine will be looking for its first win of the season when it hosts University of California at Santa Barbara in a single game billed for 2:30 p.m., Friday, on the Baseball Diamond located near Poly Grove. The Mustangs opened their season last weekend when they dropped three games in the Los Angeles area. They were beaten 7-3 by California State College at Los Angeles and 6-5 and 3-2 in a pair of contests with University of Southern California.

Also scheduled this week are home season openers for Cal Poly's varsity swimming and tennis teams. Coach Dick Anderson's mermen host UC Santa Barbara in a meet slated for 3 p.m., Friday, and UC Riverside, at 11 a.m., the following day, both in the pool adjacent to Men's Gym. Coach Ed Jorgensen's netmen will meet Pepperdine College's tennis team in a match scheduled for 10:30 a.m., Saturday, on the courts near the Men's Gym.
