March will be launched with a drum roll this year when the campus band gets together for a little concert in a big way. As part of the University's College Hour Concert series, the Music College's Band will give a free, hour-long concert Thursday at 11 a.m. in the campus Auditorium. Victor Percussion Ensemble's "Paganini and John Philip Sousa's "El Capitan" will be among the numbers featured. The program will also include performances from the university's Studio Band, the Percussion Ensemble, the Saxophone Ensemble, and the Clarinet Quartet.

The following evening will highlight the Symphony Band in its seventh annual Winter Concert. The Percussion Ensemble, the Clarinet Quartet, and the Studio Band will also perform. The concert is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. in Chumash Auditorium. A wide variety of music will be offered at the Winter Concert ranging from Alfred Reed's "The Music Makers" to the "Toe Tap" of Richard Firth. Tickets for the March 1 concert are available at Brown's Music Store, Premier Music Company, Ogden Stationers, and the Union Information desk. They will also be sold by band members and at the door on performance night.

According to Conductor William V. Johnson, members of both the Symphonic and Concert Bands are selected from the larger Marching Band after football season to concentrate on traditional orchestral transcriptions and works for the modern wind band. The Percussion Ensemble and Clarinet Quartet are selected from the Symphonic Band. The percussion group has eight members on all kinds of percussion instruments, while the top four clarinetists of the 18 of the Symphonic Band make up the Clarinet Quartet.

Lasting peace in 'nam shaky

PARIS (UPI) - The world's great powers sat down with the warring parties of Vietnam Monday to try to achieve a lasting peace in Indochina. The Viet Cong immediately charged the U.S. and South Vietnam with sabotaging the cease-fire, and Canada threatened to withdraw as one of the peace-keeping nations. Rogers and Chi smiled and chatted under crystal chandeliers in a salon rich with gilt, red brocaded draperies and 18th century tapestries. Rogers said later he was satisfied with the conference and that he anticipated no problems. "I think it all can be worked out by the end of the week," he said.

The meeting, which lasted for two hours and 30 minutes, generally was marked by restraint on the part of the major powers. Diplomats said this was partly because none wanted to commit itself to direct action should the Vietnam cease-fire completely break down.

The 18-party International Conference on Vietnam, provided for in the Vietnam peace settlement to give international guarantee, to the agreement, held its first meeting in the ornate Hotel Majestic, where the accord was signed a month earlier.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers said he forebode the hopes of the United States, telling delegates "our common goals and aspirations motivate us to concentrate on a single objective—peace."

But Rogers said the conference can guarantee peace in Vietnam without "elaborate machinery," possibly by establishing apparatus for reconvening the 18-parties in the event at least six peace talks have failed.

Rogers and China's foreign minister, Chi Peng-Pai, met for the second time this week at a meeting given by Foreign Minister Maurice Schuman at the foreign ministry on the banks of the Seine River.

Art highlights festival

An exhibit illustrating the inventive genius and foresight of that magnificent man who out of the flying machine will be part of a 36-day festival at this university next month. The festival, entitled "Leonardo and His World," will commemorate the works and contributions of Leonardo da Vinci. It will open March 1 and run to April 16 under the sponsorship of the School of Communication Arts and Humanities.

According to Dr. Jon Erlichson, dean of Communication Arts and Humanities, the festival will include lectures, motion pictures and presentations relating the importance of the famed 16th Century artist-scientist's work to contemporary times.

The exhibit of da Vinci models, on loan from the Department of Arts and Sciences of International Business Machines Corporation, includes 21 models built from his scientific and technical drawings. Among the models are a paddle-wheel ship, an idea never developed until the advent of steam power in the 19th Century; a theoretical gear system that produced three speeds of rotation; and a device for lifting the tensile strength of wire.

The health progress of each hospitalized POW is checked each day as demonstrated here by war returns Lieut. Cmdr. John B. McKamery at Oakland Naval Hospital. McKamery, a resident of Lemoore, Calif., was shot down in 1968 while on a combat mission over North Vietnam.

Senior lists

A preliminary list of students eligible for preferential registration is posted in the foyer of the library. This list includes students who completed 136 units at the end of fall quarter or have previously enrolled in 461 senior project courses. This list also includes graduate students.

Students should report any omission to the Registrar's office, Ad. 129, before March 8, 1979, according to Gerald Partridge.
If someone had come along and offered a plan to build a new stadium for the ASI at the low, low price of $400, everyone would have said it was a great idea but not really feasible.

If someone had offered to design and institute a system that would clear the campus of snarled traffic, everyone would have smiled at a dream that could hardly come true.

But when Skip Kelley came along early last year, offering to create a computerized index of all the regulations affecting student government and at a reasonable cost—well, nobody talked about whether it was feasible or not. Everybody smiled, said it was a great idea, and kept on smiling right through quarter after quarter of delay.

Almost any amount of money would be pretty reasonable for a system that would tell what is and is not possible in student government—but the system is not working. Promised deadlines after promised deadlines have passed—the latest estimate is that Kelley is that the project should be finished by the end of Spring Quarter. But we've heard that story before.

Mustang Dally has tried to ascertain why Catch 22 isn't complete after a year and a half of work. But after producing two stories and closely following accusations and counter-accusations, we seem no closer to the truth.

Kelley says he does not view the delays as part of an administrative plot to sink his ship. But he must blame the administration, at least in part, for he has composed a list of 10 documents that he needs and has not been able to obtain from the university.

Enter ASI Pres. Robin Baggett. He says that all the documents are available, even one that Kelley claims does not exist—an index of serial letters from the Student Affairs section of the Chancellor's Office.

Kelley says bitterly that he cannot get people to talk to him—Baggett has cancelled two meetings with him. And Kennedy will not talk to him on the phone. Baggett says, in fact, Kelley cancelled a meeting with him and has his secretary's note to prove it.

If all this sounds uninteresting, it is. And it is just the sort of petty detail one suspects that has kept Catch 22 from completion. Or perhaps Catch 22 is an impossible task of manageable dimensions.

Whatever the answer, the Student Affairs Council better be prepared with perceptive questions the next time Catch 22 comes up for debate. Even without an index to the documents, the fact that the project is not complete after a year and a half of work is a major issue.

In reply to Mr. Duari's letter that appeared in the Friday, Feb. 23 issue of the Mustang Dally, we were appalled at his antiquated view of how university life should be.

Instead of being impressed by air conditioned rooms, carpeted floors and new mattresses, we are more concerned with our basic rights as adults. We feel that the responsibilities of shaping our own lifestyles should be left up to us without restrictions. Therefore we feel that dorm reform is not over-emphasized or that a few simple events at Poly Royal is too great a price to pay for the long overdue rights of dorm residents.

As to Mr. Duari's view that we should be so thankful to the university for allowing us to attend, that we should not protest any of its policies, it is apparent that he believes that the university is not here to serve us, but we are here to serve the university.

If Cal Poly's purpose is to educate us so we may enjoy a fuller adult life, the administration would not run our living quarters like an elementary school day camp.

Students are 'appalled' at outdated dorm rules

Battles go on

VIENTIANE (UPI) — Negotiations between Communist and government officials to set up a coalition government failed to start on schedule Monday and fighting continued throughout the country on the fifth day of an official ceasefire.

In Washington, the United States threatened that U.S. air attacks would be resumed if the Communist Pathet Lao continued to violate the ceasefire.

Government sources reported the Pathet Lao delegation began haggling about the places the meetings of the Joint Commission should be held. They said at one point Ngon angrily shouted at them and accused them of using delaying tactics.

Laotian military sources reported the government Sunday took back a village lost to the Communists Friday after the cease-fire went into effect. They identified the village as Ban Fokheh, 33 miles west-northwest of Vientiane.

Government figures showed military activity leveling to about 20 Communist violations each day since the cease-fire went into effect last Thursday. The government has reported a total of 88 Communist violations to date.

The university's Health Center is sponsoring its second annual photo contest following the successful contest of last year.

This year's contest will expand to include two categories of entries: black and white prints and color slides.

The theme of the contest and of all entries will be "Health and Health Education" in its broad ramifications as related to the Health Center and or campus.

Winners will be announced during Poly Royal and all entries will be on display during that time. All printed prints will be retained as property of the Health Center to be used in displays of Health Education.

"Last year the people at the Health Center decided to sponsor some kind of activity so we could participate actively during Poly Royal and in this way become a more involved organ of the University," said David Graham, director of student health services.

"We had a lot of fun with the contest last year," said Graham, "and hopefully this year's contest will be even better. Anyone who wishes to take pictures inside the Health Center is welcome to come in and we'll help as much as possible."

All entries for the contest must be submitted to David Graham no later than 6 p.m. Friday, April 13.

There will be three prizes given in each category: first, $50; second, $10; third, $5. The judges' choices will be final.

Hitchcock to be placed in Helms Hall of Fame

Vaughn Hitchcock Mustang wrestling coach the past 11 years, has been cited as one of five new inductees into the United States Helms Hall of Fame Wrestling Hall of Fame.

The announcement was made in Los Angeles last week by the board of the inducting agency. Wrestlers of note Richard Haugman and Joe Scarpello were selected as well as noteworthy contributors Dr. William Tomaras and William Farrell. Tomaras was Hitchcock's collegiate wrestling coach at Washington State.

Hitchcock's wrestling team has emerged as the dominant school in California wrestling and has finished in the national top 10 for the past five years. The Mustangs have won their last two California school in 11 seasons under the 25-year-old coach. The string is now 118 straight including 15 rivals this season.

The Mustangs have logged their third consecutive season in the past four years. Facing what ranks as one of the toughest, if not the hardest schedule in the nation, the Mustangs of Coach Hitchcock have compiled a dual meet record of 108 wins, 94 losses and two ties for a winning percentage of .569. They have averaged scoring 38.3 points per meet and totaled 3,276 points while limiting opponents to 1,768 for an average of 66 points.

Jog-In planned

If you are an early riser, you are invited to join in the third "Jog-In," of the quarter set for Wednesday at 7 a.m. Starting location for the two and one-half mile run is at the old track. Participants are asked to meet at the old track at 6:45 a.m. for sign up. The run is a sprinting for participation only, not for competition. All who do run will receive a certificate verifying participation. Awards, however, will be given to the first three men and the first three women finishers.

At least 100 students will be running, according to Miss Kathy Warner, who is assisting with the "Jog-In." She added that the public is invited to join students since many do jog early in the morning.
