FASHION, TALENT SHOWS WILL BE INTERNATIONAL WEEK FEATURES

The sounds and sights of Asia, Africa, and Latin America will prevail on campus during International Week festivities to be held between Wednesday (Jan. 20) and Friday and Saturday (Jan. 22-23). The ceremonial, traditional, and contemporary garb of 10 nations will be displayed in a fashion show on Wednesday -- the music and dances of 11 cultures will be incorporated into the talent show to be held on Friday and Saturday.

All programs are open to the public. The fashion show will be held in the Staff Dining Room at 8 p.m. on Wednesday. Admission will be free. The talent show will be performed at 8 o'clock on Friday and Saturday nights in the Cal Poly Theater. General admission tickets will be $1.50 for adults; 75 cents, students; 50 cents, children under 12.

A Sherwani coat, the formal dress for Pakistan, and traditional dress from each of the outlying provinces will be one feature of the show. There will be Nehru coats and ceremonial and everyday Saris from India and ceremonial and everyday Kimonos from Japan. Music native to the land will provide the background as each culture shows off its fashions.

Peter Kiruthi of Kenya, Africa, talent show chairman, says dancing, singing, and instrumental music from Africa, China, Hawaii, India, Iran, Japan, Korea, Mexico, Pakistan, Tahiti, and Vietnam are scheduled for the talent show.

Abdul Hafiz Afif Baalbaki of Lebanon, president of the International Students Council, is coordinator of the International Week observance.

PARKING FEE INCREASE PROPOSED, WITHDRAWN

A proposal for an increase in parking fees has been withdrawn from further consideration by the Chancellor's Office, according to word received at the college.

The proposal was issued early in December by D. Dale Hanner, vice chancellor for business affairs, and distributed to executive deans, deans of students, business managers, and student presidents at the colleges, in addition to the state college presidents to whom it was addressed.

The proposal would have increased quarterly parking fees from $9 to $14. The announcement that the proposed fee increase was being withdrawn from consideration followed a meeting of the Chancellor's Council of State College Presidents.

Opposition to the proposal by Cal Poly President Robert E. Kennedy was revealed in a letter published in the Mustang Daily last Wednesday. The letter, sent to Robert C. Kramer, president of Cal Poly, Pomona, and chairman of the council, declared that Kennedy was "unalterably opposed" to any increase in the parking fee.

FACULTY APPOINTMENT, REAPPOINTMENT, TENURE, PROMOTION PROCEDURES READIED BY COMMITTEE

The Personnel Policies Committee of the Academic Senate has completed the draft document on the proposed consultative procedures for appointment, reappointment, tenure, and promotion of faculty and copies have been distributed to members of the Academic Senate this week, according to Howard Rhoads (Crops Science Department).

Rhoads, who is chairman of the Personnel Policies Committee, said instructional deans have been asked to make copies of the proposed procedures available to interested members of the faculty through their department heads.

Members of the committee will hear suggestions and discussion of the proposed procedures from interested persons at two open meetings being planned for that purpose. Tentatively, the meetings are scheduled for next Monday (Jan. 25), at 7:30 p.m., and Tuesday (Jan. 26) at 2:45 p.m., both in the Staff Dining Room. Persons unable to attend either meeting are encouraged to transmit written comments to Rhoads.

The Personnel Policies Committee chairman indicated that a final draft of the consultative procedures will, hopefully, be considered as a business item at the February meeting of the Academic Senate.

The Speaker's Night, open to the public, is sponsored by the student council of the School of Agriculture and Natural Resources on behalf of the more than 2,000 students enrolled in that school.

Among reasons included in the president's letter were the need for alternative transportation services to end the "strangle hold that the automobile has on our society" and the need to recognize the discrimination practiced against employees of the college in small communities where other state employees are not charged for parking.

CHANGES IN DEPARTMENT HEAD ASSIGNMENTS ANNOUNCED

Several new appointments affecting members of the Cal Poly faculty have become effective since Jan. 1, according to information received last week from the office of President Robert E. Kennedy.

Appointed as heads of instructional departments of the college were James T. Culbertson, Philosophy Department; John J. Kane, Mechanical Engineering Department; and Mary Lou White, Women's Physical Education Department. Named acting heads of instructional departments were Robert A. Christiansen, Child Development Department, and Robert H. Frost, Physics Department.

President Kennedy said all five of those involved in the changes were assigned to their new duties from other positions on the college faculty. He said Dr. Christiansen and Dr. Frost will both serve while searches are being conducted for new department heads. All but Dr. Culbertson began their new assignments with start of Winter Quarter classes. His appointment was announced last week and became effective immediately.

Dr. Culbertson is assuming his new post after having been acting head of the Philosophy Department since it was established as a separate department last July. Courses offered by the department were formerly provided by the Computer Science and Statistics Department, and before that, by the Mathematics Department.

Prior to joining the Cal Poly faculty in 1953, Dr. Culbertson served on the faculties of Cumberland University in Tennessee, Southwestern University in Texas, and University of Southern California. A graduate of Yale University, where he earned his bachelor's and doctor's degrees, he served in research capacities at Yale, University of Chicago, and University of California at Los Angeles, and with the Rand Corporation.

Dr. Kane succeeds Leon F. Osteyee, who had been head of the Mechanical Engineering Department since 1960. Osteyee, who joined the college faculty in 1957, asked to be returned to full-time teaching duties in the Mechanical Engineering Department.

Dr. Kane, who formerly taught at both University of Pittsburgh and University of Southern California, was an engineer for Westinghouse Electric Corporation in Pittsburgh, Pa., and Aerospace Corporation in San Bernardino before moving to Cal Poly. He is a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy and University of Pittsburgh, where he earned his master's and doctor's degrees.

Miss White became head of the Women's Physical Education Department after having been its acting head since the former Physical Education Department was separated to form a Men's Physical Education Department and a Women's Physical Education Department in mid-1970.

A graduate of both Oregon State University and Washington State University, where she completed her master's degree study, Miss White formerly taught at St. Helen's High School in Oregon and Clark College in Vancouver, Wash. She has been a member of the Cal Poly faculty since 1961.

Dr. Frost replaces Dr. Woodford E. Bowls, who asked to return to full-time teaching duties on the Physics Department faculty after having been instrumental in development and operation of natural sciences programs at the college since 1937.

FLOWER ARRANGERS CAN GET POINTERS

A 10-week non-credit short course in flower arranging is available at Cal Poly each Wednesday evening of the Winter Quarter. The special program is being offered by the Ornamental Horticulture Department under the guidance of Robert Gordon of its faculty. Scheduled for 7:30 p.m., the classes are being held at the Ornamental Horticulture Unit on Campus Way near the Horse Unit.

A $25 fee payable to the Cal Poly Foundation covers costs for the course which will include instruction in basic floral design, utilizing cut flowers and local garden materials, arrangements with accessories, and creation of centerpieces. Students will provide their own flowers, garden materials, and accessories. Materials are available at cost at the OH Unit.

Further information about the short course can be obtained by contacting Gordon, 546-2270, Erhart Ag-220.

"AMERICA HURRAH" PERFORMANCES SLATED JAN. 28, 29, 30

Take one large stage, provide theater-in-the-round seating for about 150 persons, add the College Program Board Drama Committee, and the result is an ideal setting for America Hurrah, which will be presented in the Cal Poly Theater next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday (Jan. 28, 29 and 30) at 8:30 p.m.

America Hurrah is not just one play, but a series of three unrelated plays satirizing America and Americans. Motel room vandalizing by transient patrons, corporation representatives who pick the minds of young employment hopefuls, and television program ratings all get the treatment.

Jean-Claude Van Itallie's outspoken commentary on contemporary life will be open to students and the general public on all three dates. Tickets will be $1 for college students and $1.50 for all others.

A former member of the University of Missouri faculty, Dr. Frost became a member of the Cal Poly science faculty in 1953. He is a graduate of University of California at Berkeley, where he earned three degrees, including the doctor's degree in physics.

As acting head of the Child Development Department, Dr. Christiansen succeeds Mrs. Marie S. Pfeiffer, who had been involved in development of Cal Poly's bachelor's degree program in child development and head of the department since its formation last year. Dr. Pfeiffer resigned from the college.

Dr. Christiansen, who joined the college faculty last fall, formerly worked for the Utah State Health Department and was a member of the Brigham Young University faculty. A specialist in family relations, he is a graduate of both University of Utah and Brigham Young, where he earned his master's and doctor's degrees.

SANTA BARBARA FIRM SUBMITS LOW BID FOR DINING FACILITY CONSTRUCTION

REMINDER ON USE OF TELEPHONE NETWORK FOR LONG DISTANCE CALLS

A report on the number of telephone calls using regular long distance facilities that could have been made at a cost saving by utilization of ATSS network procedures was the basis for a reminder issued last week by Donald S. Nelson (Director of Business Affairs). He used the report to emphasize the savings that can be realized by use of the network and asked all employees of the college to cooperate in trying to conserve the funds available for that use.

"As we have pointed out in the past, a real problem exists in our communications allocation because our telephone bills are running greatly in excess of the amount budgeted," Nelson said. "By dialing '8' for calls whenever possible, everyone can help. For example, 389 calls placed at a cost of $533.05 by dialing '9' between Sept. 15 and Oct. 1, 1970, could have been completed at a saving of $107 by dialing '8' and then placing the call. During the Oct. 15 to Nov. 15, 1970, period, 299 calls that were placed by dialing '9' at a cost of $457.25 could have been completed at a saving of $94 by dialing '8' and then completing the call.

"We must ask that everyone cooperate in making the maximum saving possible by dialing '8' and using the ATSS network to complete their long-distance calls," the business affairs director added. "If the call is in California, always try that method first, make the conversation as brief as possible, and do not allow your telephone to be used for personal long distance calls."

VARSITY CAGERS WILL HOST SONOMA STATE, WRESTLERS SLATE THREE HOME MATCHES

What must be one of the longest series of road games encountered by a college team in some years will end when Head Coach Neale Stoner's Cal Poly basketball varsity meets Sonoma State College this Saturday (Jan. 23) evening in the Men's Gymnasium. Game time for the contest will be delayed until 9 p.m. so the final matches of the annual Cal Poly High School Invitational Wrestling Tournament, which will take place throughout the day in the same location, can be completed.

Three other featured events on this week's campus sports calendar will see Coach Vaughan Hitchcock's varsity wrestlers in action. The Mustang grapplers are slated to host California State College at Long Beach this (Jan. 19) evening, U. S. International University (formerly California Western University) on Thursday (Jan. 21) evening, and University of California at Los Angeles on Friday (Jan. 22) evening. All three matches will take place in the Men's Gymnasium starting at 8 p.m.

The Mustang cagers, who will meet Fresno State College in Fresno on Friday evening, turned in some of their best performances of the 1970-71 season on the road last week. They bested San Fernando Valley State College (62-49) to move into second place in California Collegiate Athletic Association standings and outdistanced Chapman College 94-88 in a non-conference encounter. They will carry a 6-7 won-lost mark into this weekend's games.

Two crowds totaling nearly 7,000 watched in the Men's Gymnasium as the Cal Poly wrestlers split a pair of dual matches against two of the nation's most highly regarded teams. The Mustangs handed University of Oklahoma, currently ranked fifth among university teams in the country, a 21-9 thumping early in the week and then found themselves on the opposite end of an identical score when they hosted the nation's number one team, Oklahoma State University, on Friday evening.

This office now has details about the 1971 Summer Faculty Fellowships sponsored by the National Space Administration and the American Society for Engineering Education. Encouraging Notes of January 5, 1971, carried a description of the program.

The institutes are being held as far east as the University of Maryland and the Goddard Space Center; as far west as Stanford and the Ames Research Center; and in the south at Auburn and the University of Alabama in connection with the Marshall Space Flight Center. There are a few others in between.

Private Foundations in 1970 made $793 million worth of grants, and the largest amount went to Education. Half of the money given to Education went to higher education.

In the sciences, the action is in earth sciences and oceanography, which got more than half the money granted in the physical sciences. Apart from the medical sciences, environmental studies came in for a large amount in the life sciences.

In the social sciences, business, labor, and law got half the money, and in the humanities, music and museums did quite well.
