Cal Poly Society of Women Engineers Selects Five Outstanding Student Members

SAN LUIS OBISPO -- Cal Poly's Society of Women Engineers, in cooperation with Hewlett-Packard, has chosen five of its members to receive the Outstanding Women in Engineering and Technology award.

Chosen from 29 nominees, the winners are Jennifer Fino, a materials engineering senior from Castro Valley; Laurel Koester, industrial engineering senior, Concord; Tracy Leavens, aerospace engineering senior, Poway; Amanda Runciman, materials engineering senior, Santa Rosa; and Samantha Shelton, industrial engineering senior, Thousand Oaks.

Candidates for the award were ranked using four criteria: faculty recommendations, demonstrated leadership, related work experience and grade point average.

The five honorees received new computer printers, compliments of Hewlett-Packard.
