ASI Events Presents Spring Fashion Show, Raffle May 13

SAN LUIS OBISPO -- ASI Events presents the "Spring into Fashion" show and benefit raffle Thursday, May 13, from 11 a.m. to noon in the University Union Plaza in support of mental health awareness month. The sponsored event is aimed to raise awareness for the community based non-profit organization Transitions Mental Health Association.

Cal Poly students will model spring and summer clothing from Central Coast Surfboards, Uptown Jeans Co., Lucky Lu Lu's, Therapy, aimmemichelle.com, Tiamo, Farm Supply, and El Corral Bookstore. Also, Wild 106.1 will be on sight with a special appearance from DJ Swiss.

The show also includes a raffle offering the chance to win gifts from the sponsoring clothes stores. Raffle tickets will be available starting May 6 in the UU Plaza and El Corral Bookstore for $1 each.

TMHA's mission is to provide housing, employment, case management and advocacy for children, adults and seniors who suffer from mental illness and/or have been homeless in the San Luis Obispo and Santa Barbara Counties.

TMHA also provides support through the recovery process of acceptance, hope and encouragement, a clear understanding of the mental illness, and the tools and confidence to become an advocate while educating others in the community.

For more information about "Spring into Fashion" UU hour, contact Liza Levinson, student supervisor of UU hour, at ASI Events 756-1112 or uuhour@asi.calpoly.edu.
