SPECIAL ALUMNI SUMMER CONFERENCE RATE FOR FACULTY AND STAFF

A special rate for members of the Cal Poly faculty and staff and their spouses who wish to participate in the Alumni Summer Conference, July 7-10, has been arranged by the committee in charge of the event. The cost has been reduced to $25 for each reservation for faculty, staff, and spouses. That amount includes $10 for the conference registration and $15 for Sunday and Monday (July 7-8) dinner; Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday (July 8, 9, 10) luncheons; and six coffee breaks.

As further inducement to participate in the conference, faculty and staff members who wish to purchase only one registration may use it jointly with their spouses. Single registration will not be good for two admissions to the same session, but it may be used for admission of either the registrant or spouse to any session.

Reservations may be made by mailing a check for $25 to Dale W. Andrews, vice president for academic affairs, for each desired. Although reservations will be accepted from faculty and staff members right up to the time of the conference, early receipt of reservation requests will be helpful in planning for the conference and will be appreciated.

Being featured during the Alumni Conference are eight outside speakers including:

Robert Scalapino  "What in the World is Happening?"
Edward P. Morgan  "The U.S. in World Affairs"
Gen. J. Lawton Collins  "The Role of the Military"
Norman Moore  "From Test Tubes to Telescopes"
Jackie Robinson  "Individual Rights in a Changing Society"
Judge Richard Harris  "The Supreme Court and Your Daily Life"
Don Fiester  "Latin America: Tomorrow"
Bernard Hogan  "A Check-less and Cash-less Society?"

Members of the Cal Poly faculty and staff scheduled to address conference sessions are:

Howard West  "Cal Poly Overseas"
Faud H. Tellew  "Africa Tomorrow"
M. Eugene Smith  "Asia Tomorrow"
Peter Molnar  "Europe Tomorrow"
Owen L. Servatius  "The Eric Hoffer Trilogy"
Donald R. Arndt  "The Computer in Action"
Billy W. Mounts  "Molecular Biology and Human Behavior"
Archie Higdon  "The Machine--Servant or Master?"
Joics B. Stone  "The Struggle to Invent"
Ted Barber  "Mobocracy: Riots in the Streets"
Walter E. Rice  "Who Speaks for the Consumer?"
Donald W. Hensel  "The New Left and the New Right."
WILSON APPOINTED ADMINISTRATIVE VICE PRESIDENT

President Robert E. Kennedy concurred in the recommendation of the Faculty-Staff Council Consultative Committee on selection of an administrative vice president and announced today (Tuesday, June 4) the appointment of Harold O. Wilson to that post. Following the procedure established by the council, an eight-man committee was elected in late February and at its first meeting, March 5, elected Everett M. Chandler, dean of students, as its chairman. Other members of the selection committee were George R. Mach, Mathematics Department; Frank P. Thrasher, Crops; Wesley S. Ward, School of Architecture; James R. Landreth, associate director of budgeting and business affairs; Ray Morton, business service officer; James Neal, Cal Poly Foundation; and F. Jerald Holley, registrar.

Vice President Wilson, who has held the position on an "acting" basis since May 2, 1967, has served the college in a number of teaching and administrative positions since 1936, except for a period of five years (1941-46) when he was a supervisor for the state Bureau of Agricultural Education. From 1936-41 he was an instructor of animal husbandry; from 1946 to 1950 he was dean of the Voorhis Campus; from 1950 to 1967 he was executive dean with two-campus duties.

Wilson directed the initial contact leading to Cal Poly's receipt of the Voorhis Campus in 1938. He represented the college in much of the work in securing the public, industry, and legislative support of the application for the Kellogg Campus in 1948-49. He planned, directed, and accomplished much of the work which has led to the San Luis Obispo Campus obtaining approximately 2,400 acres of Camp San Luis Obispo land earlier this year. He headed a survey team in Thailand in the fall of 1966 which resulted in the college signing a five-year contract with the federal government for an AID program in Thailand.

Wilson is currently serving a four-year appointment as a member of the 13-man state Board of Agriculture. His appointment was made by Governor Ronald Reagan following the recommendation of Chancellor of the California State Colleges Glenn S. Dumke. He was on a three-month leave without pay during the spring and summer of 1967, serving on the governor's staff evaluating state legislation and providing technical advice. For five years he served as chairman of a state-wide committee on the development of the health services program for students of the California State Colleges.

Since 1946 Vice President Wilson has served as a director of the Cal Poly Foundation. As executive dean he has been involved directly in the building program at both the Kellogg Campus and the San Luis Obispo Campus. He also has for 20 years carried out liaison responsibilities between Cal Poly and the legislature, various state control agencies, and community groups.

CAMPUS VOTERS APPROVE ACADEMIC SENATE, STAFF SENATE, JOINT ASSEMBLY CONSTITUTION

Voters of the campus community approved the constitution for an Academic Senate, Staff Senate, and Joint Assembly by a vote of 678 to 89. Interim procedure for transition to the new system from the present Faculty-Staff Council is in the hands of the new F-SC officers for 1968-69, headed by Rod Keif of the Environmental Engineering Department who is chairman of that group.

CALL FOR FOREIGN STUDENT HOST FAMILIES

The Host Family Program of the college Foreign Student Office needs families who are willing to share their homes and ideas. Glenn Rich, foreign student counselor, issued a call this week for families interested in participating in the college’s student host program next fall. This spring found 45 new foreign students, most of whom have yet to meet an American family, enrolling. That number should be much larger in September when about 100 new foreign students are expected to begin arriving September 9-10 for orientation and testing.

Goal of the Foreign Student Office is to find families who will entertain one or more students one or two evenings during that first week in strange surroundings. A reception is being planned for September 10 to provide families an opportunity to come on campus to meet the new students. It is hoped that families will invite the new students into their homes for dinner and an evening of hospitality on September 12.

The experience of hosting a foreign student has proven to be a rewarding one for many families in the community and students have expressed their sincere gratitude for the invitations they have received from host families. Opportunities are available for members of the college faculty and staff, as well as residents of nearby communities, to become acquainted with students from other lands through this program.

Telephone calls to the Foreign Student Office, 546-2376, or stopping at the office, which is located in Room 217B of the Administration Building, will bring added information and assist Rich and his staff in their planning for the Fall Quarter.

HOWARD RHOADS HEADS C S E A CHAPTER

Howard Rhoads of the Crops Department faculty heads the slate of officers elected to lead the campus chapter of the California State Employees Association during the 1968-69 year. Those elected to serve with him are Ralph C. Collins, Education Department, vice president; Mrs. Doris Anderson, Personnel Office, secretary; and Miss Catherine Nolan, Cashiers' Office, treasurer.

Also elected during the CSEA chapter’s annual election were delegates and alternate delegates to the organization’s general convention which is scheduled for November in Fresno. Delegates chosen were James R. Landreth, associate director of budgeting and business affairs; Emmett A. Bloom, Animal Husbandry Department; Mrs. Francine Hapgood, Business Management Division; Loren L. Nicholson, Journalism Department; and Corwin M. Johnson, head of the Crops Department.

Alternate delegates elected were L. LaVerne Bucy, associate dean of agriculture; Claud Batchelor, Cal Poly Foundation; Marcus Gold, Audio Visual Department; Charles M. Elston, Mathematics Department; and Miss Pearl Turner, library.

TRUSTEES ENCOURAGE NATIONAL ACCREDITATION OF CURRICULAR PROGRAMS

Individual state colleges are encouraged to seek accreditation of appropriate in­structional programs by national professional accrediting agencies in a resolution recently adopted by the Board of Trustees of the California State Colleges. The resolution asks that this be done in cooperation with the Office of the Chancellor. It also declares the opinion of the trustees that such accreditation "serves to establish and maintain high academic standards."

The Board of Trustees' action supports the position taken by Cal Poly last October in Administrative Bulletin 67-11. That publication states:

"It is the policy of the California State Polytechnic College to seek curriculum, departmental and/or school accreditation from appropriate accreditation agencies subject to the following criteria:

a. The agency must be recognized by the National Commission of Accrediting.

b. The accreditation sought must be shown to be of significant value to the college and to the department or school involved in terms of the instructional objectives and the opportunities available to graduates as well as the prestige to be gained through such recognition."

KING SCHOLARSHIP ESTABLISHED

A $100 scholarship honoring the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., is being estab­lished for Cal Poly students by the San Luis Obispo County Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Terms of the agreement estab­lishing the new scholarship program provide that the award be made to a student of minority origin, according to Everett M. Chandler, dean of students, who made the announcement.

Dean Chandler said that, although students of other minority races may receive the Martin Luther King Scholarship, Negro students will be preferred. Other criteria for selection of recipients for the scholarship include need for financial assistance, undeveloped potential or motivation of character, and exemplification of the beliefs and philosophy of Dr. King.
"STAFF BULLETIN" DURING SUMMER QUARTER

"Staff Bulletin" will be issued any week during the 1968 Summer Quarter when available announcements are such as to justify its publication. Persons having information which they wish to have published in the bulletin are asked to submit the material by noon on Fridays to the Public Information Office, Room 210, Administration Building.

PLANS FOR SUMMER SWIMMING PROGRAM

Plans for campus instructional and recreational swimming programs for the summer are contained in an announcement received from Robert A. Mott, head of the Physical Education Department. Both programs are expected to begin June 18 and will conclude July 26. Instruction will be provided from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon, Monday through Thursday, during that period. Recreational swimming will be from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, during the same time. The Physical Education Department announcement emphasized that both programs are available only to students, faculty, and staff of the college and their dependents.

DRESSING ROOM LOCKERS MUST BE CLEANED OUT BY JUNE 13

The Physical Education Department last week issued a reminder that all lockers in the Men's Physical Education Building and Natatorium Locker Rooms must be cleaned out and have the locks removed by June 13. Included in the reminder is Room 113 of the Men's PE Building.

WHO . . . WHAT . . . WHEN . . . WHERE . . . ?

H. G. Wight, Chemistry, is one of six college and university faculty members from throughout the nation who have been invited to take part in the 15th Summer Research Participation Program at Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, N.Y. Dr. Wight expects to investigate new compounds which might possibly be used as anti-cancer drugs during his June 17-August 30 stay at the institute.

Mario Corbett, School of Architecture, headed a study team for the Office of Civil Defense California Schoolhouse Shelter Design Study at the University of Utah March 25-April 5 and April 30-May 10. The design study took place at the university's Institute of Urban Studies and Services.

Clyde P. Fisher, dean of applied sciences; Frederick W. Bowden, head of Electrical Engineering; Eugene A. Rittenhouse, Placement Officer; and Glenn A. Noble, head of Biological Sciences, all attended the 21st annual conference of the College-Federal Council of Southern California which took place at Pt. Mugu Naval Station recently. Theme of the conference, which presented prominent speakers from throughout Southern California, was "The Road Ahead in the Sciences."

Funds received last year as part of a grant from the Reader's Digest Foundation helped make it possible for 15 students of the Journalism Department to take a unique field trip recently. All enrolled in the advanced applied techniques course offered by the department, they took part in seminars with two veteran Santa Barbara County television newsmen during the day-long journey. Included were a breakfast seminar with Vic Fergie of KCOY-TV, Santa Maria; a luncheon seminar with Bill Huddy of KEYT-TV, Santa Barbara; and studio and newsroom tours at both stations.

A team of Japanese interested in farm machinery will visit the Cal Poly campus later this month for a look at the instructional program of the Agricultural Engineering Department. The visitors, all executives in the farm machinery industry or managers of agricultural cooperatives in Japan, are expected to be on campus June 26.

Robert Asbury and Donald J. Koberg, both School of Architecture, were judges for the annual Pasadena Women's Architectural League competition held May 27 at Pasadena City College.

Jesse B. Goode, Mathematics, has tentative plans to buy a boat and do some traveling following his retirement from the college faculty at the end of the Spring Quarter. Capt. Goode, who was honored during a retirement coffee held in the Staff Dining Room last week, has been a member of the Cal Poly faculty since 1956. He joined the staff after having retired from the US Navy with 26 years of service, a turn at being a grapefruit rancher, and having taught at Clinch Valley College, University of Virginia.

In Yu Yang, a 21-year-old senior, was named the outstanding graduating senior in the School of Applied Sciences during a luncheon program held on campus last week. A biochemistry major, he was among 25 students of that school who received special recognition during the luncheon for outstanding seniors. Yang, who prefers to be called Bob, is from Taiwan. He has the highest grade average among the 337 seniors in applied sciences who will receive their degrees June 15.

FARM SHOP HAS OPENING FOR TRACTOR OPERATOR

Applicants for a tractor operator-laborer opening on the staff of the Farm Shop are being sought, according to an announcement from the Personnel Office. The position, which has a salary of $584-644 per month, requires the ability to operate heavy and medium tractors and attachments for farm and other purposes and to do farm work. Applicants should have a knowledge of farm practices and be able to drive, maintain, and make emergency repairs. At least one year's experience handling heavy equipment is required. Those interested in applying or obtaining further information are invited to contact the Personnel Office, Room 110, Administration Building.
