TRUSTEES REQUEST "PUBLIC TRUST" STATUS FOR STATE COLLEGES

The California State Colleges recently asked to be included in the state constitution as "a public trust administered by the State College Board of Trustees with full powers of organization and government." Such a move would give the 18-college system similar constitutional status with the University of California. It now is directly responsible to the state government.

The request was made by the board in recommendations to the State Constitution Revision Commission which were approved at the conclusion of its meeting held March 22-23, at San Francisco State College. The commission currently is studying revision of the constitution for consideration by the legislature and voters in 1968.

In making the request the college trustees also recommended constitutional provisions calling for:

-- No change in the number of appointive members to the Board of Trustees, now 16, and no diminishment in the number of ex-officio members, now five and including Chancellor of the California State Colleges Glenn S. Dumke.
-- Terms of from 8 to 12 years for trustees (they currently serve for 8 years).
-- Doctorate programs for the California State Colleges but only with the approval of the California Coordinating Council for Higher Education.
-- No change to be made "which prevents recognition and encouragement of instructionally-related faculty research."

The trustees also recommended that nothing in the constitutional revision be construed as preventing a change of name for the California State Colleges to California State University. The change currently is being considered by the state legislature.

In other action, the board chose a 450-acre parcel of land in the Edgewood Hills section of Redwood City in San Mateo County as the site for a future state college planned for opening in the early 1970's. Selection of a site for a new college in Ventura County was postponed pending completion of studies.

Other actions taken by the trustees during their March meeting saw them give legal notice that the college system intends to charge students for college catalogs a sufficient amount to cover costs of publication and distribution and that it intends to raise the admissions application fee from $5.00 to $10.00 effective next December.

MESSAGE FROM CHANCELLOR DUMKE DISTRIBUTED AS "BULLETIN" ATTACHMENT

Distributed to all members of the college faculty and staff as an attachment to this week's issue of Staff Bulletin is a memorandum from Chancellor of the California State Colleges Glenn S. Dumke, dated March 28. Dr. Dumke's statement, received on campus last week, is on the subject of "Budget Report."
SEARCH FOR "COORDINATOR OF RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT" BEGINS

Publication of a vacancy announcement for the position of "coordinator of research and development" last week signaled start of a nationwide search for an individual to fill that position on the staff of the Cal Poly Foundation. Final approval for the newly-established position came during a recent meeting of the foundation's board of directors.

Describing the position for which the salary range will be from $1,008 to $1,225 monthly on a five-year scale, the announcement listed its duties as "keeps the schools of the college informed concerning possible opportunities for research and development, guides the preparation of proposals for research and developmental projects, and implements such activities supported by non-college agencies."

Qualifications include experience in instructionally-related and applied research with emphasis in the fields of agriculture, engineering, and the other applied sciences; ability to prepare proposals that will establish financial support; ability to establish and maintain good liaison with faculty and staff, governmental agencies, industry, and foundations; and completion of a doctor's degree or equivalent experience.

Applications for the position should include a concise summary of education, experience, qualifications, and references and an indication of willingness to visit Cal Poly for an interview, according to the announcement. Both applications and inquiries for information may be sent directly to Foundation Manager Gene Brendlin.

DISTRIBUTION OF WINTER QUARTER GRADES ANNOUNCED FOR APRIL 5-6

Distribution of Winter Quarter grades will take place tomorrow (Wednesday, April 5) and Thursday (April 6), according to information received last week from the office of Registrar F. Jerald Holley. They will be available at the box office windows of the Men's Gymnasium from noon to 5:00 p.m., tomorrow and from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Thursday.

CONCERT BY ENGLISH DUO SCHEDULED ON CAMPUS FRIDAY EVENING

Chad and Jeremy, the English-born rock and roll singers whose talent pleases the older generation as well as the younger one, will appear in concert on campus Friday (April 7) evening. Under sponsorship of the student College Union Assemblies Committee, the singers will appear in the Men's Gymnasium starting at 8:00 p.m.

The British vocalists will present a program that blends contemporary music, gentle music, sad and funny music, and rock and roll. The early drama training the pair obtained in London's Central School of Speech and Drama has served them well. It gives them the poise and stagemanship that has enabled them to rise to the top in a crowded contemporary music world.

They have appeared on many of the top television shows in the United States. These include numerous performances on Shindig, Shebang, Hullabaloo, and Hollywood Palace. In addition, Al Hirt, Dick Van Dyke, Danny Kaye, John Gary, Patty Duke, Andy Williams, and Carol Burnett have all featured the British team on their shows in the past several months.

Tickets for Friday evening's concert are still available. Priced at $2.25, $2.75, and $3.00 for the public and $1.75, $2.25, and $2.50 for members and associate members of the Associated Students, Inc., they may be purchased at Brown's Music Store and Bennett Music Company, both in downtown San Luis Obispo, and at the ASI Office on campus.

Members of the campus chapter of Kappa Mu Epsilon national honorary mathematics society are administering the course under the direction of Milo E. Whitson, head of the Mathematics Department.

The course is designed to familiarize the high school teachers and students with the IBM 1620 Computer and teach them how to program it. Using the college's IBM 1620, they are learning the basics of computer programming, which includes the writing of arithmetic statements, computer language, the methods of input and output, and the construction of flow diagrams.

Final session for the short course is planned for this Saturday (April 8) afternoon,

SUBJECT: Budget Report

Since my first report to you on this subject in December of 1966, we have been through some difficult weeks. The uncertainty over the budget placed our planning for next year, both in my office and on the campuses, in a virtual state of suspended animation. I want you to know that I understand and appreciate the many hours of extra time and concern which the administration and faculty have devoted to the problems occasioned by the uncertainty of our support budget for next year. I should also like to commend my staff for their untiring and effective efforts.

The prospect before us is now much brighter. We have achieved a Governor's Budget "workload" increase from a disastrous $154 million to $191 million, less deferred spending which does not affect educational quality. We have been accorded adequate funds to accept all qualified students and to retain our full complement of continuing, regular faculty, and we have preserved the current level of academic quality. In my opinion we have, withal, earned increased respect for the integrity of the colleges and a deeper public understanding of their importance and their fiscal problems.

We must now turn to the presentation of our case for funds for the so-called "new and improved programs" which are essential to the advancement of our educational objectives. Included in the some $14 million we have requested for this purpose are vital improvements in our sabbatical leave program, increased support for graduate instruction, additional funds for faculty recruiting and data processing. Since the state administration rejected our request for these funds before we entered into discussions on the separate "workload" section of the budget, we are now presenting our case directly to the Legislature.

Another exacting task lies ahead which must concern everyone—the maintenance of educational quality. With the budget uncertainty coming as it did at the peak faculty recruiting period, we must be especially vigilant in recruitment to insure that our students receive the benefits of the finest faculty that it is possible to bring before them. Regardless of the press of time and the demands of circumstances, we must make every effort to protect faculty quality.

I know that I speak for the Board of Trustees when I say that we are deeply grateful for your support and encouragement in the budget crisis.
