Private agreements denied by President

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Ford assured Congressmen Wednesday that no "private agreements" raise the United States and South Vietnam, Rep. Andrew J. Mayzes-R.I., said after a conference with Ford.

Anderson's summary appeared to sharpen the White House response to Sen. Henry M. Jackson's charge that the United States entered into "secret agreements" with China in an apparent effort to induce it to sign the Paris peace treaties.

In the first White House response to that charge, press secretary Ron Nessen and Senator Wednesdays that Richard M. Nixon had "unofficially" promised Saigon the United States would "triumph vigorously" on any major Communist violations of the peace accords.

Nixon's confidential communications on the matter and conducted that "the world is different but the end result was the same in public statements." On Capitol Hill, Jackson called the White House explanations "obviously not satisfactory." He demanded disclosure of "the specific language of the communications" between Nixon and Saigon officials.

Shortly after Nessen's news conference, Ford conferred with a group of congressional leaders, including Anderson.

We were assured that they are not private, off-the-record assurances on the part of this government to the government of South Vietnam," regarding the 1973 Paris accords, Anderson told reporters.

He said Ford assured the congressmen specifically that there was no commitment for U.S. military intervention under any circumstances.

Nixon's confidential communications on the matter and conducted that "the world is different but the end result was the same in public statements." On Capitol Hill, Jackson called the White House explanations "obviously not satisfactory." He demanded disclosure of "the specific language of the communications" between Nixon and Saigon officials.

Shortly after Nessen's news conference, Ford conferred with a group of congressional leaders, including Anderson.

We were assured that there are no private, off-the-record assurances on the part of this government to the government of South Vietnam, regarding the 1973 Paris accords, Anderson told reporters.

He said Ford assured the congressmen specifically that there was no commitment for U.S. military intervention under any circumstances.

Nixon's confidential communications on the matter and conducted that "the world is different but the end result was the same in public statements." On Capitol Hill, Jackson called the White House explanations "obviously not satisfactory." He demanded disclosure of "the specific language of the communications" between Nixon and Saigon officials.

Shortly after Nessen's news conference, Ford conferred with a group of congressional leaders, including Anderson.

We were assured that there are no private, off-the-record assurances on the part of this government to the government of South Vietnam, regarding the 1973 Paris accords, Anderson told reporters.

He said Ford assured the congressmen specifically that there was no commitment for U.S. military intervention under any circumstances.

Nixon's confidential communications on the matter and conducted that "the world is different but the end result was the same in public statements." On Capitol Hill, Jackson called the White House explanations "obviously not satisfactory." He demanded disclosure of "the specific language of the communications" between Nixon and Saigon officials.

Shortly after Nessen's news conference, Ford conferred with a group of congressional leaders, including Anderson.

We were assured that there are no private, off-the-record assurances on the part of this government to the government of South Vietnam, regarding the 1973 Paris accords, Anderson told reporters.

He said Ford assured the congressmen specifically that there was no commitment for U.S. military intervention under any circumstances.

Nixon's confidential communications on the matter and conducted that "the world is different but the end result was the same in public statements." On Capitol Hill, Jackson called the White House explanations "obviously not satisfactory." He demanded disclosure of "the specific language of the communications" between Nixon and Saigon officials.

Shortly after Nessen's news conference, Ford conferred with a group of congressional leaders, including Anderson.

We were assured that there are no private, off-the-record assurances on the part of this government to the government of South Vietnam, regarding the 1973 Paris accords, Anderson told reporters.

He said Ford assured the congressmen specifically that there was no commitment for U.S. military intervention under any circumstances.

Nixon's confidential communications on the matter and conducted that "the world is different but the end result was the same in public statements." On Capitol Hill, Jackson called the White House explanations "obviously not satisfactory." He demanded disclosure of "the specific language of the communications" between Nixon and Saigon officials.

Shortly after Nessen's news conference, Ford conferred with a group of congressional leaders, including Anderson.

We were assured that there are no private, off-the-record assurances on the part of this government to the government of South Vietnam, regarding the 1973 Paris accords, Anderson told reporters.

He said Ford assured the congressmen specifically that there was no commitment for U.S. military intervention under any circumstances.

Nixon's confidential communications on the matter and conducted that "the world is different but the end result was the same in public statements." On Capitol Hill, Jackson called the White House explanations "obviously not satisfactory." He demanded disclosure of "the specific language of the communications" between Nixon and Saigon officials.

Shortly after Nessen's news conference, Ford conferred with a group of congressional leaders, including Anderson.

We were assured that there are no private, off-the-record assurances on the part of this government to the government of South Vietnam, regarding the 1973 Paris accords, Anderson told reporters.

He said Ford assured the congressmen specifically that there was no commitment for U.S. military intervention under any circumstances.

Nixon's confidential communications on the matter and conducted that "the world is different but the end result was the same in public statements." On Capitol Hill, Jackson called the White House explanations "obviously not satisfactory." He demanded disclosure of "the specific language of the communications" between Nixon and Saigon officials.

Shortly after Nessen's news conference, Ford conferred with a group of congressional leaders, including Anderson.

We were assured that there are no private, off-the-record assurances on the part of this government to the government of South Vietnam, regarding the 1973 Paris accords, Anderson told reporters.

He said Ford assured the congressmen specifically that there was no commitment for U.S. military intervention under any circumstances.
Children receive the best education,
What is the best education child can receive for his future?

Bob Cox
Vietnam war: 'a bitter pill'

Somebody, I don't remember who, once said: "War is hell." He was right, and in more ways than one.

The events of the last few weeks in Southeast Asia have been hell on the minds and consciences of an entire country, the United States of America. Lord knows they shouldn't be.

Vietnam will probably go down in history books as the greatest mistake the U.S. ever made. It cost somewhere in the range of $100-500 billion, or maybe even more. Who really knows?

More than 56,000 American men never saw their homeland again, less than alive. Another quarter of a million came back with Purple Hearts, and a lot of them with lifetime disabilities.

It's something we might know how many came back with mental problems, habits to drugs, or just back to broken lives.

Another 1,500 (or so) haven't come back, been declared dead, or been listed as captives.

It's kind of sad and sickening to sit here and watch the South Vietnamese Army crumble and its government do nothing but accuse the United States of failing to live up to its part in the war.

After all this country did all the military supplies the American people traded in the name of patriotism and freedom; its pretty tough to sell it all down the drain.

And that's where the South Vietnamese government is headed. The only question is: How soon?

Where do we go from here? And what do we do now?

Personally, and I think in the minds of many, many Americans, the answer is not a whole lot. It's far too late to reverse the huge troops and the South Vietnamese government. It's a need for volunteers and more women.

The program will begin at 3 p.m. on April 12, and feature in all Poly's Homecoming Vocal Group, the Women's Glee Club and two other vocal groups, along with the Performing Arts Quartet, along with the Music Board of ASI.

We could try a new program toward the development of positive self-concept in the children. Individualized attention is given according to the need of the child.

The program receives 20 per cent of its funds through the community and donations. The other 80 per cent comes through the department of Health Education and Welfare.

The Head Start center is located between the Health Center and President Kennedy's house, in a building donated by Cal Poly. The center has been operating there for several years.

Six volunteers work at the center with 15 boys and five girls. The children are there for three hours a day from 12:15 p.m. to 3:15 p.m. and are served lunch during that time.

"At least three volunteers are needed each day. The ideal ratio is one instructor to three children," said Miss Allan. There is a need for volunteers and Miss Allan stressed that men are needed as much as women.

Tanker lecture
"Supertanker Port" is the title of a lecture being presented by Bud Meyer today at 11 a.m. in Science Room 4-27. The event is sponsored by the Ecology Action Club.

Do I have a bitter pill to swallow. We made a horrendous mistake, and it's pretty tough to live with.

And I'm not very high on handing out a few billion more taxpayer dollars in military aid. After seeing the South Vietnamese leave behind their artillery, tanks and aircraft, and lose three-fourths of the country in the process, I think it's a little late for more Vietnameseization.

The time has come to face reality. The South Vietnamese government cannot hold on much longer, even with mass infusions of aid. And if it does, for how long? six years? Can we afford to prop it up forever?

Also by throwing in still more money and other materials of war, we would just prolong the agony of the people of Indochina, who have been suffering ever since World War II and even before that. Maybe, if we let things alone, the Vietnamese people can work out some solution of their own.
Poly students can earn units for their work at Avila. Depending on the department, the work done can be rewarded for research papers, special projects, or service projects. "One guy in Industrial Technology came out here and built us a solar oven for our ecology center as his senior project," Zaller said.

Robin Weber, in charge of the Adult Basic Education at Avila school, says that the volunteers needed. "Basically anybody, so long as they have some free time. We can use people in all majors. The other day we could have used someone out here to show some students how to water the garden right," Ms. Weber said.

"In Basic Education we need volunteers to help students one to one. We need people to show students how to make up numbers properly. We need them to help teach them in reading at all different levels. We need students here who want to get their teaching credential and we need people to guide them through the process," Ms. Weber said.

Avila School has a number of programs to attain its goal of reaching the disabled adult lifelong even when they leave school. The students can be included in the outdoor world.

Avila Stacks Shoppe is run by the students on a profit sharing basis. The store not only teaches students how to handle money, but also teaches them how to assume responsibility.

Everyone participates in the student government. They plan activities, allocate funds, makes policies and items out any personal disputes that may arise.

At his first meeting the new president had the same jitters that any newly elected official has but she overcame them. There wasn't much business besides that on the Special Olympics on Mar. 9. At the meeting it was decided to elect the Houserooming, King and Queen and to have cheerleaders.

Vocational education is a big part of the activities at Avila. In the art center students work on a variety of projects. At Christmas baby quilts were made by the students and sold as part of the profit sharing program. The present project is the construction of lake bags which will also be sold.

Out of this the students learn to make their own clothes. Their pride in their work was evident at the fashion show they held at the school.

The current excitement in the workshop revolves around a three wheeled car that propels itself by wind power, like the southern California sand sitters. The prototype proved well as the Avila beach proving grounds.

Tentatively called the "Sand Scooter," Larry Steffen, the Director of the School, has dreams of it becoming a fad. "As big as the Hula-Hoop!"

The workshop also produces ice trays, boats, and crafts which the school sells in kit form. The lack of volunteers held production back on the project.

"We need people here to show the students how to operate the power tools," Steffen said. "If the lack of volunteers held production back on the project.

"We need people here to show the students how to operate the power tools," Steffen said. "If the lack of volunteers held production back on the project.

Avila tries... but needs volunteers (continued from page 1)

Camera buffs exhibit work

An exhibit of 36 photographs made by students in the Journalism Department is on display this quarter in the lobby of the Administration Building.

Students in the advanced, creative and color photography classes shot the photographs. Ms. Karen Teller, photography instructor of the three classes explained the techniques studied and applied by the students.

She said the emphasis in the advanced class is on the techniques used to produce quality black and white photographs that best communicate the photographer's statement.

In the color photography class, the emphasis is placed upon reproducing color prints, and the color of the original subject matter.

Funds available

Most of the academic scholarships awarded at Cal Poly are at the School of Agriculture, but more money is spent on athletic scholarships than on academic scholarships.

According to Mary Eyer, assistant director of the Financial Aid Office, between 250 to 350 students are receiving scholarships at Cal Poly.

"This doesn't include the students who have gotten them from outside sources, which might be many students or even more," she said.

Out of those students, 127 of them receive Wrasse Scholarships of $600 a year. Mrs. Eyer said the primary requirement for these Wrasse Scholarships is that the student be enrolled in some field of agriculture.

The total amount of academic scholarship money available for this school year was $135,000. She said that $90,000 came from the Wrasse fund.

Approximately $110,000 was available for athletic scholarships this year. Mrs. Eyer said the money was distributed to about 150 students.

(continued from page 1)

The requirements vary with each scholarship but they depend on the person's grade point average, financial need, extracurricular activities, and a written statement about their educational goals.

Although the deadline for next year's scholarships was April 1, interested students are encouraged to contact the Financial Aid Office in the Administration Building, Rm. 107 or call 546-2067.

Textbook

Any student who has a used copy of the textbooks for Conservation 311, "Environmental Problems," by Mason and Folkerts, has a market of about 30 students who are enrolled in the class this quarter. Students who wish to sell their books can contact the teacher, Dr. Leo Baxter, in Science Hall, extension 972. Students can also leave their telephone numbers on the blackboard in the University Union.

Top it off with Oly

Where have all the flowers gone?
Right on the front of Olympia's Flower Girl T-Shirts.
Made of 100% cotton and machine washable, they come in a variety of colors and 4 adult sizes.
Own your very own flower person for only $2.95. Full grown and ready to wear. It beats waiting for a bud to bloom.
Evangelist harangued by crowd

(continued from page 1)

"God loves you," "Repent," "You don't have to die," "Christ has died and Christ is here."

When questioned on Lindsey's controversiality, Chisholm said, "Lindsey's religion is because of his views on homosexuals. A homosexual is running away from God and he condemns the homosexual there. There is also a high suicidal rate in the homosexual's society. And they aren't in the world but he's happy as a homosexual is usually happy."

Lindsey then turned his back on those who questioned him, failing to satisfy their questions. He did not support from a few spectators.

Lindsey has traveled all over the United States and has visited over 500 towns, preaching the gospel. He told his audience "My name is William "Lindsey has a Bible teaching center in Berkeley, California.

Mustangs confirmed best defensive squad

The National Collegiate Soccer Section 1 final statistics have confirmed Coach Ernie Wheeler's basketball team as the number one defensive team in the nation this past season.

The Mustangs also finished third in every division岁以下 2.50 deflection in the bottom of the sixth inning Tuesday to ake the UC Santa Barbara Gauchos 5-2.

Paul Desjarlais and some help from transportation services final statistics have confirmed opportunities for .783 accuracy. The national leader was Alabama 565.

The Mustangs made 412 of 526 free throw attempts for Desjarlais' gam-deciding hit. In the top of the seventh inning.

with the Mustangs holding on to win 5-2 in the sixth inning. Randy Robinson singled Conklin to third.

With runners on first and third, Mustang shortstop Mike Ongurato had a field goal and flipped it to second- baseman Jim Conklin forcing Robinson, who promptly ran over Conklin in a rather unorthodox fashion.

Women racketed host first match Saturday

The Cal Poly Women's Tennis Team will host their first home match this Saturday, April 12. They will face Pomona-Pitzer at 1 p.m.

Terry Peat, the spokesperson for the team, felt Pomona-Pitzer should be a good competitor.

"It should be a good match since both teams are pretty evenly matched," she said.

Cal Poly has a 3-1 record in the Southern California Women's Intercollegiate Conference. The Mustangs used three uninvited runs in the eighth inning when Desjarlais drove in a run on a sacrifice.

"I think they're a good team," Terry said.

HABBLEST

Counseling Center

Hospitals & Medical

M-P Adm. 21

Drop in and see us!

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

BY ENK FOR GOOD LISTENING

EM'S THAT SEE

THEM THAT CAN'T

GOOD TIMES

BAD TIMES

EN'S THAT CAN'T

LOOK ME HERE, A

DON'T CARE, STUFF IT OUTSIDE

HOME

APARTMENTS

ROOMS

ONCE

BEST SELF" THE IRISH

SHANNON CR الخليج

SHANNON CR الخليج

SHANNON CR الخليج

COTTAGE BLDG

DROP IN AT ANY TIME

APARTMENTS

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.

TYPICAL STENNER GLEN R.A.