Poly profs:
Many are bookmakers
Violence permeates American society. It's found in the affluent suburbs and in the poverty-ridden ghettos. It's found in the big cities and in rural America. The pervasive influence of violence is found in all our entertainment—literature, television, sports and the movies.

Wednesday night, NBC preempted three hours of mundane programming to explore the phenomenon of violence. The special, appropriately called "Violence in America," was aimed at exposing the relationship between poverty and violence. It was a scary three hours.

Despite NBC's claim that this was an average night—seven murders, 10 rapes, 186 aggravated assaults and 196 robberies were being committed.

To combat this rampant violence, Americans have adopted a fortress mentality. Gun purchases have skyrocketed to the point where there are now over 40 million handguns alone in the United States. But, the crime rate continues to rise.

In conjunction with the TV special, NBC conducted a series of opinion polls. One indicated that 56 per cent of the American public believe that a gun on a property would result in a lower crime rate.

People have the idea, as popularly expressed by a bumper sticker, that when guns are outlawed, only outlaws will have guns. They believe that by arming every household in America the crime rate can be reduced.

The public doesn't realize that 60 per cent of all police reports involve family disputes. They don't realize that two-thirds of all violent assaults are committed between family members. And, two-thirds of all homicides in the U.S. are committed with firearms, with handguns, by far, the most popular choice.

It has been argued the desire to own firearms is an American tradition. Many say it's their constitutional right to own guns and bear arms. They cite the second amendment to the Constitution as their reference. The simple truth is Americans have gone gun happy.

What those who are constitutionalists don't do, is read the entire amendment which says, "A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed."

The amendments talk about the need for a militia, a National Guard-type organization to protect the country. It doesn't say everyone has the automatic right to own a gun. It only says everyone has the right to keep a gun.

There have been many bills introduced to ban the proliferation of handguns in the U.S. All of them either failed to be passed or were so watered down upon passage, they were ineffectual.

The reason gun control legislation has failed is the American people have been misled about guns and crime. The public thinks murder and, especially, the spread of violence. The public thinks murder and, especially, the spread of violence.

People don't seem to know that half of everyone will not survive the age of 65.

There are over 40 million guns in the United States. But, the crime rate continues to rise.

The public has been misled about guns and crime. The public thinks murder and, especially, the spread of violence.

A Gallup poll recently showed that 74 per cent of all Americans think murder is on the increase.

Guns are outlawed, only outlaws will have guns. They believe that by arming every household in America the crime rate can be reduced.

The public doesn't realize that 60 per cent of all police reports involve family disputes. They don't realize that two-thirds of all violent assaults are committed between family members. And, two-thirds of all homicides in the U.S. are committed with firearms, with handguns, by far, the most popular choice.

It has been argued the desire to own firearms is an American tradition. Many say it's their constitutional right to own guns and bear arms. They cite the second amendment to the Constitution as their reference. The simple truth is Americans have gone gun happy.

What those who are constitutionalists don't do, is read the entire amendment which says, "A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed."

The amendments talk about the need for a militia, a National Guard-type organization to protect the country. It doesn't say everyone has the automatic right to own a gun. It only says everyone has the right to keep a gun.

There have been many bills introduced to ban the proliferation of handguns in the U.S. All of them either failed to be passed or were so watered down upon passage, they were ineffectual.

The reason gun control legislation has failed is the American people have been misled about guns and crime. The public thinks murder and, especially, the spread of violence.

People don't seem to know that half of everyone will not survive the age of 65.

There are over 40 million guns in the United States. But, the crime rate continues to rise.

The public has been misled about guns and crime. The public thinks murder and, especially, the spread of violence.

A Gallup poll recently showed that 74 per cent of all Americans think murder is on the increase.

Guns are outlawed, only outlaws will have guns. They believe that by arming every household in America the crime rate can be reduced.

The public doesn't realize that 60 per cent of all police reports involve family disputes. They don't realize that two-thirds of all violent assaults are committed between family members. And, two-thirds of all homicides in the U.S. are committed with firearms, with handguns, by far, the most popular choice.

It has been argued the desire to own firearms is an American tradition. Many say it's their constitutional right to own guns and bear arms. They cite the second amendment to the Constitution as their reference. The simple truth is Americans have gone gun happy.

What those who are constitutionalists don't do, is read the entire amendment which says, "A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed."

The amendments talk about the need for a militia, a National Guard-type organization to protect the country. It doesn't say everyone has the automatic right to own a gun. It only says everyone has the right to keep a gun.

There have been many bills introduced to ban the proliferation of handguns in the U.S. All of them either failed to be passed or were so watered down upon passage, they were ineffectual.

The reason gun control legislation has failed is the American people have been misled about guns and crime. The public thinks murder and, especially, the spread of violence.

People don't seem to know that half of everyone will not survive the age of 65.

There are over 40 million guns in the United States. But, the crime rate continues to rise.

The public has been misled about guns and crime. The public thinks murder and, especially, the spread of violence.

A Gallup poll recently showed that 74 per cent of all Americans think murder is on the increase.

Guns are outlawed, only outlaws will have guns. They believe that by arming every household in America the crime rate can be reduced.

The public doesn't realize that 60 per cent of all police reports involve family disputes. They don't realize that two-thirds of all violent assaults are committed between family members. And, two-thirds of all homicides in the U.S. are committed with firearms, with handguns, by far, the most popular choice.
by BETSY RUSMAN
Daily Amateur Editor

Administrators are still trying—two months after the scheduled reply date—to scrape up the $50,000 needed to send the Cal Poly Band to Israel this summer.

William V. Johnson, director of the band, said Cal Poly officials are contacting possible donors in Beverly Hills, Chicago and throughout the country to supply the needed cash. He stressed that the donations should come from "off campus, out of towns and even out of state."

"It is important for the public in general, we have been asked to help out another country," said Johnson, "and we feel it is not the responsibility of the student body or community to finance another band trip. We did that two years ago."

"(Two years ago the band raised $75,000 for its trip to the 1975 International Youth and Music Festival in Vienna. This money came from band members, band raising activities, donations and a $20,000 allotment by the Student Affairs Council from Associated Students, Inc. monies.)"

The band has been invited to Israel by officials of the Israel Band Federation and the mayors of Jerusalem and Tel Aviv to assist in an educational training program for bands in Israel.

"The purpose of the whole thing," said Johnson, "is to upgrade the community band in Israel."

All meals, housing and transportation within the country of Israel are to be paid for by the Israel Band Federation. The $50,000 is to cover transportation costs to and from Israel.

Tentative plans for the trip also include a return to the Youth and Music Festival in Vienna. The cost for this portion of the trip—$250 each—will have to be paid by individual band members.

According to band President Glenn Boyd, the side trip to Vienna depends on the air transportation arrangements that can be made, "but it is still a very real possibility."

President Robert E. Kennedy has been consulting with the Consul General of Israel in Los Angeles to have a concurring invitation to Israel issued from the highest Israeli authorities. Johnson said this is to make the invitation more official to aid in securing donations.

Johnson expressed concern that local media would blow the need for donations out of proportion and threaten other Cal Poly fund raising efforts.

"We are afraid to make a big splash locally for fear everyone will try to get on the band wagon," he said. "We're not trying to raise funds locally. It will create problems."

Possible "problems" could include detracting from Cal Poly's general donation fund from alumni and other individuals as well as from the current drive to raise $500,000 for a renovation of Mustang Stadium."

Prospective donors include both individuals and foundations with an interest in Israeli cultural affairs.

"Ideally," said Johnson, "the band 'needs one large donation. But we'll also take two middle sized...."

Johnson said the delay in confirming the trip has not affected the musical aspect as the band wouldn't begin rehearsing until Spring quarter anyway. He said he has received no information from Israel as to the type of music they are interested in hearing.

"They will probably want us to play the music from their country so see how it goes," said Johnson, "but also music from America."

The band would play in communities throughout Israel as an example to the bands there as they try to improve their musical programs.
It is false modesty to have written a book and not want people to read it.

When you buy a textbook for a course, don't be surprised to find out it was written by the prof who assigned it. A growing number of Poly proto are writing text—not for profit they say—but for instructional purposes. (Daily photo by Bill Faulkner.)

Profs' books—teaching devices or ego trips?

by GINA BERREYESA

Daily Staff Writer

Amidst the hustle of teaching classes, grading papers and keeping office hours, many Cal Poly professors find time to write books. And a large number of them teach from their books in the classroom.

An employee at El Centro Bookstore estimated that of the approximately 200 different texts stocked in the section for courses, some 120 to 130 have been written by Cal Poly teachers.

The number of teachers using their books as required reading is difficult to determine. Some of the books are those the teacher has merely compiled and others are reprints. sewer Jenkins, English professor used a book he wrote for a special class in American literature. He wrote the book while he was working on his doctorate and when the opportunity arose, used it for his class.

"I think it's an excellent idea to use your own book, if the book is on the subject of the course," he said. In addition to his book on American literature, Jenkins used supplementary texts.

He said a book usually contains "your best thoughts" about a subject, which may be better than a series of lectures. "It can improve your teaching," he noted. "It is false modesty to have written a book and not want people to read it."

With the rising cost of textbooks constantly hammering students, they question the motive behind writing books. Is it for self-betterment or profit?

"Students think teachers must be making a mint because they know their information," but he has noticed that the students are used as "guinea pigs" in some ways. "But despite the problem he had in the summer classes, Culbertson finds there are benefits to teaching from one's own area.

"Each instructor teaches differently, and if he has written his own book it can cover just what the course covers."

Culbertson explained there is more publicity on other college campuses for teachers who write books. He said there are probably fewer teachers at Poly who write books because Poly stresses teaching rather than research.

"It was the only book I made money on," he noted. "Another book he used during the summer was not successful in his classes."

"I had written a chapter in it which is partly why I used it," he admitted. But he said the book was very expensive, and teaching from it had not worked out well. "The students were unhappy. I think they thought I made money off it, though I didn't."

"I make them think through the topics. It makes them think up better prepared."

He suggested that the reason teachers at Poly might not do as much writing as professors at other campuses is that they simply don't have the time.

"There are better...it makes it difficult for one to write," he said.

Students seem to have mixed reactions about using texts that their teachers have written.

One student from O'Toole's Modern Logic class said it is a good idea for professors to use their own books because they "know their information." But he has noticed that the students are used as "guinea pigs" in some ways.

Another student who transferred from Long Beach said it is "difficult to find good courses since teachers are using their own books."

"There are ben advantages," he said. "Any instructor who writes a book has a good course ought to write his own book," said O'Toole, author of "Elementary Symbolic Logic.

The program is being sponsored by the Crops and Natural Resources. All interested persons are invited.

Seminar on energy and fertilization

The role of energy fertilizer in food production will be explored in a seminar on Jan. 20 in Chumash Auditorium. The seminar will be presented by the University of California Department of Agricultural Extension.

A brochure is available from: DATERITE-

Look for the Red Star...

Now Showing (sometimes) at the Burger Bar.
Area wine and where to find the wineries

Good friends, good food, good conversation and wine. Just how many thousands of years wine has decreased the tables of people from peasants to kings is hard to tell but the tradition of wine still flourishes today.

York Mountain road hints of the dating back to IMS. Ik Harap at York Mountain Winery rustic mystic embelished in a history

Unexpected s tu d e n t turnout qumtd. budgeting did not IPWd but fall than were •■1» Director of Butt mess nets Poly adju stm ent funding W W B0 for Cal Poly this

J*® Junes Landreth. P^dkkrsllofthem. accorh»m who showed up last wnung undents and new

Junes Landreth.

As unexpected number of more students

almed to instruction, academic support, student services and institutional support. Instruction received the largest chunk of money and Landreth says seven or members have been hired as as well as student assistants. Academic support received the least amount, with funds going toward the Computer Center, among other places. Student services money has been put into the placement center and health center, and institutional support money is being used for such areas as business affairs and communications, according to Landreth.

South Bread

on way to The Graduate

Prices effective Thurs., Jan. 6 thru Tues., Jan. 11

U.S. no. 1 Russian

PO TATO, 39¢

Limit 1 Per Customer Offer good thru 1-11

ULTRA IV

TOILET TISSUE

Limit 1 Per Customer Offer good thru 1-11

8 PM

7-UP 18 oz. 69¢

Limit 1 Per Customer + deposit Offer good thru 1-11

HEAD

OLEAN 10¢

Limit 1 Per Customer Offer good thru 1-11

LARGE EA

EGGS

69¢ doz

Limit 1 Per Customer Offer good thru 1-11

STAR ROAST

TUNA 69¢

Limit 1 Per Customer Offer good thru 1-11

PAREX 59¢

Limit 1 Per Customer Offer good thru 1-11

FRESH

GROUND BEEF 49¢

Limit 1 Per Customer Offer good thru 1-11

on Selected Gifts • Candles Decorative Jewelry

Bungalow • Eovacative • Extraordinary

Et Cetera

851 Higuera Downtown 544-2312

LIQUIDATION SALE

Up to 70% OFF

MOVING OUT! Up the street to the old Sears Bldg.

The tasting room is opened daily from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Rose is the largest selling Pesenti wine but all varieties are available for tasting- Pesenti also offers wine kegs, for those wishing to pay a deposit on the barrel to en­sure a safe return. Pesenti wines are sold only locally.

A few miles away, up a steep narrow romantic road called York Mountain lies a winery with the same name. The York Mountain Winery, established in 1882, and open for tasting 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

Displays of antique equip­ment enhance the old brick building. A gigantic rock fireplace warms the dimly lit rustic room.

The York Mountain Winery offers gift packs consisting of six to twelve bottles of your choice in a handsome wooden box. The most pop­ular wine of York Mountain is Merlot Rose. York Moun­tain wines are available only at the winery or the Wine Street Inn.

The Hoffman Mountain Ranch vineyards are located west of Paso Robles but the winery is shown only by ap­pointment. The tasting room is located next to the Black Oak Restaurant on 14th St. in Paso Robles. Hours are from 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily.

Although there are many varieties of wines to select from, wine tasting is not complicated. Wines should be suet to the occasion, but the traditional rule of red wine with red meat and white wine with fish, fowl and white meat need not be adhered to.

The secret is experimen­ting. California wines come in every price and oc­casion.

Most California visitors do not have wine dues on their wines, due to the dry sunny weather during grape growing season. Every year is a good wine year. Another quality of California wine is the natural sugar of the grape. California’s "bear law" prohibits addition of cane or other sugars.
SACRAMENTO (AP)—The state is buying 10 low-polluting vehicles, hoping it will spark an effort by American manufacturers to produce cleaner cars, officials announced Tuesday.

What we are trying to say to all the other companies is, 'Look, Volvo did it. We think you can do it too,' " said Tom Quinn, chairman of the state Air Resources Board.

The 10 Volvos, which Quinn says produce about one-sixth the pollution of other cars sold in California, cost $96,785 each, about $92,000 more than other compact cars being sold in California.

"If we could clean up the air in California with a $200,000 expenditure it would be the best buy the taxpayers ever had," he said.

There is a chance that Ford will mark a 1978 Fiero that matches the Swedish Volvos' pollution level, he added. Volvo developed its "almost pollution free car" by accident when it decided to use something called a three-way catalytic converter to meet "71 requirements and improve fuel economy," Quinn said.

The Volvos, which were delivered Tuesday by a Sacramento dealer, are the first foreign-built passenger cars to be placed in state car pools for regular use.

Leonard Grimes, director of the Department of General Services, said the state bought only 10 cars at first to determine if they meet state needs.

The extended forecast calls for decreasing showers today, with partly cloudy skies on Saturday. Temperatures will range from the high 40s to low 50s during the day, with overnight lows dipping into the 40s.

For Sale
CALCULATOR
Can be used for applications and for solving price problems, written on the flip side.

For Sale
Housing
3 BDRM SF HOMES
IN SOUTH OCEANO
FREE LATE NIGHT HOMEWORK HELPLINE
Please call for specific dates.

For Sale
AUTHOR'S BOOKS
20" color TV, 1959 FORD 2 DR FASTBACK, huge assortment.

For Sale
VACATION HOMES
IN SLO CO
2 BDRM MOBILE HOME
2 BDRM SANTA CRUZ
Call: 543-5100

Weekend weather
Students heading away for the weekend can expect dry roads according to National Weather Service in San Luis Obispo. But the trip home Sunday may be a bit wetter.

The latest storm, which triggered some country residents to speculate into a curious dance of lightning, dropped nearly an inch of rain in the Sal So La Obispo. Residents in Beyer Park and Los Osos witnessed the lighting extravaganza—nature's version of the Fourth of July—before the lights went out near midnight. A bolt of lightning snapped a neighbor's television antenna in the South Bay, leaving residents without electricity for nearly 50 minutes.

The extended forecast calls for decreasing showers today, with partly cloudy skies on Saturday. Temperatures will range from the high 40s to low 50s during the day, with overnight lows dipping into the 40s.

Teacher's exam applications ready
The National Teacher Examination (NTE) will be given at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, Ca. on Feb. 19, 1977.

Scores from the examinations are used by states for certification of teachers, school systems for selection and identification of leadership qualities and colleges as part of their graduate requirements.

Educational Testing Service, sponsoring and giving the tests, designed the tests to measure knowledge gained from professional and general education and to fit local educational needs.

Registration procedure and registration form can be obtained from:

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather

Weekend weather
There is no stopping Poly's Benje Williams

by KEVIN FALLS
Daily Sports Editor

It is safe to say that the average college student doesn't know what the next 8 years will bring. Thinking a mid-term, grueling the wrong course, finding out you were going to get your degree for four years instead could lead to the start of the downfall of your future and dearest goals.

In fact there are those few who know what they are going to do. Don't dare argue with them. Nothing will change your mind.

I sent a letter of intent to UCLA, but I couldn't get into Los Angeles as a place to live.'

Benjamin Williams, the Mustang super-pound wrestler, is one of those students that can tell you where he'll be in 1980. And ask the goals Williams has. Fellow seniors and friends who don't know him think he's nuts. However, one sitting with the sophomore from Lompoc would silence a doubter.

"After the 1980 Olympics I'll go to medical school," he said in a rather matter-of-fact manner during an interview Wednesday. "I wanted to go to a school that had more than the sufficient academics for my major, had a good wrestling program and a nice community to go to school in," said Williams. "I sent a letter of intent to UCLA but I just couldn't get into Los Angeles as a place to live, so I came to Poly.

Williams never dreamed of being a wrestler in the Olympics as a child. It was his freshman year in high school when he decided to wrestle because too small for football. But there was something about the sport that intrigued him.

"Wrestling is an individual sport. It's just you and your opponent. When you win it's good to know that it was just you that won. That is not a selfish way to look at it either. Because when you lose the exact opposite feelings arise."

There is the team element of wrestling that Williams also likes.

"It's an individual sport on the mat, sure. But everybody is pulling for everybody. We literally can't win without the other opponents' success. This team is really strong. That last road trip when we lived together for nine straight days was a success. We grew closer. We could have very well come to blows. That trip did us well as far as our wrestling ability too. Robert Kiddy, a sophomore, said he felt like a mouse on the mat right at the beginning. Now he feels he can wrestle with anybody. It was beneficial for all the first year wrestlers."

"I see friction on teams in other sports. Not with us though. Hitchcock (Vaughan) (Grech) (Vaughan) (Grech) (Vaughan)

As one might expect, with wrestling and school to contend with, Williams doesn't have that much time for.

"I really don't get too much breathing time until around the latter part of spring-quarter," he said. If Williams continues his plans, then he won't have any time to breath for another eight or ten years.

Benjie Williams, one of the tri-captains of the Mustangs, will lead his team against Cal State Northridge tonight in the Physical Education building.
Wrestlers grapple Northridge tonight

An adjusted lineup with seven and possibly eight men making up a 120-pounder Cal Poly Poly weight when coach Vaughn Hitchcock launches his 16th home wrestling meet tonight in the Physical Education building.

The Mustangs, who won eight of nine matches on an extended Eastern road trip in December, carry a No. 5 national ranking into the match. Poly is ranked No. 6 by NationalMatNews, a position lower than the Amateur Wrestling News ratings.

Northridge has extended Eastern road trip in December, carry a No. 5 ranking into the match. Poly is ranked No. 6 by NationalMatNews, a position lower than the Amateur Wrestling News ratings.

It's that time of year again. Super Bowl week is coming to a close and game time is rapidly approaching. Writers who could care less about the outcome of the Rams or the 49ers during the regular season will even take time to catch a quarter or two Sunday.

This community will take a special interest because it is familiar with a member of one of the organizations. John Madden, once a studdering but hard hitting redhead would someday lead a professional football team into the biggest football classic of the year, the Super Bowl. Madden had it upstairs. His brains and determination made him accomplish some huge tasks in a relatively short time. His dominating skill brought him within a few yards of the football but he had the last word on this one.

Hitchcock noted. Poly dropped 17-16 edition to Lehigh but won the other eight bouts on the junket. Tenessee fell 50-8. Southern California put up more matches on the trip than Poly did but we corrected those errors and improved our strategy and did a much better job technically as we had more matches," Hitchcock noted. Poly wrestled 17-18 decision to Lehigh but won the other eight bouts on the junket. Tenessee fell 50-8. Southern California posted an 8-1 record.

Robert Kiddy at 158 won six out of nine matches against California opponents that included three pins. Sythell Thompson, a fourth place finisher at 177 in the nationals a year ago, saw his first wrestling action of the season after reporting late due to football and he notched a 6-0 record. Hally Marshall was blanked 45-0. Navy was logged an 86-0 record against Golden State 14 matches on the Eastern road trip and Hitchcock has logged an amazing 189-0-1 record against Golden State teams in his 18 years as the head coach of the Oaklend Raiders when his team takes on the Minnesota Vikings in Super Bowl XI.

It would have been hard to believe that the 502-pound redbeard would someday lead professional football teams into the biggest football classic of the year. But Madden had it upstairs. His brains and determination made him accomplish some huge tasks in a relatively short time. His dominating skill brought him within a few yards of the football but he had the last word on this one.

'"John has always been a loyalist," said Zuchelli. "He didn't take much time to stop. He was just after a job he thought he could get. He's keeping in touch with a lot of friends here. He has helped us in a number of functions at Cal Poly and in Santa Maria."

Although Madden has coached the Raiders to six divisional championships this is his first Super Bowl. His opposing mentor, Bud Grant is making his fourth appearance in the post season premier. His Wednesday, this is the last time this season that he has been able to win the big one. One of these two back backs will break down and decide to win.

There are many John Madden loyalists around him who will be hoping that winning team is the Oakland Raiders.

Think the Super Bowl tickets are expensive? Here are a few reasons why.

—One hundred thousand people are expected to attend. Another 78 million are expected to watch television. The game traditionally draws the largest TV audience.

—Television and radio revenue plus ticket sales will bring the National Football League approximately $5.5 million. Game expenses are around $2.5 million, leaving $3 million for the league to divide among the teams.

The city of Pasadena gets $130,000 through stadium rental and concessions. This will be on 124 American TV stations and will be shown in Canada (both French and English), Mexico, Latin America and Japan. All major hotels in Los Angeles are booked for Super Bowl weekend for a year.

Now he's building lasers in a research lab.

Mark Beverage quit loading trucks and went to school.

Mark Beverage didn't like the work he did, so he learned to do the work he liked. You can do the same. Although Madden has coached the Raiders to six divisional championships this is his first Super Bowl. His opposing mentor, Bud Grant is making his fourth appearance in the post season premier. His Wednesday, this is the last time this season that he has been able to win the big one. One of these two back backs will break down and decide to win.

There are many John Madden loyalists around him who will be hoping that winning team is the Oakland Raiders. Think the Super Bowl tickets are expensive? Here are a few reasons why.

—One hundred thousand people are expected to attend. Another 78 million are expected to watch television. The game traditionally draws the largest TV audience.

—Television and radio revenue plus ticket sales will bring the National Football League approximately $5.5 million. Game expenses are around $2.5 million, leaving $3 million for the league to divide among the teams.

The city of Pasadena gets $130,000 through stadium rental and concessions. This will be on 124 American TV stations and will be shown in Canada (both French and English), Mexico, Latin America and Japan. All major hotels in Los Angeles are booked for Super Bowl weekend for a year.

You can do the same. Although Madden has coached the Raiders to six divisional championships this is his first Super Bowl. His opposing mentor, Bud Grant is making his fourth appearance in the post season premier. His Wednesday, this is the last time this season that he has been able to win the big one. One of these two back backs will break down and decide to win.

There are many John Madden loyalists around him who will be hoping that winning team is the Oakland Raiders. Think the Super Bowl tickets are expensive? Here are a few reasons why.

—One hundred thousand people are expected to attend. Another 78 million are expected to watch television. The game traditionally draws the largest TV audience.

—Television and radio revenue plus ticket sales will bring the National Football League approximately $5.5 million. Game expenses are around $2.5 million, leaving $3 million for the league to divide among the teams.

The city of Pasadena gets $130,000 through stadium rental and concessions. This will be on 124 American TV stations and will be shown in Canada (both French and English), Mexico, Latin America and Japan. All major hotels in Los Angeles are booked for Super Bowl weekend for a year.

sound send today for your free record and booklet, "You Can Be More Than You Are" by Tony Orlando and Dawn.

You'll hear some great music and find out how you can start a bright, new career by going to technical school.

Write:

Careers
P.O. Box 111
Washington, D.C. 20044

Mark Beverage quit loading trucks and went to school.

Now he's building lasers in a research lab.

Mark Beverage didn't like the work he did, so he learned to do the work he liked. You can do the same. Although Madden has coached the Raiders to six divisional championships this is his first Super Bowl. His opposing mentor, Bud Grant is making his fourth appearance in the post season premier. His Wednesday, this is the last time this season that he has been able to win the big one. One of these two back backs will break down and decide to win.

There are many John Madden loyalists around him who will be hoping that winning team is the Oakland Raiders. Think the Super Bowl tickets are expensive? Here are a few reasons why.

—One hundred thousand people are expected to attend. Another 78 million are expected to watch television. The game traditionally draws the largest TV audience.

—Television and radio revenue plus ticket sales will bring the National Football League approximately $5.5 million. Game expenses are around $2.5 million, leaving $3 million for the league to divide among the teams.

The city of Pasadena gets $130,000 through stadium rental and concessions. This will be on 124 American TV stations and will be shown in Canada (both French and English), Mexico, Latin America and Japan. All major hotels in Los Angeles are booked for Super Bowl weekend for a year.