Iranian student Ahmad Vahedian, right, explains his viewpoint on affairs between his country and the United States. Ali Shiekholeslami, also a student.

Iranian student reactions

U.S. must realize the Iranian motive

BY TOM FULKS

Three Iranians who belong to the Muslim Students Association at Cal Poly said they support Ayatollah Khomeini and the Iranian students who seized the American Embassy in Tehran.

They said public understanding of their cause would help more than demonstrating.

Ali Shiekholeslami, an engineering student who has lived in the United States for six years, summed up the group's feeling.

"Americans should try and put themselves in the place of Iranians and see how they feel."

The other two students, Ahmad Vahedian and Mohammad Jafari, agreed the people of the United States have never considered the historical background of the Iranian revolution. That is why Americans do not understand why the U.S. Embassy was seized, they said.

The three Iranians said they were in the U.S. when the shah was overthrown last February and had no idea the revolution was going to take place.

Likewise they had no idea the embassy was going to be taken in Tehran. Yet they said they support the shah as a tyrant who had repressed the memories of life in Iran while the shah was in power.

They described the shah as a tyrant who had repressed human life in his quest for modernization and westernization. They said the beating of the embassy takes away the Iran-as version of the CIA—and were never seen or heard from again.

They told of letters and underground pamphlets they received from Iran at the time of the embassy march in Tehran Sept. 6, 1978—in which 4,000 men, women and children were gunned down in the streets.

In that march, Iranians protested the despotic 36-year rule of the shah and American support of that government, the three said. The next day, according to Vahedian, President Carter called the shah and gave him assurances of 100 percent protection.

All three Iranian students agreed this was in contradiction with the U.S. human rights policy and it infuriated the Iranian people.

They described their version of the history of the U.S. involvement in Iran and why the Iranian people have developed such a deep hatred for the United States government. They said it was the government, not the people, of the U.S. that was responsible.

The students said the U.S. involvement in Iran started in 1951. That year, the CIA engineered a coup in which the shah re­established power after he and his family had been ousted in 1952 by the publicly-supported Prime Minister Mossadeq. Mossadeq was put in jail and in 1953 he and his family were exiled in obscurity some years later.

Since that time, the Shah with full U.S. diplomatic and economic support from the U.S. government, had suppressed all opposition and opposed the people who opposed him, said the students.

The Iranian people believe the shah committed crimes against all humanity and that he must be tried by a global committee, the students said. They also said the U.S. government would be exposed as the true harbinger of inhumanity during a trial for the shah. That is why the U.S. will not return the shah, they said. The students said the embassy was seized because it was the only form of retaliation available that would support the aspirations of the world and expose 37 years of inhumanity under the shah.

They added that if they will do if they are forced to leave the U.S., they said it is "better" to return to Iran than to try to influence public opinion back home by staying in the U.S. that were forced to due to conditions in Iran caused by the shah. They said not enough schools were built because the shah wanted a nation of "dumbards" that were not against his policies.

Said Sheikholeslami, "We are not that happy here."

He said they came here because there were no jobs in Iran. Also, British universities are too hard to get into and are too expensive.

Said Shiekholeslami, "All we want is America's understanding—not its support."
A proposal by Director of Admissions Gerald Holley to shorten the drop period from three to two weeks has drawn criticism from some students. In particular, ASI officials have expressed disapproval of the plan.

Jeff Land, ASI vice president, said he would open sooner, in time for students to take advantage of them. Holley's recommendation, he said, is important to students trying to decide whether to drop a class would not be fair to them. Students cannot determine in just two weeks whether or not they want to continue taking the course.

While Holley, ASI internal affairs assistant, said it is important to students trying to decide whether to drop a class, it would be too difficult for them.

Holley's recommendation regarding the drop period mentioned that class spaces for "adds" would open sooner, in time for students to take advantage of them.

The need to improve students' chances to add classes after regular registration is just as great as any necessity for students to be able to take their time to drop it. It was brought out in a Mustang Daily article last spring that students close to graduation are disadvantages to the plan. It may be even found that just talking to professors after the second or third class session will reveal much about what the professor is like and what the class entails.

With a two-week drop period, less time will be lost for professors and students. Currently, students waste their own time as well as that of professors and other students when they remain on a class list for two weeks. It is difficult to get a handle on classes on the road when teachers do not know what membership will be. This is particularly true in classes which require group projects.

Even students who are sure they have these weeks in which to make up their minds would probably be surprised at how quickly they adjust to a two-week drop period. They might find rather than restrict their "choice" of classes, the change in drop policy would help them become more efficient in decision making. As least, most students would learn to look at the options available.

Holley's recommendation to shorten the drop period to two weeks should be supported by students and faculty. While there are disadvantages to the plan, they can be kept as brief as possible. Inordinately long hours and lack of course clarity or slipshod administration.

The policy of Mustang Daily regarding letters and submitted material is as follows:

Letters should be submitted to the Mustang Daily office in Graphic Arts Building 226, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays or by mail to Editor, Mustang Daily, City, Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, CA 93407. Letters must include the writer's signature and sayings. The Mustang carries the right to edit letters for length, style, and content. Letters should be kept as brief as possible. Anonymity is not an answer. Students who are asked to learn in sessions conditions should understand that—more than the teachers who establish such inappropriate environments.

What it will eventually take for teachers and students, parents and children, managers and employees or any other group of people burdened to trust one another's motives enough to be able to work together is direct knowledge of their constituents what it is that they both really want. What specific "hidden agenda" is operative.

Yes, there are a lot of us out here who are too busy to free the hostages.
American dream text of lecture

Dr. Raghaven Iyer, professor of political science at University of California Santa Barbara, will speak on “The Unfinished American Dream” Thursday, Nov. 15 at 11 a.m. in University Union 220.

Iyer will discuss how the “American Dream” has changed and how it might be continued. The talk will center around a promised made in 1888 by Edward Bellamy for a guaranteed annual income.

Iyer’s speech will be the last of the Humanities series of programs on Thrusdays. Issues raised in Iyer’s speech will continue Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Discover Motor Inn. Panelists from Cal Poly and the community will present critiques of Iyer’s thesis to which he will respond. Participation from the audience will be encouraged at the discussion. Dr. Iyer was educated at the University of Bombay and Oxford University. He was a Rhodes Scholar and president of the Oxford University, taught political philosophy at Oxford for several years and is currently professor of philosophy at the universities of Ghana, Oslo and Chicago.

“University For Man” offers exciting menu of tantalizing courses and the brains of Edward Luna, resident director of Yosemite Hall, and Housing Coordinator Stephen Lamb. They came up with the idea last summer and have been working on it since.

David Robinson, lobbyist for the CSSA formed a board of directors, which includes the following members: President Pro Temporum of the State Senate James Mills, State Assembly Minority Leader Carol Hailey, Secretary of State March Fong Eu, Assembly Majority Leader Howard Berman, and State Controller Kenneth Cory.

“We’re proud to have a board of directors which reflects such diverse views,” said CSSA Legislative Director Steven Glazer.

Glazer is executive officer of the director of the Coalition and student lobby coordinator.

for Fremont Hall and participants on the committee said “What we’re doing now is letting everybody know that Smorgasbord is an opportunity for students, faculty, staff—anyone—to reach any type of class.”

“We want to have people come together and know that we can use Smorgasbord as an outlet to reach other people with similar interests.”

Yosemite Hall Director Ed Luna is involved with Smorgasbord and he has had previous experience with this type of education at the University for Man in Manhattan, Kansas.

Some of the classes the University For Man offers are:

Draft Watch (Oh Hell No We Won’t Go)—a discussion of stopping the draft if it is ever again reconstituted. Candle Making—with a variety of scents and colors. Whisky Tastings—come make, then eat, your own French toast.

Students merge to fight tuition

BY ANDREW JOWERS

In order to combine the possible future threat of tuition, two student representative lobby groups have formed the Coalition of Tuition-Free Higher Education.

The coalition is sponsored by the University of California Alumni Association and the California State Student Association, which represents the 310,000 students in the California State University and Colleges system.

The coalition will allow participation from the Panthers from Cal Poly and the Cal Poly Student Association, which has 200 members in the university.

The “Coalition’s Statement Against Tuition” was written recently that the Coalition estimates that the University will lose 8,800 students and the California State University will lose 8,800 students.

The coalition is entirely up to the instructor of each workshop.

“Smorgasbord could possibly have any classes or different ideas. The choice is entirely up to the students,” said Luna.

Luna said Smorgasbord will be a self-perpetuating thing.

Workshop and interest sign-ups begin Thursday. Sign-ups will be held in the University Union Plaza from 11 a.m. until noon and at campus dining halls. The deadline to sign up for people who wish to teach a workshop is no later than the end of this quarter.

“Until this point, everything is free. When talk about free, we don’t mean only costs of work. The only limit to what we can do is one’s imagination,” said Luna.

Court upholds Diggs decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal appeals court on Wednesday upheld the conviction of Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr., on charges he inflated the salaries of employees to pay his personal and congressional expenses.

The 2-1 ruling by a U.S. Court of Appeals panel affirmed the decision of a U.S. District Court jury that found Diggs, D-Mich., guilty of 11 counts of mail fraud and 18 counts of making false statements to a government agency.

Israeli officials resign post

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—The Israeli government Wednesday reaffirmed its decision to expel the Arab mayor of Nablus, who authorities claim is sympathetic to PLO terrorism.

The Cabinet decision brought a rash of resignations from Arab officials in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

On Thursday, 25 Arab officials resigned, including the mayor of Nablus, who had been kept in jail for two years. The Israeli government said it would not release him until the end of the month.

An earthquake in Iran kills 500

(AP)—A strong earthquake flattened at least 11 villages in northeast Iran early Wednesday, killing at least 500 persons, rescue workers said.

Scores were reported injured in the quake that Ayatollah Khomeini, the nation's revolutionary leader, called "tragic and frightening.""It is possible the death-toll will exceed 1,000," said Mohammed Ali Shirazi, reached by telephone from Nicosia, Cyprus.

Shirazi, son of Ayatollah Ali Khomeini, the religious leader, said the quake struck before dawn local time, crumbling dwellings on top of thousands of sleeping villagers.

The tremor was felt in Mashhad, 50 miles east of Tehran, but none of the famous domed mosques, tall minarets or other buildings in the holy city suffered any damage, Shirazi said.

The quake measured 6.7 on the Richter scale, the U.S. Geological Survey in Denver reported, but Tehran Radio, the national broadcaster, placed the quake's magnitude at 5.6.

Tehran Radio said the quake shook a wide area of the province from Tabas, on the border with Afghanistan, to Qaen, 200 miles south of Mashhad.

The official Iranian Press news agency said the epicenter of the quake was 150 miles south of Mashhad in mountain country near Qaen, about 60 miles west of the border with Afghanistan.

Jackson and Paul Dickens are 'backs' together again

BY DON FAUL

Loose on the field.

And now the seventh ranked Mustangs have one two punch that probably cannot be matched in division II football, featuring Jackson and Paul Dickens.

Although sidelined, Jackson said he is glad to see his illness come to an end.

Injured early in the third game of the season, Jackson had previously carried the football 60 times, for 317 yards. He had already scored 30 points and was on pace with a 1,000 yard season when he strained the ligaments in his ankle.

The injury sidelined Jackson for four weeks until he played against Puget Sound. The running back carried the ball three times in Poly's loss to Puget Sound.

During those four weeks, Jackson watched from the sidelines as Paul Dickens replaced him at the tailback position.

Dickens subsequently has rushed for over 1,000 yards and has been named the player of the week three times. Against Portland State, Dickens fell three yards short of Jackson's single game rushing record of 208 yards and tied Jackson's scoring record with 24 points in the game.

Sidelined for the first time in his football career, Jackson said, "It didn't feel too good. I spent most of my time on the sidelines talking with Paul (Dickens)."

As the 6 foot, 200 pound running back watched Dickens challenge his own marks, Jackson said, "I felt good. I knew he had the potential to do things like that."

Offensive backfield coach, Dave Gross, says Dickens and the rest of the backfield have now established themselves and will continue to see playing time with the return of Jackson.

Last week, Jackson carried the ball for 133 yards in 18 carries against Cal Poly Pomona. Dickens rushed for 115 yards.

Glad to be teamed with Dickens, Jackson said, "I feel good with him next to me because everything isn't on me like it was last year."

Dickens season performance has put him 208 yards short of Poly's single season rushing record of 1244 yards. Jackson said he'd like to help Dickens break the record, "If it's my block that gets it for him then I'll make me all the happier."

Although Jackson felt the 1978 season was an adjustment year for him, he finished fifth in the nation in scoring with 74 points on 208 carries. He helped lead the Mustangs to its first playoff berth since 1972.

Despite playing injured for the last five games of the 1978 season, Jackson was eighth in the nation in scoring with 74 points. He also ran the longest run in Mustang history with a 87 yard run.

Although Jackson was missed nearly half of the season this year, he still set his goals for next year. He plans to break the Mustangs' single season rushing record of 2570 yards.

"If it's broke, it's no double about that," the industrial arts major said.

Jackson's main goal, however, is a national team championship he said. The team has great potential, Jackson says, and he feels that next year the Mustangs will be even stronger-with several returning lettermen.

"With one year of eligibility left, Jackson hopes to be a more of a leader next year. He says he plans to work even harder during the off season to try to improve his speed."

Recruited from Roosevelt High School in Fresno, the 21 year-old junior is playing under a full football scholarship.

Poly matmen twist with Arizona

Cal Poly's wrestling team opened the 1979-80 season against an opponent it could not have last year—Arizona—tonight at 8 p.m. in Cal Poly's Main Gym.

Last year's editions of the Sun Devils, which finished third in the NCAA Division I championships after a strong second-place showing in the Pacific 10 finals, defeated Coach Vaghan Hitchcock's Mustangs twice by scores of 20-13 and 21-13 last year.

NCAA's: Another returning All-American, 118-pounder Randy Hoffman (seventh in 1979 NCAA's) has been sidelined because of mononucleosis.

Junior AAU world champions Dan Severn returns from a reddish year at 190 pounds and figures to bolster the Sun Devils, who were 9-3 in dual meets a year ago.

While Arizona State returns nine of 10 starters, Cal Poly has nine returning starters of its own, although only seven or eight will see action tonight.

Tom Monti, a two year starter at 134 pounds, will give way to junior Chris Cain, who compiled a 70-1 record and two state titles while at Palma Junior College the last two years. Cain beat Monti in last week's intramural meet, 7-4. Following tonight's dual meet, Cal Poly is excoed in the Boise State Invitational on Friday and Saturday, and returns home Sunday to host Cal State Fullerton at 2 p.m.

Hitchcock's 125-0-1 record against California collegiate foes over the last 17 years will be on the line.

Men, women singers debut in Glee Club concert

BY CINDY HSUANG
Daily Staff Writer

A new Glee Club director guide chorus of 70 men's and women's voices in Chumash Auditorium Sunday when the group debuts in their first concert of the year.

The combined Men's and Women's Glee Clubs have been practicing for their concert since September, said director James Dearing. Dearing is new as director this year.

"This like a pre-Christmas concert," said Dearing. "We will perform a wide variety of music, from Poly to the current time."

This is the first time the Glee Clubs have performed in November, said Dearing. In the past, the groups performed in January and in April for their big event, Homecoming.

Dearing added a November performance to expose his students to more singing experiences. He said he hopes to add more performances next year so there will be a subscription series of five concerts.

Tickets for the concert can be purchased for $2 for the general public and $1.50 for students at the ASI ticket office. The concert will begin at 3 p.m. on November 18.

Dearing said he expects 800 people to attend the performance and fill up Chumash Auditorium.

A newly purchased $12,000 Positiv organ will be played for the first time in the concert. Dearing said the organ is an exact replica of the type of organ used in 1600.

"It's a very delicate instrument and goes especially nice with voices," he said. "The quality of the tone blends in with men's and women's voices without being obtrusive."

The men's and women's groups will sing some Renaissance music composed in South America, French and German carols, and Avant Garde music sung in duet by the Women's Glee Club. Eleven members of the University Symphonic Band will form a chamber ensemble and perform with the men's Glee Club for one piece.

The Glee Clubs received personal invitations from the University of Guayaquil in Peru to represent the United States in a world-wide concert this year. Dearing said the groups were asked to participate in Ecuador's International Choral Festival in October, but couldn't afford the travel expenses.

The Glee Clubs receive money from ASI for travel expenses for touring California, and also have income from ticket sales. Dearing said he hopes to raise enough money in the future to attend the International Choral Festival in October, 1941.

Auditions for the Glee clubs are held during the first week of school. Dearing will be holding another audition during the first week of winter quarter to fill the vacancies from some members who will be graduating.
