Local groups push for peace during threat of war with Iraq

Peace walk, public forums and a speech by a Marine who refused to fight will highlight SLO’s Seventh Annual Create Peace Week

By Steven T. Jones

The Seventh Annual Create Peace Week, which begins today, is marked by irony. The series of events, which is designed to promote peaceful conflict resolution and to coincide with Martin Luther King Jr.’s birthday, comes at a time when the United States is preparing for a war in the Persian Gulf.

“It’s an eerie coincidence that efforts can make a difference and to show people that we can get beyond war,” said Nancy Culver, the spokesperson for SLO Mothers for Peace.

Create Peace Week is sponsored by the Central Coast Peace and Environmental Network, a coalition of several local environmental and peace groups including Educators for Social Responsibility, Passion For Peace, Students for Social Responsibility, SLO Mothers for Peace, Physicians for Social Responsibility, ECOSLO, the Unitarian Universalist Fellowship and many others.

This year’s theme is “Choose Peace.”

“Our objective is to raise people’s awareness that individual actions can make a difference and to show people that we can get beyond war,” Culver said.

The week kicks off tonight at 7:30 with the film “Berkeley in the Sixties” being shown in the Cal Poly Theatre. Richard Krejsa, a Cal Poly professor and the founder of Passion For Peace, said the film is a personal and peace group’s task force supervisor Jim Christian said four grams of cocaine, two sets of scales, hypodermic syringes, inhaling straws and records of cocaine sales were discovered in the house.

Perlick said the arrest does not violate the moratorium on drug sales which was imposed last year.

Although Johnson is not lecturing in any classes this quarter, he is on the payroll. The university placed Johnson on a one-month leave with pay after his arrest.

The arrest, for possession of cocaine and possession with intent for sale, occurred at Johnson’s San Luis Obispo home after police served him with a search warrant.

At the time of the search, narcotics task force supervisor Jim Christian said four grams of cocaine, two sets of scales, hypodermic syringes, inhaling straws and records of cocaine sales were discovered in the house.

Perlick said the arrest does not violate the moratorium on drug sales which was imposed last year.

A Cal Poly economics lecturer who was arrested and booked for drug charges in October is currently on special assignment for the university while awaiting his jury trial in superior court on Feb. 25.

Michael Johnson, 44, is writing an accreditation report for Cal Poly, said Walter Perlick, interim dean of the School of Business. Perlick did not know the term of the special assignment.

Off-campus housing complexes join forces to combat high vacancy rates

Local housing complexes are banding together in an effort to slow a growing vacancy rate.

By Karen Travis

Although Johnson is not lecturing in any classes this quarter, he is on the payroll. The university placed Johnson on a one-month leave with pay after his arrest.

The arrest, for possession of cocaine and possession with intent for sale, occurred at Johnson’s San Luis Obispo home after police served him with a search warrant.

At the time of the search, narcotics task force supervisor Jim Christian said four grams of cocaine, two sets of scales, hypodermic syringes, inhaling straws and records of cocaine sales were discovered in the house.

Perlick said the arrest does not violate the moratorium on drug sales which was imposed last year.

A Cal Poly economics lecturer who was arrested and booked for drug charges in October is currently on special assignment for the university while awaiting his jury trial in superior court on Feb. 25.

Michael Johnson, 44, is writing an accreditation report for Cal Poly, said Walter Perlick, interim dean of the School of Business. Perlick did not know the term of the special assignment.

Off-campus housing complexes join forces to combat high vacancy rates

Local housing complexes are banding together in an effort to slow a growing vacancy rate.

By Karen Travis

Although Johnson is not lecturing in any classes this quarter, he is on the payroll. The university placed Johnson on a one-month leave with pay after his arrest.

The arrest, for possession of cocaine and possession with intent for sale, occurred at Johnson’s San Luis Obispo home after police served him with a search warrant.

At the time of the search, narcotics task force supervisor Jim Christian said four grams of cocaine, two sets of scales, hypodermic syringes, inhaling straws and records of cocaine sales were discovered in the house.

Perlick said the arrest does not violate the moratorium on drug sales which was imposed last year.

A Cal Poly economics lecturer who was arrested and booked for drug charges in October is currently on special assignment for the university while awaiting his jury trial in superior court on Feb. 25.

Michael Johnson, 44, is writing an accreditation report for Cal Poly, said Walter Perlick, interim dean of the School of Business. Perlick did not know the term of the special assignment.

Off-campus housing complexes join forces to combat high vacancy rates

Local housing complexes are banding together in an effort to slow a growing vacancy rate.

By Karen Travis

Although Johnson is not lecturing in any classes this quarter, he is on the payroll. The university placed Johnson on a one-month leave with pay after his arrest.

The arrest, for possession of cocaine and possession with intent for sale, occurred at Johnson’s San Luis Obispo home after police served him with a search warrant.

At the time of the search, narcotics task force supervisor Jim Christian said four grams of cocaine, two sets of scales, hypodermic syringes, inhaling straws and records of cocaine sales were discovered in the house.

Perlick said the arrest does not violate the moratorium on drug sales which was imposed last year.

A Cal Poly economics lecturer who was arrested and booked for drug charges in October is currently on special assignment for the university while awaiting his jury trial in superior court on Feb. 25.

Michael Johnson, 44, is writing an accreditation report for Cal Poly, said Walter Perlick, interim dean of the School of Business. Perlick did not know the term of the special assignment.

Off-campus housing complexes join forces to combat high vacancy rates

Local housing complexes are banding together in an effort to slow a growing vacancy rate.

By Karen Travis

Although Johnson is not lecturing in any classes this quarter, he is on the payroll. The university placed Johnson on a one-month leave with pay after his arrest.

The arrest, for possession of cocaine and possession with intent for sale, occurred at Johnson’s San Luis Obispo home after police served him with a search warrant.

At the time of the search, narcotics task force supervisor Jim Christian said four grams of cocaine, two sets of scales, hypodermic syringes, inhaling straws and records of cocaine sales were discovered in the house.

Perlick said the arrest does not violate the moratorium on drug sales which was imposed last year.

A Cal Poly economics lecturer who was arrested and booked for drug charges in October is currently on special assignment for the university while awaiting his jury trial in superior court on Feb. 25.

Michael Johnson, 44, is writing an accreditation report for Cal Poly, said Walter Perlick, interim dean of the School of Business. Perlick did not know the term of the special assignment.

Off-campus housing complexes join forces to combat high vacancy rates

Local housing complexes are banding together in an effort to slow a growing vacancy rate.

By Karen Travis

Although Johnson is not lecturing in any classes this quarter, he is on the payroll. The university placed Johnson on a one-month leave with pay after his arrest.

The arrest, for possession of cocaine and possession with intent for sale, occurred at Johnson’s San Luis Obispo home after police served him with a search warrant.

At the time of the search, narcotics task force supervisor Jim Christian said four grams of cocaine, two sets of scales, hypodermic syringes, inhaling straws and records of cocaine sales were discovered in the house.

Perlick said the arrest does not violate the moratorium on drug sales which was imposed last year.

A Cal Poly economics lecturer who was arrested and booked for drug charges in October is currently on special assignment for the university while awaiting his jury trial in superior court on Feb. 25.

Michael Johnson, 44, is writing an accreditation report for Cal Poly, said Walter Perlick, interim dean of the School of Business. Perlick did not know the term of the special assignment.
To understand war is to understand peace.

Students should take the opportunity to learn more about the complicated events in the Middle East and voice their opinion about the crisis during Create Peace Week. The seventh annual event starts tonight (see page one for a complete schedule).

You may feel safe in San Luis Obispo. Iraq is a long way away, and sand now brings pleasant summer memories. But unlike Vietnam, college students are not exempt from fighting in this war. You can and will be touched by a war.

Whether you are opposed to or in favor of the U.S. presence in the Persian Gulf, it's time for you to take action. It's time for you to become more educated about the situation in the Gulf. It is time to speak your mind. It is time to voice your opinion now, at least your conscience will be clear. It's time for you to become more educated about the situation in the Middle East and voice your opinion about the crisis during Create Peace Week. The seventh annual event starts tonight (see page one for a complete schedule).

As we drift through this complex soup called life, a few things become apparent. The great political questions that have plagued humankind for all eternity simply are not getting answered. But do not despair. In the following, I will answer the one question that has consumed the collective mind of our entire generation. I will answer the question that haunts the lips of college students everywhere, at every party, in every dorm room. I will answer the question that makes up, yes, the very breath of existence. Do Shaggy and Shaggy smoke marijuana or not?

And the answer is damn straight they did. Loads and loads of the stuff. Barrels of it. And they continue to do so, in front of women and children, in the form of cartoon reruns. They are eating away at the moral fiber of our country and we are sitting idly by, humming their theme song, allowing these degenerates to break laws under the pretense of solving mysteries.

But I'm not one to make accusations without proof. Let us allow the facts to speak for themselves. It is Shaggy's claim vs. Shaggy and Scoob submit the following pieces of evidence for your perusal.

• The Mystery Man: What, pray, tell, is the mystery, Scooby? Where you keep your stash, perhaps? And teenagers riding in a van? In Georgia, this alone constitutes possession of narcotics.

• Animals With Communication Abilities: Come on, they're there, communicating! And why exactly do Scoob and Scoob submit the following pieces of evidence for your perusal.

• The Theme Song: If anyone has seen these guys devour pizza? Remind you of anything? I mean, three, four, five pizzas and the entire pizza is history. These boys have a serious case of the marijuana munchies, no doubt about it. And what, exactly, are Scooby Snacks made of? And why will Scoob and Shag do anything to get them?

• The Scene Song: If anyone is still skeptical, here is the coup de viile. Analyze the theme song and things start to fall into place. It goes something like this: "Scooby Dooby Doo, Where are you? Can't do a thing without you." Or maybe it was written, "Scooby Dooby Doo, Just Double" to his friends. Or "Double Doo" if he was filling out his tax forms (which he wouldn't, of course, being a dog and all). And what about the rest, "Who's There? Can't do a thing without you?" Sound like someone looking to score narcotic substances? I rest my case.

As we drift through this complex soup called life, a few things become apparent. The great political questions that have plagued humankind for all eternity simply are not getting answered. But do not despair. In the following, I will answer the one question that has consumed the collective mind of our entire generation. I will answer the question that haunts the lips of college students everywhere, at every party, in every dorm room. I will answer the question that makes up, yes, the very breath of existence. Do Shaggy and Shaggy smoke marijuana or not?

And the answer is damn straight they did. Loads and loads of the stuff. Barrels of it. And they continue to do so, in front of women and children, in the form of cartoon reruns. They are eating away at the moral fiber of our country and we are sitting idly by, humming their theme song, allowing these degenerates to break laws under the pretense of solving mysteries.

But I'm not one to make accusations without proof. Let us allow the facts to speak for themselves. It is Shaggy's claim vs. Shaggy and Scoob submit the following pieces of evidence for your perusal.

• The Mystery Man: What, pray, tell, is the mystery, Scooby? Where you keep your stash, perhaps? And teenagers riding in a van? In Georgia, this alone constitutes possession of narcotics.
Japan leader seeks improved Korean ties

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Japanese Prime Minister Toshiki Kaifu Thursday concluded two days of talks with Korean officials aimed at improving relations still strained by the memory of more than 30 years of brutal Japanese rule.

Steady an optimistic note at the end of his first visit since becoming prime minister in 1989, Kaifu said his trip had laid the basis for a "future-oriented, friendly relationship" between the nations.

The Japanese leader, who returned home Thursday, brought a major gift from Japan: a decision to abolish by 1992 a controversial law that has been a major sore point in relations, symbolizes to many Koreans what they feel is their second-class status in Japanese eyes. Japan ruled Korea as a colony from 1910-1945.

Yet Kaifu's visit Thursday to a park commemorating Korea's struggle for independence was marred by small anti-Japanese protests in which two people were injured.

U.N. to offer peaceful supervised withdrawal

(AP) — The U.N. secretary-general, setting off on a peace mission, will propose a U.N.-sponsored process for a peaceful end to Lebanon's civil war.

"We've gut fewer people to do the same amount of work," Public Safety Director Louis Dixon said.
Poly counseling services solace to individuals in need

Peace week kicks off with film

"Berkeley in the Sixties" makes its Central Coast debut at Poly

By Amy Reardon

The Cal Poly Theatre will show a critically acclaimed documentary film tonight about the student movement at UC Berkeley during the 1960s.

"Berkeley in the Sixties" is brought to this area as a single film event of the San Luis Obispo Film Festival and is available through Create Peace Week.

In addition, Dee said, the pressure in the Saudi Persian Gulf makes the film extremely relevant today.

In addition, the film will empower Cal Poly students into starting a anti-war movement.

"I'd like to see that Cal Poly students are more politically astute, that they will take action before it's too late.

Tickets are available for $6 at the Cal Poly Theatre, SLO Record and Big Music.

The film begins tonight at 7:30 in the Cal Poly Theatre.

PEACE WEEK

From page 1

By Amy Reardon

By Amy Reardon

The Cal Poly Theatre will show a critically acclaimed documentary film tonight about the student movement at UC Berkeley during the 1960s.

"Berkeley in the Sixties" is brought to this area as a single film event of the San Luis Obispo Film Festival and is available through Create Peace Week.

In addition, Dee said, the pressure in the Saudi Persian Gulf makes the film extremely relevant today.

In addition, the film will empower Cal Poly students into starting an anti-war movement.

"I'd like to see that Cal Poly students are more politically astute, that they will take action before it's too late.

Tickets are available for $6 at the Cal Poly Theatre, SLO Record and Big Music.

The film begins tonight at 7:30 in the Cal Poly Theatre.

PEACE WEEK

From page 1

By Amy Reardon

The Cal Poly Theatre will show a critically acclaimed documentary film tonight about the student movement at UC Berkeley during the 1960s.

"Berkeley in the Sixties" is brought to this area as a single film event of the San Luis Obispo Film Festival and is available through Create Peace Week.

In addition, Dee said, the pressure in the Saudi Persian Gulf makes the film extremely relevant today.

In addition, the film will empower Cal Poly students into starting an anti-war movement.

"I'd like to see that Cal Poly students are more politically astute, that they will take action before it's too late.

Tickets are available for $6 at the Cal Poly Theatre, SLO Record and Big Music.

The film begins tonight at 7:30 in the Cal Poly Theatre.

PEACE WEEK

From page 1

By Amy Reardon

The Cal Poly Theatre will show a critically acclaimed documentary film tonight about the student movement at UC Berkeley during the 1960s.

"Berkeley in the Sixties" is brought to this area as a single film event of the San Luis Obispo Film Festival and is available through Create Peace Week.

In addition, Dee said, the pressure in the Saudi Persian Gulf makes the film extremely relevant today.

In addition, the film will empower Cal Poly students into starting an anti-war movement.

"I'd like to see that Cal Poly students are more politically astute, that they will take action before it's too late.

Tickets are available for $6 at the Cal Poly Theatre, SLO Record and Big Music.

The film begins tonight at 7:30 in the Cal Poly Theatre.

PEACE WEEK

From page 1

By Amy Reardon

The Cal Poly Theatre will show a critically acclaimed documentary film tonight about the student movement at UC Berkeley during the 1960s.

"Berkeley in the Sixties" is brought to this area as a single film event of the San Luis Obispo Film Festival and is available through Create Peace Week.

In addition, Dee said, the pressure in the Saudi Persian Gulf makes the film extremely relevant today.

In addition, the film will empower Cal Poly students into starting an anti-war movement.

"I'd like to see that Cal Poly students are more politically astute, that they will take action before it's too late.

Tickets are available for $6 at the Cal Poly Theatre, SLO Record and Big Music.

The film begins tonight at 7:30 in the Cal Poly Theatre.

PEACE WEEK

From page 1

By Amy Reardon

The Cal Poly Theatre will show a critically acclaimed documentary film tonight about the student movement at UC Berkeley during the 1960s.

"Berkeley in the Sixties" is brought to this area as a single film event of the San Luis Obispo Film Festival and is available through Create Peace Week.

In addition, Dee said, the pressure in the Saudi Persian Gulf makes the film extremely relevant today.

In addition, the film will empower Cal Poly students into starting an anti-war movement.

"I'd like to see that Cal Poly students are more politically astute, that they will take action before it's too late.

Tickets are available for $6 at the Cal Poly Theatre, SLO Record and Big Music.

The film begins tonight at 7:30 in the Cal Poly Theatre.

PEACE WEEK

From page 1

By Amy Reardon

The Cal Poly Theatre will show a critically acclaimed documentary film tonight about the student movement at UC Berkeley during the 1960s.

"Berkeley in the Sixties" is brought to this area as a single film event of the San Luis Obispo Film Festival and is available through Create Peace Week.

In addition, Dee said, the pressure in the Saudi Persian Gulf makes the film extremely relevant today.

In addition, the film will empower Cal Poly students into starting an anti-war movement.

"I'd like to see that Cal Poly students are more politically astute, that they will take action before it's too late.

Tickets are available for $6 at the Cal Poly Theatre, SLO Record and Big Music.

The film begins tonight at 7:30 in the Cal Poly Theatre.

PEACE WEEK

From page 1

By Amy Reardon

The Cal Poly Theatre will show a critically acclaimed documentary film tonight about the student movement at UC Berkeley during the 1960s.

"Berkeley in the Sixties" is brought to this area as a single film event of the San Luis Obispo Film Festival and is available through Create Peace Week.

In addition, Dee said, the pressure in the Saudi Persian Gulf makes the film extremely relevant today.

In addition, the film will empower Cal Poly students into starting an anti-war movement.

"I'd like to see that Cal Poly students are more politically astute, that they will take action before it's too late.

Tickets are available for $6 at the Cal Poly Theatre, SLO Record and Big Music.

The film begins tonight at 7:30 in the Cal Poly Theatre.

PEACE WEEK

From page 1

By Amy Reardon

The Cal Poly Theatre will show a critically acclaimed documentary film tonight about the student movement at UC Berkeley during the 1960s.

"Berkeley in the Sixties" is brought to this area as a single film event of the San Luis Obispo Film Festival and is available through Create Peace Week.

In addition, Dee said, the pressure in the Saudi Persian Gulf makes the film extremely relevant today.

In addition, the film will empower Cal Poly students into starting an anti-war movement.

"I'd like to see that Cal Poly students are more politically astute, that they will take action before it's too late.

Tickets are available for $6 at the Cal Poly Theatre, SLO Record and Big Music.

The film begins tonight at 7:30 in the Cal Poly Theatre.

PEACE WEEK

From page 1

By Amy Reardon

The Cal Poly Theatre will show a critically acclaimed documentary film tonight about the student movement at UC Berkeley during the 1960s.

"Berkeley in the Sixties" is brought to this area as a single film event of the San Luis Obispo Film Festival and is available through Create Peace Week.

In addition, Dee said, the pressure in the Saudi Persian Gulf makes the film extremely relevant today.

In addition, the film will empower Cal Poly students into starting an anti-war movement.

"I'd like to see that Cal Poly students are more politically astute, that they will take action before it's too late.

Tickets are available for $6 at the Cal Poly Theatre, SLO Record and Big Music.

The film begins tonight at 7:30 in the Cal Poly Theatre.

PEACE WEEK

From page 1

By Amy Reardon

The Cal Poly Theatre will show a critically acclaimed documentary film tonight about the student movement at UC Berkeley during the 1960s.

"Berkeley in the Sixties" is brought to this area as a single film event of the San Luis Obispo Film Festival and is available through Create Peace Week.

In addition, Dee said, the pressure in the Saudi Persian Gulf makes the film extremely relevant today.

In addition, the film will empower Cal Poly students into starting an anti-war movement.

"I'd like to see that Cal Poly students are more politically astute, that they will take action before it's too late.

Tickets are available for $6 at the Cal Poly Theatre, SLO Record and Big Music.

The film begins tonight at 7:30 in the Cal Poly Theatre.
University's condom machines widely used since installation

But despite selling 4,000 annually, Poly is experiencing some vandalism problems

By A. Mortimer Naughton

Two years ago, agriculture management professor Steve McGary warned the Student Senate (now called the Board of Directors) about a menace that would give the university a "truck stop image."

Now that the debate is over, it seems that condom vending machines in the university's bathrooms have been widely accepted.

About 4,000 condoms are bought in the relative privacy of the campus bathrooms each year. Students in the dorms do not seem to mind the condoms' presence either. Leadership Development Specialist Troy Gilbert pointed out that nearly all dorm residents have never known a time without the machines.

Dale Addey, a resident adviser in Sierra Madre last year, said, "I think most people were glad to have them there."

The only problem the university is having with the program is vandalism. Last year, machines were pried off the walls from bathrooms in Whitney and Fremont Halls and close to 1,200 condoms were stolen from dispensers throughout the campus.

Actually, condom machines are the most frequently vandalized vending equipment at Cal Poly. This follows a trend similar to the rest of the nation and probably can be attributed to the fact that it is much easier to be rebellious in private.

Since the Foundation must annually replace about four machines because of the efforts of vandals, the program runs at a loss. But the sales were never seen as a promising money maker.

"The financial goal of condom sales is a break-even point," said Dale Addey, a resident adviser in Sierra Madre last year, said, "I think most people were glad to have them there."

The problem the university is having with the program is vandalism. Last year, machines were pried off the walls from bathrooms in Whitney and Fremont Halls and close to 1,200 condoms were stolen from dispensers throughout the campus.

Actually, condom machines are the most frequently vandalized vending equipment at Cal Poly. This follows a trend similar to the rest of the nation and probably can be attributed to the fact that it is much easier to be rebellious in private.

Since the Foundation must annually replace about four machines because of the efforts of vandals, the program runs at a loss. But the sales were never seen as a promising money maker.

"The financial goal of condom sales is a break-even point," said Dale Addey, a resident adviser in Sierra Madre last year, said, "I think most people were glad to have them there."

The condom vending machines at Cal Poly have been widely used since they were brought to campus in 1989.

---

SUN SIMON SMITH/Mustang Daily
CONDOM

From page 5
Kathleen Pennington, advertising coordinator for Campus Dining, "Foundation views condom sales as a service rather than a profit potential."

The condom machines were installed on campus in response to the AIDS virus and after considerable debate within the Student Senate. Some senators worried about the mixed messages the AIDS virus and after condom sales passed by the Student Senate on March 1, 1989.

But the fears of sexually transmitted diseases overrode those arguments. "We are not dealing with a moral issue but with a health issue," said Peter Goddyn during one of the debates. Goddyn was the author of the resolution that might be received by dorm residents who are told that cohabitation is against the rules, even though condoms are available in the dorms.

The machines were installed later that year. Since then, the machines in the men's and women's bathrooms in the University Union are the leading sellers. Yosemite Hall leads the forms in purchases. And strangely enough, November has twice been the most popular month for sales. The true success of the program is still cloudy since the Health Center could not say whether the occurrence of STD's has been affected by the condom sales.

But at least with the parking situation being as bad as it is, Professor McGary needn't worry about too many truckers passing through.

WORLD

From page 3
war, President Bush said, there are "values worth fighting for."

Five days before the U.N. deadline for giving up the emirate or face possible war, peace efforts intensified.

Perez de Cuellar's peacekeeping proposal calls for a U.N. force to monitor an Iraqi withdrawal and establish a buffer zone between them and the U.S.-led multinational forces.

Under the plan, the U.S.-led forces could complete their own pullout after the Iraqi withdrawal, and the Kuwaiti government would ultimately be restored.

FOOD

From page 3

Chicken and Onions

Here's lesson number two: Apply for a Visa or Mastercard along with a checking account and the rate on the card will drop a whole percentage point. We'll rebate the first year's membership fee and make applying relatively painless.

Lesson two: You'll have unlimited ATM usage with no service charge on Visa or Mastercard along with a checking account when you maintain at least a $100.00 balance. This balance requirement drops down to $1.00 during the summer. So you can keep stocked up on suntan oil without having to close your account and reopen it when it's time for school.

And if you feel like getting a little extra credit in communications, use the free phone we're throwing in to spice up that drab dorm room. You'll also get a surprise free gift that'll help you organize your finances.

So open your checking account today. After all, at Security Pacific all majors get A+ treatment.

Chicken and Onions

Preparation: 1 hour

Yield: 8 servings

1 chicken
6 small onions
-1/2 cup butter
-6 small onions
-1 tbl. flour
-1 chicken
-6 small onions
1 tsp. each of allspice, nutmeg and white pepper
-1 tbl. black pepper
-1/2 tsp. each of allspice, nutmeg and white pepper
-1/4 cup lemon juice

Heat the butter in a pan, add the cut-up chicken and whole onions. Brown for 10-15 minutes.

Remove the chicken and onions. Drain most of the butter, but leave 2-3 tablespoons of it in the pan.

Add the flour to the remaining butter and stir.

Place the chicken in a large, oven-safe pot. Set the onions aside.

Add the butter-flour mixture and the rest of the spices to the 2 cups of boiling water.

Pour the water mixture over the chicken and place in the oven at 375 degrees.

Cook for one hour. Then add the onions.

Cook for an additional half hour, until the chicken is tender.

Remove the chicken from the oven, and pour the lemon juice on top.

Serve with rice pilaf.
STATE

From page 3 -

ights in agreement with hand-painted banners reading "No U.S. War In the Middle East." "I don't think the American people want to go to war. We will lose a lot of young Americans, and we haven't even taken care of our Vietnam veterans," said Irene Vincent-Perez, an organizer with Tri-Cities Peace Action, in Fremont.

Some drivers dissented, making rude gestures toward demonstrators.

About 100 protesters from several peace organizations hung 14-foot banners over pedestrian bridges along Interstate 880 in Berkeley and Oakland; along freeways in Fremont and Hayward; over the Caldecott Tunnel along Interstate 24; and on several thoroughfares in San Francisco. The Tri-Cities group was organized six weeks ago following the Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait by the forces of Iraqi President Saddam Hussein. The group initially held a small prayer vigil but has expanded its anti-war protests as Tuesday's deadline approaches for armed conflict in the Middle East. More events are planned, organizers said.

"The Kuwaiti government is not likely to give in," Mott said. "They are quite aggressive and there is a lot of young people out there. Why are we fighting their war?" said Vincent-Perez.

Vincent-Perez, who is retired, said the peace activists' average age is higher and their tactics have changed since the Vietnam War of the 1960s.

"You see people from all walks of life now. Before, there were a lot of young people out there. We learned a lot from Vietnam. We saw our veterans come back and we question our government more," said Vincent-Perez.

In other actions, St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Fremont planned an ecumenical prayer vigil Monday when people of all faiths in the city will pray for peace during a one-hour service. The church hosts a speaker on peace and justice at all Sunday Masses, said church secretary Mary Rebello.

Brown considers running for U.S. Senate seat in '92

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Jerry Brown said Thursday he is seriously considering running for the U.S. Senate again in 1992 if he can contribute to reforms "which will put some life and freshness back into the political process."

The former governor, who is currently serving as chairman of the California Democratic Party, said in a telephone interview that he believes the political climate has changed since he lost a race for the U.S. Senate in 1982 to Republican Pete Wilson, who just resigned that seat this week when he assumed the governor's office.

"I'm definitely looking at it, thinking about it, and talking to people about it," Brown said of running for the Senate in 1992, when the seat of Wilson's appointed successor, Republican John Seymour, and retiring Democratic Sen. Alan Cranston will both be on the ballot.

Brown also said he didn't know which seat he might seek, although he noted that most politicians naturally would be attracted to the Cranston seat, since that will be a race for a full six-year term, while the winner of Wilson's former seat must run again in 1994 when the term to which Wilson was elected ends.

The 52-year-old former governor, who has been out of office for eight years after serving two terms as governor and running twice for the Democratic nomination for president, said he is "obviously attracted" to returning to public office.

But Brown said he is repelled by the never-ending demands on candidates to raise campaign contributions, and is "revolting with whether I want to get into that most grueling" of fund-raising which he said has contributed to the decay of the democratic process.

Brown's statement adds his name to the list of possible contenders for two California Senate seats. That list includes Los Angeles television commentator Bruce Herschensohn and conservative Republican Represent-ative William Dannemeyer, R-Fullerton, both of whom say they will not challenge newly appointed Senator John Seymour.

"I'm definitely looking at it, thinking about it, and talking to people about it," Brown said of running for the Senate in 1992, when the seat of Wilson's appointed successor, Republican John Seymour, and retiring Democratic Sen. Alan Cranston will both be on the ballot.

Brown also said he didn't know which seat he might seek, although he noted that most politicians naturally would be attracted to the Cranston seat, since that will be a race for a full six-year term, while the winner of Wilson's former seat must run again in 1994 when the term to which Wilson was elected ends.

The 52-year-old former governor, who has been out of office for eight years after serving two terms as governor and running twice for the Democratic nomination for president, said he is "obviously attracted" to returning to public office.

But Brown said he is repelled by the never-ending demands on candidates to raise campaign contributions, and is "revolting with whether I want to get into that most grueling" of fund-raising which he said has contributed to the decay of the democratic process.

Brown's statement adds his name to the list of possible contenders for two California Senate seats. That list includes Los Angeles television commentator Bruce Herschensohn and conservative Republican Representative William Dannemeyer, R-Fullerton, both of whom say they will not challenge newly appointed Senator John Seymour.

Brown considers running for U.S. Senate seat in '92

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Jerry Brown said Thursday he is seriously considering running for the U.S. Senate again in 1992 if he can contribute to reforms "which will put some life and freshness back into the political process."

The former governor, who is currently serving as chairman of the California Democratic Party, said in a telephone interview that he believes the political climate has changed since he lost a race for the U.S. Senate in 1982 to Republican Pete Wilson, who just resigned that seat this week when he assumed the governor's office.

"I'm definitely looking at it, thinking about it, and talking to people about it," Brown said of running for the Senate in 1992, when the seat of Wilson's appointed successor, Republican John Seymour, and retiring Democratic Sen. Alan Cranston will both be on the ballot.

Brown also said he didn't know which seat he might seek, although he noted that most politicians naturally would be attracted to the Cranston seat, since that will be a race for a full six-year term, while the winner of Wilson's former seat must run again in 1994 when the term to which Wilson was elected ends.

The 52-year-old former governor, who has been out of office for eight years after serving two terms as governor and running twice for the Democratic nomination for president, said he is "obviously attracted" to returning to public office.

But Brown said he is repelled by the never-ending demands on candidates to raise campaign contributions, and is "revolting with whether I want to get into that most grueling" of fund-raising which he said has contributed to the decay of the democratic process.

Brown's statement adds his name to the list of possible contenders for two California Senate seats. That list includes Los Angeles television commentator Bruce Herschensohn and conservative Republican Representative William Dannemeyer, R-Fullerton, both of whom say they will not challenge newly appointed Senator John Seymour.

J. Edgar Hoover is not alive and kicking. I don't recall any criminal act by an Arab-American in the continental U.S.A. in 200 years or more," Hijazi said. Hijazi, a naturalized U.S. citizen who is director of the center, referred to an FBI announcement early this week that agents would interview more than 200 Arab-American leaders across the country.

"I thought McCarthyism is dead and (former FBI Director) J. Edgar Hoover is not alive and kicking. I don't recall any criminal act by an Arab-American in the continental U.S.A. in 200 years or more," Hijazi said. Hijazi, a naturalized U.S. citizen who is director of the center, referred to an FBI announcement early this week that agents would interview more than 200 Arab-American leaders across the country.

"I thought McCarthyism is dead and (former FBI Director) J. Edgar Hoover is not alive and kicking. I don't recall any criminal act by an Arab-American in the continental U.S.A. in 200 years or more," Hijazi said. Hijazi, a naturalized U.S. citizen who is director of the center, referred to an FBI announcement early this week that agents would interview more than 200 Arab-American leaders across the country.

"I thought McCarthyism is dead and (former FBI Director) J. Edgar Hoover is not alive and kicking. I don't recall any criminal act by an Arab-American in the continental U.S.A. in 200 years or more," Hijazi said. Hijazi, a naturalized U.S. citizen who is director of the center, referred to an FBI announcement early this week that agents would interview more than 200 Arab-American leaders across the country.

"I thought McCarthyism is dead and (former FBI Director) J. Edgar Hoover is not alive and kicking. I don't recall any criminal act by an Arab-American in the continental U.S.A. in 200 years or more," Hijazi said. Hijazi, a naturalized U.S. citizen who is director of the center, referred to an FBI announcement early this week that agents would interview more than 200 Arab-American leaders across the country.

"I thought McCarthyism is dead and (former FBI Director) J. Edgar Hoover is not alive and kicking. I don't recall any criminal act by an Arab-American in the continental U.S.A. in 200 years or more," Hijazi said. Hijazi, a naturalized U.S. citizen who is director of the center, referred to an FBI announcement early this week that agents would interview more than 200 Arab-American leaders across the country.
Youthful grapplers to battle Oregon State

By Gregg Mansfield

Cal Poly 134-pounder Robert Tabarez uses an 'Iranian' maneuver to upend his opponent and score a takedown. Tabarez is one of only three seniors on the team this year.

Coming off the heels of a 39-0 pounding of San Diego State Sunday night, the Cal Poly wrestling team will be looking for its second straight win when it faces Oregon State tonight.

The teams face off in a PAC-10 dual match at Mott Gym at 7:30 p.m.

"I don't know how we'll do against them," said Mustangs wrestling coach Lennis Cowell. "They match up quite well against us. The match is probably going to be determined by a few points."

A youthful Cal Poly team already has had its share of ups and downs this season. Taking a 5-3 mark into Friday's match, the Mustangs boast only three seniors on the squad. The team's underclassmen have risen to meet their individual challenges in wins over Stanford (21-18), New Mexico (33-6) and Oklahoma (27-7).

Wrestlers beat Sooners for first time since 1973

By Mike McMillan

The Cal Poly Wrestling team defeated the University of Oklahoma during the Christmas break, beating the Sooners 27-7. With their impressive victory the Mustangs snapped the Sooners' 19-year win streak over Cal Poly.

The Dec. 22 thrashing of Oklahoma was no gift for the inspired Mustangs as they won eight of their 10 bouts while losing tough matches at 167 and 190 pounds.

"It's the first time since I've been here that we've had a perfect night," said

See SOONERS, page 10
Mustangs fall to .500 after loss to Hornets

By Kelli Martin

Despite a strong first half showing from senior women's basketball team fall to an 8-8 record Wednesday night, losing their last non-conference game against the Sacramento State Hornets, 73-61.

The Mustangs took control of the game from the start, leading by as many as eight points early in the first half. They were able to build momentum and a quick game allowed Poly to carry it for the rest of the hoop, making the shots, drawing out-play the sluggish Hornets.

Head Coach Jill Orerock's team came within three, 35-32, early in the second half, but the Hornets continued to pull away as Poly was troubled with turnovers and fouls.

With 5:22 left in the game, Sacramento stretched its lead to 17 points after a 10-0 run, which put the game out of Poly's reach. When (Sacramento) started running, we just didn't get back on track in time," said Bates. Standouts for the Mustangs on the night included senior forward Vanessa Hornbuckle who scored a season-high of 21 points and pulled down 10 rebounds, and sophomore guard Beth Nelson and junior guard Nicole Lowry sinking 12 and 10 points respectively.

Cal Poly next faces Cal State Dominguez Hills on Jan. 18 in its first California Collegiate Athletic Association game.

Give me strength ...

From page 7

virtually the same in the U.S.," Mott said. " Obviously, since it's underdeveloped their problems are in greater magnitude, but we have the same types of problems all over the world," he said. "We face the same difficulties getting good raw materials and so on." The team presented six two-day workshops for 175 printers in San Diego, spoke to plant owners, pressroom superintendents, production managers and press operators on plant management and printing technology.

Pierce, a 1958 Cal Poly graduate and current president of Padre Printers and Lithographers in San Diego, spoke to plant owners, pressroom superintendents, production managers and press operators on plant management and printing technology.

MOTT

FACT: They continued to prove a decade long track record in business

FACT: Over 55 California students managed their own business last summer

FACT: Most territories will be filled by November

Welcome Back to the ENVIRONMENT & your money, too

HELP SAVE the

Walk to a convenient enjoyable lunch at an economical price.

Call Student Painters at 1-800-426-6441

A member of the U.S. Men's Gymnastics team performed a floor routine in Cal Poly's Candell Gym last Saturday as part of the 1991 USA Gymnastics Showcase.

MOTTS

$5.00 HAIRCUTS

Back to School Special

"Welcome Back to School Special"

HAIR • NAILS

1228 broad street

sant luis obispo, ca 93401

(805) 544-0755

Certificate of deposit

Restauran

RESTAURANT

THE CREST IS FEATURING LIVE ENTERTAINMENT "BINGO NIGHT"

FRIDAY, JAN. 11th

(9:00 - 7)

18 & OVER - VALID ID REQUIRED

CREST PIZZA

174 N. SANTA ROSA • 541-2303

Making on Broad Avenue

near the entrance to the University.

FESTIVAL PRESENTATION

INTERNATIONAL FILM

FRIDAY, JAN. 11, 1991

7:30PM

CREST PIZZA

THE CREST IS FEATURING LIVE ENTERTAINMENT "BINGO NIGHT"

FRIDAY, JAN. 11th

(9:00 - 7)

18 & OVER - VALID ID REQUIRED

CREST PIZZA

174 N. SANTA ROSA • 541-2303

Welcome Back to the ENVIRONMENT & your money, too

HELP SAVE the

Walk to a convenient enjoyable lunch at an economical price.

Call Student Painters at 1-800-426-6441

A member of the U.S. Men's Gymnastics team performed a floor routine in Cal Poly's Candell Gym last Saturday as part of the 1991 USA Gymnastics Showcase.

MOTT

FACT: They continued to prove a decade long track record in business

FACT: Over 55 California students managed their own business last summer

FACT: Most territories will be filled by November

Welcome Back to the ENVIRONMENT & your money, too

HELP SAVE the

Walk to a convenient enjoyable lunch at an economical price.

Call Student Painters at 1-800-426-6441

A member of the U.S. Men's Gymnastics team performed a floor routine in Cal Poly's Candell Gym last Saturday as part of the 1991 USA Gymnastics Showcase.

MOTT

FACT: They continued to prove a decade long track record in business

FACT: Over 55 California students managed their own business last summer

FACT: Most territories will be filled by November

Welcome Back to the ENVIRONMENT & your money, too

HELP SAVE the

Walk to a convenient enjoyable lunch at an economical price.

Call Student Painters at 1-800-426-6441

A member of the U.S. Men's Gymnastics team performed a floor routine in Cal Poly's Candell Gym last Saturday as part of the 1991 USA Gymnastics Showcase.

MOTT

FACT: They continued to prove a decade long track record in business

FACT: Over 55 California students managed their own business last summer

FACT: Most territories will be filled by November

Welcome Back to the ENVIRONMENT & your money, too

HELP SAVE the

Walk to a convenient enjoyable lunch at an economical price.

Call Student Painters at 1-800-426-6441

A member of the U.S. Men's Gymnastics team performed a floor routine in Cal Poly's Candell Gym last Saturday as part of the 1991 USA Gymnastics Showcase.

MOTT

FACT: They continued to prove a decade long track record in business

FACT: Over 55 California students managed their own business last summer

FACT: Most territories will be filled by November

Welcome Back to the ENVIRONMENT & your money, too

HELP SAVE the

Walk to a convenient enjoyable lunch at an economical price.

Call Student Painters at 1-800-426-6441

A member of the U.S. Men's Gymnastics team performed a floor routine in Cal Poly's Candell Gym last Saturday as part of the 1991 USA Gymnastics Showcase.

MOTT

FACT: They continued to prove a decade long track record in business

FACT: Over 55 California students managed their own business last summer

FACT: Most territories will be filled by November

Welcome Back to the ENVIRONMENT & your money, too

HELP SAVE the

Walk to a convenient enjoyable lunch at an economical price.

Call Student Painters at 1-800-426-6441

A member of the U.S. Men's Gymnastics team performed a floor routine in Cal Poly's Candell Gym last Saturday as part of the 1991 USA Gymnastics Showcase.

MOTT

FACT: They continued to prove a decade long track record in business

FACT: Over 55 California students managed their own business last summer

FACT: Most territories will be filled by November

Welcome Back to the ENVIRONMENT & your money, too

HELP SAVE the

Walk to a convenient enjoyable lunch at an economical price.

Call Student Painters at 1-800-426-6441

A member of the U.S. Men's Gymnastics team performed a floor routine in Cal Poly's Candell Gym last Saturday as part of the 1991 USA Gymnastics Showcase.

MOTT

FACT: They continued to prove a decade long track record in business

FACT: Over 55 California students managed their own business last summer

FACT: Most territories will be filled by November

Welcome Back to the ENVIRONMENT & your money, too

HELP SAVE the

Walk to a convenient enjoyable lunch at an economical price.

Call Student Painters at 1-800-426-6441

A member of the U.S. Men's Gymnastics team performed a floor routine in Cal Poly's Candell Gym last Saturday as part of the 1991 USA Gymnastics Showcase.

MOTT

FACT: They continued to prove a decade long track record in business

FACT: Over 55 California students managed their own business last summer

FACT: Most territories will be filled by November

Welcome Back to the ENVIRONMENT & your money, too

HELP SAVE the

Walk to a convenient enjoyable lunch at an economical price.

Call Student Painters at 1-800-426-6441

A member of the U.S. Men's Gymnastics team performed a floor routine in Cal Poly's Candell Gym last Saturday as part of the 1991 USA Gymnastics Showcase.

MOTT

FACT: They continued to prove a decade long track record in business

FACT: Over 55 California students managed their own business last summer

FACT: Most territories will be filled by November

Welcome Back to the ENVIRONMENT & your money, too

HELP SAVE the

Walk to a convenient enjoyable lunch at an economical price.
WRESTLING

From page 8

"We're still a young team," Cowell said. "But we're a good team."

In late December the Mustangs' matmen posted an upset over Oklahoma, a team Cal Poly hasn't beat since 1973. "Beating Oklahoma hasn't been something we've done in a long time," said Cowell.

Since the win over the Sooners, Cal Poly fell to the University of Oregon, 19-15 but rebounded against San Diego State's first-year program.

Cowell praised the work of several wrestlers including heavyweight Seth Woodill who has an 11-3 match record. Eric Schwartz, in the 177-pound class, already has posted a 16-6 mark early in the season. Kordell Baker — who has been fighting the flu — also has performed well for the Mustangs.

"In the past, Arizona State has always been up there," Cowell said. "The conference is down a little this year, and the title is still up for grabs."

Tonight's match against the Beavers marks the beginning of a three-match homestand which will conclude against Bucknell University next Thursday. The Mustangs face Cal State Bakersfield next Wednesday. The Roadrunners knocked off the Mustangs in Bakersfield last month, 30-11.

"They're our arch rivals," Cowell said of Bakersfield. "The match against them should be a real barn burner."

From page 8

"I knew we could beat them, but I had to sell it to the team," he said.

The tone of the meet was set early with victories by 118-pound sophomore Joe Dar, 126-pound sophomore Dale Hanover, who both came from behind to beat their opponents. Also winning for the Mustangs were 134-pound senior Robert Tabarez in his debut match this season, 142-pound sophomore Pat Morrissey, 150-pound sophomore Jake Gaier, 158-pound junior Kordell Baker, who beat Oklahoma's Aaron Gaier (Jake's brother,) 177-pound junior Eric Schwartz, also in his debut with the Mustangs this season, and heavyweight junior Seth Woodill, who pinned his opponent.

"That was the icing on the cake," said Cowell of Woodill's match, who added that the victory was "a total team effort."

Next week, Mustang Daily will feature a special section about the crisis in the Persian Gulf. Any faculty, students or community members interested in writing commentaries on any aspect of the issue are welcome. For more information or to submit columns contact Patty Hayes, Freelance editor, or Larre Sterling, Opinion editor, at 756-1143. Articles should be submitted to Graphic Arts building, Room 226, by Monday at 10 a.m.

WANTED

IS THIS HOW YOUR MECHANIC SIGNS HIS WORK?

If the mechanic who services your car is careless in the places you can see, just think what he might have done in the places you can't!

At German Auto we provide the conscientious, expert service your high performance car needs for trouble-free driving. So choose German Auto. We've been signing our work with customer satisfaction since 1970. Call us today for an appointment.

Trust German Auto
Specializing in Porsche, Audi, BMW & Volkswagen Automobiles
273 Pacific Street, San Luis Obispo 543-7473

Fast Contacts for SLO People
Offering same day replacement on most soft and gas permeable contact lenses

Keep in Contact

Optometric Services of San Luis Obispo
David A. Schultz, O.D.
Contact Lenses and Unique Eyewear
778 Marsh Street, SLO 543-5200

Rent A Car
Don't Pay Airport Prices!

$1.00 Off Any Pizza (Coupons per Pizza)

RENT A CAR

ALL AMERICAN PIZZA
Delivered Hot!

549-9955

RENT A CAR

Don't Pay Airport Prices!

3442 Empressa Dr., SLO 841-4811

Trust German Auto

Professional
SCUBA Instruction
Complete Line of Equipment
Sales • Service • Rental
Dive Travel • Excursions

10% Off
Anything in Stock
(nona-sale items)
With This Ad • Exp 1/30/91
Not Good With Any Other Offers
Enrolling Classes
3121 S. Higuera, Suite B
San Luis Obispo, CA
(Across from OMV)
544-7227

MUSTANG DAILY

Brothers Aaron (left) and Jake Gaier talk at the Poly-Oklahoma match. Aaron is Oklahoma's 158-pounder; Jake wrestles for the Mustangs in the 150-pound class.

MUSTANG DAILY
La Fiesta needs a theme, design

It's time for the La Fiesta Theme and Design Contest! 1991
Spanish Heritage. This year will be La Fiesta's 51st celebration. Both must reflect the Spanish heritage of San Luis Obispo. Participation is open to school-aged children, adults and professionals. The deadline for all entries is Friday, Jan. 18. Informational flyers are available at many downtown stores and the La Fiesta office. For more information and locations call 541-1510.

Agribusiness showcase held

The Cal Poly agribusiness department and the student chapter of National Agricultural Marketing Association would like to invite agribusinesses to the Second Annual Agribusiness Showcase. The event is planned for Wednesday, Jan. 16. Fifty agribusinesses from California and throughout the United States will attend last year's Showcase. There is a registration fee of $30 to cover the administrative costs. All registration fees need to be received by January 10.

Drawing class offered for kids

An introduction to representational drawing using the Monart Method of drawing for 4-and 5-year-old children is being offered. Janet Sheraman-Hand, a local artist and certified Monart instructor, will teach this class from 1 to 2 p.m. on Saturdays from Jan. 12 to March 9. There will be no class on Feb. 16. There will be a fee of $80. Sign-up and pre-payment are required.

Student march

In honor of Martin Luther King Jr., the Afro-American Student Union is sponsoring a march and program. The event is to begin on Thursday, Jan. 17, at 10:30 a.m. with a march from Dexter Lawn to the University Union Plaza. A short program is scheduled to follow the march. For more information, call Bay Haynes at 756-1455, Gregory Robert at 756-2301 or Justin Smith at 545-4938.

Adult drawing class to be held

Janice Sheraman-Hand will teach a representational drawing class where students will draw from three-dimensional objects, illustrations and their imaginations using the Monart Method of drawing. All materials are supplied. The class is limited to 10 students. Eight class meetings will begin on Saturday, Jan. 12 - March 9 from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m. There will be no class on Feb. 16. There will be a fee of $80. Sign-up and pre-payment are necessary.

Account holds

Glen Brill will teach an exciting class on monotype. The emphasis will be on the multi-drop, multi-key, full color tonality Sawyer procedure. No previous experience is required. The class will meet on Saturday, Feb. 16 from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The fee for members of the SLO Art Center is $25 and non-members must pay $40 with a materials fee of $5 for all students. The class is limited to 15 students.

Hotline training course offered

Community interested in developing communication skills and serving the human service needs of the county's residents can do so by registering for the Spring HOTLINE Volunteer Training Program. Individuals who complete the training and pass a test will be eligible to donate their services to the 24-hour, week-day, week-end and support telephone line. Volunteers are asked to work a four-hour, weekly shift at HOTLINE for at least one year. Those interested in offering their services to HOTLINE should call 549-8999 for more information.
JOHNSON

From page 1
Johnson's contract with the university.

"He hasn't been found guilty of anything yet so it doesn't violate the morals code," Perlick said.

The Campus Administration Manual states that personnel who are convicted of a felony are subject to suspension, dismissal or demotion.

A staff member also can be dismissed for "conviction of a misdemeanor involving moral turpitude" or "addiction to narcotics."

"No action was taken (against Johnson)," Perlick said. "The case has not come up yet."

The outcome of Johnson's court appearance in February will determine whether or not he will go back to teaching classes at Poly.

Economics lecturer Dominic Perello, who filled in for Johnson during his leave, said that, "He (Johnson) was a very nice young man and a very good teacher. My assumption is that he is not guilty."

HOUSING

From page 1

dents than Cal Poly," McCombs said. These off-campus buildings represent more than 3,000 beds. This is about 15 percent of the 20,000 Cal Poly and Cuesta students who rent each year.

"Cutting back on the number of freshmen will only increase the number of upper division students," McCombs said. Such students often look beyond dormitories and apartments. They are looking for a neighborhood, home-like setting," he said.

The association, however, feels that many students could get a better deal living in an established building rather than in a rented house.

Economics lecturer Dominic Perello, who filled in for Johnson during his leave, said that, "He (Johnson) was a very nice young man and a very good teacher. My assumption is that he is not guilty."

The six complexes in the association are all located within one mile of the Cal Poly campus. McCombs said this is one major advantage.

"All of our buildings supply plenty of off-street parking for tenants," McCombs said. "These areas are all well-lighted."

The buildings also provide some form of reasonable supervision and security, he said.

"We really don't have a housing problem," McCombs said. "What we do have is low occupancy levels due to low freshmen enrollment."

Previously, the association was excluded from city planning meetings about student housing.

Now, the association is speaking out.

Recently, members met with San Luis Obispo Mayor Ron Dunin and Community Development Director Arnold Jonas.

McCombs says Dunin is now aware that they are a functioning organization that wants to work more closely with city officials, neighborhood groups and the Cal Poly Housing Department.

"It's been interesting and (has) taken a while, but I think we're doing well," McCombs said. He said he is pleased with the association's progress so far.

"Our main concern is to let the public know there are living units available at competitive prices," McCombs said. "We are making great strides."