Swell tosses tourists into rough waters

MORRO BAY, Calif. (AP) — A sudden, sharp swell rocked a whale-watching boat as it headed out to sea, tossing four passengers overboard and injuring at least nine people.

Those pitched overboard were rescued, including a 3-year-old boy who was saved by a deck hand after the swell lifted him from the water and dropped it hard.

The boat was setting out on its scheduled Sunday excursion and had cleared the mouth of the harbor when the swell rose. As the boat pitched downward, passengers were thrown into the ocean.

"I mean they were flying, they were flying," said passenger Annette James. "They didn't just fall off."

The boat was carrying 36 people, including the captain and one crew member, said Pam Lomas of Virg's Fish 'n. Nine people were treated for injuries ranging from bruises to broken bones and were released at area hospitals, the Harbor Patrol said.

The Valentine's Day accident occurred two days shy of the 10th anniversary of a similar incident in which a swell capsized a boat and threw 32 people, including 23 middle school students, into the harbor.

Life jackets were available to all passengers, but Coast Guard regulations do not require boaters to wear them, the Harbor Patrol said.

Gary James said he was standing at the boat's bow with his wife and 5-year-old daughter, Katie, when the swell hit.

James, a Visalia police officer, said he held onto the child to keep her from going overboard. She was critically injured and died a year later.

A 1982 swell capsized a boat and threw 32 people, including 23 middle school students, into the harbor when a swell rose. As the boat pitched downward, passengers were thrown into the ocean.

"I mean they were flying, they were flying," said passenger Annette James. "They didn't just fall off."

The boat was carrying 36 people, including the captain and one crew member, said Pam Lomas of Virg's Fish'n. Nine people were treated for injuries ranging from bruises to broken bones and were released at area hospitals, the Harbor Patrol said.

The Valentine's Day accident occurred two days shy of the 10th anniversary of a similar incident in which a swell capsized a boat and threw 32 people, including 23 middle school students, into the harbor.

Life jackets were available to all passengers, but Coast Guard regulations do not require boaters to wear them, the Harbor Patrol said.

Gary James said he was standing at the boat's bow with his wife and 5-year-old daughter, Katie, when the swell hit.

James, a Visalia police officer, said he held onto the child to keep her from going overboard. She was critically injured and died a year later.

A 1982 swell capsized a boat and threw 32 people, including 23 middle school students, into the harbor when a swell rose. As the boat pitched downward, passengers were thrown into the ocean.

"I mean they were flying, they were flying," said passenger Annette James. "They didn't just fall off."

The boat was carrying 36 people, including the captain and one crew member, said Pam Lomas of Virg's Fish'n. Nine people were treated for injuries ranging from bruises to broken bones and were released at area hospitals, the Harbor Patrol said.

The Valentine's Day accident occurred two days shy of the 10th anniversary of a similar incident in which a swell capsized a boat and threw 32 people, including 23 middle school students, into the harbor.

Life jackets were available to all passengers, but Coast Guard regulations do not require boaters to wear them, the Harbor Patrol said.

Gary James said he was standing at the boat's bow with his wife and 5-year-old daughter, Katie, when the swell hit.

James, a Visalia police officer, said he held onto the child to keep her from going overboard. She was critically injured and died a year later.

A 1982 swell capsized a boat and threw 32 people, including 23 middle school students, into the harbor when a swell rose. As the boat pitched downward, passengers were thrown into the ocean.

"I mean they were flying, they were flying," said passenger Annette James. "They didn't just fall off."

The boat was carrying 36 people, including the captain and one crew member, said Pam Lomas of Virg's Fish'n. Nine people were treated for injuries ranging from bruises to broken bones and were released at area hospitals, the Harbor Patrol said.

The Valentine's Day accident occurred two days shy of the 10th anniversary of a similar incident in which a swell capsized a boat and threw 32 people, including 23 middle school students, into the harbor.

Life jackets were available to all passengers, but Coast Guard regulations do not require boaters to wear them, the Harbor Patrol said.

Gary James said he was standing at the boat's bow with his wife and 5-year-old daughter, Katie, when the swell hit.

James, a Visalia police officer, said he held onto the child to keep her from going overboard. She was critically injured and died a year later.

A 1982 swell capsized a boat and threw 32 people, including 23 middle school students, into the harbor when a swell rose. As the boat pitched downward, passengers were thrown into the ocean.

"I mean they were flying, they were flying," said passenger Annette James. "They didn't just fall off."

The boat was carrying 36 people, including the captain and one crew member, said Pam Lomas of Virg's Fish'n. Nine people were treated for injuries ranging from bruises to broken bones and were released at area hospitals, the Harbor Patrol said.

The Valentine's Day accident occurred two days shy of the 10th anniversary of a similar incident in which a swell capsized a boat and threw 32 people, including 23 middle school students, into the harbor.

Life jackets were available to all passengers, but Coast Guard regulations do not require boaters to wear them, the Harbor Patrol said.

Gary James said he was standing at the boat's bow with his wife and 5-year-old daughter, Katie, when the swell hit.

James, a Visalia police officer, said he held onto the child to keep her from going overboard. She was critically injured and died a year later.

A 1982 swell capsized a boat and threw 32 people, including 23 middle school students, into the harbor when a swell rose. As the boat pitched downward, passengers were thrown into the ocean.

"I mean they were flying, they were flying," said passenger Annette James. "They didn't just fall off."

The boat was carrying 36 people, including the captain and one crew member, said Pam Lomas of Virg's Fish'n. Nine people were treated for injuries ranging from bruises to broken bones and were released at area hospitals, the Harbor Patrol said.

The Valentine's Day accident occurred two days shy of the 10th anniversary of a similar incident in which a swell capsized a boat and threw 32 people, including 23 middle school students, into the harbor.

Life jackets were available to all passengers, but Coast Guard regulations do not require boaters to wear them, the Harbor Patrol said.

Gary James said he was standing at the boat's bow with his wife and 5-year-old daughter, Katie, when the swell hit.

James, a Visalia police officer, said he held onto the child to keep her from going overboard. She was critically injured and died a year later.

A 1982 swell capsized a boat and threw 32 people, including 23 middle school students, into the harbor when a swell rose. As the boat pitched downward, passengers were thrown into the ocean.

"I mean they were flying, they were flying," said passenger Annette James. "They didn't just fall off."

The boat was carrying 36 people, including the captain and one crew member, said Pam Lomas of Virg's Fish'n. Nine people were treated for injuries ranging from bruises to broken bones and were released at area hospitals, the Harbor Patrol said.

The Valentine's Day accident occurred two days shy of the 10th anniversary of a similar incident in which a swell capsized a boat and threw 32 people, including 23 middle school students, into the harbor.

Life jackets were available to all passengers, but Coast Guard regulations do not require boaters to wear them, the Harbor Patrol said.

Gary James said he was standing at the boat's bow with his wife and 5-year-old daughter, Katie, when the swell hit.

James, a Visalia police officer, said he held onto the child to keep her from going overboard. She was critically injured and died a year later.

A 1982 swell capsized a boat and threw 32 people, including 23 middle school students, into the harbor when a swell rose. As the boat pitched downward, passengers were thrown into the ocean.

"I mean they were flying, they were flying," said passenger Annette James. "They didn't just fall off."

The boat was carrying 36 people, including the captain and one crew member, said Pam Lomas of Virg's Fish'n. Nine people were treated for injuries ranging from bruises to broken bones and were released at area hospitals, the Harbor Patrol said.
Official says state drought not over; outlook improves

Sacramento, Calif.

California's water picture brightened Monday, but state and federal officials stopped short of declaring an end to the six-year-long drought.

"We're not in a position to say the drought is over," said Roger Patterson, regional director of the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation.

The bureau's Central Valley Project made its first estimate of water deliveries for the year Monday, with some users getting 75 percent of their historic usage. At the same news conference, the State Water Project boosted its projected deliveries to 55 percent of the demand. Fifty-five percent may not sound like much, but it's 10 percentage points more than what was delivered last year and is well above the initial 10 percent projection the state made late last year.

The projections made official what most Californians already knew: the wet winter has left state reservoirs and the Sierra snowpack in their best condition in a number of years, giving farmers and fishermen reason for optimism.

Water Project boosted its projected deliveries to 55 percent of the demand.

The projections made official what most Californians already knew: the wet winter has left state reservoirs and the Sierra snowpack in their best condition in a number of years, giving farmers and fishermen reason for optimism. Water Project boosted its projected deliveries to 55 percent of the demand. Fifty-five percent may not sound like much, but it's 10 percentage points more than what was delivered last year and is well above the initial 10 percent projection the state made late last year. The projections made official what

Water Project boosted its projected deliveries to 55 percent of the demand.

The projections made official what most Californians already knew: the wet winter has left state reservoirs and the Sierra snowpack in their best condition in a number of years, giving farmers and fishermen reason for optimism. Water Project boosted its projected deliveries to 55 percent of the demand. Fifty-five percent may not sound like much, but it's 10 percentage points more than what was delivered last year and is well above the initial 10 percent projection the state made late last year. The projections made official what

Pipeline spills sewage in ocean

Long Beach, Calif.

A collapsed pipeline spilled gallons of raw sewage into the ocean and city streets, shutting down miles of beaches and inundating a park, authorities said.

About 840,000 gallons spilled from a Los Angeles County pipeline that sends sewage to a treatment plant, said John Redner, a sanitation superintendent. About four miles of beaches were closed as a health precaution, authorities said.

The spill was reported at 8:15 a.m. Sunday and ended when crews diverted the flow into the Pacific Ocean. The discharge also backed up city sewer lines.

About 30,000 gallons of effluent surged into roadways and a park on Fifth Street before ending up in a nearby catch basin. When paramedics responded to a medical aid call at about 6 a.m. Monday in a residential area of the desert city, 110 ambulance idling outside, which is routine, Brown said. But the boy didn't listen to his mother.

Tyson appeals rape conviction

Indianapolis, Ind.

A judge who kept key witnesses from testifying and blocked the introduction of important evidence allowed Mike Tyson to be wrongly convicted of rape, his lawyer argued Monday in appealing for a new trial.

"We want a new trial in which all the evidence can be presented to a jury," attorney Alan Dershowitz told a three-judge appeals panel.

Gifford denied a jury the necessary tools of evidence by blocking testimony from three defense witnesses and refusing jurors a chance to consider whether his accuser had consented to sex, the former heavyweight boxing champion's lawyers said.

Tyson, 26, was convicted last year of raping Washington in his Indianapolis hotel room in July 1991. The former champion's lawyers said they were surprised at Tyson's appearance in a Miss Black America beauty pageant and Tyson was in town to promote the event.

CMAT, GRE, KSAT, LSAT, MCAT, DAT & OAT.

Need we say more?

For information on the country's best test preparation, call 1-800-KAP-TEST. We also offer the country's best prep for LSAT, MCAT, DAT & OAT.

KAPLAN
The answer to the test question.
COUNTY'S HOMELESS SHELTER REMAINS ON ORCUTT

Commission overrides complaints from owners of nearby property

By Anita Kreidle
Staff Writer

The San Luis Obispo Homeless Shelter will continue to operate at its current location despite complaints from some nearby property owners, a city commission decided last Wednesday.

The San Luis Obispo City Planning Commission reviewed the shelter's use permit twice a year. The shelter, located on Orcutt Road, is the only one in the county and is administered by the Economic Opportunity Commission.

Program Superintendent Gwen Guyre told the Planning Commission efforts have been made to mitigate some of the problems. She cited monthly neighborhood meetings, cleanup projects and increased security as examples.

"There appears to be a steady stream of people coming from (the shelter) to the liquor store every morning after breakfast," she said.

Portell said that although panhandling is no longer a problem there are other activities occurring on his property that both offend and drive away customers and tenants.

"We need more help from other cities," said Commissioner Fred Peterson. "The county homeless problem has kind of been dropped in our backyard. If there was somewhere else for them to go, they probably would."}

False alarms lead to real trouble for Trinity resident

By Matthew Hoy
Staff Writer

Residents of Trinity Hall may get a good night's rest now that police have charged one of their fellow residents with tampering of fire alarm equipment.

Public Safety has identified Gregory Lynch, an English science senior, as a suspect in one of a series of false alarms this quarter. Lynch has allegedly vandalized residence hall regulations, and has been documented for violating behavior that police have charged one of their fellow residents with tampering of fire alarm equipment.

Lynch, a resident of Trinity Hall, has been charged with tampering of fire alarm equipment.

"We had to stay in Santa Lucia (Hall) for about 1 1/2 hours (during one alarm)," said Dave Casuncad, an electrical engineering junior.

"Electronic engineering senior Frank Wahl said, "They once let the alarm go from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m.""

Public Safety said copies of the report will be sent to the San Luis Obispo County District Attorney's Office for the possible filing of criminal charges, and to the Housing Department for disciplinary action.

Lynch could be fined up to $1,000 and spend six months in jail if he is convicted.

Several Trinity residents, who asked not to be identified, said Lynch had been causing "buckets of troubles." According to neighbors, Lynch has been repeatedly documented for violating residence hall regulations, and has allegedly vandalized property before.

Residents told of a time when Lynch almost ripped a red fire alarm box of a wall while playing lacrosse in a hallway.

Lynch could not be reached for comment.

Southern California Gas is more than America's largest supplier of natural gas.

We are at the forefront of developing technologies that will provide solutions to some of society's most pressing environmental concerns... cleaner air, reduced industrial pollution, more energy-efficient home appliances, and expanded commercial energy applications.

The recently deregulated energy field is highly competitive. New and exciting opportunities that exist with The Gas Company will challenge the knowledge and imagination of career seekers. If working in a leading-edge environment, with a professional, results-oriented team stirs you, contact us today.

It's for your own good, and ours.

Investigate opportunities in: ENGINEERING • COMPUTER SCIENCE • SALES • ACCOUNTING & INTERNS PROGRAMS

The Gas Company
P.O. Box 3249
Mary Roddick, SL0217
Professional Staffing Coordinator
M.L. 15AO
Los Angeles, CA 90051-1249

An Equal Opportunity Employer - committed to cultural diversity in the workplace.
I watched it. I hoped to believe it.

Our esteemed president, Bill Clinton, is a charmer. I'm not going to capitulate anyone's name, except mine, deserved me.

Now you know that campaign promises should be taken with a grain of salt, but usually there is a more valiant effort to keep some of them.

george bush, for example, was able to hold out two whole years before he broke his: "Read my lips, no new taxes" promise. Before he broke his; "Read my lips, no new taxes" promise.

But on Monday he said on national television that the figures were lying and that his stimulus package was still needed.

His stimulus package aside (so she wasn't nominated, but missed because it's too complex and any in support of his views is now false.

accurate indicators of how bad it is are now false.

promises should be taken with a grain of salt, but usually there is a more valiant effort to keep some of them.

bush said so, congress knew, clinton was told. So, working on the assumption, bill should have known not to promise a middle-class tax cut.

The attorney general file is also something more amusing than serious.

Attorney general candidate #1 broke the law.

Shame. shame.

Attorney general candidate #2 (as she wasn't nominated, but she was his next pick) had a similar situation, but did not break the law. So she was dismisseed because it's too compli­ cated for our simple minds to un­ derstand.

Attorney general candidate #3 is just right, and will probably be confirmed without incident.

But this whole incident raises a big question. The top three candidates for attorney general were all women. Not that they aren't qualified, but it's kind of strange that there wasn't at least one man in the top three.

It appears as if clinton is trying to do the affirmative action type thing. Which is fine, I just wish he would admit when he is doing it.

My next complaint: clinton is supposed to be the champion of the working class. Why does he have more millionaires on his cabinet than either reagan or bush?

Next: his cabinet was sup­ posed to be a middle-class cabinet. Why isn't there a single republican on the cabinet? Maybe it implies that republicans aren't Americans?

Other annoying little things: Why hasn't he heard hillary rodham clinton referred to as the First Lady ever once?

Why didn't he include her maiden name in the last ques­tion?

Why isn't her last name hyphenated rodham-clinton?

Why isn't chelsea in charge of something?

But on Monday he said on national television that the figures were lying and that his stimulus package was still needed.

His stimulus package aside (so she wasn't nominated, but missed because it's too complex and any in support of his views is now false.

accurate indicators of how bad it is are now false.

promises should be taken with a grain of salt, but usually there is a more valiant effort to keep some of them.

bush said so, congress knew, clinton was told. So, working on the assumption, bill should have known not to promise a middle-class tax cut.

The attorney general file is also something more amusing than serious.

Attorney general candidate #1 broke the law.

Shame. shame.

Attorney general candidate #2 (as she wasn't nominated, but she was his next pick) had a similar situation, but did not break the law. So she was dismissed because it's too complicated for our simple minds to understand.

Attorney general candidate #3 is just right, and will probably be confirmed without incident.

But this whole incident raises a big question. The top three candidates for attorney general were all women. Not that they aren't qualified, but it's kind of strange that there wasn't at least one man in the top three.

It appears as if clinton is trying to do the affirmative action type thing. Which is fine, I just wish he would admit when he is doing it.

My next complaint: clinton is supposed to be the champion of the working class. Why does he have more millionaires on his cabinet than either reagan or bush?

Next: his cabinet was supposed to be a middle-class cabinet. Why isn't there a single republican on the cabinet? Maybe it implies that republicans aren't Americans?

Other annoying little things: Why hasn't he heard hillary rodham clinton referred to as the First Lady ever once?

Why didn't he include her maiden name in the last question?

Why isn't her last name hyphenated rodham-clinton?

Why isn't chelsea in charge of something?

But on Monday he said on national television that the figures were lying and that his stimulus package was still needed.

His stimulus package aside (so she wasn't nominated, but missed because it's too complex and any in support of his views is now false.

accurate indicators of how bad it is are now false.

promises should be taken with a grain of salt, but usually there is a more valiant effort to keep some of them.

bush said so, congress knew, clinton was told. So, working on the assumption, bill should have known not to promise a middle-class tax cut.

The attorney general file is also something more amusing than serious.

Attorney general candidate #1 broke the law.

Shame. shame.

Attorney general candidate #2 (as she wasn't nominated, but she was his next pick) had a similar situation, but did not break the law. So she was dismissed because it's too complicated for our simple minds to understand.

Attorney general candidate #3 is just right, and will probably be confirmed without incident.

But this whole incident raises a big question. The top three candidates for attorney general were all women. Not that they aren't qualified, but it's kind of strange that there wasn't at least one man in the top three.

It appears as if clinton is trying to do the affirmative action type thing. Which is fine, I just wish he would admit when he is doing it.

My next complaint: clinton is supposed to be the champion of the working class. Why does he have more millionaires on his cabinet than either reagan or bush?

Next: his cabinet was supposed to be a middle-class cabinet. Why isn't there a single republican on the cabinet? Maybe it implies that republicans aren't Americans?

Other annoying little things: Why hasn't he heard hillary rodham clinton referred to as the First Lady ever once?

Why didn't he include her maiden name in the last question?

Why isn't her last name hyphenated rodham-clinton?

Why isn't chelsea in charge of something?
Prescription prices up at Health Center

Costs rise due to loss of state funds

By Monique McCartney
Staff Writer

Budget cuts could be hazardous to your health — or at least your wallet.

Cal Poly’s Health Center raised the price of prescriptions last fall due to a decrease in state funding, according to Health Center Pharmacist Darryl Bennett.

Pandering from the state had allowed the Health Center to provide low cost prescriptions to students.

“We still subsidize (students), but now we subsidize you less,” Bennett said.

If prescription prices were not increased, the Health Center pharmacy would have operated at a loss, he said.

Among prices that rose were those for birth control pills and condoms.

Crystal Burgstrand, the Health Center’s cashier, said the price of condoms went up because the center changed brands. Condoms now sell for $1 or 10 for 80 cents, depending on the quality bought.

Before the increase, the Health Center sold birth control pills for $1 to $3 for three cycles of pills. Now the cost for a cycle of pills ranges from a minimum of $2 to a maximum of $29, depending on the type of pill being taken.

Bennett said the medication most requested by students varies from season to season.

“If he had to narrow it down, he said it would probably be antibiotics and dermatological medication.

“As the state withdraws money, we divide what we do by 15,000 students and estimate what medicine to buy for them,” Bennett said.

“The students do not realize they are getting a good deal,” he added. “For example, penicillin costs $2.50 at the Health Center compared to $8 downtown.”

By buying a Health Center card, students can cut their costs even more, Bennett said.

Current prescription filling fees are the cost of the medicine plus a $2 dispensing fee with a Health Card.

Without a card, the prescription fee is $5.

Students do not seem too upset with new fees.

“I think it’s OK. I personally know how much medication costs,” said Paul Piersalde, a recent Health Center pharmacy patron and computer science senior. “You’re getting a good deal.”

Home economics senior Ann Tarlton said the people she’s talked to have accepted the increases with say it’s no big deal.

“A little hike in price is nothing compared to what students might pay at another pharmacy,” she said.

“We still subsidize (students), but now we subsidize you less,” Bennett said.

If prescription prices were not increased, the Health Center pharmacy would have operated at a loss, he said.

Among prices that rose were those for birth control pills and condoms.

Crystal Burgstrand, the Health Center’s cashier, said the price of condoms went up because the center changed brands. Condoms now sell for $1 or 10 for 80 cents, depending on the quality bought.

Before the increase, the Health Center sold birth control pills for $1 to $3 for three cycles of pills. Now the cost for a cycle of pills ranges from a minimum of $2 to a maximum of $29, depending on the type of pill being taken.

Bennett said the medication most requested by students varies from season to season.

“If he had to narrow it down, he said it would probably be antibiotics and dermatological medication.

“As the state withdraws money, we divide what we do by 15,000 students and estimate what medicine to buy for them,” Bennett said.

“The students do not realize they are getting a good deal,” he added. “For example, penicillin costs $2.50 at the Health Center compared to $8 downtown.”

By buying a Health Center card, students can cut their costs even more, Bennett said.

Current prescription filling fees are the cost of the medicine plus a $2 dispensing fee with a Health Card.

Without a card, the prescription fee is $5.

Students do not seem too upset with new fees.

“I think it’s OK. I personally know how much medication costs,” said Paul Piersalde, a recent Health Center pharmacy patron and computer science senior. “You’re getting a good deal.”

Home economics senior Ann Tarlton said the people she’s talked to have accepted the increases with say it’s no big deal.

“A little hike in price is nothing compared to what students might pay at another pharmacy,” she said.

If prescription prices were not increased, the Health Center pharmacy would have operated at a loss, he said.

Among prices that rose were those for birth control pills and condoms.

Crystal Burgstrand, the Health Center’s cashier, said the price of condoms went up because the center changed brands. Condoms now sell for $1 or 10 for 80 cents, depending on the quality bought.

Before the increase, the Health Center sold birth control pills for $1 to $3 for three cycles of pills. Now the cost for a cycle of pills ranges from a minimum of $2 to a maximum of $29, depending on the type of pill being taken.

Bennett said the medication most requested by students varies from season to season.

“If he had to narrow it down, he said it would probably be antibiotics and dermatological medication.

“As the state withdraws money, we divide what we do by 15,000 students and estimate what medicine to buy for them,” Bennett said.

“The students do not realize they are getting a good deal,” he added. “For example, penicillin costs $2.50 at the Health Center compared to $8 downtown.”

By buying a Health Center card, students can cut their costs even more, Bennett said.

Current prescription filling fees are the cost of the medicine plus a $2 dispensing fee with a Health Card.

Without a card, the prescription fee is $5.

Students do not seem too upset with new fees.

“I think it’s OK. I personally know how much medication costs,” said Paul Piersalde, a recent Health Center pharmacy patron and computer science senior. “You’re getting a good deal.”

Home economics senior Ann Tarlton said the people she’s talked to have accepted the increases with say it’s no big deal.

“A little hike in price is nothing compared to what students might pay at another pharmacy,” she said.
MUSTANG DAILY Classified Advertising Order Form

STUDENTS AND FACULTY
SIGN UP NOW!

VISIT THE SWANTON PACIFIC RANCH WITH YOUR FRIENDS ON SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1993

Less than 4 p.m. at 5:00 p.m. — Thrill by bus to Swanton and return to Swanton Union by 7:00 p.m. on Saturday.

Get more out of campus life — Get more out of the Swanton experience by opting to attend the Career Symposium with your peers and professors on Saturday, February 20, 1993. A great day won't cost a cent! See you at Swanton!

CAREER SYMPOSIUM
Thursday, February 18 • 10:00 - 3:00
Chumash Auditorium • All Majors Welcome

Attend Workshop I: Effective Networking
Using the Career Symposium
Wednesday, February 17, 11:00-12:00 or
Wednesday, February 17, 2:00-3:00
University Union 220/219

Workshop IV: Backpack to Briefcase
Alumni Panel
Tuesday, February 16, 11:00-12:00
University Union 220

Suggestions for a smooth transition from the university environment to the world of work.

For further information, contact the Department of Residential Life and Education at 756-1226.

Are you interested in becoming a Resident Advisor for the 1993-94 Academic Year? If so, please attend one of these information sessions. Applications will be available there!

Thursday Feb 18 7pm - Sierra Madre
9pm - Trinity

Wednesday Feb 24 7pm - Sierra Madre

NIGHTLY SPECIALS

Served from 5:00 p.m. to sold out

MONDAY
Barbecued Beef Ribts $4.80

TUESDAY
Half BBQ Chicken Dinner $4.95

WEDNESDAY
Spaghetti Feed $3.95

SUNDAY
Pork Chop's $6.50

SATURDAY
Prime Rib $9.95

Victuals & Red-Eye Seven Days A Week!
GRADUATE

From page 1

most recently trained and up-to-date," she said.

Terry Sowels, the chairperson for the Cal Poly chapter of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics and an aeronautical engineering senior, is also graduating in June. She said she believes large companies are being more selective, but are still recruiting from Cal Poly.

"There's always been only a few companies you can work for...if you want to work in the aerospace industry," she said. "But those companies are still hiring."

Military cutbacks have caused aeronautics companies to "realignment" by means of moving towards commercial industry, Sowels said. "But those companies are still hiring."

"Aero students are industrious," Sowels insisted. She cited "networking" as a primary means of learning about job opportunities.

"You don't want to just go through the Placement Center," she said. "You want to go through anybody you can find."

Equinox agreed students can no longer rely solely on on-campus interviews. Aggressiveness is a key ingredient to a successful job search, he said.

Sowels added, "If (graduates) don't have a job in June, they'll have one at some other point. This will just give them a longer vacation."

SHelter

From page 3

"It's been that kind of energy that's been needed to foster good community relations," she said. Also she said the commission's awareness of the extent of the homeless problem has increased over time. She said the shift from blaming the shelter to acknowledging homelessness as a county problem and suggesting that EOC needs more help is a dramatic turnaround.

Suggestions have ranged from setting up police with property matters, to having property owners take more responsibility for themselves, to wishing other cities would establish shelters.

"As people learn, attitudes change," Guyre said.

One reason Cal Poly is popular with recruiters, Equino added, is because of its strong cooperative education program. Student placement in co-ops has actually increased, he said.

"For employers, it becomes a primary factor for consideration for hiring," he said.

A man explained how he overcame substance abuse because EOC showed him how he could use his social security to help pay for treatment.

A young, soft-spoken registered nurse from Lee Oso said she received help from EOC that was unavailable anywhere else when she first moved here.

"I'm here to show you that everyone who uses (the shelter) isn't a drunk," she said.

According to the College Placement Council, more graduates like these will be hired than in 1992.

[Ad for University of California, San Diego's Career Counseling Center]
The Cal Poly Panhellenic Sorority
WEDDING FAIRE
Sunday, February 21, 1993, 11 a.m.-3 p.m. at
F. McLINTOCKS SALON & DINING HOUSE
750 Mattie Road, Shell Beach
Photography • Car • Beauty Attire • Makeup & Nail • Clothing • Flowers & Sport
The Panhellenic Sorority Wedding Faire is a charity project in which all booth proceeds will be donated to the Child Development Center, a non-profit community organization that provides comprehensive child abuse intervention and treatment services, including therapeutic child care to children and families.

The most effective birth control method yet—3 months hassle-free protection.

Call us now!
Planned Parenthood
177 Santa Rosa Street
San Luis Obispo 549-9446
Confidential, Affordable, Quality Care

Bomb threat forces fourth evacuation
By Matthew Hoy
Staff Writer
Cal Poly has had another bomb threat.
According to Public Safety, an unknown male called the Foundation cashier's office at approximately 1:20 p.m. Friday and said both the Math and Home Economics Building and the Dexter Building would explode in 10 minutes.
Emergency personnel were placed on standby and the appropriate departments were notified, Public Safety said.
The only evacuation was of the Children's Center, located in the Home Economics building.

HOSPITAL
From page 1
Diringer said he hopes the hospital remains open long enough for a national health care plan to surface from the Clinton administration.
But Beatrice Zacuto, a hospital volunteer and Medicare recipient, said she has doubts whether Clinton's plan will save General.
"A lot of (hospital workers) feel (closure) is inevitable," Zacuto said. "Too many negative aspects exist and a lot of people want to close General."
She said the county needs the hospital to assure health care is provided to patients such as herself. And she feared for the 300 people who would be thrown out of work.
"Many won't be able to find jobs in their particular field," Zacuto added.

Diringer said the possible closure discussion will resurface in about six months; the time it will take Hendrix and his county staff to construct the requested plan.

While you're there, enjoy...
BREAKFAST BY THE BEACH
F. McLINTOCKS SALON & DINING HOUSE
SHELL BEACH
Sunday Ranch Breakfast
9:00 AM-1:30 PM
RESERVATIONS
(805) 773-1892

In front of El Corral Bookstore
MARCH 15-19, 8:00am-4:00pm
On the lawn near Engr.West
MARCH 15-19, 8:30 am - 3:30 pm

Tapango's doesn't have it...
Even TACO BELL doesn't have it...

Chili Relleno LUNCH
Chili Relleno and Beans
With Olives, Sour Cream AND TOMATOES
10:30am TO 2:00pm

CHILI RELLENOS
ONLY AT THE TACO BAR
@)

BUYBACK!

SPRING BREAK IN STEAMBOAT COLORADO $369 SPOTS STILL AVAILABLE!

THE SHOT
(DMPA, Depo-Provera)

8 WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1993 MUSTANG DAILY
Do you have what it takes to run a business?

Most people never find out.

If you think you have what it takes,
If you thrive in a challenge,
If you're not afraid to work hard for success, then read on.

Last year we interviewed over 1,500 university students in California to fill 150 positions statewide. This year we'll screen over 2,000 students, including about 200 from Cal Poly, to fill 250 positions across the state.

These students were trained extensively in all aspects of running their own business. They then had the opportunity to use their new-found knowledge in a practical business situation by actually running their own company for the summer. They hired their own employees. They were in charge of sales, marketing, quality and cost control, collections, bookkeeping, production management, and more.

The long, hard hours these students worked paid off with summer earnings of $6,000-$15,000. The skills these students gained are invaluable, especially in today's cutthroat job market. The stories they tell of their experience are fantastic!

We've been training students in business for over 13 years.
If you are interested in hearing more about our program, then call today. Positions are limited and territories will be filled by March.
1-800-394-6000 or 545-0811

Look for us at Career Symposium on 2/18

---

SPORTS MONDAY

Every Monday, a sports page that gives you a comprehensive report on all there is to know about Cal Poly Athletics.

Today: Special Sports Wednesday

You work hard.

As this year's group of Cal Poly graduates prepare to face the real world in June, what are they up against? In some majors, there's reason to be optimistic in some areas. But are graduating seniors prepared to move into their parents' basements? What on Earth is going on out there?

You graduate.

You move in with mom?

pomp circumstances

Continues through Friday.

MUSTANG DAILY
"Things do not change; we change." - Henry David Thoreau

Copeland’s Sports
THURSDAY
FEBRUARY 18TH
10AM - 9PM*

20%
OFF
CURRENT PRICES

"Mail Hours Will Vary" E V E R Y T H I N G I N S T O C K!

E X C E P T G O L D M E D A L I T E M S

Q U A N T I T Y & P A C K A G E PRICING NOT IN EFFECT: 20% OFF CURRENT PRICES MAY BE OFFERED IN FUTURE ADS.

J U S T A F E W E X A M P L E S

A T H L E T I C S H O E S & I N - L I N E S K A T E S

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Special Group</th>
<th>Athletic Shoes</th>
<th>29.99</th>
<th>23.99</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Nike Air Classic</td>
<td>Golf Shoe (disc. style)</td>
<td>39.99</td>
<td>31.99</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>In-Line Skates (sz. 2-12)</td>
<td>39.99</td>
<td>31.99</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Special Group (disc. styles &amp; colors)</td>
<td>Reebok Pump Basketball Shoes</td>
<td>69.99</td>
<td>55.99</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Baseball Shoes in Stock</td>
<td>20% OFF</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Children's</td>
<td>Athletic Shoes</td>
<td>20% OFF</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A T H L E T I C E Q U I P M E N T & A P P A R E L

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Price</th>
<th>CURRENT PRICES</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Current</td>
<td>Current</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Price</td>
<td>Price</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A T H L E T I C E Q U I P M E N T & A P P A R E L

LifeScan is in the business of touching lives. A successful subsidiary of Johnson & Johnson, we research and manufacture diagnostic products for people with diabetes. Already, our market-leading blood glucose self-monitoring systems have helped millions assume a more normal, active daily schedule.

Still, we keep pushing the technological envelope, making new breakthroughs, and feeling good about the work we do. Consider these co-op and career opportunities located at LifeScan's corporate headquarters in Milpitas, California.

Co-op Opportunities:
- Software Validation Engineer (Summer Only)
- Process Engineer (Summer Only)
- Electrical Manufacturing Engineer (Summer Only)
- Manufacturing Engineer (Summer Only)
- Statistical Data Analyst (Summer Only)
- Wellness Assistant
- Junior Operations Analyst

Career Opportunities:
- Junior Operations Analyst

The stimulating environment at LifeScan, access to Live For Life Fitness Center and shopping privileges in the J&J company store are some of the benefits you will enjoy at LifeScan. If you are unable to join us at the Career Symposium, send a letter describing your position of interest to LifeScan, Inc., Dept. TEM/1217, 1100 Gibraltar Drive, Milpitas, CA 95035-3775. LifeScan is proud to be an equal opportunity employer committed to the values of a diversified workforce.

Join us at the Career Symposium
CHUMASH AUDITORIUM
FEBRUARY 18

- $1.50 Domestic Longnecks
- $3.00 Long Island Iced Tea
- $1.00 Shot Specials

FREE DANCE LESSONS START AT 8:40
CAROLINE Schmidt snagged five rebounds, lapsing off of her 9.7 minutes.

The Mustangs trailed 31-25 at halftime, before outraising the Highlanders 43-37 in the second half.

Cal Poly hit the road against wireless Chapman on Friday and CCAA leading Cal Poly Pomp on Saturday.

Orrock said Thursday's game included a dominating 11-2 win by 158-pounder Don Miller (11-1) in the third period by 150-pounder Jake Gaiser (13-6).

"He was saying thanks," Orrock said.

For Sale

AU STRAWBERRY TABLE 42x21 CONSIGNMENT $35 FOR SALE

CONSIGNMENT FURNITURE WANTED

For info, please call

TUESDAY, MARCH 1
3:30-4:30 PM

Announcements

ΔΣΙ Delta Sigma Pi
Business Fraternity

Thursday, Feb. 25, 20-hrs
Meadows Atrium, 7-9pm

Mortar Board
Week

Thursday, Feb. 25, 20-hrs

Greek News

ΔΣΩ RUSH

SUN 2/27 MEET THE FRATERNITIES
MON 2/28 CROSSDRESS PARTY AT WP
TUE 2/24 RUSH BLOW OUT AT WP
THURS 2/26 BLOW OUT WITH WP
SAT 2/27 WP DANCE PARTY & BBQ

WRESTLING

CONE LEADS THE WAY IN DISMISSAL

FEB 27 2PM, FEB 28 2PM, MAR 1 7:30PM

MEETING TONIGHT 08:30 Rm53-215

Mg. Tonight Open Door House 915
Speaker Lord Louis of Luke!

WATERSKI CLUB MEETING TONIGHT 8:30 PM 231-215

Pre-Law Club

mg. TONIGHT 2PM
Speaker on Financing Techniques
PLUS YOUR PAYMENTS

WOMEN'S HOOPS

"Fly jumped right over her head," Orrock said Thursday.

The Mustangs shot 22 of 72 (31 percent) from the floor and right or did not block out," Orrock said Thursday's game.

Mustangs with 18 points apiece.

The Mustangs centralized a dominating 11-2 win to damage his fifth ranking in the 177-pound weight class.

It was a close 6-5 decision despite an in- tense comeback late in the third period to remain un- defeated at Mott Gym for the season.

The Maurice Jacobs made to want to perform for the crowd.

"The crowd's been good to us all year," Schafer said.

The crowd matched Woodall, a fan favorite for years, into the cheering masses after his final of many Mott Gym victories.

"He was saying thanks," Orrock said.

For Sale

GUNS N ROSES

LOST GLASSES

FOR ALL EVENTS MEET AT HOUSE

Wanted

SPRING RECRUITING '93

UP TO $10/HR-ARE YOU

RECOGNIZE THESE?

FOR BEING THIS YEAR'S VALENTINE

No cost. No obligation.

SIGN UP IN UU FEB25 12-2PM

FOR SUMMER INTERNSHIPS

INTERNS HIRING - EARN $7K+ FOR SUMMER W/ TOP

GRAND MEAT SAT TEST PREP!
CALL BOSS at 543-4042

FREE HP-48SX

A plug-in? Bring in your old calculator to borrow before WED. 2017 on Dexter Lawn or in.

6:30 Wed 217 room 13-118
Speaker Small designs for final designs.

SPRING RECRUITING '93

ONE OF A KIND BEST OFFER

TUBE AMP

Room For Rent. Available Now

Male OK. 350/mo. 100 deposit

All Utilities Paid except ele

CLASSIFIEDS

SUMMERophobic

KINROSS VACATION HOME RENTING

FOR SALE

GUITAR AMP

TAKE KIDS TO SCHOOL. HOURLY

GUITAR AMP

MUSTANG DOMESTIC CLASSIFIEDS

TRIP TO MAUI

GUITAR AMP

Please call Heather 756-3533

MEETING TONIGHT 08:30 Rm53-215

For More Info call 956-1366

Meadow Park 1:00pm

Location TBA 9:00pm

Delta Sigma

Gamma Phi Beta

Because not all private 501c3's that sell stuff have a mission.

Greek News

WRESTLING

Carrie Schmidt snagged five rebounds, lapsing off of her 9.7 minutes.

The Mustangs centralized a dominating 11-2 win to damage his fifth ranking in the 177-pound weight class.

It was a close 6-5 decision despite an intense comeback late in the third period to remain undefeated at Mott Gym for the season.

The Maurice Jacobs made to want to perform for the crowd.

"The crowd's been good to us all year," Schafer said.

For Sale

GUNS N ROSES

LOST GLASSES

FOR ALL EVENTS MEET AT HOUSE

Wanted

SPRING RECRUITING '93

UP TO $10/HR-ARE YOU

RECOGNIZE THESE?

FOR BEING THIS YEAR'S VALENTINE

No cost. No obligation.

SIGN UP IN UU FEB25 12-2PM

FOR SUMMER INTERNSHIPS

INTERNS HIRING - EARN $7K+ FOR SUMMER W/ TOP

GRAND MEAT SAT TEST PREP!
CALL BOSS at 543-4042

FREE HP-48SX

A plug-in? Bring in your old calculator to borrow before WED. 2017 on Dexter Lawn or in.

6:30 Wed 217 room 13-118
Speaker Small designs for final designs.

SPRING RECRUITING '93

ONE OF A KIND BEST OFFER

TUBE AMP

Room For Rent. Available Now

Male OK. 350/mo. 100 deposit

All Utilities Paid except ele

CLASSIFIEDS

SUMMERophobic

KINROSS VACATION HOME RENTING

FOR SALE

GUITAR AMP

TAKE KIDS TO SCHOOL. HOURLY

GUITAR AMP

MUSTANG DOMESTIC CLASSIFIEDS

TRIP TO MAUI

GUITAR AMP

Please call Heather 756-3533

MEETING TONIGHT 08:30 Rm53-215

For More Info call 956-1366

Meadow Park 1:00pm

Location TBA 9:00pm

Delta Sigma

Gamma Phi Beta

Because not all private 501c3's that sell stuff have a mission.
Poly cagers double-dribble in CCAA

Men fall into last place by suffering 85-63 and 91-81 defeats on the road

By Kevin Bolinger

Senior Staff Writer

The Cal Poly men's basketball team has had its share of ups and downs this season.

Last weekend, the roller coaster hit rock bottom. The Mustangs dropped both of their games by a combined 32 points and are now occupants of the California Collegiate Athletic Association cellar.

An 85-63 loss to Cal State Dominguez Hills on Friday, night coupled with a 91-81 loss to Chapman on Saturday also ensures Cal Poly of their first sub-.500 record in 14 years.

The Mustangs were given a high preseason ranking because of their returning pitching staff. It was their offense, however, that dominated the Gauchos.

Cal Poly (6-1 overall) scored 54 runs in four games and recorded more hits than the billboard Top 40.

"They're a weak ball club," Cal Poly coach Steve McFarland said after the game.

"They had some good hitting, but the pitching and defense were weak.

Dan Cherepny started the four-game series on Saturday with a 15-1 win for the Mustangs.

The victory gave Cherepny 23 career wins, moving him into second place on the Mustangs' all-time victory list, two wins behind former major-leaguer Mike Krukow.

Paul Joosnna pitched the first game of the Valentine's Day doubleheader, and looked strong from start to finish as the Mustangs captured the top half of the twin bill with another landslide victory, 10-1.

The Mustangs swept the second game, which Cal Poly won 14-13, was the most exciting finish of the series.

Some late-inning heroics from Brent Simons and — who hit a two-out double in the seventh to score the tying run — sent the game to extra innings.

In the top of the eighth, San Francisco State scored three runs, putting the pressure on the Cal Poly offense.

But Mark Kuykendall copped a four-run inning with a key hit to score the winning run in the bottom of the eighth. Kevin Harrington earned his first victory in relief for the Mustangs.

Eric Hill earned his first victory of the season as the Mustangs won 15-4 Monday.

Cal Poly jumped out to a 9-0 lead by the fourth inning as Hill pitched three strong innings.

The Gauchos got within two runs until Cal Poly's offense rose again with a barrage of runs in the late innings.

Freshman Mike Lee pitched the late innings impressively, and with a strong fastball, the young pitcher earned his first save as a Mustang.

Jon Mersman, Simons and Rob Neal all stroked the ball well on the weekend. Simons led the way with 11 hits and nine RBIs.

Perhaps the only bad news for the Mustangs is that Phil James will be out two to three weeks because of a pulled hamstring he suffered in Sunday's doubleheader.

The Mustangs play UC Santa Barbara on Wednesday at Sinshaperk Park at 2 p.m.