NATO bombs
Bosnian Serbs
in first-ever air strikes

By Steve Ledn
Associated Press

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina — Two U.S. war jets dropped bombs in the area near the Muslim enclave of Gorazde on Sunday after Bosnian Serb forces overran government defenses to reach the outskirts of the town.

Maj. Dale Holloway, a U.N. military spokesman in Sarajevo, said the planes struck in the Gorazde "pocket" Sunday evening but did not say what was hit.

NATO headquarters in Naples, Italy, released a statement identifying the planes as U.S. F-16Cs based in Aviano, Italy. NATO also did not specify the target.

"We said we would act if we were requested to do so," President Clinton told reporters in Washington. "I have now done so and will do so again if we are requested."

Clinton called on the Bosnian Serbs to return to the negotiating table.

"I very much hope that now the attacks will cease, that the Serbs will go back, that the talks will resume," he said.

Italian Rai state television said at least two tanks were hit.

Bosnian Serbs accused NATO of hitting civilian targets.

"NATO aircraft fired four missiles at civilian targets," Gen. Milan Govev, deputy commander of the Bosnian Serb army, was quoted as saying by the Bosnian Serb news agency SRNA. He said there were civilian casualties, but did not elaborate.

"With this action NATO has committed open aggression against the Serb people, by attacking civilian targets far from the front," said a statement from the command of the Herzegovina Corps, which has been besieging Gorazde.

The statement, carried by SRNA, said the air strikes Air STRIKE, page 3

Would-be peacemaker loses teeth;
Poly student was kicked when down

By Cynthia Buiier
Poly Staff Writer

A Cal Poly recreation administration senior lost four teeth and suffered minor lacerations to his head after a fight Saturday night.

Jr. Ayers, 24, was assaulted at about 11:45 p.m. when a fight broke out between two people during a party at 1367 Diablo Drive. When Ayers tried to break up the fight, police said he was jumped by four people. Police said Ayers then fell to the ground and was kicked in the head repeatedly by the assailants.

Ayers was transported in a private vehicle to the emergency room of Sierra Vista Regional Medical Center, where he was treated for his injuries and released.

Police said no suspects have been found, and an investigation is ongoing.
TOMORROW'S WEATHER: Increasing afternoon clouds. Today's high/low: 74/42. Tomorrow's high/low: 70/45.

Purple Barney turns black and blue after pummeling

"I'm going home to get my gun, Barney," child tells victim, 'and shoot him'

MORNING WEATHER: Increasing afternoon clouds. Today's high/low: 70/45.

TUESDAY

- County Gov. • Board of Supervisors meeting. Board Chambers, County Government Center, 8:30 a.m.
- Film Series • Films on Asian issues, U.U. 216, 218, 219, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.
- Discussion • Growing Up Asian in America, U.U. 220, 7 p.m.
- Campus Gov. • Academic Senate meeting. U.U. 220, 3 p.m.
- ASI • Finance Committee meeting. U.U. 220, 7 p.m.
- ASI • Outings Committee Leadership workshop. U.U. 204, 5:15 p.m.
- ASI • Outings Committee meeting, U.U. 220, 7 p.m.

UPCOMING

- ASI ELECTION • ASI ELECTION — April 13, 9 a.m.-7:30 p.m.; April 14, 9 a.m.-4 p.m.
- Health Fair • Required registration for blood test in conjunction with French Hospital Health Fair. April 11-15, 1911 Johnson Ave., 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. / 542-6299
- Health Fair • French Hospital Health Fair with free health screening. April 16, 1911 Johnson Ave., 8 a.m. to noon / 542-6299

Summer Institute '94 Summer Job Opportunities

| 1 - Program Assistant | Applications available at Student Academic Service Due: 4/15/94 |
| 5 - Teaching Assistants | |
| 4 - Math Instructors | |

For more information call Debra at 756-2301

ASIAN AWARENESS WEEK

Speaker schedule in Multi-Cultural Center

TODAY

- Film Series • Films on Asian issues, U.U. 216, 218, 219, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.
- ASI • Finance Committee meeting. U.U. 220, 7 p.m.

FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL

(805)544-4540 (800)734-1744

San Luis Obispo, CA 93405

COMPLETE VISION CARE

Dopique

Dr. Fred Narzisi

Doctor of Optometry

10% Student Discount

- Affordable Eyewear
- Largest Selection
- Contacts in Stock
- In-House Lab
- Eye Examinations

CONVENIENTLY LOCATED IN THE CENTRAL COAST PLAZA

STENNER GLEN

Compare to us the Cal Poly Dorms...

√ Less Expensive at Stenner Glen
√ More Choices at Stenner Glen √ Less Crowded at Stenner Glen

We attempt to fit ourselves to your needs, not you to the institution's formula.

1050 Foothill Boulevard
San Luis Obispo, CA 93405
(800) 544-4540 (800) 734-1744

MUSTANG DAILY

MUSTANG DAILY...

...still the best you ever ate
Bloodbath escalating in Rwanda

Acroties continue as Europeans, Americans flee African nation

MONDAY, APRIL 11, 1994

Tours Daily Before 5 PM

---

B lo o d b a th  e s c a la tin g  i n  R w a n d a

MUSTANG DAILY

A s s o c ia te d  P ie s s

burned on the outskirts of the devastated capital of Rwanda and bungalows and warehouses as fighting abated Sunday after three days of savagery.

At a hospital in Kigali, doctors claimed soldiers slaughtered at least 100 patients in their beds. Red Cross officials estimate as many as 10,000 people have been killed in Kigali alone. The fighting — the result of a decades-old struggle between the Hutu and Tutsi ethnic groups — has forced hundreds of Europeans and Americans to flee the country, many for neighboring Burundi.

Foreigners were leaving by air from Kigali airport or by convoy to Bujumbura, Burundi's capital.

President Clinton said Sunday in Washington that "the last of the convoys containing all Americans who wish to leave either passed into Burundi or is about to pass into Burundi." About 250 Americans, mostly missionaries and aid workers, were in Rwanda.

In Kigali, Eric Bertin, a coordinator for the French Doctors Without Borders, said when he and colleagues arrived at a hospital Sunday, they found patients who had died the day before had been killed by soldiers overnight.

"We have decided it is no use to work here anymore," Bertin said. "It is useless to cure some way. They were just lying in their tents dead."

In Kigali, a coordinator for the French Doctors Without Borders said when he and colleagues arrived at a hospital on Sunday, they found patients they had treated the day before had been killed by soldiers overnight.

Fighting has raged since the presidents of Rwanda and Burundi — Juvenal Habyarimana and Cyprian Ntaryamira — died in a suspicious plane crash on Wednesday.

In the rampages that followed, residents were dragged from their homes and shot to death or hacked to pieces. The acting prime minister was slain as he sought refuge. Aid workers, priests and nuns were targeted in the massacres.

Gangs armed with knives, guns and machetes went from house to house at night demanding food, money and alcohol, according to foreign aid workers who fled Kigali.

Outside the capital, fighting continued. Hundreds of panicked civilians poured into Gorazde overnight, arriving at up to 150 an hour, said Peter Kolster, a spokesman for the UN High Commissioner for Refugees.

The Rwandan government said the plane was shot down by unidentified attackers. U.N. officials were prevented from going to the crash site.

"We had decided it is no use to work here anymore," Bertin said. "It is useless to cure somebody. They were just lying in their tents dead."
Opinion

I didn’t know you meant 55, officer

By Brooke Richardson

What do chicken feathers and water have to do with each other? My first guess would be: Absolutely nothing. I think most of you would agree. But somewhere in this warped little world, the two are related — and I spent eight hours in this dimension last weekend. Traffic school.

I still haven’t figured out what the point was in my spending eight hours stuck in a dark hotel conference room, sitting on an uncomfortable chair, as the world fell apart. OK, so the chair was padded and technically one I’d kill to sit on in class — but when you have to sit still on your tush for that long, even a deluxe barrel swivel chair with padded arms would lose its effect. The only comfortable position to spend eight continuous hours is lying down. Unfortunately, I think holding traffic school in bed would be politically incorrect.

Anyway, like I said, I can’t figure out why I had to waste a beautiful Saturday like I did (i.e., bored and uncomfortable). OK, so I know technically that I did it to keep my insurance company from knowing that I am a horrible human being and that — oh my gosh — I was caught speeding. And I did know that I did it to keep the aforementioned company from jacking up my already-exorbitant insurance rates.

And let me get this little fact out of the way — I know I deserved the ticket. You was speeding. But the fact of the matter is I’m still looking for the aforementioned company from jacking up my already-exorbitant insurance rates.

I decided my best escapegoat is the people who set the speed limit at 55 miles per hour. Who drives 65 on the highway all the time? If you do, you’ve probably either won or lost because it really is just about impossible. If you drove 55, you’d probably get pulled over for not going with the flow of traffic. But our state’s maximum is still just 55.

You may say, “No, you’re wrong. Brooke. The speed limit is 65 on rural highways.”

The law tells us to drive 55, but everyone knows you can go a bit faster. The problem is nobody knows just how much faster.

By Brooke Richardson

I have to nag that statement on the basis of my recent driving re-education. The only other thing I learned besides the feather-and-water thing is that 55 is the max — 65 is just a posted speed limit. If you follow your teacher’s reasoning, you could get a speeding ticket for going 63 in a posted 60 zone.

I’d love to see that happen. Frate drivers would take over the government and we’d all get to cruise along at any speed we pleased. California’s highways would look like the Autobahn.

But maybe the real problem isn’t with the speed limits, but with police officers. The law tells us 55, but everyone knows you can go a bit faster. The problem is that nobody knows just how much faster.

I thought I knew. Obviously, I was wrong. I was told I was definitely safe from tickets if I didn’t go over 60 — and almost definitely safe if I didn’t break 65. If I broke 65 and was caught, I was told, I had better have a good excuse and be pretty persuasive. Or have an extra 100 turkeys lying around.

I don’t know where I heard these rules, but all I can say is that they’re not true. Basically, a speeding ticket is left up to the whim of a person who may be having a bad day, or a person who may have hit his dog as he backed out of the driveway in the morning. One person in my class heard a story of getting tickets for going 55. Still more were ticketed for going just 62. OR, so many of us were going over 65 but ticketed at a speed less painful on the pocketbook. We got “good” cops and were very thankful for the gift — but there needs to be more clarification.

I can’t afford another ticket. I feel like a grandma lately when I get in my car. I set my cruise control and watch every speed pass me. But even putting along at 60, I don’t feel completely safe. I’m still not guaranteed not to get a ticket. I know going over 55 is usually OK — but I don’t know exactly when and when not. I crave some more rules.

What I would like to see are some additional signs along the highways. Below the taken 55 mph sign would be one that said: “The officers in this area begin ticketing at 58 mph.” Or, “The officers in this area are ticketing at 66 mph.” Or, “the officers in this area are ticketing at 60 mph.” Driving, and life, would be so much easier.

Oh, for those of you who are still wondering what the heck chicken feathers and water have to do with one another, here’s the payoff: Birds are the only things that can be legally dumped on the highway.

Of course, I won’t tell you this or who came up with this over-sensational law. All you need to do is get caught speeding and you too can spend eight hours in traffic school to find out for yourself.

By Brooke Richardson

Brooke Richardson is a journalism junior. Writing this commentary was a way for her to overcome her extreme guilt at having broken the law.

Letters Policy

Mustang Daily welcomes letters and commentary from students, staff, and other community members. Letters should be typed, double spaced and under 250 words. Commentary should be typed, double spaced and 750-1,000 words.

All authors must include a name, signature and phone number. Submissions should be typed, double spaced and under 750-1,000 words. Mustang Daily reserves the right to edit letters for clarity, grammar, and length.

Submissions can be brought, mailed, faxed or Emailed to Mustang Daily, Graphic Arts Bldg., San Luis Obispo, CA 93407, or FAX (805) 756-5784. E-Mail: gjoynt@oak.calpoly.edu (letters only) Commentary submissions on 3.5" disks are encouraged. Files should be in Word 6.0, MacWrite or other common Macintosh software. Please submit a hard copy with your disk.

MUSTANG DAILY

HAMILTON: Monmouth’s men’s sports better hang on to something equity. She told a Mustang Daily reporter she felt Cal Poly would not strap from its path to gender equity, but I am less optimistic.

Granted, the individuals making the decisions in the Cal Poly athletics arena seem committed to gender equity, but the constant reminder of what decisions best fit gender equity will be missed. The absence of McNeil’s consistent demand that women be considered to fill positions or that the women’s teams deserve equal opportunity to play at the prime times will have an unfavorable effect at Cal Poly.

The Athletic Department owes it to McNeil and every student on this campus to fill McNeil’s vacancy with a person whose resume shows unquestionable devotion to gender equi-ity and not just a mouthful of fairness rhetoric.

— Brad Hamilton is Sports Editor of the Daily.

CAREER FAIR
April 21, 1994

OLDE, America’s Full Service Discount Broker® is looking for motivated people to establish a career in the brokerage business.

OLDE offers:
12-18 month paid training program
Potential six-figure income
Excellent benefits

If you possess excellent communication skills, general market knowledge and desire to excel,
see us at the Career Fair on April 21, 1994.

If you are unable to attend the Career Fair call:
1 800 937-0606
or send resume to:
OLDE Discount Stockbrokers
National Recruiting
751 Griswold Street
Detroit, MI 48226

OLDE
DISCOUNT STOCKBROKERS
Member NYSE and NPC
An Equal Opportunity Employer

April Days
he lowest prices
the latest technology
Don't Miss it!

Computer Department invites you to drop by!
Woodstock Pizza

Why go to Woodstock’s?

a) You want beer & pizza
b) We’ve got both

Check out our Happy Hours

8-11 pm Mon-Wed!
60oz. Pitchers of...

- Coors Light, Bud, Bud Light, $2.95
- Michelob Dark, Michelob Dry, Miller Genuine Draft
- Newcastle Brown Ale, Sierra Nevada Pale Ale $5.00

Lunch Special:

All-U-Can-Eat pizza
all-u-can-drink soda $3.96

April Monthly Special

$2.00 off

Best O’ Pesto

LARGE 16” or Medium 12” Pizza

$9.99

Pesto Sauce
and 1 Topping

Not good with other coupons per pizza.

Attention June Graduates
El Corral Bookstore presents

GRADUATION Days

A special 3-day event for all June Graduates

Order all your graduation needs including:

- Class Rings (save up to $130 on Gold Rings),
- Personalized Graduation Announcements,
- Thank You Notes, Custom Seal Note Cards,
- Certificates of Appreciation, Diploma Plaques,
- Graduation Information, and much more.

Don’t miss this event! Look for the blue tent inside El Corral Bookstore. There will be discounts on class rings, prize drawings, important information, and more!

3-DAYS ONLY!!

APRIL 13, 14, 15
(Wednesday-Friday)
10AM-4PM

A GRAND OPENING SPECIAL!

Come meet the freshest, best-tasting pizza in town!

We roll our crust daily, and top it with our thick, spicy sauce, five natural cheeses, fresh vegetables, and lean meats.

These introductory coupons are our way of saying hello.

- $3 Off any Extra Large Pizza
- $2 Off any Large Topping Pizza
- $1 Off any Medium Topping Pizza

Not good with other coupons per pizza.

Housing and Residential Life

Are you interested in becoming a Summer Resident Advisor?
If so, please attend one of these information sessions.

Applications will be there!

- Tuesday, April 5
  7 pm • Sierra Madre Hall
- Wednesday, April 13
  8 pm • Santa Lucia Hall

For further information, contact the Department of Housing and Residential Life at 756-6125

If you don’t read your textbooks now, you’ll have plenty of time to read them later.

El Corral Bookstore

Invest in your future. Read the book.
BASEBALL: Key home runs help the Mustangs win two games in a three-game weekend series at Cal State Los Angeles

From page 8

Sophomore third baseman Jon Macalutas was two for four and scored three times while junior designated hitter Bob Neu added a triple as part of the Mustangs' 10-7 victory over Cal Poly in the opener on Friday.

The Mustangs split Saturday's twinbill, winning the first game decisively while dropping a one-run battle in the nightcap. Boasting the Golden Eagles 14-7 in the opener, junior pitcher R.J. Simone picked up a team-high seven runs on 10 hits, but was kept in the game by the Mustangs' hitless offensive barrage. R.J. had a few problems out there on the mound for the Eagles. "It's tough on a pitcher to concentrate like he should be when your team is scoring a lot of runs," said R.J. "It's certainly a relief to remain focused when it's close as it was tonight."

Mustang again led Cal Poly at the plate, delivering a grand slam in the fourth inning and adding another hit in a five RBI performance by senior right fielder Kevin Tucker and Macalutas was three for six and senior center fielder Jeff Higbee added a solo homer to add to the offensive display. "We jumped out early with four runs in the first inning and really set the tone for the rest of the game," said Agler. "Higbee's solo shot and Macalutas's grand slam really took them out of the game."

Cal State Los Angeles avoided the sweep with a 3-2 seven-inning win in the final contest, behind a six-inning pitching performance by senior Todd Stevens. Stevens gave up one earned run on nine hits while striking out seven Mustangs. Cal Poly senior pitcher Bobbie Weeks was tough on Golden Eagle batters in the loss, yielding only six hits and one earned run. "Bobbie had a rough first inning but did a good job of settling down later in the game," Agler said. "With the way the pitchers were throwing in the latter innings, I knew it was going to be a low-scoring affair defensively or defensively to win the game. They just happened to get to first."

Senior center fielder Mark Kuykendall, junior shortstop Marc Townes and Mueller led Cal Poly's nine-hit performance with two hits apiece. Cal Poly takes on Division I powerhouse Fresno State tomorrow and return home for OCAA action this weekend against Cal State Dominguez Hills. No. 2-ranked Cal State Dominguez Hills slugged it out with Cal Poly Pomona, taking two of three games from the "Munger's hit came at a perfect time and got us back on track."

Kent Agler
Baseball Interim Head Coach

Bronze Friday and Saturday by scoring two home runs during the series.

According to Agler, junior left fielder Brad Morabito is someone who will likely use a host of pitchers in the upcoming games. "I like the standard rotation of Stephanos, Simone and Weeks will return to action when we face Cal State Domin-Munition's series.

McNeil's absence may tilt equity

Friday afternoon another reality of life socked me in the mouth like a crisp Evander Holyfield jab when I casually asked Athletic Director Marilyn McNeil's office. To my horror, I was informed McNeil had already closed the chapter of her life at Cal Poly and vacated her office in preparation to start her new job. McNeil's years of hard work involved with sports as a player, coach, and athletic director gleaned bright enough to catch the attention of Monmouth College on the other side of the United States in New Jersey. But much like the Bible's Samson drawing most of his strength from a particular source — his hair — McNeil's main source of strength evolves from her prowess as a leader in the movement toward gender equity. McNeil is the president of the National Association of Collegiate Women Athletic Administrators (NACWAA). The organization focused on directing the NCAA to gender equity is a consistent electric prod in the side of the beefy NCAA.

I was nearly kicked out of our library's reserve room when I screamed, "Holy bejeebers!" when I saw NACWAA's leader in the movement toward gender equity, they are in for quite a treat.

Knowing McNeil's devotion to gender equity, I figure Monmouth will be gender equitable by April 22 — a week after she starts her new job. So I suggest Monmouth's men's teams hold onto their jock straps and get ready for one hell of a ride. They best be prepared to say goodbye to their third and fourth stringers — whom McNeil likes to refer to as "practice dummies."

And to the Monmouth women running and kicking balls on a club team, prepare to campaign for your club's acceptance as a varsity sport.

Track trips over hurdles

Poly finishes near bottom of Fresno State meet

The Cal Poly track team got a dose of Division I competition Friday and Saturday at the Bob Mathias Relays in Fresno. But even some of the Division II teams proved to be tough competition for the Mustangs.

The men's team finished the meet with 44 points, placing them 16th out of 14 teams. Fresno State finished first with 135 points, Cal State Stanislaus was second with 130 points while Cal Poly was just behind with 129 points. The women's team finished the meet with 60 points, tied with Long Beach State for seventh out of a field of 13 teams. Fresno State again won with 135 points and Cal State Stanislaus finished second with 130 points, first among Division II schools. Cal Poly was again fourth out of five Division II schools.

The top performer for Cal Poly was senior Dan Held who ran a 1:52.66 in the 800 meters to finish fifth. Junior pole vaulter Bret Whitford set a new personal best in the event with a 17-09 vault to place fifth. Senior Chris Thorson had a 16-05 vault for a sixth place finish.

Sophomore Michelle Berkowitz hits a high job during recent tennis action / Daily photo by Scott Robinson

Xenia host keeps Poly out of championship

With a 6-1 loss to Cal Poly Pomona Saturday, the Mustang women's tennis team was left out with a consolation third-place contest Sunday in the Xenia Memorial Tournament at Pomona.

The No. 4-ranked Mustangs stood at 14-4 heading into Sunday's match. Results were not available at press time.

"Pomona came out hot and really took it to us and just beat us from the top to the bottom," said Mustang Coach Chris Eppright.

Sophomore Allison Light was the lone victor for Cal Poly Pomona Saturday as she downed senior first baseman Kent Agler said. "We were trailing 3-2 and the home run gave us a lead that we wouldn't relinquish."

Junior pitcher Shannon Stephens (6-1) went the distance on the mound for Cal Poly, allowing only two earned runs while scattering seven hits and walking three.

"Shannon didn't pitch one of his better games but you can't go out and pitch outstanding every week," Agler said. "But our defense played well and our bats continued to do the things that win games for our pitchers."

Leading the Mustangs offensively, junior left fielder Bret Mueller was four for five with a double and a pair of RBIs.

By Tim Vincent

Remaininig in the hunt for the California Collegiate Athletic Association title, the No. 6-ranked Cal Poly baseball team took two of three games from Cal State Los Angeles Friday and Saturday.

Senior first baseman Grant Munger connected for a three-run home run in the top of the fifth inning to lift the Mustangs (22-12, 9-6 in the CCAA) to a 6-4 win over the Golden Eagles Friday night.

"Munger's hit came at a perfect time and got us back on track," Interim Coach Kent Agler said. "We were trailing 3-2 and the home run gave us a lead.

Junior left fielder Bret Mueller had four hits Friday and a grand slam Saturday in weekend wins / Daily photo by Scott Robinson

Long-ball helps Mustangs win series

There is no sense in breaking a tradition — especially a good one. With a 9-0 win on Thursday over Cal State Los Angeles, the Cal Poly men's tennis team won its sixth consecutive California Collegiate Athletic Association title and its ninth title in 11 years.

For Coach Chris Eppright, it was his third title in his third season as the men's tennis coach.

The sweep of Cal State Los Angeles — without a lost set — improved the Mustangs' record to 16-3 on the year and a perfect 6-0 in the CCAA.

Freshman Rafael Huerta wasn't content with the league title, though.

"I feel really good about it, but we were expected to win," Huerta said.

With the CCAA title, the Mustangs automatically qualify for the NCAA championships which will take place May 19-21 in Kansas City, Mo.

"I expect to win nationals," Huerta said. To do that, "it's going to take everybody being mentally strong. We're all pretty motivated. We know we can do it."

Freshman Jason DeViera hopes doubles partner junior Dave Mullarky grounds strokes past opponents so he's not downlma with a hard return volley. The two play at No. 3 doubles for Cal Poly / Daily photo by Scott Robinson

See HAMILTON, page 5

See WOMEN'S TENNIS, page 5

See M En'S TENNIS, page 5

See BASEBALL, page 7

See TRACK & FIELD, page 5

See WOMEN'S TENNIS, page 5

See BASEBALL, page 7

See M EN'S  TENNIS, page 5

See M EN'S  TENNIS, page 5

See TRACK & FIELD, page 5

See M EN'S  TENNIS, page 5

See M EN'S  TENNIS, page 5